SENATOR ACKERMAN REMAINS FIRM FOR STOKES

After Visit to Trenton, Union's Senator Says He is Encouraged By the Outlook.

OTHERS FAVOR HIM

Little Doubt He Would Be Admitted to Senate If Elected—Kean Optimistic for Dryden.

State Senator Ernest R. Ackerman after returning from Trenton last night expressed himself as agreeably surprised at the number of legislators who are desirous of seeing Governor Stokes elected to the United States Senate. To a representative of The Daily Press, he stated that there is an air of independence being exhibited by many Republican members of the Legislature and a growing restiveness at being told what they are expected to do when the caucuses are held.

Mr. Ackerman declared that expressions of approval at the prospect of seeing Governor Stokes honored have reached him from unexpected quarters and that the undercurrent to the Governor is manifest on every hand. It is the belief of those who have examined into the question that in the event of his election, there would be no doubt of his being admitted to the Senate and thus far Mr. Ackerman has heard of on one who regrets having declared for the Governor for the place.

United States Senator John Kean declared last night he did not think there was the least doubt that the Union county members who have declared against Mr. Dryden would abide by the Republican caucus. Senator Kean asserted that from the present outlook he thought Mr. Dryden's success was assured.

COMMUNICABLE DISEASE CASES ON INCREASE.

Only Slight, However, According to October Report of Health Board.

Reports showing the sanitary condition to be excellent were presented at the November meeting of the Board of Health, yesterday afternoon. The number of cases of communicable diseases reported during the past month, although a slight increase over previous months, continued to be low. There was one case of scarlet fever, five of diphtheria and five of tuberculosis reported. Four deaths resulted from tuberculosis.

Applications for permits to sell milk were granted to Fred W. Dunn, Woodbrook Farms, Charles B. Wicht and Neuman Brothers. William Winkleholz was granted a permit to collect garbage; Swift & Co., to collect offal and B. F. Ruckman to remove dead animals. The plumber's bonds of A. L. Carney, Daniel Hibbitts and Samuel Allcock were ordered filed.

CONGREGATIONALIST CLUB.

First Fall Meeting With Magician Present, Last Night.

The Men's Club of the Congregational church held its first fall meeting last night. Bogart, the magician, was presented by the entertainment committee. Bogart is a humorist as well as a magician, and the members enjoyed his programme very much.

The weather was against the performer and the committee, but the attendance made up in enjoyment what it lacked in size. Refreshments were served. F. A. Weeks and Charles A. Rice were the committee.

A series of social meetings has been planned by the club. Another will be held December 18.

Obstructions Being Removed.

William Hand & Sons, of East Second street, began the work this morning of putting in position the iron girder and marble column at Charles P. Sebring's new building on West Front street, adjoining the Babcock building. The girder and column have occupied a place on the sidewalk for some time and it is partly with a desire to remove the obstructions that Mr. Sebring is having them put in place.

Sesame Club Meeting.

The Sesame Club will meet tomorrow morning at the residence of Mrs. A. H. Chamberlain, No. 318 East Sixth street.

BUSINESS BRISK WITH COUNTY TAX BOARD

BULK OF COMPLAINTS FROM PLAINFIELD AND CRANFORD.

The County Board of Taxation had a lively session in the county court house, Elizabeth, yesterday morning. The members expected it, and were prepared. In fact they had anticipated a much more exciting time judging from the manner in which two of them discussed the matter afterward. Altogether, they told a reporter, there were about fifty complaints received. None of them, however, were of a very serious nature. But the bulk of them came from Plainfield and Cranford, the former place making the most perplexing showing. Consequently, the Plainfield assessors were summoned to the office of the county officials to aid in the unraveling of any difficult problems that might be presented.

There was one case from this city in which, it was asserted, the parties had sworn off their personal property in New York, only to be caught in the assessment net spread for residents of Union county.

AFTER 6 MONTHS DELAY WEST END AVENUE OPENS.

Bridge Finished and Thoroughfare Can Now Be Used.

The new West End avenue bridge was practically completed yesterday, and that thoroughfare has been opened for traffic again after being closed over six months. The bridge itself has been completed two or three weeks, but there remained other work to be done, such as the macadamizing of the roadbed and going over the rough spots on the concrete walls.

The contract for the bridge was awarded to the late William Farrier, of New Market, but soon afterwards he was taken ill and was never able to execute the contract, in fact he was never able to see the work started. C. E. Kelly, of New Market, assumed the contract under an arrangement with Mr. Farrier and his son, together with Magnus Johnson, also of New Market, who was associated with Mr. Farrier for many years, have had charge of the work. The contract price for the work was $7,500.

The structure is made entirely of reinforced concrete, there being three arches. The top of the bridge is twelve feet from the bed of the brook and is ample to allow water during the heaviest freshet to pass through. There has been considerable filling in on the city side to make an approach to the bridge and now the filling-in process is being done on the borough side and the avenue brought up to grade. This will be necessary on the city side and it is quite likely that the street committee will make some provision for improving the street and putting it in good condition. The bridge is the first one of the kind built in Plainfield and while not as attractive as a stone structure, it is well built and will never require repairing, as in the case of iron and brick bridges.

BOARD OF ASSESSORS CONFER WITH CO. BOARD.

Consider Complaints Received from Local Taxpayers About Their Assessments.

At the solicitation of the Union County Board of Taxation, the members of the Plainfield Board of Assessors met at the Court House, Elizabeth, yesterday, to consider the fifty odd complaints received from Plainfielders as to their assessment this year. None of these complaints are from large taxpayers, the majority being of a minor character and easy to dispose of.

The new law provides that the county board of taxation shall give a public hearing on written complaints, and the Union county board has been in session every day for this purpose. Due consideration has been given to every complaint and every effort made to affect a satisfactory settlement. In the opinion of those who are acquainted with taxation matters, Plainfield's rate next year should be about $1.25, a reduction of ten cents over the present rate. It is said that the work of the Union county board has been the most satisfactory of any county in the State.

Jacob A. Schleif.

Jacob A. Schleif, aged seventy-six years, died yesterday at the home of his son, Charles Schleif, of West Front street. He resided at Warrenville for many years and came to Plainfield a short time ago when his home was destroyed by fire. He leaves two other sons, Stephen H. Schleif, the Park avenue baker, and Herman Schleif, of Brooklyn.

GROUND FOR A NEW SCHOOL HOUSE BOUGHT

BOARD OF EDUCATION ACQUIRED LOT ON DARROW AVENUE TODAY.

The large lot at Darrow avenue and Essex street, where the carnival has been held, was purchased by the Board of Education this morning. It was acquired as the site o fasc hool to take the place of Washington school, which is to pass into the possession of St. Mary's Roman Catholic parish.

No plans for the erection of the new building have been made yet. In due season, the Board will have designs drawn for a most substantial structure, of the latest type, and the West End will get a new school where it is most needed.

For several years the approaching need of another school in the heart of the West End has been very apparent to the Board. The Irving school has been taxed to its utmost capacity for more terms than the Plainfield educators like to think of, and the new school will no more than meet the demands of the situation. The crowded condition of the Irving buildinf compelled the Board to rent the Epworth House of the Monroe Avenue church, last year, for additional room. The new school will probably be built large enough to ease all the conditions that now compel the Board to manoeuver skilfully to avoid the squeezing out of any pupils.

LOST CERTIFICATE REVEALS WEDDING.

Telltale Document of Secret Marriage in Broadway Surface Car.

By the finding of a marriage certificate in a car in Broadway, New York, where the bride had forgotten it in her haste to reach home before her absence should cause comment, the secreat marriage of Miss Marian Gilhooley, daughter of former Judge and Mrs. Patrick H. Gilhooley, of Elizabeth, N. J., and Frederick E. Lawrie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Lawrie, of the same city, was yesterday discovered. The young couple had intended keeping their marriage a secret until after the holidays, and it was not known last night to either of their parents or to a young man in Philadelphia, to whom Miss Gilhooley became engaged at Narragansett last summer. The bride left for Virginia last night to visit friends until after the holidays, leaving her husband to reconcile the parents to the match.

Miss Gilhooley belongs to one of the wealthiest and socially prominent families in Elizabeth. Mr. Lawrie is twenty-four, but has developed considerable business ability. He is secretary of the C. G. Gates Company, with offices in the Trinity Biulding, New York.

Had it not been for the desire of her parents that she marry a wealthy young man in Philadelphia, to whom she finally became engaged last summer, there might have been no objection to the young woman's marriage with Mr. Lawrie. Under pressure of her parents' wishes she gave Mr. Lawrie up for a time, but he continued to press his suit until at last she yielded.

$300 FOR A BLOW.

Epstein Wants Damages to That Amount from Former Employer.

Abe Epstein, of Liberty street, has sued Thomas B. Neilson, an upholsterer and dealer in antiques, whose shop is at Watchung avenue and Front street, for $300, in tort. The papers, issued out of the District Court, were served yesterday.

Epstein worked for Neilson, and, according to his story, they quarrelled at the shop on October 26. Words were followed by a blow from Neilson, Epstein alleges, and his face was so badly damaged he had to get attendance from Dr. Cregar, and wear most of his features in a bandage for several days.

The case is set down for next Tuesday. Epstein is represented by F. J. Blatz.

SLID THROUGH IN UNION

J. E. Martine it Transpires Got Only Two Plurality in This County.

CANVASSING THE VOTE

The County Election Board Rubs Up Against Law Regarding No Recount of Machine Cast Returns.

The latest information about the election returns from Union county shows that James E. Martine's majority over Congressman Charles N. Fowler is two votes. The reduced figures are said to be due to the original mix-up in the Fourth ward, of Rahway, when Mr. Martine received 165 Democratic votes, and a similar number was credited to him on the Independent Democratic ticket. This would give him a total of 330, while the total vote in that ward was 312.

Congressman Fowler received 140 votes in the Fourth ward, the Socialist candidate four votes and Candidate Vaughn, who was running on the Prohibition ticket, one vote, a total of 145. Adding this number to the 330 given to Mr. Martine would make a total of 175, and deducting 312, the actual number of votes polled, would leave 163 votes not to be accounted for.

In the First ward, of Rahway, Mr. Martine received 231 votes, 154 in the Second ward and 165 in the Fourth ward, which together with twenty-seven odd votes throughout the county found cast for Mr. Martine, gives him a total of 577, while the vote received by Congressman Fowler was 575, giving the defeated candidate a majority of two votes.

The law states specifically that in the case of the machine vote the county board of election and registry must accept the returns as they are received, and the Union County Board is now debating whether they should go behind the returns and correct the mistake made in the Fouth ward of Rahway.

The election board from that ward, consisting of Robert Uhler, Frank Splaine and Edward Leonard, appeared bofer the county board this morning, in answer to a summons, to explain the mix-up. The members stated that they had added the 165 votes cast for the Independent Democratic ticket to the like number cast for the straight Democratic ticket, which was afterwards learned to be in error. At the time they thought the compilation of the returns was correct.

FOUND DEAD IN BED.

Bernard Brady, Well-known Resident, Stricken as He Slept.

Bernard Brady, for many years a local resident, was found dead in bed at his home at West Front street and Lafayette place, yesterday noon. He had been stricken some time during the night but the fact was not discovered in the morning as the family believed he did not feel well and refrained from calling him.

Mr. Brady was fifty-four years old and had always resided in the West End. He was a carpenter by trade but until a short time ago conducted a shoe store on Liberty street. Since disposing of the business he had lived a retired life. He leaves a widow, three daughters, the Misses Mary, Rose and Regina Brady, and two sons, Bernard and Frank.

The funeral will be held at St. Mary's church Friday morning and interment will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

Anniversary Fresh Air Association.

Rev. Erskine M. Rodman, rector-emeritus, of Grace church, and president of the Plainfield Fresh Air Association, announces that the anniversary of the association will be celebrated at the Y. M. C. A. hall on Monday night, November 19. Miss Sara Curry, matron, together with a number of children from the Day Nursery, New York, will attend and take part. Reports for the past year will be presented and addresses made. The music will be in charge of Martin A. Korff.

Novelty Entertainer.

G. E. Garretson, who will entertain the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. Saturday afternoon, and the men of the association that night, is more than a show in himself. Besides playing hand-bells, sleigh bells, musical coins, violin, mandolin and some other tuneful contrivances, he juggles cleverly and is an excellent elocutionist. Not for nothing is he called the Novelty Entertainer.

Early Morning Hunt.

An early morning run was engaged by a dozen hardy members of the Hunt Club today. The twelve met at the kennels at Colonia at 6:30 o'clock. They rode over a new country, going on the other side of the Pennsylvania railroad as far as Woodbridge. The going was good.

SUPPOSEDLY MAD DOG BITES DR. MOLDENKE

CELEBRATED MINERALOGIST WILL AT ONCE BEGIN PASTEUR TREATMENT.

Dr. Richard Moldenke, the well-known Egyptologist and mineralogist, was severely bitten by a pet dog at his home in Watchung, this morning. It is feared the animal is afflicted with rabies and Dr. Moldenke has taken steps to place himself in the hands of the Pasteur Institute for treatment.

The dog has been acting queerly for several days but on one thought that it had any serious complaint. The doctor started to play with it this morning and it suddenly turned with a snarl and sank its teeth in his right hip. He shook the animal off and after securing it against further attack, drove hurriedly to the office of Dr. Long in this city. The physician cauterized the wound and then advised him to take the Pasteur treatment in the event of its being established that the do has rabies.

SOMERSET FREEHOLDERS TRANSACT ROUTINE WORK.

Engineer May Survey Mt. Bethel Road in Warren Township.

Not a great amount of business was done at the meeting of the Somerset County Board of Freeholders in Somerville yesterday. A petition for the improvement of the Mt. Bethel road in Warren township under the State Aid Act was received and placed on file. A resolution was adopted authorizing the county engineer to survey the same, providing the State Road Commissioner consents.

The application of the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company for permission to place its poles along the turnpike from Somerville to the west Hunterdon county line was referred to the committee on the North Branch road, which is now being built.

The auditing committee will meet on Friday at the office of Clerk Suthphen for the purpose of auditing the election bills, and the county treasurer was authorized to pay the same after this meeting.

A survey of the North Branch road from the Lamington road west was ordered, with the permission of the State Road Commissioner, in order to take out the "elbow" at that point.

The board will meet next Monday for the purpose of receiving bids for the construction of a retaining wall at the east side of the North Branch iron bridge.

The committee in charge was authorized to complete the construction of the bridge being built in Warren township at a cost not to exceed $250.

FLAG AT HALF MAST.

City Officials Plan to Honor Memory of Former Mayor.

On account of the death of former Mayor O. L. Jenkins, Mayor James F. Buckle gave instructions this morning to have the city flag displayed at half-mast from the city pole on Front street, opposite Park avenue. Dr. Jenkins being one of the oldest members of Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., the officers of that order have displayed its flag at half-mast from the top of the Scheuer building on West Front street.

President R. I. Tolles, of the Common Council, has notified each member of the death of the former Mayor, and to hold himself in readiness to attend the funeral services. The members will probably arrange to attend the services in the body, together with other city officials.

Mr. St. John Resigns.

William W. St. John, city editor of the Courier-News since it came under its present management two years ago, has resigned his position to take effect January 1. Mr. St. John's health has compelled him to seek a change of climate and he proposes to engage in newspaper work in Los Angeles, Cal. He was the founder and part owner of the Elizabeth Times, and is one of the best known newspaper men in this section of the State. His departure will be regretted by a host of friends, who hope for his speedy restoration to health.

Official Visit from District Deputy.

Anchor Lodge, No. 149, F. and A. M., held a regular communication last night and received an official visit from the Right Worshipful District Deputy Theodore B. Townley, of the Fifth Masonic District. This was the first visitation from Deputy Townley since he succeeded former Deputy W. D. Wolfskeil, and he was given a cordial reception.

DR. OLIN L. JENKINS SUDDENLY CLAIMED BY DEATH

Suffers Heart Attack While in Arm Chair at Home and Quickly Passes Away.

A LEADING CITIZEN

Prominent Alike in His Profession, In Business, In Politics and in Fraternal Affairs—Sketch of His Life.

With little more than a few moments warning, Dr. Olin L. Jenkins, one of Plainfield's first citizens and a former mayor, died at his home on East Front street at 6:30 o'clock last night. Heart trouble which had been apparent for several days, suddenly took an aggressive form as he was seated in a chair in his sitting room and he realized its dangerous nature. Mrs. Jenkins was near him at the time and she summoned Dr. Endicott. The latter hurriedly responded but Dr. Jenkins breathed his last as he reached the house.

Dr. Olin L. Jenkins.

The doctor had been subject to valvular heart trouble for years and at times it affected him seriously. He complained of feeling ill one day last week and when the spell continued, he called in Dr. Brown, of Elizabeth. He was still under the latter's care at the time of death though he had been going about yesterday apparently as well as usual.

Dr. Jenkins was born in this city on April 23, 1852, and was the son of Joseph B. and Sarah Ann Jenkins, both native of Columbia county, New York. His father was a carpenter by trade and moved to Plainfield in 1843. He died in 1890. His son was educated in the public schools of this city and in a seminary at Kingston, Pa., graduating at the latter institution in 1871. He then began the study of medicine, completing his course four years later in the Homeopathic Medical College, New York. His professional career was begun in Danielsonville, Conn., where he practiced twelve years. In 1888 he returned to Plainfield and succeeded to the practice of Dr. South, in which he had since continued.

He represented the First ward in the Common Council for 6 years, having been elected as a no-license man in the days that was the paramount issue. He also served 5 years as a member of the Board of Education and in 1900 was elected mayor, succeeding the late George W. Rockfellow. He discharged his duties with such impartiality and faithfulness that he was re-elected in 1902 and served until succeeded by James F. Buckle, the present incumbent. He was also chairman of the Republican City Committee for several years and was vice chairman at the time of his death.

Aside from political matters, Dr. Jenkins was a firm believer in fraternal organizations and he belonged to as many, probably, as any other man in the city. He was a member of Anchor lodge, No. 149, F. & A. M., and its kindred organizations, the Mystic Shrine and the Knights Templar; Plainfield Lodge, No. 885; B. P. O. E.; Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, K. of P.; Plainfield Council, No. 711, Royal Arcanum; the Jr. O. U. A. M., the A. O. U. W., and the Knights of Honor. He was also a member of the State Medical Society and various associations incident to his profession.

Dr. Jenkins was married in 1881 to Miss Rhoda Hallock, of Plainfield, daughter of the late J. H. Hallock, who survives him. He also leaves one brother, William Jenkins, a resident of Elmhurst, Pa., near Scranton. In recent years Dr. and Mrs. Jenkins travelled a great deal and only a short time ago they completed a long trip to the Pacific coast and back by way of British Columbia and other Canadian provinces.

Valuable Property Sold.

Charles P. Sebring has sold to Jacob Voehl, Sr., his valuable lot at Grove street and Prospect place, and the latter plans to erect theron a handsome dwelling. This property was the object of interest some time ago when Mr. Sebring proposed to move his dwelling from West Front street, opposite Grove street, to that corner. Through the interference of the borough authorities the scheme failed. Prior to that time the corner was purchased by the congregation of the Church of the Redeemer, when Rev. Mr. Downey was rector, and plans were prepared to erect a church there. The consolidation of this church with that of the Holy Cross church, changed these plans.

Like Proposed 7:45 Train.

While the "Wall street contingent" may prefer an 8:20 train as a relief to the 7:55 train, instead of a 7:45, there is considerable support among the users of the 7:55 for the earlier train. Not a few of the 7:45 patrons frequently desire to get into the city a little earlier, and a 7:45 train would just suit them.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY

The borough's taxes, which, as has already been noted, were in County Treasurer Groves' hands first again this year, were sent to New Brunswick less than a month after the bills went out. The new collector, whoever it shall prove to be, has a high standard of efficiency to meet. (Pray, don't mention it, Mr. Day.)

The Junior Epworth League will hold its fair tomorrow night. Great success is indicated. The members have worked enthusiastically, and a fine array of things will be attractively displayed.

A number of boroughites and villagers have received invitations to the Plainfield Pad and Pencil Club dance.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD

Mrs. Perry Powers, of Glenside Park, who has been seriously ill for several days, was taken to Muhlenberg Hospital yesterday. Mrs. Powers' illness was caused, it is thought, by eating canned salmon at dinner Friday night of last week. During the night she was taken ill with symptoms resembling ptomaine poisoning. As she did not improve it was thought better to remove her to Muhlenberg Hospital for treatment.

The union services being held every night this week in the Methodist church are being well attended. Rev. Moore-Smith and Rev. A. H. Cook hope to have a new speaker at each service during the two weeks. The interest manifested has been most encouraging. Last night Rev. Mr. Pringle, of Westfield, was the speaker.

Mrs. N. M. Atwood and Miss Adeline Johnston will hold an exhibit of hand-painted novelties at the home of Mrs. Edward Johnston this afternoon, tomorrow and Friday afternoons.

John Reick has returned from a two days' hunting trip through Warren county. John reports rabbits scarce, only two rabbits being the result of the trip.

Mrs. Frank Putnam, of East Second street, Plainfield, was the guest yesterday of her sister, Miss Jennie Frentz, of Westfield avenue.

Fanwood Council, R. A., met last night in the library rooms. Only the regular council business was transacted.

Miss Isabella Hyams, who has been visiting Miss Susie Parse, has returned to her home in New York.

Last night's snow squalls were only gentle reminders of what is to follow.

Dr. Phelps, of Ocean Grove, who has been visiting her sister, Miss Adella C. Phelps, of the Babcock building, has gone to St. Augustine, Fla., where she will practice this winter. She will return to Ocean Grove next summer.

SMOKERS NOT EASILY SUITED.

Cigarette Manufacturers are Forced to Put Out New Brands to Meet Changing Tastes.

Smokers are becoming more and more exacting in their taste concerning cigarettes. They demand better workmanship, a higher quality of tobacco and more attractive packages. To meet these demands the manufacturers are forced from time to time to put out new brands. If these chance to please the public they make a lot of money. If they do not, they lose both money and opportunity.

Not in years has a new cigarette received such a hearty welcome as that accorded the Mecca, the latest product of the cigarette maker's skill. The manufacturers claim that it represents the highest standard of value yet attained and those who have smoked them are not inclined to dispute the statement. Although the cigarettes have been on the market less than a month it is reported that the factories are having great difficulty in keeping up with the orders. The Mecca cigarettes owe their popularity to their Oriental fragrance, their delicious taste and their moderate price.

Stabbed With Hatpin.

Scranton, Pa., Nov. 14.—Miss Kate Burke was arrested in Dunmore yesterday and charged with the murder of Thomas Dougherty, whom it is alleged she stabbed to the heart with a hatpin Saturday night. Dougherty, who died yesterday, had called at the home of the young woman to effect a reconciliation, they having had a quarrel. They got into another quarrel and the stabbing resulted. Dougherty would not reveal her name. She said the affair was an accident.

Emma Eames, who, under contract, sang several selections at an entertainment given for charity by Mrs. Untermeyer late in March of last year.

Mysterious Jewel Theft.

New York, Nov. 14.—Jewels said to be valued at $25,000 were stolen from the country home of a wealthy resident of New York last Friday night, aand, according to the information furnished yesterday by a private detective agency which is working on the case, suspicion points to a "Raffles" who waas enabled to gain admission to the circles where he operated, but whose identity is thus far a mystery.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

FOOTBALL.

There is some talk that the Alis football eleven may arrange to play the Edward Clark Club, of Elizabeth, before it closes the season. Early in the fall the Orange Field Club played the county seat boys and lost, and it is now problematical as to what Alis is able to do with them.

There is considerable interest in the game scheduled for Saturday at Dunellen between Alis and the team of that town. The Plainfield eleven feels confident of winning, while Dunellen has been playing such a strong game that its backers are equally sure of a victory.

The N. P. H. S. eleven will play the Westfield High School team at Westfield this afternoon. The borough boys will be accompanied by a large number of rooters.

Yale's football coaches have had too many upsets this season to invent imaginary troubles, and they were too much disheartened yesterday to discuss the injury to Captain Morse, which has reasserted itself since Saturday. Last winter he had to undergo special treatment for a bone bruise on the knee, and in the Brown game Saturday, when he was injured, it was in this dangerous spot. Yesterday he was in no condition to even run through signals. Roome pluckily volunteered to get into the play, and did so eagerly when the coaches told him that he was about all that they have in sight for full back. Roome ran through signals with the 'varsity and later played full back for the "scrubs" against the substitutes. He was not in form, but bucked his way to a touchdown.

With the rapid approach of Saturday and the invasion of the inevitable horde of Eli, the feeling in Princeton is not overconfident. There is a general feeling of dissatisfaction with the result of the West Point game. That the scoring should have been made on kicks instead of by touchdowns was a keen disappointment, and it is not felt that the team played anything like the game that was expected of them. To make matters worse the team came out of the game considerably battered up, and "Eddie" Dillon's condition since he came to earth under the hard tackling that so effectively put him out of the game has been causing a great deal of anxiety. He was badly jarred by the fall and what will be his condition at the end of the week is a matter of conjecture.

Princeton and Cornell are having a seesaw time of it in total points scored, and now Cornell has taken the lead away from the Jerseymen. Both went over the 200 mark last Saturday and are the only teams that have over 200 points. Cornell has a total of 209 to Princton's 205 for a like number of games. Pretty good totals those, for a new game that was going to make scoring a lost art. Defensively, the nine points for opponents are a much better record for the Princeton than the 37 points for Cornell's opponents. Yale, with all the criticism that has been made of her, much of it justly, for flightness and inability to wake up until the second half, is the only team that has not been scored on more than once. Few of the strong teams have had as many narrow escapes from being scored on as Yale, but no matter how much the defence has wavered it has, with one exception, rallied and beat back the opposing team.

Pennsylvania and Michigan have alternated as likely winners for their contest next Saturday, and at present Pennsylvania is uppermost in the outlook department. Part of this is due to the injury which puts Capt. Curtis of Michigan out of it for the rest of the season, but more of it is due to Pennsylvania's showing against Lafayette. Pennsylvania could not beat or score on Lafayette, but the Quaker eleven was against a strong team and came through the encounter with evidence of having at last put her game on the second basis. The Quakers faced a critical situation last Saturday. An untried quarterback was to be put to the test, a new centre and tackle were in the game; what would be done in the backfield in handling punts was a serious question, and what the new combination in its entirety would do was a source of grave uncertainty. The reconstructed team weathered the game in a way that created hope for the battles to come. The Quakers, it is believed, have started to come and are on the road toward the desired improvement.

Simon Guggenheim, of South Elberon, was more successful on election day than his millionaire neighbor, Jefferson Seligman, who was defeated for the office of the mayor of Deal. Mr. Guggenheim will be the next Republican United States Senator from the State of Colorado, succeeding Thomas M. Patterson, a Democrat.

Rev. and Mrs. C. L. Goodrich, of West Seventh street, will return today from Montclair, where they were called to attend the funeral services of Mrs. Goodrich's father, Mr. Carter.

Plainfield, N. J., November 14, 1906.

DR. OLIN L. JENKINS.

A thoroughgoing, honest, conscientious and benevolent man crossed "the great bourne" when Dr. Olin L. Jenkins passed away last night. The news of his death was a shock to the community in which he has been so well and favorably known for so many years, for while all his more intimate friends knew that he was a sufferer from heart disease and that he had borne his affliction patiently for a long time, his sudden end was entirely unexpected.

As a physician, Dr. Jenkins was a man who gladly welcomed any opportunity to give his services to those who could not repay him but other than with words of gratitude. As a citizen he was one who gave generously to the poor but never allowed his many acts of benefaction to become known, and who took the utmost interest in the welfare of the community and its municipal government. As a business man he was honest to a fault, often sacrificing his own pecuniary interests for the sake of others. As a man he was of the ideal type—one who always had a good word to say of his fellow men, and one who made it a practice to give encouragement and extend sympathy as the case might be wherever he thought it might be of any benefit.

Plainfield was proud to number Dr. Jenkins among its own just as much so as the Master was when he thought it best to take him so suddenly to his reward.

A THANKLESS JOB.

When a political battle is fought and ended, sundry politicians and newspapers join in telling how and why it all happened. Just why this or that particular candidate ran well or poorly and just why such a party won a big victory or suffered an ignominious defeat, is most elaborately explained. Invariably the issues and the personalities of the candidates are given full credit for the entire result whatever it might have been. The men who managed the fight are frequently lost sight of as factors for the time being, no matter how indispensible their services might have been considered before the election took place.

Few give attention to the work that the chairman, for instance, has done to bring about the result, particularly when his party has won the campaign. An exception is considerately made sometimes when a crushing defeat is brought about. In such case, the men who sat idly by when their services were most needed are the first to come out with a declaration that alleged blunders of management were totally responsible. If he had done this or that the result would have been otherwise, according to their way of thinking. They do not consider for one moment the vast amount of work that devolves upon this important officer. The days and nights of work he must put in; the diplomacy and tact that he must use, and the judgment he must exercise—all these are forgotten.

Have you ever stopped to think what credit it due Frank H. Smith for the success of the Republican Assembly ticket in Union county? Have you ever stopped to think what credit is due Charles J. Fisk for the success of the same ticket in Plainfield?

Give them their due.

Real Estate and Men Who Boom It.

ARMSTRONG MULFORD.

More business than at any corresponding period in twenty-five years is reported for the twelve-months drawing to a close by Armstrong Mulford, one of the four real estate men who have done most in the realty sale and development field since 1905. All sections of the city appear to responded to the boom, Mr. Mulford finds.

Business had never been better in his twenty-five years experience, Mr. Mulford told the interviewer who called on him. A year ago his sales aggregated in amount $140,000. They had totalled $170,000 already this year, and there was practically two months more in which to work.

Renting has been exceptionally good, Mr. Mulford continued. The rentals ranged from $300 a year to $2,000. The biggest demand has been for houses at $25 and $60 a month.

All sections of the city seemed active from a real estate standpoint. No one part of the city seemed more favored than another. The four wards were pretty equal, although if actual figures were taken, the Second would probably be found to have led in development, with the Third, Fourth and First wards following in that order.

The outlook for the next two or three years is the greatest in the history of the Plainfield real estate market, Mr. Mulford believes. People from large cities are flowing rapidly into the city. The class of new residents have been exceptionally fine, and the standard will not be likely to go down. In the past year, Mr. Mulford has found them to come from all sections of the country.

New York and Brooklyn naturally contributed the greatest number. Some of the new residents came from Orange and Morristown, where the people are fond of thinking they have ideal commute towns. It is interesting to note that Plainfield seems to be the favorite residence town with the Brooklynite who must change. Brooklyn is not healthy for most people, because it is low and impregnated with damp ocean air. Plainfield represents just the opposite conditions, and Brooklyn doctors know it; hence "Go to Plainfield," is their advice. Mr. Mulford found renting good in North Plainfield also, but not so much doing in the way of sales.

Evergreen avenue and the surrounding section is the coming neighborhood of Plainfield, Mr. Mulford believes. Plainfield offers builders a good chance to put up medium sized houses, renting for twenty-five to thirty-five dollars a month, with satisfactory results assured.

Several big deals were put through by Mr. Mulford during the year. He sold all of Waynewood Park to W. S. Angleman, and $20,000 worth of property on Central avenue and Madison avenue between Fifth and Sixth streets, within a week. He sold 550 feet of ground on Berkeley avenue to W. H. Chamberlain. Many sales of from $4,000 to $7,000 properties are on his books.

"DAVID HARUM" BEATEN

Story of a Horse Deal in North Plainfield That Has a Funny Side.

TRIED TO SWAP BACK

Man Who Got Worst End of Bargain Takes Back Critter and Money Which Went to Boot.

The swapping of horses and deals wherein equines took a prominent part have furnished funny stories from time immemorial but it is doubtless if any have had more real humor than one which has just cropped up in North Plainfield. Even the much-talked of trade in "David Harum" will have to give way for the time-being.

A short time ago, a Somerset county office holder became the owner of a nag that to all appearances was a good bit of horseflesh. It moved along the road in fine style and looked well but when it went to turn, one of the off legs would contract a kink that would make it circumlocute with the grace of a giraffe. He decided to get ride of the critter and by using a little persuasive power, induced George Cathers, a Somerset street liveryman, to make a trade. The liveryman was given $17 to boot and for the space of a few hours thought he had a fine bargain.

It didn't take him long, however, to get acquainted with his new horse's funny-leg kinking stunt and he regretted that he had gotten into the deal. He figured out that as it hadn't really grown cold yet, the official might be induced to call it off and so he hustled the animal up to the other fellow's barn. There was no one around so far as he could see so he tethered the equine to a tree, reasoning with himself that he could get the other one back later on. And just at this point is where the best part of the deal came in.

Cathers still had the $17 boot money intact and he concluded that would also have to be returned immediately. As no one showed up to receive it, he decided to shove it through an accommodating hole in the barn door, allowing it to fall in such a position that the office holder would see it and guess where it came from. No sooner thought than done the greenbacks disappeared through a hole.

Unknown to Cathers, Charles Lippincott, an employe of the official in question, was inside the structure when that $17 in good, American money fluttered in front of him, his eyes almost popped out of his head. He pinched himself a few times to make sure that he was awake and even poked the bills with a stick to guard against any trickery—but there they remained. After that it took Lippincott just about ten seconds to get his fingers around them. He had a vague idea that the millennium had arrived.

The Somerset county official came home and found his old horse in the yard and reasoned out that Cathers had returned it and would show up later with the $17 and ask for the other nag. On the other hand, Cathers thought the official would find both horse and money and that matters would eventually get back to the starting point. As nothing was said to Lippincott, he held fast to the roll and still had it yesterday while Cathers and the other fellow were wondering when each other would make a move. The Somerset county official has the two horses, Cathers is minus a horse and $17 and Lippincott refuses to leave the barn even for meals for fear another wad might drop in while he's out.

Railroad Employee Injured.

George Parfeit, aged 22 years, of Elizabeth, who is employed by the New Jersey Central on the improvements being made at Berckman street, was taken to the hospital yesterday suffering with three scalp wounds. His head was caught between a swinging beam and a stationary one. After the injuries were dressed Parfeit left the hospital and returned to work.

NEWS IN THE SUBURBS

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

Speaking about South Plainfield being a noisy town in which to live, the wires at the coal chutes sound like a calliope and can be heard for miles away. Recently a family was obliged to move because the mother's voice could not be heard above this ringing sound. This probably cannot be remedied, but the engines' shrill whistles can.

The superintendent of the Piscataway school, Arthur Trimble, assumed his new duties yesterday morning. He is a graduate of Harvard, and comes highly recommended as an instructor and capable superintendent.

Fred Huff has resigned his position as carpenter with Albert Manning, and is employed in Newark with the telephone company.

Mr. Fowler and family, who summer near here, have returned to their home in New York city.

SENATOR KEAN REGRETS MAJOR LENTZ'S WITHDRAWAL.

Union County Statesman Makes Some Observations Concerning Essex Leader.

Regret was expressed by United States Senator John Kean yesterday, because of the retirement of Major Carl Lentz from the chairmanship of the Essex County Republican committee. Senator Kean said he had a high regard for Major Lentz and believed he always tried to work for the success of the party.

"The major may have made mistakes," continued Senator Kean, "and he undoubtedly made many bitter enemies as head of the county organiztion. But we all are liable at some time to make errors of judgment. Of his loyalty to the Republican party there cannot be any doubt and I am sorry to see him relinquish the Essex County Republican leadership.

"There are times, however, when even leaders get too old for the successful handling of the party management, and this may have been the case with Major Lentz. He evidently thought from the outcome of the election that his withdrawal would be for the best interests of the party, and as a good Republican he decided on that course."

HISTORIC PUMP TO GO.

Old Well at Morristown Being Filled Up With Earth.

Morristown, Nov. 14.—The old well in the park, for many years surmounted by the town pump, is at last being filled up with earth. The well was dug and in use long before the Revolutionary War, standing near the old courthouse at the time the park was the site of that institution, and its waters were used up to within a few years ago, and since the germ theory has become broadly accepted. The feature of the history of the town pump was when it became a political factor, and the political complexion of the Board of Aldermen was changed because of a proposition to close the well. This was in 1882, and there were only a few persons who used the well, but they made a fuss in their efforts to stay the hands of the aldermen from the perpetration of what they termed a piece of vandalism that was out of all proportion to their numbers. The aldermen announced, however, that they should persist in their purpose, and then the objectors went around with a petition against closing the well, and secured the signatures of about 400 residents. This petition was presented at a regular meeting of the Board of Aldermen, when some one, to show the board's contempt for the petition, moved it to be laid "under" the table. Then the fight was on. It raged through the newspapers until just previous to the aldermanic election, when public meetings were held, and the sentiment regarding the old well, which had been kept warm for months, was heated to a fighting temperature, and with the old town pump as the slogan party lines were cast aside and the dominent aldermen were driven out of office.

Cup Race in 1908.

New York, Nov. 14.—Although there was no significance in the conference with the flag officers of the New York Yacht Club, yet from what was learned yesterday Sir Thomas Lipton gained much that he sought. It is reported that the New York Yacht Club, in some way not yet explained, has given Sir Thomas to understand that there will be no stumbling blocks placed in his path for another challenge for the Cup, the race to take place during the summer of 1908, and that the club's present rule of measurement shall in all essential details govern the match. From the same source of information it has also been ascertained that Sir Thomas' next challenging craft will be a cutter, designed by William Fife, the designer of the Shamrock III and the Shamrock I.

War on Highwaymen.

Pittsburg, Pa., Nov. 14.—Emboldened by the apparent helplessness of the police and detective forces of the city, the highwaymen and burglars that have terrorized this city for the last ten days have apparently extended their operations into broad daylight, as well as working under cover of darkness. At a meeting of Select and Common Councils last night a message from Mayor Guthrie was read urging the need of more police. All other business was cast aside and a bill was railroaded through authorizing the Directors of Public Safety to at once put on the police pay roll one hundred more patrolmen. The $9,000 a month this will cost the city is to be provided for in a manner to be later determined, probably, it is said, by a bond issue.

Will Not Count Silzer.

New Brunswick, Nov. 14.—It was announced yesterday, after a conference of the Republican leaders, that the seat of George S. Silzer, the Democratic State Senator elected here on Tuesday, would not be contested. The county board of canvassers met here at noon yesterday and declared his majority officially to be 106. The proposed contest was to have been based on rejected ballots that were not counted. Of this number, 66 were uncounted in this city and 74 in Perth Amboy. At the conference it was decided that election contests were seldom successful, and so it was thought best to drop it. Congressman Howell (Rep.) officially had 1,736 majority.

Erie Strike Not Certain.

New York, Nov. 14.—All the really important developments in railroad affairs yesterday pointed to the conclusion that there will be no strike of the Erie's firemen. The vote now being taken all along the line from New York to Chicago will undobutedly be almost unanimous for a strike, but any one of several things may happen before actual hostilities are begun. Officials of the Erie may capitulate and give the firemen all or the larger part of what they are demanding. J. J. Hannahan, grand chief of the Brotherhood, may reopen negotiations with F. D. Underwood, president of the Erie, and hold the strike in abeyance. He may veto the proposition to strike altogether, which he has the authority to do, or the whole dispute may be submitted to arbitration and the National Civic Federation, of which Mr. Underwood is a member, may be requested to step in, should the dispute progress to a point where settlement through other mediums appears improbable.

Hearst Hailed As Leader.

New York, Nov. 14.—At a dinner given to W. R. Hearst by the successful Democrats on the State ticket, in Delmonico's last night, the defeated nominee was called back from the ranks to the leadership of the Democratic party. It was prophesied that he would lead, a greater campaign for a higher office, and amid cheers he was pledged that his principles, advice and word should prevail in the official conduct of the men who stand elected on the face of the returns. In reply Hearst promised to continue the fight along lines already laid out, being assured that in the end they must win. There was no suggestion on his part of an objection to serving as leader and no repetition of his determination to fight from a lowly position.

Preparing S. O. Suit.

Washintong, D. C., Nov. 14.—Final touches have been given to the bill in equity to be filed by the government against the Standard Oil Company. The proceeding will be brought under the Sherman act, and the relief demanded will be an order dissolving the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, the distribution of its stock and property among the constituent or subsidiary companies, some seventy-five or eighty in number, and a permanent order or decree forbidding these companies from entering into any contracts, agreements or understandings with each other in restraint of traade, such as dividing territory or fixing prices.

"Trapper" Clark Is Dead.

Elizabeth, Nov. 14.—David Clark, an old resident of Elizabethport, where he lived more than half a century, died Sunday night at his home, 39 Pine street. For the last fifteen years the only occupation he followed was hunting and fishing. He knew every foot of ground on the Newark-Elizabeth meadows, where he hunted wold fowl in their annual migrations from South to North, and often was employed as a guide by hunting parties. He was familiarly known as "Trapper Clark." In earlier years he was a coal trimmer at Elizabethport. He was a member of Grace Episcopal church and leaves a widow, two sons and two daughters.

Lassooed Broker in Park.

New York, Nov. 14.—Jack Joyce, originally from North Dakota, and known throughout the county as a crack "bronco buster," was a prisoner in the West Side Court yesterday for displaying his Western exuberance in Central Park. An automobile, in which was John Shevlin, a broker, living in the Algonquin, in West Forty-fourth street, grazed the side of the horse on which Joyce was mounted. He whipped out a lasso from his saddle and neatly settled its coils over Shevlin's shoulders with such dexterity that the broker was nipped out of his seat. The complaint was dismissed.

Immigrant Train Wrecked.

Valparaiso, Ind., Nov. 14.—Forty-seven of the one hundred and sixty-five passengers on an immigrant train were killed in a wreck at Woodville, Ind., and thirty-eight others injured. Many of the injured will die. Forty-five of the killed met instant death or were consumed by the fire that followed the wreck. The passengers were all Russians, Poles and Servians who had recently arrived in this country and were on their way to farm lands in this State and elsewhere. Those who escaped injury last all their baggage.

Oyster Boat Slaves.

Norfolk, Va., Nov. 14.—Nine men of the oyster boat James A. Whiting were rescued from that vessel by Deputy United States marshals and brought here today. They declared that they were held in slavery by Captain Andrew A. Crockett, who has been ordered to appear here to defend himself. The men, two whites and seven negroes, assert they were beaten and starved aboard the Whiting, were made to work early and late at the dredges, and had never received a cent in wages.

Churches to Unite for Thanksgiving.

At a meeting of the city pastors held Monday it was decided to ask all the churches so far as possible to join in a union service at the Crescent Avenue church on Thanksgiving Day. The sermon for the day will be delivered by the distinguished writer and preacher, Rev. Hugh Black, M. A., who has recently come to a professorship in Union Seminary, New York, from his pulpit in Edinborough, Scotland.

THE DELUGE

By DAVID GRAHAM PHILLIPS, Author of "THE COST," etc

(COPYRIGHT 1905 by the BOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY)

I took her other hand. As I was drawing her toward me, the sudden pallor of her face and chill of her hands halted me once more, brought sickeningly before me the early days of my courtship when she had infuriated my pride by trying to be "submissive." I looked round the room—that room into which I had put so much thought—and money. Money! "The rich man's price!" those delicately brocaded walls shimmered mockingly at me.

"Anita," said I, "do you care for me?"

She murmured inaudibly. Evasion! thought I, and suspicion sprang on guard, bristling.

"Anita," I repeated sternly, "do you care for me?"

"I am you wife," she replied, her head drooping still lower. And hesitatingly she drew away from me. That seemed confirmation of my doubt and I said to her satirically, "You are willing to be my wife out of gratitude, to put it politely?"

She looked straight into my eyes and answered, "I can only say there is no one I like so well, and—I will give you all I have to give."

"Like!" I exclaimed contemptuously, my nerves giving way altogether. And you would be my wife! Do you want me to despise you?" I struck dead my poor, feeble hope that had been all but still-born. I rushed from the room, closing the door violently between us.

Such was our housewarming.

XXIX.

BLACKLOCK OPENS FIRE.

For what I proceeded to do, all sorts of motives, from the highest to the basest, have been attributed to me. Here is the truth: I had already pushed the medicine of hard work to its limit. It was as powerless against this new development as water against a drunkard's thirst. I must find some new, some compelling drug—some frenzy of activity that would swallow up myself as the battle makes the soldier forget his toothache. This confession may chagrin many who have believed in me. My enemies will hasten to say: "Aha, his motive was even more selfish and petty than was alleged." But those who look at human nature honestly, and from the inside, will understand how I can concede that a selfish reason moved me to draw my sword, and still can claim a higher motive. In such straits as were mine, some men of my all-or-none temperament debauch themselves; others thresh about blindly, reckless whether they strike innocent or guilty. I did neither.

Probably many will recall that long before the "securities" of the reorganized coal combine were issued, I had in my daily letter to investors been preparing the public to give them a fitting reception. A few days after my whole being burst into flames of resentment against Anita, out came the new array of new stocks and bonds. Roebuck and Langdon arranged with the underwriters for a "fake" four times over-subscription, indorsed by the two greatest banking houses in the Street. Despite this oftentried and always-good trick, the public refused to buy. I felt I had not been overestimating my power. But I made no move until the "securities" began to go up, and the financial reporters—under the influence where not actually in the pay of the Roebuck-Langdon clique—shouted that, "in spite of the malicious attacks from the gambling element, the new securities are being absorbed by the public at prices approximating their value." Then— But I shall quote my investors' letter the following morning:

"At half-past nine yesterday—nine-twenty-eight, to be exact—President Melville, of the National Industrial Bank, loaned six hundred thousand dollars. He loaned it to Bill Van Nest, an ex-gambler and proprietor of pool rooms, now silent partner in Hoe & Wittekind, brokers, on the New York Stock Exchange, and also in Filbert & Jonas, curb brokers. He loaned it to Van Nest without security.

"Van Nest used the money yesterday to push up the price of the new coal securities by 'wash sales'—which means, by making false purchases and sales of the stock in order to give the public the impression of eager buying. Van Nest sold to himself and bought from himself 347,060 of the 352,681 shares traded in.

"Melville, in addition to being president of one of the largest banks in the world, is a director in no less than seventy-three great industrial enterprises, including railways, telegraph companies, savings banks and life insurance companies. Bill Van Nest has done time in the Nevada State Penitentiary for horse-stealing."

That was all. And it was enough—quite enough. I was a national figure, as much so as if I had tried to assassinate the president. Indeed, I had exploded a bomb under a greater than the president—under the chiefs of the real government of the United States, the government that levied daily upon every citizen, and that held state and national and the principal municipal governments in its strong box.

I confess I was as much astounded at the effect of my bomb as old Melville must have been. I felt that I had been obscure, as I looked at the newspapers, with Matthew Blacklock appropriating almost the entire front page of each. I was the isolated, the conspicuous figure, standing alone upon the steps of the temple of Mammon, where mankind daily and devoutly comes to offer worship.

Not that the newspapers praised me. I recall none that spoke well of me. The nearest approach to praise was the "Blacklock squeals on the Wall Street gang" in one of the sensational penny sheets that strengthen the plutocracy by lying about it. Some of the papers insinuated that I had gone mad; others that I had been bought up by a rival gang to the Roebuck-Langdon clique; still others thought I was simply hunting notoriety. All were inclined to accept as a sufficient denial of my charges Melville's dignified refusal "to notice any attack from a quarter so discredited."

As my electric whirled into Wall Street, I saw the crowd in front of the Textile building, a dozen policemen keeping it in order. I descended amid cheers, and entered my offices through a mob struggling to shake hands with me—and, in my ignorance of mob mind, I was delighted and inspired! Just why a man who knows men, knows how wishy-wishy they are as individuals, should be influenced by a demonstration from a mass of them, is hard to understand. But the fact is indisputable. They fooled me then; they could fool me again, in spite of all I have been through. There probably wasn't one in that mob for whose opinion I would have had the slightest respect had he come to me alone; yet as I listened to those shallow cheers and those worthless assurances of "the people are behind you, Blacklock," I felt that I was a man with a mission!

Many a Plainfield Reader Will Be Interested.

When people read about the cures made by a medicine endorsed from far away, is it surprising that they wonder if the statements are true? But when they read of cases right here at home, positive proof is within their reach, for close investigation is an easy matter.

Mrs. Julia Molloy, of 740 West Front street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "Many so-called cures for backache and kidney disease have been taken by me, but no medicine ever stopped my aches and pains until I began using Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Randolph's Pharmacy. I took the pills according to directions, and found before finishing the first box that they were far more healing and brought even more relief from backache than their owners claim for them. I continued with the treatment and was cured, and now do not suffer from aches or pains or kidney troubles."

DISCRIMINATING LADIES.

Enjoy Using Herpicide on Account of Its Distinctiveness.

The ladies who have used Newbro's Herpicide speak of it in the highest terms, for its quick effect in cleansing the scalp of dandruff and also for its excellence as a general hair-dressing. It makes the scalp feel fresh and it allays that itching which dandruff will cause. Newbro's Herpicide effectively cures dandruff, as it destroys the germ that causes it. The same germ causes hair to fall out, and later baldness; in killing it, Herpicide stops falling hair and prevents baldness. It is also an ideal hair dressing, for it lends an aristocratic charm to the hair that is quite distinctive. Sold by leading druggists. LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

An event of much theatrical as sporting interest will be the first presentation in the East of the original moving pictures of the Gans-Nelson fight, which will be exhibited at the New Plainfield theatre tomorrow, matinee and evening. These pictures are the most complete ever taken of a pugilistic encounter, surpassing in clearness the vividness the remarkable picture of the celebrated Fitzsimmons-Corbett fight at Carson City in March, 1897.

William Collier gave the first performance of his new comedy in three acts, "Caught in the Rain," at Atlantic City Monday night, which by the way was his birthday, and scored one of the greatest dramatic successes of this season. "Caught in the Rain," which was written by Mr. Collier and Grant Stewart of his company, promises to be a most worthy successor to "The Dictator" and "On the Quiet," in which the comedian made such great hits here before. It is a good "human interest" story, well told, with plenty of fun and the sort of heart interest that appeals to all classes of theatregoers. Its presentation at the New Plainfield theatre on Friday night cannot fail to draw out the amusement loving public of this city in full force, for it is seldom that the combination of a popular star and a splendid supporting company in an excellent play is offered us before New York City has enjoyed such a production. Interest in the play is heightened by some very realistic scenic effects including a rainstorm but never for a moment are these effects permitted to distract the interest of the audience from the love story and its humorous setting.

Felix Haney's greatest success was scored as "Hi Holler" in "Way Down East," a character which he originated and played for four seasons, winning the unanimous praise of the New York press and the public throughout the country. As "Hez Huckins" in "When the Harvest Days Are Over," he has a character which affords him the best opportunity of his career, and in it he surpasses his clever work in "Way Down East." Mr. Haney will appear at the New Plainfield theatre on Saturday afternoon and night in "When the Harvest Days Are Over." Neil Thomey, his manager, has surrounded him with one of the best companies on the road and carries the entire scenic production.

An elaborate scenic production including the exact reproduction of a Broadway roof garden is promised with "The Choir Singer" which will furnish the attraction at the New Plainfield theatre next Monday night. This latest comedy drama success from the pen of Carroll Fleming, author of "Sis Hopkins," has just concluded an engagement in New York where it was received by the press and the public with great enthusiasm. A feature of the play which is said to please all classes of theatregoers is the introduction at appropriate moments of a number of musical selections including songs of a varied nature. A large company of carefully selected metropolitan players are engaged in the presentation.

Football and General Sports

GOLF.

There is one thing about the game of golf not to be found in any other game, with possibly the exception of football, and that is it is played no matter what the weather may be. There are many instances on the local courses when members have played the game in driving storms, when it has been almost impossible to see the ball. In no other game would athletes think of playing out-of-doors, and shows the hold the game has on its followers.

Play for the November Handicap cup and the final rounds for the Golf Committee consolation and inconsolables' cups, will be the attraction at the Plainfield Country Club on Saturday.

The fine fall weather has had much to do with keeping the local golf courses in condition. It is seldom that there is such continued favorable weather at this time of the year and it is quite likely that play will be possible as late as Christmas.

Englewood won from Morris county in the team championship final of the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association yesterday at the neutral course of the Essex County Country Club by 6 points to 0. The annual fixture is always between the teams winning out in the two divisions of the association, each made up of four clubs to avoid the trouble of an eight club league. The Englewood Golf Club team won out in its series with 52 points, and the Morris County Country Club in its division by 53 points. Englewood had one default and Morris County two. All the other matches were played on schedule. In seeking for a neutral course, which the conditions call for, the two teams first arranged to play at Garden City. They gave up the idea to select the more accessible Essex County Country Club course, which is 6,000 yards since the changes. Under the rules of the series, the positions are declared the day before by the two captains, and a default counts in the pair scheduled without changing the order of the other pairs. Miss Elsa Hurlbut, No. 1 for Morris County, could not appear, and this counted 3 points for Mrs. Lefferts, who led the Englewood team. The other matches were so close that they were settled on the in holes, each counting but one point on the Nassau system. Mrs. E. F. Sanford won a good match from Miss Marie Bryce, Miss Julia R. Mix beat Mrs. William Shippen and Miss Elizabeth Hurry defeated Mrs. E. D. Post, formerly Miss Miller.

Next year's British amateur championship will be at St. Andrews during the week of May 20. The opening will be at Hoylake a week or two later. Robert Maxwell won the gold medal at the autumn meeting of the Honourable Company at Muirfield, with 78. J. A. Laidlay came second with 79 and O. Martin Smith third, at 82. Inventors abroad are still tinkering with the golf balls. T. M. Hunter is said to be using one with a gelatine core enclosed in a rubber bag.

Miss Pauline Mackay, of Boston, will play in the women's tournament this week at the New Haven Country Club. The competition will have a large Manhattan and New England entry.

William Platt will be manager for the third season of the Pine Forest Golf Club, Lakewood, and the course is now open. The special rates to resident and non-resident members for monthly, weekly or one day tickets bring a good many players to the course. The turf, distances and hazards are right to make the round attractive, for the course has been in play for six or seven seasons. The Country Club of Lakewood had the links until the removal to its new home and many important matches have been played there.

ROD AND GUN.

William Jones, of East Third street, is enjoying a week's hunting for game.

J. Edmund Skiff, organist of the First M. E. church, went out hunting early in the week and succeeded in shooting one cotton-tail.

E. L. Knutter was among yesterday's successful nimrods. He went gunning near Three Bridges and returned with twenty-six rabbits, twenty-one squirrels and one English pheasant.

Patrolman Herbert Overbaugh and "Pete" Feiring were among the gunners that beat up the Hunterdon county woods, Monday and yesterday. Overbaugh withheld what he got but Feiring claims that his individual catch was seventeen rabbits and a Teddy bear.

Ed. Newton, of the Kensington, chased cotton-tails in the vicinity of Pottersville, yesterday. He bagged quite a number and incidentally added spice to the hunt by running afoul of a big hornets' nest. The majority of them had healthy stingarees and Ed. brought back evidence of the fact.

Roome Engaging in Practice.

In the light practice held yesterday by the Yale football eleven, Howard Roome, of this city, who has been laid up with injuries, was put at full back. Roome will be given morning practice in punting to help him recover his skill at long kicking. He believes that he will be in form by Saturday.

Sunday-school Athletics.

Organization and schedule plans will be considered by the prospective members of the proposed Sunday-school athletic league at the Y. M. C. A. Friday night. Several handsome trophies will be offered.

The affair was arranged by his wife, assisted by her mother, Mrs. Chamberlin. Later in the evening a surprise party was given to Francis Henry Anson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice J. Anson, and the young man was presented with a diamond ring by his uncle, Maurice Kelly, of Philadelphia. Mr. Anson received many useful gifts. Refreshments were served at midnight.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Anson, Mr. and Mrs. George Reynolds, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Stites, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Seader, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McInerney, Mrs. Frank Thom, Mrs. E. Moore, Miss Clara Allen, Miss Anna Bach, Miss Ida Wilson, Walter Anson, Robert Anson and Arthur Thom.

Commission Plan's Defeat.

Somerville, Nov. 14.—The County Board of Canvassers yesterday went over the vote cast at the recent election, and found that the question of adopting the law to establish a commission of three to take the place of the Board of Freeholders was defeated by a majority of 143. The big vote for the change came from Bridgewater, including Somerville, Raritan and Bound Brook and in North Plainfield. Most of the rural townships voted for the old board. Even in Bernards, where a big vote was expected against the old board, the vote was evenly divided.

Elks' Social Declared Off.

Plainfield Lodge, No. 885, B. P. O. E., has postponed the old-fashioned social planned for tonight. It was declared off last night soon after the news of Dr. Jenkins' death was received, the former mayor having been one of its most active members. A hurried meeting of the officers and committee was called and they agreed unanimously that any thought of a social function should be abandoned.

Railroad Firemen At Bay.

New York, Nov. 14.—As negotiations go on between the railroads and their employes it becomes more apparent to the locomotive firemen that electricity is soon to rob them of their usefulness in the running of trains. Some of the leaders believe the days of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen are numbered, and developments in this city and elsewhere yesterday indicated that the firemen are planning to make a final struggle for the preservation of their order and their identity in the railroad service of the country. That the roads are acting concertedly in withholding concessions from the firemen nearly all the men believe, and that the engine drivers are being favored by the officers at the expense of the firemen is also believed by the latter.

Oppose Y. M. C. A. "Canteen."

New York, Nov. 14.—Declaring that their business is being ruined, storekeepers in the vicinity of the Navy Yard, backed by prominent residents in the region, have started a movement to restrain from trade the naval branch of the Young Men's Christian Association, at No. 167 Sands street, Brooklyn, which was presented to the enlisted men by Miss Helen Gould. In an effort to help make expenses to maintain the large association building, the managers have recently opened what they call a "canteen," where nearly every article, except liquors, needed by an enlisted man is sold. The association does not pay taxes and it is the intention of merchants to force the institution to pay taxes or go out of business.

Cop Invaded "French Soil."

New York, Nov. 14.—Because Policeman John Anglin, of the Old Slip station, on November 5, invaded the office of the French Consulate, technically French soil, No. 35 South William street, and attempted to arrest M. Alcide Ebray, French Consul General in this city, on a charge made by a scrub woman in the building that M. Ebray had insulted her, Mayor McClellan yesterday sent a letter of apology to the French official. Anglin, for his action, which might have caused a national misunderstanding, will go on trial today before Third Deputy Police Commissioner Mathot, having already been suspended.

Small Boy Dead Shot.

New York, Nov. 14.—Because Leland Tweedle shot Theodore Roosevelt Jansen in the head with a rifle he was arraigned in the Police Court in Long Island City yesterday, charged with felonious assault. The accused boy is twelve years old and the victim is seven. The rifle was of the air gun variety, but it carried its little leaden shot true to the aim of the juvenile marksman and inflicted a serious wound. On Saturday afternoon the boy Tweedle was out in the lots in the rear of the Queens County Court House shooting Indians. Redskins were not plentiful, and the boy took a shot at almost anything that moved.

Causes For Divorce.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 14.—The National Congress on Uniform Divorce Laws, in session in this city, yesterday adopted about one-third of the proposed uniform bill as drafted by the committee appointed at the meeting held in Washington nine months ago. The portions adopted include seven causes under which annulment of a marriage may be obtained and six causes for absolute divorce. The causes for which divorce can be granted are infidelity, felony, bigamy, desertion, habitual drunkenness and intolerable cruelty, and in the discussions of the various sections there was little opposition to any of these provisions.

FELL FORTY FEET; ONLY SLIGHTLY HURT.

Laborer Tumbles from Building and Lands in Debris.

James Klosen, aged thirty-six years, employed as a laborer on the new building being erected on West Front street by the Ransom Machine and Cement Works, fell off the roof of the building, a distance of forty feet, landing in a pile of debric on the ground. Other workmen employed about the building who saw Mr. Klosen fall believed that he was fatally injured and a hurry-up call was sent for the police patrol. Chief Kiely and Dr. C. B. Lufburrow, the city physician, answered the call.

When they arrived at the scene of the accident they found Klosen semi-conscious and suffering intense pain. After temporary treatment Dr. Lufburrow ordered that the man be taken to the hospital. An examination showed that he had received slight injuries to his back.

The accident happened shortly after Klosen commenced work. The roof of the building was covered with a light fall of snow and ice and it was while walking across the ice and snow-covered boards that Klosen's feet slipped and he was hurled off the top of the building. He fell head first, but in the descent Klosen's body turned so that he landed on his back. His escape from death is considered miraculous.

Klosen resides at 70 Manning avenue, the borough, and has been employed on his present job since the building of the factory was started.

WATER FOR NEW PARK.

E. M. French Secures Agreement for Over Mile of Mains.

An amicable settlement of the differences between the water company and the Highland Park Realty Company has been arranged by Elston M. French. The latter has filed a surety bond covering the laying of over one mile of water mains through Highland Park. This solves the most difficult proposition Mr. French has confronted in developing this property, and assures an adequate supply of artesian water.

Over one mile of concrete and cement sidewalks have been laid through the Park, and hundreds of poplar trees are being set out. Ten houses are now in progress of construction, and some of them are nearing completion. Just one short of 250 lots have already been sold, and the success of the enterprise is fully assured.

Papers in S. O. Suit.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14.—Attorney General Moody today forwarded to St. Louis all the papers necessary to begin the suit of the federal government to dissolve the Standard Oil Corporation for alleged violation of the Sherman anti-trust law. So soon as the mails can carry them there the United States District Attorney will start proceedings, and that will leave lacking only the criminal action against the officers and great stockholders to have fully in operation the most comprehensive attack every made by any government, under the law, against a private business enterprise.

Pauper Gets Fortune.

Matteawan, N. Y., Nov. 14.—Theodore Post, an inmate of the Dutchess county poorhouse, who was known throughout the county as "Tete" Post when he peddled milk in Matteawan and Glenham villages, has just fallen heir to $50,000. Despite the assurance that he is a wealthy man and may at once obtain advances on his property which will enable him to live in comfort until the legal formalities attending the transfer of the estate have been gone through with, "Tete" has decided to remain in the county house until everything is settled.

Date of Thaw Trial.

New York, Nov. 14.—Two weeks from next Monday, on December 3, Harry Thaw will be placed on trial, charged with murder in the first degree, for the slaying of Stanford White during a performance on the Madison Square roof garden, on the night of June 25 last. If counsel for the young man intend to ask for further delay they gave no hint of it yesterday. All along they have professed to be anxious to face the ordeal as soon as possible.

S. S. CONVENTION GROWS

STATE OFFICERS REPORT

Rev. Frank Smith Deplores Amount of Popular Reading that Detracts From the Bible Study of Fathers.

The second day's session of the fourth annual convention of the New Jersey Sunday-school Association at Somerville, yesterday, was marked by an increased attendance. After a long service, conducted by the Rev. Mr. Lippincott, in the morning, Rev. Frank A. Smith, of Haddonfield, conducted devotional Bible study. He assigned various passages of scripture to persons in the audience, who read them.

Mr. Smith then spoke of the neglect of Bible reading. "In the days of our fathers there were no newspapers," he said, "and not so many other things to detract from the Book. Today the people are too busy to become acquainted with the Book." He spoke of the systematic methods of the International Bible Reading Association, by which there was a uniformity of this work. By this means, he said, there were 1,000,000 readers all over the world following the same general plan of Bible study.

Following this representatives of the various State departments spoke of the work that was being done by them, and Secretary Ferguson explained how the State office in Newark could be of help to the struggling Sunday-schools in various parts of the State.

Rev. Samuel O. Price, D. D., of Camden, who is the recording secretary of the association, made an interesting address at the afternoon session on "The Work of the Coming Year." Mrs. Mary Foster Bryner addressed the delegates again an "The Child We Teach," after which there were demonstrations in the exhibit room by the Rev. Milton S. Littlefield. Between 5 and 6 o'clock the annual banquet of the superintendents took place at the Deforest house, and 20 superintendents and friends sat down to the banquet. President F. W. Ayer, of Camden, was toastmaster and conducted the usual routine business after the dinner had been served.

"Saving the Boys" was the theme of the Rev. F. E. Dager, of Philadelphia, at the evening service. The Rev. Frank Anderson, of Millville, presented the "Baraca Class Idea," and told of the work being done in Newark, spoke of "Successful Methods With Boys," after which the session adjourned until this morning.

FORECLOSURE SALE.

Mrs. Sanford's Handsome Home Bought in by Her Mother.

Under foreclosure proceedings instituted by the First National Bank, of this city, the handsome home of Mrs. Alice H. Sanford, at New Market, was sold yesterday by Deputy Sheriff Overman in the sheriff's office at New Brunswick.

The property was bid in by Mrs. Sandford's mother, Mrs. Kate Yeomans, of Canandaigua, N. Y. The mortgage was for $3,400 and the costs and judgment brought the total up to about $4,500. Mrs. Yeomans secured it at that figure. Harry C. Runyon, representing the bank, bid the property up to that figure to protect his clients. An outsider tried for the property, but dropped out when the figure passed for $4,000.

Attended Anniversary Meeting.

The twenty-third anniversary of the Women's Board of Domestic Missions of the Reformed Church in America, was held yesterday in the Twenty-ninth Street Collegiate church, of which Rev. Those who attended from the Ladies' Christian Work Society of Trinity Reformed church were Mrs. Cornelius Schenck, Mrs. A. L. Force, and those from the Young Women's Mission Band were Miss Lillian A. Force, president; Mrs. H. F. Crawford and Miss Mabel Wilson.

THREE YALE CUPS FOR SCHOOL BOYS

OFFERED AS REWARDS FOR PROFICIENCY IN SCHOLARSHIP AND ATHLETICS.

The Yale Club, of Plainfield, has decided to purchase three cups to be placed in three of the public schools of the city, to be awarded each year to the pupil proving himself the most proficient in scholarship and athletics. Action was taken on the matter at a meeting of the executive committee at the home of the president, T. M. Day, on Carlton avenue, last night. Arrangements were made for the purchase of the cups; also for the annual dinner of the club, by the appointment of committees to look after these matters.

Arrangements are also being made to have the Yale Glee Club give a concert in this city some time during the winter, the date to be announced later. There will be the usual dance following the concert. There are probably more graduates of Yale than any other college in Plainfield and they have always taken the initiative in affairs tending to maintain the college spirit.

CHESTER MATHEWSON GIVES TALK ON BIOLOGY.

P. H. S. Instructor Tells of the Value of a Course On the Subject.

Chester Mathewson addressed the senior class of the Plainfield High School at the regular morning assembly. He is instructor of biology in the High School, and he took for his subject "The Value of a Course in Biology." He explained that there are two kinds of benefit received from the study of the subject; one, from the scientific standpoint, or "pure science," which includes the study of the structure of animals, the relation of one to another, and the development of different species. The other phase of the subject which he called attention to was the "applied science," and the effect which it has on human existence and happiness.

Mr. Mathewson spoke of the development of observation and the training in accuracy which the course affords. He also referred to the work done by the Department of Agriculture at Washington in connection with biology, and told something of the wonders accomplished by Luther Burbank, thus showing in an impressive manner the practical value of biology.

He will also go up from seventh to sixth place on Immigration and Naturalization, because of the suicide of Congressman Adams, of Pennsylvania.

Congressman Fowler, of the Fifth District of New Jersey, will retain his chairmanship of the committee on banking and currency, and will be advanced to second place on the committee on reform in the Civil Service, because of the defeat of Mr. Lacey, of Iowa.

MOURN FOR DR. JENKINS

Those With Whom He Was Associated Take Suitable Action on His Death.

FUNERAL TOMORROW

Services of Private Nature at Home at 2:30—Rev. Abel C. McCrea to Officiate.

The funeral of Dr. Olin LeRoy Jenkins, whose sudden death Tuesday evening came as a great shock to the community, will be held at his late home on East Front street, tomorrow afternoon at 2:30. The service will be conducted by Rev. A. C. McCrea, pastor of the First M. E. church, and will be of a private nature, intended only for members of the family. Friends wishing to see the body can do so by calling at the house tomorrow morning between 11 and 12 o'clock.

Several of the lodges to which Dr. Jenkins belonged had planned to attend the service and either at the home or the graveside, conduct a part of their mortuary ritual. At the request of the family, however, all intentions of this nature were abandoned and the last rites will be as quiet and simple as the doctor lived his life.

At last night's meeting of Plainfield Lodge, No. 885, B. P. O. E., the members expressed regret at their brother's demise by formally passing resolutions. They were prepared by a committee appointed by Exalted Ruler George O. Stevens and composed of William F. Arnold, chairman; Charles A. Reed, Lemuel B. Woolston and Louis A. VanAlstyne. This committee will also attend the funeral service as a representative delegation from the lodge. The Mystic Shriners, the Knights Templar, the Masonic, Knights of Pythias and other fraternal orders will take similar action.

At a special meeting of the Plainfield Medical Association held at the Y. M. C. A., yesterday afternoon, the following resolutions was passed:

"Whereas, an all wise Providence has removed from our midst Dr. Olin L. Jenkins, a member of this society, be it resolved that we, the members of the Plainfield Medical Association, hereby express our appreciation of his life as a physician and as a citizen, and our deep regret at his death, and that we hereby tender our sincere sympathy to his widow.

"It was ordered that a copy of the above resolution be sent to The Daily Press, the Daily Courier and to Mrs. Jenkins.

"NORMAN H. PROBASCO, M. D.,
"Secretary, pro tem."

The resolutions passed by the Elks are signed by Exalted Ruler Geo. O. Stevens and Secretary W. H. Freeman as well as by the committee which consists of City Treasurer William F. Arnold, chairman; former Senator Charles A. Reed, L. B. Woolston and L. I. VanAlystyne. The concluding sentences of the resolution follow:

"Resolved, That we hereby extend to his family our sincerest sympathies for the sorrow they are called upon to bear in the loss of their loved one, and commend them to the care of the Grand Exalted Ruler of the Universe.

"Resolved, That the Exalted Ruler, be and hereby is requested to appoint a committee of the brethren to represent Plainfield Lodge, No. 885, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks at the funeral services, and that a copy of the foregoing preamble and resolutions, attested by the officers of Plainfield Lodge, No. 885, be engrossed and transmitted to the relatives of the deceased brother."

Common Pleas Court Cases.

There were only three arraignments yesterday in the Union County Court of Common Pleas. Stephen Stabb, for assaulting Constable Oliver Conlon, sergeant-at-arms of the Elizabeth District Court, who made a levy on Stabb to satisfy a judgment obtained against him by a Newark firm from which he bought goods on the installment plan, pleaded guilty. Judge Atwater decided to suspend sentence and the prisoner was released on his own recognizance. Frank Caracello, charged with stealing a watch valued at $29, pleaded not guilty. His trial was set down for November 21, and bail was fixed at $300. Braslo Paraleske pleaded guilty to assault and battery. He was bailed in $200 to appear for sentence November 28.

BOARD HEARS TAX KICKS

Bulk of Them are Referred or Refused After Consideration.

ABOUT FORTY PROTESTS

O. G. Waring Has a $1,000 Automobile Taken Off—Poll and Dog Tax Objectors Referred to the Collector.

Protests against tax-ratings in Plainfield to the number of about forty were heard by the County Board of Taxation at Elizabeth, Tuesday. Some of them were allowed, on the recommendation of the assessors, but the majority were referred or refused. Small kicks, like those on dog and poll taxes, were turned back to the city collector for disposition.

Of the forty protests, about half were from the Second ward. All the assessors were present to help the Board in considering the protests.

Among the protestants on property rateings were the following: S. T. Perrin, West Seventh and John streets; Howard Savings Institution, Crescent avenue; A. J. Brunson, Crescent avenue; Edward Alpaugh, East Ninth street; Miss Mary Butler, East Front street; Adam Young, Lee place; Mrs. N. H. Heideloff, West Front street; Mr. Claypool, Putnam avenue; C. H. Buckalew, West Fifth street; Mrs. Frances Saunders, East Ninth street; Miss Marion Barkalew, East Ninth street; Perrin Freres & Co., Washington avenue; Mrs. Marion Cadmus, East Second street; Mr. Arnett, Front and Richmond streets (three houses).

O. G. Waring protested against the listing of a $1,000 automobile against him. He said he didn't have the machine, and it was taken off.

A RUMOR STARTED RUN ON THE BANK

INSTITUTION MET DEMANDS OF DEPOSITORS; CONFIDENCE RESTORED.

From some unknown source a rumor was started yesterday at New Brunswick that the local savings bank was in some kind of trouble. So quickly did this rumor spread throughout the city that a "run" was started, and soon there were hundreds of persons at the bank demanding their money.

The "run" caught the bank officials unawares and they had nearly exhausted their currency when they obtained about $75,000 more, and with this they paid off the depositors as fast as they could hand out the money.

The bank has about $4,000,000 on deposit and is managed by some of the best known men in that city. At present there is a surplus of about $400,000.

When the bank opened yesterday there was no indication of a "run," but before noon over four hundred depositors had withdrawn their money and there was a constant crowd at the place. The bank officials tried to stop the "run," and in a measure were successful, as several persons who had withdrawn their money in the morning appeared at the bank before closing time and redeposited it.

One effect of the rumors was to cause distrust in another local bank, the New Brunswick Trust Company, but there was no run there. A card was issued saying that it could pay every cent and have $200,000 left. The card closed:

"The directors have arranged to have on hand half a million dollars in cash, and any depositor desiring his money can have it without a minute's delay."

Arrests are expected to follow the scare. The false statements are said to have been malicious. A man went to the bank several days ago with a passbook belonging to a relative and asked for the balance of the account. According to custom the bank declined to give it. That angered the man, and it is alleged he went about circulating false reports about the bank.

FOWLER'S PLURALITY, 408

Official Canvass of Union Complete Gives Martine 274 Plurality.

THE TOTAL RETURNS

Plainfielder Would Have Been Elected If Voting Machine Votes Had Been Undisputed.

The Union County Board of Elections and Registry completed the canvass of the county vote this morning and announced the official figures. The mix-ups have been straightened out and it is learned that James E. Martine, who opposed Congressman Fowler for a re-election, has a plurality of 274 in the county over Mr. Fowler, which cuts the latter's plurality in the Fifth District to 408.

Martine is credited with 165 votes more than he is entitled to in Union county, but the Election Board could not dispute these returns. The returns from three wards in Rahway gave Martine twice as many votes as he really got. This was due to the fact that the voting machines in these places recorded a vote in the Independent column for Martine every time the regular pointer was turned and likewise recorded a vote for him in the regular column every time the Independent ticket was voted. Martine was the sole candidate on an Independent Democratic ticket.

The board did not have to accept the result in duplicate from two of the Rahway wards, because of a defect in the returns from these two places. If the board had found it necessary to accept the vote in each place as the voting machines showed it, Martine would have been elected, on the face of the returns, by a plurality of two votes in the district, and Congressman Fowler could have been put to much trouble if his opponent should desire to take his seat in Congress.

The general opinion about voting machines in this part of Union county is not very favorable to their continuance.

The official returns show that Congressman Fowler received 10,261 votes in Union county, while Mr. Martine's vote, including the 193 Independent Democratic ballots cast for him in Rahway, was 10,535, which gives him a plurality of 274 over Mr. Fowler.

For coroner, Dr. Charles B. Lufburrow, Republican, of this city, received a total of 11,251, while Wagner, the Democratic opponent, received 9,333.

To Raise $15,000 In a Week.

The Young Men's Christian Association, of Elizabeth, is now planning for a short, vigorous canvass, to begin Monday of next week, when they will raise by Saturday night $15,000, the amount needed to clear al obligations on their new building. There will be a large committee from among the board of directors, membership, and also a citizens' committee, who will call upon the people of the community next week. One of the features of this canvass will be that on the outside of the new building there is to be a large clock, which will indicate the progress of the canvass, and thus keep the people in touch with what is being done.

EACH BUMP COST ONE AUTO LAMP

MRS. MURRAY'S MACHINE TWICE HIT AND SHE LOOSES TEMPER.

Mrs. Evelyn W. Murray, of Somerville, vice-president of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, was the complainant in the West Side Police Court in New York yesterday afternoon against Albert Maretz, automobile driver for William Morris, a theatrical agent, of Broadway, New York.

She alleged that Maertz carelessly bumped his machine into her automobile, near Forty-eighth street and Broadway, New York, earlier in the day. Mrs. Murray said she jumped from her machine to the sidewalk, and narrowly escaped serious injury.

"As it was, the fellow smashed one of our big brass lamps, and I want to prosecute him," she said.

Magistrate Steinert ordered Roundsman Casey, of the bicycle squad, to take out a complaint for disorderly conduct against Maertz. The examination was postponed until tomorrow.

As the woman left the court room, John McGinity, an elevator operator, approached her and said: "I am sorry to inform you, madam, that a big truck accidentally backed into your automobile, standing outside, and damaged the big brass lamp."

"What!" Mrs. Murray replied. "Bad luck never comes single. If I had the culprit who bruised my other lamp, here, I'd get after him, too."

HAYSTACK CENTENNIAL.

Origin of Foreign Mission Movement the Topic.

Three persons were received on confession and one by letter at the mid-week prayer meeting of the First Baptist church, last night. Those received on confession will be baptized probably Sunday night.

The greater part of the evening was devoted to a consideration of "The Haystack Centennial." Mrs. Robert Lowry, Mrs. Hannah Flanders, Miss Telen Robins, Samuel P. Case and several others talked on the history of the haystack missionary movement, which was started by several students from Williams College.

Dr. Chambliss gave a brief talk on the subject, showing the part taken in the movement by Baptists for the advancement of foreign missions. Other interesting items concerning foreign missions were read, showing the great progress of this work during the past century. "The Haystack Centennial" is being observed this week by special services in the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian church, New York.

FALL WITH THE SCAFFOLD

Two Carpenters Have Narrow Escapes From Fatal Injuries.

ONE LANDED ON OTHER

Then Whirls Onto a Rock and Comes Within An Ace of Breaking His Back—Condition Doubtful.

Following the collapse of a scaffold, two carpenters at work on a new building on Clinton avenue, just beyond the city line, had narrow escapes from fatal injuries, this morning. The men, Martin Hanson, 25 years old, of 308 East Front street, and John Neylon, of East Second street, fell only about 20 ft., but Hanson landed full on Neylon, and as the latter sank under the crushing impact, Hanson's body carromed onto a rock. He landed on his back, and although that was not broken as his companions at first thought, the doctors at the hospiutal, to where he was hurried, are not yet sure he has not sustained serious internal injuries. Neylon escaped with a bad bruising.

The accident occurred at 10:45 o'clock. Hanson and Neylon were at work on the one scaffold, fixing a higher piece of false work in place. Hanson, according to eyewitnesses, made a misstep and landed heavily on a section of scaffolding that had been weakened by frost. One of the boards flew up, and Neylon, standing at the other end, was tumbled to the ground. Hanson toppled after him, with sections of scantling hurtling about him.

Just as Neylon reached the ground, Hanson, who is a heavily-built six-footer, dropped on his back. Hanson's body whirled and struck on a rock nearby.

Both men lay in a semi-conscious state. They were carried into the office of the contractor, Peter C. Thompson, and the latter's son, Pusey Thompson, ran to Charles Ward's house, Clinton avenue, and telephoned to police headquarters for the patrol wagon. Driver O'Gorman took City Physician C. B. Lurburrow aboard, and gave his horse its head. Young Thompson met the wagon at Clinton avenue and Second street and directed O'Gorman to the scene.

Dr. Lufburrow found both men still semi-conscious, but they regained their senses a few minutes after he arrived. Neylon rallied rapidly, but Hanson complained of a numbness in his back, and he was driven at all speed to the hospital. The examination there established the fact that his back bone was not broken, although badly bruised. Two or three days will be required to enable the doctors to discover whether or not he has been hurt internally.

Neylon was able to walk home after the patrol wogan had carried him to within two blocks of his house. He will be all right in a day or two.

CLASS '08 VICTORS.

Defeat Class '09 in Lively Basketball Game.

The basketball team of the Class '08 defeated the '09 class team yesterday in the Plainfield High School gymnasium by a score of 35 to 24. About every player shot at least one goal, and Caldwell and Line made the greatest number for '08. Several times during the game, Lambert of '08, succeeded in almost capturing the ball, but was foiled owing to the strenuous efforts of Murphy, who followed the ball closely, breaking up plays in football fashion. The line-up:

Class '09—Forwards, Loizeaux, Scofield, S. Robins; center, Snyder; guards, Murphy, Osgood.

Referee, Woodhull; scorer, Morris; timer, Mathewson.

Holds Receipt for the Money.

A statement in last night's issue that Charles Lippincott was holding on to $17 which he found in a barn and which represented a part of the consideration in a horse deal is incorrect. It has since been learned that Mr. Lippincott promptly turned over the amount to the man to whom it belonged and that he holds a receipt to that effect. The money was found stuck in the door of the barn, which he had to open to enter the place to take care of horses entrusted to him. Mr. Lippincott is employed by Mr. Gano and this statement is made in justice to Mr. Lippincott.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD

Notwithstanding the fact that cars on the main line trolley are regular ice boxes, the Public Service Corporation seems to be in no hurry about starting fires in the stoves and at least make an attempt to heat the cars.

A number of the young people from here will attend the Arion Club's reception and dance to be held tonight in the Camera Club rooms in the Babcock building, Plainfield.

Rev. Mr. White, of Drew Seminary, will be the speaker at the union service tonight at the Methodist church. A cordial invitation is extended to all to attend these special services.

Miss Harriett M. Squires visited the Newark public schools yesterday. Mrs. Thomas M. Paff, Jr., acted as substitute teacher for the day.

Will Enforce Eight-Hour Law.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 15.—Publicity was given yesterday at the Department of Justice to a recent order to United States District Attorneys requiring them to investigate and rigidly enforce the eight-hour law, which prohibits more than that number of hours of labor on the public works of the United States. C. J. Carlton, of Haverhill, Mass., a special attorney of the department, has been designated to handle these cases as they come before the department, there now being more than three hundred complaints on file.

Will Petition for More Lights.

Residents of West Front street, between Plainfield and Grant avenues, are complaining about the poorly lighted thoroughfare. All of the lights on that street between the points named with two exceptions, are on the south side and the opposite side is unusually dark for a great distance, especially where there are no houses. There is talk of petitioning the Common Council to locate more lights in that section.

Dr. Wharton In Savannah.

Rev. Dr. Henry M. Wharton, the evangelist, who conducted special meetings at the First Baptist church with so much success, is now holding revival meetings in the First Baptist church, Savannah, Ga. The services began on Sunday and will continue for a couple of weeks. Thus far the services have been largely attended and there are prospects for a great spiritual awakening in the southern city.

Continuing Improvement.

A large gang of men with carts and horses has been put to work on West End avenue in the borough for the purpose of completing the original task of laying that thoroughfare out as a boulevard. Mayor N. B. Smalley, of the borough, is supervising the improvement.

GOTHAM'S AMUSEMENTS

At the Bijou theatre, New York, May Irwin has scored an "old time success" in her new play, "Mrs. Wilson Andrews," and big business is the rule. The critics have united in declaring that her present vehicle is one of the best that she has yet had and all of her songs are pronounced "hits." There is little doubt that Miss Irwin will continue to amuse the patrons of the Bijou for many weeks to come. In her new play Miss Irwin impersonates the character of a society woman whose husband, Murgatroyd Wilson, has disappeared seven years before the beginning of the play, and whom she has every reason to believe is no longer in the laid of the living. She takes a second partner in the person of Colonel Andrews, but the wedding is no sooner celebrated than a friend of her former husband turns up with news from Murgatroyd and through a mistake she believes that she is a bigamist. Numerous complications arise and the bride who thinks she is still Mrs. Wilson decides to run away to South Africa, to escape the consequences of her supposed crime, but the truth comes out and all ends happily. Miss Irwin has her usual quota of songs which she renders at every performance, some, of course, being of the coon variety. In the comedienne's support this season are Adolph Jackson, John Hazzard, Victor Cassmore, "Ben" Roth, C. Russell Sage, J. Early Hughes, Mary K. Taylor, May Donohue, Lillian Dix, Madelon Temple, Kate Gotthold, Tilly Monroe, Dorothy Baines and Eleanor Kendall.

GOLF.

The members of the Baltusrol Golf Club are thoroughly enjoying the game these fine fall days. Especially on Sunday the course is crowded with enthusiasts, the excellent train service on the Lehigh Valley Railroad direct from New York to the grounds, being the means of attracting a large number of golfers. There are not a few Plainfield golfers who take advantage of the play at Baltusrol on Sunday, finding it a pleasant drive between the two places.

Morris J. Dumont and E. B. Shoemaker will play the final match for the Inconsolables' cup at the Plainfield Country Club, Saturday, the former having defeated W. D. Riggs in the semi-final play and the latter winning from E. A. Stevenson, by default. There will also be the final play for the consolation cup.

Next Saturday and the following Saturday will conclude the play for the November Handicap cup at the Plainfield Country Club. The player having the best averaged score for the month will receive the cup.

Nearly every day members of the Plainfield Country Club are to be found playing on the club course, merely for the exercise. The bracing air and the walk is found to be extremely beneficial.

Entries closed last night for the annual fall open golf tournament of the Country Club of Lakewood, which begins today. The advance list shows fifty-odd names, and the chances are that between 80 and 100 golfers will drive off from the first tee. A number of New York amateurs are entering only for the handicap on Saturday, as they find it impossible to get away for three days at this season of the year. Among those who have already sent in their names are George T. Brokaw, of the Garden City Golf Club; Dr. Homer Gibney and A. S. Henderson, Ardsley; H. A. Spofford, Haryer Hill Club, London; C. Tiffany Richardson, a former Harvard captain; Chas. E. Van Vleck, Montclair; Fred Snare, Englewood, and Alexander Morten, Westchester Country Club.

FOOTBALL.

The only local football game of interest on Saturday will be played at Dunellen between Alis and the team of the former town. The Plainfield eleven will be accompanied by a large crowd of rooters.

The North Plainfield High School eleven has a few more games scheduled before closing the season. Just now the interest is divided between football and basketball.

Among the local schools not represented on the gridiron this season is Leal's on West Front street. Owing to a lack of material it was found impossible to organize an eleven of any strength to meet teams in its class.

For nearly half an hour yesterday the Yale coaches drove the 'varsity through what will probably be the last hard drill before the Princeton game on Saturday. Hockenburger was relieved at centre by Hollaway, and Torrey replaced Alcott at right end, because those players are a trifle fine. Captain Morse's leg was so lame that he did not take part in the practice, but Roome was out and played at fullback on the 'varsity through the entire practice, which was in secret. He scored one of the three touchdowns made by the regulars. Tad Jones ran the eleven without a suggestion from the coaches about the selection of plays. His work was uniformly good, and he topped it off by catching a punt and dashing through the second eleven for a run of seventy yards and a touchdown. Several new coaches were on the field yesterday, including Carl Flanders, just back from a month with the Carlisle Indians; Ralph Bloomer, one of Yale's leading coaches last year; ex-Captain Jim Hogan, who has been at Exeter, and Billy Bull.

The University of Michigan football squad, headed by Coach Yost and Acting-Capt. Garrels, left yesterday for Philadelphia, where, on Saturday, the eleven will play the Quakers in the first big intersectional game of the decade. The send-off given the players by the student body was the greatest in the history of the university, but was only a continuation of the enthusiasm created at the great mass meeting Tuesday night in University Hall to cheer up the team for the Pennsylvania game. Five thousand were crowded into a hall seating 3,200, and hundreds were turned away. Spirit ran high and enthusiasm was unbounded though tinged with sadness at Capt. Curtis' misfortune and the poor outlook for victory. Six hundred dollars was subscribed in five minutes to send the scrubs to see the game. The Athletic Association could not pay their expenses this year because of low funds, but the students responded without hesitation.

COURT RULES PATENTS WERE OVERESTIMATED.

Defendants in Gelatine Works Case Got Stock Without Consideration.

Vice-Chancellor Bergen decided yesterday at Newark the suit brought by A Van Doren Honeyman, of Somerville, as receiver of the Jersey Gelatine Works, against Louis C. Haughey, for president of the concern, and other stockholders.

The suit was brought to recover on the holdings of the defendants to the amount of about $48,000. They held that the stock was non-assessable. It was claimed that certain patents that the defunct company owned were worth sufficient to warrant an issue of $1,000,000 stock.

The court held that the patents were worth nothing like what they had been represented, and that in consequence the defendants got their stock practically without consideration and that they must make up the deficiency in the company.

The receiver was allowed $1,000 for his services the court remarking that he would have made the allowance greater were there any property in the State from which to get it.

Dog Gives Life to Save Doll.

New York, Nov. 15.—In an attempt to save a doll which had dropped from the arms of a child while crossing the tracks at Forty-sixth street and Fifth avenue, Brooklyn, a small collie dog had its foot crushed yesterday by a car. Although it suffered intense pain the animal restored the doll, carrying it in its mouth to the owner, and then lay down on the sidewalk. It was taken to the Fourth avenue station, a quarter of a mile away, where it was shot. The dog was the pet of the daughter of Mrs. Charles Lang, of Fifth street and Fifth avenue.

Big Stock Melon Cut.

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 15.—By unanimous vote the stockholders of the Pullman Company decided at the annual meeting yesterday to distribute its $26,000,000 of surplus earnings in the form of a stock dividend. There was not a word of objection to the plan. The minority interest, represented by E. W. Henck, of New York, had made loud demands for a cash dividend, but Mr. Henck did not lift his voice in favor of the plan, and so far as the officers of the company know Mr. Henck was not present at the meeting.

A $15,000 Dimple.

New York, Nov. 15.—Declaring that not only has her face been marred, but that she also has been robbed of a "dainty little dimple" which she prized highly, Euphemia B. Koller, an author, who recently came to New York from Washington, has brought suit for $15,000 damages against a dermatologist, who she declared guaranteed to remove wrinkles from her face and make her more beautiful.

Judge Frowned on Sects.

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 15.—Contempt of the late Judge Joseph E. Gary, for all forms of fanatical religion is reflected in his will, which was filed for probate today. It prohibits, in ironclad legal terms, any and all of his grandchildren from entering upon any such religious life, becoming members of any such cult, order, sect or church under penalty of disinheritance.

Real Estate and Men Who Boom It.

ELSTON M. FRENCH.

"There never was a time when so much real estate was sold through this office as in the past year," said Elston M. French, the realty operator, when a Daily Press reporter asked him how the real estate market had seemed to him the last twelve months. "The same holds good of my New York office," added Mr. French parenthetically.

"There are fewer vacant houses in the city at present," continued Mr. French, "than in the past twenty-five years. New houses which are built for speculation are usually sold before completion."

"To my mind, it seems plain that the largest real estate developement here is bound to be in the East End of the city," said Mr. French in response to a question on the outlook. "The West End is now crowding the city and county line. A number of new factories are being built, or are contemplated in the East End, and the trend of population must turn there.

"The largest real estate developement ever undertaken in the city, that at Highland Park, is now being made there. Highland Park comprises 800 lots, of which 249 have been sold; all through this office. Over 70—to be exact, 71—houses are under contract to be built. This will make a most noteworthy addition to the city, and as the property is restricted to a good class of houses, the addition will be a most desirable one.

"Miles of streets have been opened and nearly two miles of cement sidewalks have been laid. As the tract is near the Netherwood station and trolley, it is most accessible. It is forty to fifty feet higher than most of the other parts of the city, and, consequently, unusually healthy.

"More enterprise is needed on the part of builders to supply homes for the many people who wish to reside in this beautiful city. There are not enough houses going up."

Mr. French waxed enthusiastic over the fair features of Plainfield. He confessed to a bit of a passion for Plainfield's developement. He had more interest in this part of New Jersey, he said, than in any section of the earth, and was particularly anxious to see it prosper.

Some strikingly big deals were engineered by Mr. French during the year. He sold a large tract of land, including two dwellings and Netherwood Hill, the aggregate value of which was $50,000, to George A. Beaton, on which the latter contemplates the erection of a handsome residence. Many other large properties were sold through his office. The latest deal of importance effected by him is the sale of the large plot at Darrow avenue and Essex street to the Board of Education, through Floyd T. Woodhull, of the Board. This is a portion of the balance of a tract of land which Mr. French successfully developed a few years ago, upon which forty or fifty houses have been built, including the fire department building and a store.

"Prospects are bright for still a better year," said Mr. French with emphasis in closing the interview. "The Pennsylvania tunnel is calling attention to New Jersey as the ideal place for suburban homes, and I look for an increased demand for houses before we will really be ready for it."

Laugh Cost His Life.

New York, Nov. 15.—Chas. Ward, twenty-one years old, of No. 151 Prospect street, Brooklyn, was shot and instantly killed by his lifelong friend, Daniel Mulvaney, twenty years old, of No. 57 Fulton street, in a billiard room at No. 136 Fulton street, at eight o'clock last night. Ward's laugh cost him his life. Tuesday night he and Mulvaney had a dispute over a game of billiards, and last night they began chaffing each other about the disagreement of the previous night. Mulvaney grew angry over Ward's taunts. "I will not allow you to poke fun at me," he said to Ward, "and I warn you now not to laugh at me again." Playfully Ward uttered a loud "Ha! ha!" when Mulvaney pulled a revolver from his pocket and shot his friend through the brain. Mulvaney was arrested an hour later.

Mrs. Charles Emmons is seriously ill at her home, 87 Somerset street, with heart trouble.

HAMILTON TIRED OF CITY OWNERSHIP.

Politicians' Dishonest Management Sends Tax Rate to $5 on the $100.

Hamilton, O., Nov. 15.—Mismanagement of municipal affairs has embittered tax payers of this city against municipal ownership as conducted in Hamilton. The tax rate is $5 on the $100. The last rate was $3.15, but a special tax for street paving, sewers and other expenses has caused the advance.

The city owns the gas works, the water works and the electric light plant. The men who have just been turned out by the tax payers and voters left debts aggregating $305,000, for which the new Board will have to issue bonds.

Of this sum the water works was short $150,000, the gas works $70,000, the electric plant $65,000.

The present Board of Public Service admits that the municipal management of the gas plant has been a flat failure. The politicians in charge of the plant employed as many men to operate the eighteen retorts in Hamilton as were employed at Cincinnati, where 500 retorts are operated, and it was estimated by those advocating a change that the gas plant was losing $35 per day for every day that it was operated.

The present Board of Public Service abandoned the city plant, and in a businesslike way went to a private coke company north of the city and made a contract for gas at 35 cents per 1,000 cubic feet. The coke company delivers the gas into the city's gas holder and it is then sent out through the city's pipes to consumers for 80 cents per 1,000 cubic feet. In this way the city expects to pay $5,000 per year of the debt contracted by former city officials who operated the plant at a loss.

But the city has its water and electric light plants on its hands and must make the best of them. The water plant is in bad shape, as the wells are contaminated with refuse from the gas plant, and coal tar can be tasted in the water. The water reservoir also needs attention, and so many things need renewing that the expense of the repairs will be enormous. As an evidence of a poor water supply typhoid fever is prevalent. Among other deaths from this dread disease the Chief of Police died last week.

The gas and the electric light plants have not paid the interest on the bonds for several years. The unlawful expenditure of money was something frightful. Still, no one has been indicted or sent to the penitentiary.

The tax valuation of the property in Hamilton for 1905 was $10,873,860, and now in order to keep the tax rate from going higher a million and a half has been added to the tax duplicate, making it $12,373,860 for 1906-7.

The business men hope to pay the city debt some time in the future, but don't expect the books to balance for fifteen or twenty years.

SLEEPY HUSBAND FINED.

Claimed He Thought Wife's Friend Was Burglar and Slapped Her.

Jersey City, Nov. 15.—It cost Harry M. Gough, a wealthy resident of Magnolia avenue, Jersey City Heights, $500 to slap the face of his wife's friend, Nettie A. Birch, and push her away from his door when she returned to his home with Mrs. Gough at 11:30 one night in May, 1905, after they had visited friends in Brooklyn. A jury in the Circuit Court assessed the plaintiff's damages for the indignties she suffered at the hands of Mr. Gough at that amount. Mr. Gough claimed he had struck the plaintiff in return for a blow he had received and which in his half-asleep condition he thought had been delivered by burglars trying to force an entrance into his house.

The evidence adduced was to the effect that the two women on their return to the Gough home, had endeavored to awaken Mr. Gough was was asleep within. Repeated efforts were unavailing and Mrs. Gough broke the glass panel of the door to attract attention. This aroused the sleeping hubby and he hurried down stairs and opened the door. It was then the alleged assault occurred.

Protection for Suburbanites.

New York, Nov. 15.—As the result of a decision which has just been rendered by Judge Leventritt and a jury in the Supreme Court a large number of suits will be filed against various suburban land companies operating in and about New York city on the instalment payment plan. The court declared invalid the form of contract generally emoplyed by these companies, which provides as a penalty for failure of a land purchaser to make any one of his payments the forfeiture of all his rights in the land as well as the money which he has paid on the property.

MUNICIPAL PLANT FAILS.

Columbus, Ohio, Has Trouble With City Lighting.

Columbus, O., Nov. 15.—The city of Columbus, through the City Council, has decided to issue and sell, if possible, bonds to the amount of $140,000 to repair and equip the electric light plant owned by the city. It was thought the city would sell the plant to a private corporation, but political influences were too strong.

Some of the members of the City Council wanted to employ an expert engineer to examine the large storage dam near the city, which cost a million dollars, and report whether the water power could not be used for generating electricity.

The plant has been a losing proposition. The debt of Columbus is $11,650,700. The taxable property is $80,000,000, and, according to the Longworth law, the city is within one million of the limit for bond issues. It has recently spent one million dollars for a filtration plant for the water supply, a million for a sewer disposal plant, and a half-million for a garbage disposal plant. The tax rate is now $3.03 ond the $100. Adding to this the street paving and other extras, there are exorbitant tax bills.

Underground Work Completed.

The New York and New Jersey Telephone Company has about completed all the underground work in the city that the appropriation called for and the work of putting the wires through the conduits and connecting them with the various stations is progressing. No doubt the work will be extended later on, although the territory is now pretty thoroughly covered throughout the city.

Eight Years for Stealing a Newspaper

Washington, Nov. 15.—H. Jones, a colored youth, has been sentenced to eight years in the District Reform School for stealing a newspaper valued at one cent. Jones belonged to an organized gang of young newspaper thieves that has been worrying the police for months, and Judge DeLacey, of the Juvenile Court, decided to make an example of the first member of the thieving organization to be brought before him.

ROYAL Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

Healthful cream of tartar, derived solely from grapes, refined to absolute purity, is the active principle of every pound of Royal Baking Powder.

Above it is that Royal Baking Powder raises the food quickly and makes it both for its fine flavor and healthfulness.

Alum, no phosphate—which are the principal elements of the so-called cheap baking powders—and which are derived from bones, rock and sulphuric acid.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Nov. 18: "Personal Evangelism."

By REV. WALTER J. YATES, D. D.

The call to win men.—Mark i, 17. Not ordained to men only.—Rev. xxii, 17. If living for our own salvation only we shall be lost.—Mark viii, 34, 35; John xii, 25. Our natural service.—Isa. ii, 2; Luke xiv 21-23. It requires understanding and wisdom.—Prov. ix, 10; Dan. xii, 3.

It is not altogether easy for most folks to talk to others of their personal religious experience. There are many parents who find it difficult to approach their children on this topic who are still exemplary Christians and anxious for the salvation of those same children. Brothers and sisters can often talk together of every other thing, but on this most important subject of all their lips seem sealed.

What is the explanation of this diffidence? It is not lack of interest or lack of love.

Perhaps in some cases it arises from lack of a deep and lively consciousness of the nearness of the blessed Christ in the personal life. Where this is lacking there would be a natural hesitancy to speak much of Him to others. But where he seems intimately near to one, so he shares all the plans and directs all the life work, one will unconsciously reveal this condition of spirit by the very manner and speech.

Then, again, many lack skill in approaching other people on such subjects and feel keenly this lack of knowledge of the best mode of approach and so do no work in this way.

There are many excuses others find who do not want to do the work, but these are among the chief hindrances to efficiency among those who feel a sense of duty and at the same time a sense of inefficiency and shrinking.

What is a remedy?

First, one should seriously inquire: "Have I any responsibility for the salvation of any other one? Ought I to talk to others about their religious condition and try to help them? What reasons are there why I should do this thing? What valid reasons are there against the doing of it?" Place these clearly before yourself. If desirable, take paper and write them out. There is nothing like having things where you can see them plainly.

Do these people around me stand in need of salvation? Is it a matter of vital importance to them? Is it urgent that they attend to it soon? Have I given the serious thought to their condition which I ought? If their house was on fire or they were exposed to bodily danger would I hesitate an instant to give them warning? Is not this case more serious and urgent than those would be?

If I ought to do this how can I best come at it? There is no one best way and no rules which work the same in all cases. Study the persons. Find out their tastes and personal peculiarities and then approach them on the most promising side.

Sometimes an invitation to go to church service to hear some particular preacher who will be likely to bring the truth home to an earnest seeker will be as good a way as any. Then follow this up by reference to the sermon and the points in it which can be made to lead up to an invitation to seek Christ. It can all be done in such a friendly way that no one can think of resenting it, but any one will take it as a matter of courtesy, which it certainly is.

Most important of all preparation for such service is the going to Christ all alone and getting the heart melted with His tenderness and loving interest in the one sought to be reached. Then He opens ways one could never have otherwise discovered.

Attend to Little Things.

Do not try to do a great thing; you may waste all your life waiting for the opportunity which will never come. But since little things are always claiming your attention, do them as they come, from a great motive, for the glory of God, to win His smile of approval, and to do good to men. It is harder to plod in obscurity, acting thus, than to stand on the high places of the field, within the view of all, and to do deeds of valor at which rival armies stand still to gaze. But no such act goes without the swift recognition and the ultimate recompense of Christ. To fulfill faithfully the duties of your station; to use to the utmost the gifts of your ministry; to bear chafing thoughts in prose, verse, history, philosophy, drama, romance, satire, ode, song—I have tried all. But I feel I have not said the thousandth part of what is in me. When I go down to the grave I can say like so many others, "I have finished my day's work," but I cannot say, "I have finished my life." My day's work will begin again the next morning. The tomb is not a blind alley; it is a thoroughfare. It closes in the twilight to open with the dawn.—Victor Hugo.

Calmness.

It is a sign that the soul is living in God if it maintains calmness within through the consciousness of His presence while working for Him in active ministrations. Such restfulness will show itself in the commonest ways, in doing common duties at the right time, in preserving a sweetness and evenness of temper in the midst of ordinary interruptions and disturbances, in walking to and fro quietly on the day's varied errands, in speaking gentle words, in sweetly meeting unexpected calls. A calm, restful temper grows as self is learning to lose itself in God.

Our Sorrows.

Every sorrow shall be but the setting of some luminous jewel of joy. Our very mourning shall be but the enamel around the diamond; our very hardships but the metallic ring that holds the opal, glancing with strange interior fire.—Henry Ward Beecher.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning Nov. 18.

By REV. S. H. DOYLE.

Topic.—How the Bible condemns intemperance; a review of all temperance passages.—Hab. ii, 5-15.

Intemperance has been one of the greatest curses of humanity throughout all ages. From the time of Noah's yielding to the temptation of strong drink intemperance has claimed its multitude of victims. No people and no nation has escaped its blighting influences. The chosen people of God even were no exception. Among them intemperance and drunkenness prevailed, and numerous warnings are to be found in the Bible against it. These warnings should deeply impress us, since they are the warnings of God Himself. Men may argue in favor of alcoholic drinks, governments may license and protect liquor selling saloons, but man's opinion is not to be compared to God's. It is our duty to listen to His voice and to obey the warnings of His word. "We ought to obey God rather than man."

1. The Bible warns us against the consequences of intemperance. Many such warnings might be quoted, but no passage in the Bible perhaps so fully sums up the consequences of this evil as the familiar one from Solomon: "Who hath woe? Who hath sorrow? Who hath contentions? Who hath babbling? Who hath wounds without cause? Who hath redness of eyes? They that tarry long at the wine; they that go to seek mixed wine." Who has not seen the awful consequences of intemperance—woe, sorrow, contentions, wounds? What a warning they should be to all against this great and wide spread interest.

2. The Bible warns us against the slightest indulgence in strong drink. Because of a few passages in the Bible suggesting the use of wine as a medicine it has been argued that the Bible does not teach total abstinence, that it simply warns against the immoderate use of drink and does not condemn moderate drinking. But what does Solomon say? "Look not thou upon the wine when it is red, when it giveth his color in the cup, when it moveth itself aright." If we are not to look upon it, how can we touch it? And with what reason the wise man urges complete abstinence. "At the last it biteth like a serpent and stingeth like an adder." Our only safety is in total and complete abstinence. No one can afford to run the risk of being a moderate drinker. Every man ruined by alcoholic drinks was at one time a moderate drinker and never intended to become a drunkard. Can we afford to take any chances when the dangers are so great?

3. The Bible warns us against giving drink to others. "Woe unto him that giveth his neighbor drink, that puttest thy bottle to him, and makest him drunken." The woe here pronounced is applicable to many. The saloon keeper, the bartender, the one who treats another to drink comes clearly within its meaning, and there is no reason why it should not include the government that makes drinking possible and those who at social functions or in their ordinary home life place the wine cup before others. It is almost inexplicable how men can engage in a business that ruins men's lives, how governments can permit the sale of that which destroys its citizens, society sanction that which only degrades it and men tempt their fellow men to drink. But it is all done. Yet God will hold the guilty ones responsible. His woe has been pronounced upon them and they will not escape their share of the responsibility in the ruination of the bodies, minds and souls of men.

BIBLE READINGS.

Lev. x, 9, 10; Isa. v, 11; Joel, i, 5; Prov. xxiii, 20, 21, 29-35; Nah. i, 10; I Cor. vi, 10; Gal. v, 19-26; Eph. v, 18; Rev. xxii, 12-15.

For Others Too.

More than mere growth is expected of a plant. Healthy juices may be in its veins, it may have vigor sufficient for its own sustenance and yet be no ornament, but an incumbrance to the place it fills. Flower or fruit, some loveliness of tint, some grace of waving spray or comforting shades, we always look for in the growths of earth. And so of spiritual development. More than mere living, more than mere inward satisfaction, is required of us. Our best gifts, those that we count as peculiarly ours, are not for ourselves alone. They are hardly our own until they have found expression in blossom and fruitage. Our prayer must be not only, "Let Thy life be within us," but also, "Let the beauty of the Lord our God be upon us."—Lucy Larcom.

A Spirit, an Atmosphere.

Dr. R. J. Campbell in a recent address declared that the indirect results of Christian Endeavor are greater than many Endeavorers know. "It," he says, "has created a spirit, an atmosphere; it has revived spiritual life in the churches; it is shaping the church of the future. While we are looking for and praying for a revival," said Mr. Campbell, "here it is in you young people."

"One Thing."

This one thing let us do:
Henceforward with one heart and mind—
Forgetting all that lies behind
And reaching forth unto
The things before—let us press on Until our glorious prize be won.

Heedless of toil and pain and strife,
Athirst for more abundant life,
Desiring that our souls may grow
Into His likeness and to know
As we are known, so let us press
On in the path of holiness.

This one thing let us do
And through the power [illegible]
Our consecrated [illegible]
The fullness of our [illegible]
The depths [illegible]
One [illegible]
Our [illegible]

GRAHAM PHILLIPS, Author of "THE COST" etc

COPYRIGHT 1905 by the BOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY

Our main office was full, literally full, of newspaper men—reporters from morning papers, from afternoon papers, from out-of-town and foreign papers. I pushed through them, saying as I went: "My letter speaks for me, gentlemen, and will continue to speak for me. I have nothing to say except through it."

"But the public——" urged one.

"It doesn't interest me," said I, on my guard against the temptation to cant. "I am a banker and investment broker. I am interested only in my customers."

And I shut myself in, giving strict orders to Joe that there was to be no talking about me or my campaign. "I don't purpose to let the newspapers make us cheap and notorious," said I. "We must profit by the warning in the fate of all the other fellows who have sprung into notice by attaching these bandits."

The first news I got was that Bill Van Nest had disappeared. As soon as the Stick Exchange opened, National Coal became the feature. But, instead of "wash sales," Roebuck, Langdon and Melville were themselves, through various brokers, buying the stocks in large quantities to keep the prices up. My next letter was as brief as my first philippic:

"Bill Van Nest is at the Hotel Frankfort, Newark, under the name of Thomas Lowry. He was in telephonic communication with President Melville, of the National Industrial bank, twice yesterday.

"The underwriters of the National Coal company's new issues, frightened by yesterday's exposure, have compelled Mr. Roebuck, Mr. Mowbray Langdon and Mr. Melville themselves to buy. So, yesterday, those three gentlemen bought with real money, with their own money, large quantities of stocks which are worth less than half what they paid for them.

"They will continue to buy these stocks so long as the public holds aloof. They dare not let the prices slump. They hope that this storm will blow over, and that then the investing public will forget and will relieve them of their load."

I had added: "But this storm won't blow over. It will become a cyclone." I struck that out. "No prophecy," said I to myself. "Your rule, ironclad, must be—facts, always facts; only facts."

The gambling section of the public took my hint and rushed into the market; the burden of protecting the underwriters was doubled, and more and more of the hoarded loot was disgorged. That must have been a costly day—for, 10 minutes after the Stock Exchange closed, Roebuck sent for me.

"My compliments to him," said I to his messenger, "but I am too busy. I'll be glad to see him here, however."

"You know he dares not come to you," said the messenger, Schilling, president of the National Manufactured Food company, sometimes called the Poison Trust. "If he did, and it were to get out, there'd be a panic."

"Probably," replied I with a shrug. "That's no affair of mine. I'm not responsible for the rotten conditions which these so-called financiers have produced, and I shall not be disturbed by the crash which must come."

Schilling gave me a genuine look of mingled pity and admiration. "I suppose you know what you're about," said he, "but I think you're making a mistake."

"Thanks, Ned," said I—he had been my head clerk a few years before, and I had got him the chance with Roebuck which he had improved so well. "I'm going to have some fun. Can't live but once."

My "daily letters" had now ceased to be advertisements, had become news, sought by all the newspapers of this country and of the big cities in Great Britain. I could have made a large saving by no longer paying my sixty-odd regular papers for inserting them. But I was looking too far ahead to blunder into that fatal mistake. Instead, I signed a year's contract with each of my papers, they guaranteeing to print my advertisements, I guaranteeing to protect them against loss on libel suits. I organized a dummy news bureau, and through it got contracts with the telegraphic companies. Thus insured against the cutting of my communications with the public, I was ready for the real campaign.

It began with my "History of the National Coal company." I need not repeat that famous history here. I need recall only the main points—how I proved that the common stock was actually worth less than two dollars a share, that the bonds were worth less than twenty-five dollars in the hundred, that both stock and bonds were illegal; my detailed recital of the crimes of Roebuck, Melville and Langdon in wrecking mining properties, in wrecking coal railways, in ejecting American labor and substituting helots from eastern Europe; how they had swindled and lied and bribed; how they had twisted the books of the companies, how they were planning to unload the mass of almost worthless securities at high prices, then to get from under the market and let the bonds and stocks drop down to where they could buy them in on terms that would yield them more than 250 per cent on the actual capital invested. Less and dearer coal; lower wages and more ignorant laborers; enormous profits absorbed without mercy into a few pockets.

On the day the seventh chapter of this history appeared, the telegraph companies notified me that they would transmit no more of my matter. They feared the consequences in libel suits, explained Moseby, general manager of one of the companies.

"But I guarantee to protect you," said I. "I will give bond in any amount you ask."

"We can't take the risk, Mr. Blacklock," replied he. The twinkle in his eye told me why, and also that he, like every one else in the country except the clique, was in sympathy with me.

My lawyers found an honest judge, and I got an injunction that compelled the companies to transmit under my contracts. I suspended the "History" for one day, and sent out in place of it an account of this attempt to shut me off from the public. "Hereafter," said I, in the last paragraph in my letter, "I shall end each day's chapter with a forecast of what the next day's chapter is to be. If for any reason it fails to appear, the public will know that somebody has been coerced by Roebuck, Melville & Co."

XXX.

ANITA'S SECRET.

That afternoon—or, was it the next?—I happened to go home early. I have never been able to keep alive anger against any one. My anger against Anita had long ago died away, had been succeeded by regret and remorse that I had let my nerves, or whatever the accursed cause was, whirl me into such an outburst. Not that I regretted having rejected what I still felt was insulting to me and degrading to her; simply that my manner should have been different. There was no necessity or excuse for violence in showing her that I would not, could not, accept from gratitude what only love has the right to give. And I had long been casting about for some way to apologize—not easy to do, when her distant manner toward me made it difficult for me to find even the necessary commonplaces to "keep up appearances" before the servants on the few occasions on which we accidentally met.

But, as I was saying, I came up from the office and stretched myself on the lounge in my private room adjoining the library. I had read myself into a doze, when a servant brought me a card. I glanced at it as it lay upon his extended tray. "General Monson," I read aloud. "What does the damned rascal want?" I asked.

The servant smiled. He knew as well as I how Monson, after I dismissed him with a present of six months' pay, had given the newspapers the story—or, rather, his version of the story—of my efforts to educate myself in the "arts and graces of a gentleman."

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

The original Gans-Nelson fight pictures will be the attraction at the New Plainfield theatre tonight.

It is an odd fact that the premiere of "Caught In the Rain," William Collier's new comedy, in which he will be seen at the New Plainfield theatre tomorrow night, which was given at Atlantic City Monday, occurred on the birthday of that clever young comedian. And so the applause of the big audience and the praise of the critics came as a sort of birthday present to the author-star. Mr. Collier and Mr. Grant Stewart, of his company, wrote the comedy and had the great advantage of knowing just who would fill every role. The result is a splendid interpretation of the characters and an unusualy clever performance. The story carries the audience from the streets of Denver, during a severe rain storm to the neighborhood of Pike's Peak and there is a breezy Western flavor to it that is most delightful. Mr. Collier has made the success of his life in the role of Dick Crawford, a bashful young mining engineer who meets his fate during a thunderstorm and his final victory over bashfulness and adverse circumstances sends the audience away well pleased.

Felix Haney, who will appear at the New Plainfield theatre Saturday afternoon and night, is so well known to theatre-goers throughout the country, that it is only necessary to announce his coming to insure a large audience. The people of today like to forget their troubles and cares and that's just what Felix accomplishes. He is the president of the "Don't Worry Club" and its membership is increasing wherever he appears. His actions, his words, his peculiar expressions form a combination which will draw hearty laughter from the most hardened.

A decided novelty is introduced in "The Choir Singer," a refined comedy drama, which will be seen at the New Plainfield theatre next Monday night. Many attractive musical numbers are introduced in the third act, the scene of which represents in the minutest details one of Broadway's best known and handsomest roof gardens. An entire car-load of scenery is used in this production. A large company of well-known players is used.

There will be cause for wonder and mystery at the New Plainfield theatre next Tuesday afternoon and night, for Madame Adelaide Herrmann, widow of the original and only Herrmann the Great, with her imps of magic and entertainment will hold high carnival there on that date. To witness an evening's performance as one of the Herrmann audience, is like making a visit to Fairyland, and as the magician's programme this season is redundant with elaborate acts of spectacular magi-phenomena, few will miss the opportunity of seeing her. Mme. Herrmann carries with her special and handsome scenery, special lighting apparatus, surprising mechanical inventions and is herself arrayed in elegant yet tasteful gowns which altogether make her performance one of exceptional merit, aside from the mystifying part of the illusions and tricks she presents.

"The Flubb Dubb Conspiracy," a merry musical cocktail, brimful with funny and bright situations, beautiful ensembles and a picturesque display of handsome women will be the chief offering of "The Girl from Happyland," who comes to the New Plainfield theatre on November 21. Not often has an extravaganza attraction received the gorgeous equipment with which "The Girl from Happyland" presents its uproariously funny three act comedietta. The different acts are divided into various scenes, the whole giving New York as the locale with special reference to the gay life of stage favorites, the famous Casino theatre forms one of the principal backgrounds. Thirty beautiful girls with charm and grace, and most bewitching smiles lend an animated picture to the whole. There are also numerous vaudeville features adding greatly to the wholesomeness of the offering.

The huge success, artistically and financially, of all the recent Shakespearian revivals, viz., Louis James and "His Merry Wives of Windsor;" Annie Russell's "Midsummer's Night's Dream;" Viola Allen's "Cymbeline," and Robert Mantell's big classic successes, attests that the word Shakespeare is one to conjure with, if only a proper presentation of the selected play is really given. The public will tire of the clap-trap drama, the empty comedy, and the milk-and-water opera, the screeching heroine, the ranting bad man, the horn-voiced chorus girl, and the rubber ball comedian, and with a surfeit of these things dominating the theatrical offerings of the present day the announcement of a Shakespearian classic should receive a richly deserved royal welcome. Such is the announcement of the New Plainfield theatre for Monday afternoon and night, November 26, when Miss Florence Gale, the beautiful American actress, will be seen in a sumptuous scenic revival of Shakespeare's most delightful creation, "Romeo and Juliet."

—The dancing class which has always been a feature at the Park Club during the winter will hold its first meeting tonight. Miss Davenport will be in charge.

GOLF.

The Woman's Eastern Golf Association is now struggling with the handicap problem. Miss Frances C. Griscom, chairman of the handicap committee, has been in communication with Leighton Calkins, of the Metropolitan Golf Association, but just what plan will be followed by the women has not yet been decided on. They may adopt the Calkins plan, however, which has been used with much success in local tournaments. The Calkins table of handicaps, based on a par of 74, but adjustable to any par score, has been carried out to an average three best scores of 109. The actual difference between the maximum score and the par is 35 strokes, but in the Calkins table the strokes off are 27. With many women an average on a par 74 course would be more than 109. On this account Mr. Calkins, at the request of Miss Griscom, has extended his table so as to include a best three-score average of 140. It will probably be necessary for the women's handicap committee to record the results each week, after which averages could be struck and handicaps readjusted as often as required by a lower average of a player's three best scores. This will mean a good deal of work for the committee at first.

FOOTBALL.

Archibald H. Douglass, half-back on the football team, broke the record for strength test by 200 points yesterday. Previous to this Chambers, the giant guard of the eleven, had held this honor. Douglass placed the figures so high that they will hardly be broken again this year. The navy is placing great dependence on Douglass in the Army-Navy game on December 1.

The New York University football team will line up against Haverford for its last game of the season on November 24 at Haverford. Every effort will be made to wind up an unsuccessful season with a victory. The team has been handicapped the whole year by lack of weight and good second string men. H. Brown was hurt in the game with Lehigh on Saturday. This will cause a shake-up in the backfield, and it will be hard for the coaches to find a substitute to fill Brown's place, as the freshman halfback has played a strong game all the season.

The work of the Brown eleven this fall speaks well for its coach, Robinson. If Robinson can size up other teams as well as he can handle his own Harvard is more likely to beat Yale than to be beaten. "We fooled Yale on all sorts of trick plays," says Robinson. Pretty nearly every team that Yale has stacked up against has done the same. The Brown man says the playing of Yale in the first and second halves was so contradictory that it is not easy to form a satisfactory idea of Yale's real ability. In both the West Point and Brown games Yale played a lot of wierd football in the first half but did a great deal better in the second. If her work in the first half against Princeton is so loose and witless it is not likely that she will be able to catch up, no matter how much she braces.

If Princeton can beat Dartmouth 42 to 0, Dartmouth can beat Amherst 4 to 0, and Yale can beat Amherst only 10 to 0, what chance has Yale against Princeton? On the other hand, Princeton, outside of two goals from the field—which are unreliable things to trust in the in recokoning chances for future games—did not do as well in the scoring line against the Army as Yale did. Both Harvard and Yale made a touchdown at West Point, which is more than Princeton could do, at least more than Princeton did do. If Princeton, satisfied with eight points, did not disclose her hand appearances were deceptive. The Tigers may have been masking their strength. If so they were capable actors. They certainly gave a splendid imitation of a team trying its hardest. Saturday's games did not bring out any thing decisive in supplying a line on the respective strength of the big teams. Whatever ideas one has of the pronounced superiority or weakness of one or the other of the topnotchers, they are ideas that he formed before last Saturday, for the results on that day did not cralify the situation to any extent. Harvard showed more indications of coming strength than any of them. The great rushing power that Princeton has been credited with did not materalize against the soldiers, but then West Point is the rock on which they all split. Pennsylvania's brace was not sufficient to do more than draw with Lafayette, though Lafayette is strong, and there were signs of more football sense on the Quakers' part. Yale's game against Brown was still frail in offence and did not show encouraging improvement over the West Point form. Failure to get together, lack of football instinct and ability to diagnose plays, tendency to raggedness in actual conflict after better work in practice; these faults Yale again showed. But there was one streak of offensive work by Yale which, while it lasted, was the strongest bit of continuous ground gaining shown by any team on Saturday. That was when the ball was rushed irresistibly down the field for a touchdown, and in that solitary stretch of sustained rushing is a glimmer of hope for the Blue.

PARK BOWLERS LOSE TO SUMMIT CLUB-FIVE

HIGHLAND ROLLES TOO STRONG FOR BOROUGHITES IN TWO.

Mingled grief and joy was the portion of the Park Club bowlers at Summit last night. The Highland Club took two games, but the Parks got one, and they made a good showing against an awe-inspiring opponent.

The Highland Club five started in with a rush, and didn't slow up much at any stage of the contest. They passed 900 in all taree games. To begin with, they scored 983 in the first game, and although the Parks showed individual scores to match two or three of the straight-eyed Highlanders, Daniel was weak and a gap of 79 pins separated the teams at the end.

In the second game, Daniel woke up, the others held to their pace, and the 953 pins topped the Highlanders' score by 38. Johnson and Duhn pulled the Highlanders out of the rut in the third game, and the Parks were shy 27 pins at the finish.

The scores:

WON IN WESTFIELD.

North Plainfield High School Gathers a One-Kick Victory.

One vigorous kick upset the hopes of the Westfield High School eleven yesterday afternoon, when the North Plainfield High School team met them. Overton's strong right leg was the instrument of woe, propelling the ball from the field for the one goal of the game. Westfield couldn't get anything, so the kick was enough to hold them.

Westfield was bitterly disappointed. They wanted the game badly, and thought they were going to get it. The game was on their grounds. They kicked a lot through the game, but to no avail, bumping into the rules at every howl. It was not a cheerful game, but the borough lads got a passing satisfaction out of it.

The lines were the same as in the last game, which added to the interest of the clash. Miller and Mehaffey were referees, and Mehaffey did his little bit as timer. Van Sickle was timer.

CHOOSE RIORDAN FOR SPEAKERSHIP.

Hudson Democratic Assemblymen-Elect Hold Harmonious Caucus.

Assemblyman Joseph Riordan, of the West Hudson section, was agreed on last night by the twelve Hudson county members of the next Assembly for Speaker of the House. A caucus was held at the clubhouse of the Robert Davis Association, in Jersey City, all the members being in attendance.

Assemblyman Alexander, of Hoboken, who would like to have been Speaker, was made chairman of the delegation. He said he had made a caucus of the Hudson members and found that a majority favored Mr. Riordan. This being the case he desired to withdraw from the contest and relieve those members who had pledged him their support. It was understood that Assemblyman Tumulty, Sullivan, Hendrickson and Daab had lined up for Alexander.

The caucus decided to stand by the county platform, and it was agreed that a determined fight would be made to secure the enactment of a genuine equal taxation law.

Though nothing definite was decided on, it was the understanding that in the allotment of patronage the Clerk of the House would go to Passaic county and that Essex would be allowed to name the Sergeant-at-Arms. Assemblyman Morris, of Sussex, it was generally agreed would be the Democratic floor leader.

Former Assemblyman Myron I. Ernest announced himself a candidate for Reading Clerk. He expects to have the support of the Hudson members.

STATE AND CITY CHIEFS JOIN ODD FELLOWSHIP.

Three Degrees for Governor, State Treasurer, Congressman and Trenton's Mayor.

Trenton, Nov. 15.—Governor E. C. Stokes, States Treasurer Frank O. Briggs, Congressman Ira W. Wood and Mayor Frederick W. Guichtel, were elected last night as members of Trenton Lodge, No. 3, Independent Order of Odd Fellows.

Next Wednesday evening they will receive the three degrees of the subordinate lodge of the order under unusual circumstances. The Grand Lodge will then be in session, with members from all parts of the State in attendance, and, under special dispensation, the three degrees will be conferred in succession on the quartette of distinguished candidates.

An innovation will be that all third-degree Odd Fellows may attend, and a great crowd is expected.

The Grand Lodge officers will confer the third degree, while the first and second degrees will be conferred by the crack team of Meni Lodge, which recently won degree prizes before the Sovereign Grand Lodge, in session at Toronto, Canada.

STAND PAT POLICY CANNOT SUCCEED.

Declares Senator Colby, Who Claims That Trenton Has Not a Representative Government.

New York, Nov. 15.—Senator Everett Colby, of West Orange, the young reformer, who a year ago smashed one of the most powerful Republican machines in this country, delivered an address at a meeting of the Young Men's League, of the Third Presbyterian church, in that edifice. Mr. Colby talked on "The Young Man in Politics." He declared that it is impossible for the stand-pat policy to succeed.

Mr. Colby arrived in this city during the afternoon, and dined with Edward W. Dunham, superintendent of the Sunday school, in his West State street home.

A Woman Advance Representative.

Mrs. Leora Emerson, one of the only two women advance representatives in the theatrical business, gave a talk to the students at the City High School this morning on the Shakespearean drama. Mrs. Emerson is "ahead" of Miss Florence Gale, who, with Howard Kyle, appears at the New Plainfield theatre, Monday afternoon and night, November 26. She is a former newspaper woman and an able Shakesperean scholar. She has been in the theatrical business for two years and in that time has made two trips to the Pacific coast and back.

SPECIAL SESSION MAY MEET IN TWO WEEKS.

Governor Is Anxious to Have the Passaic Anti-Pollution Matter Disposed Of.

Trenton, Nov. 15.—Assemblyman William P. Martin had a long conference with Governor Stokes at the State House yesterday afternoon on the subject of the special session of the Legislature, which the Governor is anxious to call. Mr. Martin said later that the Governor was ready to call the session as soon as Essex and Passaic could agree upon a Passaic purification bill to be passed by the Legislature. Mr. Martin thought that such an agreement would be reached by the two counties so that the special session could be called for the week after Thanksgiving Day. Although there is nothing in the clause of the Constituion which gives Governor the power to call a special session concerning the length of time of notice he must give of the session it has been the custom to give such notice a week or ten days prior to the date set for the convening of the Legislature and the Governor will comply with that custom. He will also state the reason for which the extra session is called. The Governor said that he was anxious to keep the promise he made to the people of Essex and Passaic that he would call a special session to consider the Passaic pollution matter and he hoped that Paterson and Newark authorities would come to some definite understanding on the matter.

Mr. Martin wanted the Governor to sanction the consideration by the extra session of the reform measures which the members from Essex introduced but were unable to pass at the last regular session. The Governor, however, declined to because, he said, he had no authority to say what the Legislature should consider it rested entirely with that body to pass such laws as it saw fit.

DEER LAW VALID; ARRESTS TO FOLLOW.

Attorney General Maintains That Both Amendments to Act of 1903 Stand by Themselves.

Trenton, Nov. 15.—In view of the apparent misunderstanding on the part of gunners regarding the law enacted last winter to extend the closed season for deer for three years, Attorney General McCarter has repeated his declaration that the measure is constitutional and has announced his intention of enforcing its provisions to the letter.

The law prohibiting the killing of deer was passed in 1903 to be in force two years. April 5, 1904, an amendment was approved providing that it should be unlawful to kill deer in this State for two years. July 19, of this year, there was approved an amendment to that amendment providing that deer should not be killed for three years from June 19, 1906.

Some lawyers now claim that the amendments were only a part of the original act which has already expired and are accordingly of no effect. The Attorney General, however, holds that the amendments stand by themselves and that the closed season is extended until June 19, 1909. He has instructed all game wardens to arrest persons who shoot deer at this time. It is expected that a test of the law will be made in the courts.

The amendment passed by last winter's Legislature to extend the closed season for three years was enacted at the instance of Assemblyman Miller, of Cumberland county, who got it through the House at one of the very late sesions, the hour being well past midnight. The amendment was opposed by the owners of private gunning preserves and by sportsmen generally, but it was finally passed and later received the approval of Governor Stokes.

Society Gives a Social.

The Ladies' Aid Society of Hope chapel conducted a social at the home of Mrs. George Wallace on Stebbins place, last night. It was largely attended and several hours were passed enjoyable in playing games and listening to musical selections. Feature solos were given by Thomas Hendry and Mrs. Wallace. Another social will be given by the society next Wednesday night at the home of Mrs. Harry Vogel, of West Fourth street.

Wedded at Parsonage.

George Rilling, of Harrison street, and Miss Eva Terry, of North avenue, were quietly married Sunday afternoon. The ceremony was performed by Rev. L. R. Howard, pastor of Hope chapel, at his home on West Fifth street. It was witnessed by Fred Allen, a cousin of the groom, and Miss Marie Taylor. Mr. and Mrs. Rilling will make their home on Harrison avenue.

An Extremist.

"He's a great reformer, isn't he?"

"Oh, he's worse than a reformer. His ideas would upset the whole social and business world. He said if he had his way he'd put in jail everybody who ought to be there."

—William E. MacClymont, organist and choirmaster of Grace church, and eight women and four men from that choir, furnished the music at the funeral services of the late George Granville Damon, held from the home in Cranford Monday night at 7:30 o'clock. The choir sang the processional, recessional, "Lead, Kindly Light" and other selections. The service was in charge of the Episcopal clergyman at Cranford.

Fish Dealer Arraigned.

Elizabeth, Nov. 15.—Philip Finkel, a fish dealer on First street, Elizabethport, was before Judge Atwater yesterday on a charge of violating the fish and game laws of New Jersey by selling fish out of season. Game Warden Charles M. Hawkins says that, on May 25 last, he found pike exposed for sale on Finkel's fish stand. The game warden arrested the dealer and took him before Police Justice James P. Kelly, of Elizabeth, who found him guilty. Finkel, the game warden said, admitted he was wrong, but afterward appealed the case to the Common Pleas Court. Judge Atwater reserved his decision until next week.

TAX BOARD PERPLEXITIES

Low Valuation of Personal Property in Stores Causes Much Trouble.

AS TO THE FIGURES

Assessors Did Not Have Time Enough to Do Their Work Thoroughly, It Is Said.

The assessment of personal property in connection with the occupants of stores is said to be looming up at present as a possible cause of considerable trouble for the County Board of Taxation.

While affairs at the room of the County Board are at present going along in the most peaceable manner, the members of the board are alive to the fact that with the distribution of the tax bills there will probably be a host of dissatisfied property-owners calling upon them for an explanation of large advances in their assessments.

But no one has seemingly been paying any particular attention to the assessment of personal property in stores and one who is well posted in matters of taxation in talking with a reporter yesterday, laid considerable stress on the statement that if the books of the whole city were looked over it would be found that the personal property assessments on saloons had, in the majority of instances been left the same as they were last year.

Some there are whose assessments have been raised to a degree that shows some idea of conforming to the law requiring an assessment according to the true value of the property, and these may have some complaints to make.

In many cases the assessments run from $100 to $250, while it is claimed that it would cost at least $500 to fit up an ordinary barroom on modern lines. To a certain extent it is said butcher shops have been dealt with in the same way.

One of the members of the County Board admitted in conversation with a reporter that quite a large amount could be added to the personal property end of the tax lists if the assessments such as referred to above had been raised to a proper figure. "The assessors," he said, "all admit that they have not given as much attention to the question of personal property as they would like to, but they have not had the time to go into their work fully this year. And this is true. The whole system, one may say, is new and the assessors have been hampered by the extra amount of work the provisions of the new law entails.

"This has been, properly speaking, a year of experience and next year, when the assessors start out thoroughly acquainted with the nature of the work that is before them all of these things can be remedied."

MISS SADIE MADORA ULRICK AND SAMUEL W. CROUSE THE PARTICIPANTS.

Miss Sadie Madora Ulrick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar N. Ulrick, of East Fifth street, and Samuel Winfield Crouse, of this city, formerly of Raritan, were married at the home of the bride's parents, yesterday afternoon. The ceremony was performed at 5 o'clock by Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, of which both young people are members, and was witnessed by a large gathering of relatives and friends. The house was tastefully decorated with palms, roses and chrysanthemums and while the nuptial words were being pronounced, the bride and groom stood beneath an arch of ferns and chrysanthemums.

Miss Ulrick was attended by her sister, Miss Grace May Ulrick, as maid of honor, and Howard Stryker, of Somerville, was best man. The bride wore a gown of brussels net over white silk, with Duchess lace yoke, and tulle veil caught up with orange blossoms. She carried white roses. Her attendant's gown was of pink silk mulle. The ushers were Walter Ulrick, a brother of the bride, and Garret VanCleef, of Somerville. The bridal party passed through an aisle of ribbons held by Dorothy VanWinkle, of this city, and Miss Hazel Ulrick, of Brooklyn. Miss Edna Randolph, of this city, played the wedding march!

Following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Ulrick were tendered a reception and in the evening they left for a wedding trip of a week. At its conclusion they will make their home in Newark, Mr. Crouse having recently taken a position in that city. Both bride and groom were remembered by their friends with many pretty presents for use and ornamentation. There was also an interchange of gifts in the bridal party, the bride giving her attendant a gold bracelet and the best man and ushers receiving pearl stickpins from the groom. The groom's gift to the bride was an upright piano.

INFORMAL RECEPTION.

Rev. and Mrs. G. B. Shaw Entertain Members of Their Church.

The annual church reception given by Rev. and Mrs. George B. Shaw at their home on Central avenue, last night, was attended by 100 members of the Seventh-Day Baptist church and congregation, despite the stormy night. The affair, as originally intended, was informal, and the evening was devoted entirely to sociability and the serving of refreshments.

During the past year there have been many additions to the church membership and it was largely for the purpose of giving these persons a chance to get better acquainted with other members that the affair was held. Mr. and Mrs. Shaw received the guests alone. The refreshments were served during the evening by several young people.

LATE NIGHT MARRIAGE.

Young Couple from New York Wedded at Grace M. E. Parsonage.

Merrill F. Beckwith, twenty-two years old, of New York city, and Miss Annie A. Allen, nineteen years old, of Schenectady, N. Y., were married by Rev. Dr. C. W. Parsons, at Grace M. E. church parsonage, Park place, last night. Accompanied by a woman friend, the couple came to the house at 10 o'clock.

Dr. Parsons does not know why the couple came here to be wedded, but he said this morning that he was sure they were members of good families and that the marriage was not the culmination of an elopement. He said the groom was a piano manufacturer, and that the couple would live in Schenectady.

Will Exchange Pulpits.

R. B. Tolbert, of Michigan, who is supplying the Seventh-Day Baptist church, of New York, for three months, until that church can get a regular pastor, will preach at the Seventh-Day Baptist church, tomorrow morning, in exchange with the pastor, Rev. G. B. Shaw.

UNION GETS A FLAG

This County Recognized For Its Financial Donations—Next Meeting at Freehold.

The convention of the New Jersey Sunday-school Association was continued yesterday at Somerville with a large attendance. After a devotional meeting, with Rev. Frank Anderson as leader, a business meeting was held, when the following officers were elected:

President, James L. Griggs, Somerville; vice-president-at-large, Jas. H. Forster, Jersey City; district vice-presidents, first district, Rev. Dr. Louis W. Stultz, Bridgeton; second, Rev. Dr. John W. Lyell, Camden; third, Charles B. Parsons, Red Bank; fourth, Edward W. Dunham, Trenton; fifth, Sydney T. Smith, Dover; sixth, Rev. Henry C. Cronin, Jersey City; seventh, Henry H. Dawson, Newark; recording secretary, Rev. Samuel D. Price, Camden; treasurer, Edward W. Barnes, Perth Amboy. It was decided to hold the next convention at Freehold.

Mrs. J. Woodbridge Barnes, international secretary of elementary work, presented diplomas to Miss Jean Gulick, of Princeton, and Miss Berry Applegate, of Dover. It was announced that seven such diplomas had been presented at the Essex county convention on "Teacher Training in Pennsylvania."

An interesting part of the exercises yesterday afternoon was the presentation of flags to the counties which had fully met their financial apportionment. The counties which were thus honored were Essex, apportioned $600, raised $698; Union, apportioned $400, raised $520; Mercer, apportioned $250, raised $271; Camden, apportioned $250, raised $414; Hunterdon, apportioned $150, raised $165; Warren, apportioned $150, raised $163; Ocean, apportioned $140, raised $140; Cape May, raised $77; Cumberland, apportioned $200, raised $225. In addition to these flags were presented to the Warren, Essex, Cumberland, Hunterdon and Union delegations, the presentation having been omitted last year.

The superintendents last evening held a meeting and banquet at the DeForest House. F. W. Ayer, of Camden, presided. There was a rapid-fire confidence on "Problems of City Sunday-school Work," which was led by James V. Forster, superintendent of the Emory M. E. Sunday-school of Jersey City. This was followed by a dinner at the Casino.

After the dinner Philip E. Howard, of Philadelphia, made an interesting address and conducted a question box. At a business meeting reports of various officers were heard and the following officers elected: President, Edward W. Dunham, of Trenton; vice-president, Philip Case, of Somerville; secretary, C. H. Madison, of Newark.

Rev. Dr. Forest E. Deger, of Philadelphia, addressed the convention last night on "Saving the Boys." Rev. Frank Anderson, of Millville, secretary of Baraca Class Movement in New Jersey, gave a talk, explaining the Baraca class idea. Charles E. Scott, of Newark, gave an interesting illustrated address in "Successful Methods with Boys."

CITY COMMITTEE MOURNS FOR ITS VICE CHAIRMAN.

Orders Engrossed Copy of Resolutions Sent to Former Mayor's Widow.

The present Republican City Executive Committee held its last meeting at the Casino, last night, the most important business being the adoption of resolutions on the death of Dr. O. L. Jenkins, former mayor and for ten years a member of the committee. The resolutions were ordered spread on the minutes of the committee and an engrossed copy will be sent to the family of Dr. Jenkins.

Several matters of minor importance were disposed of. It was reported that there is a small surplus in the treasury. The new committee will meet in January for organization.

In District Court.

Summons has been issued for Kate W. Young, trading under the name of O. W. Young, against William Barton, of Westfield, in a District Court suit, on contract. F. J. Blatz is the plaintiff's lawyer.

WORK ON 'BUS SCHEME

South Plainfielders Will Seek Board of Trade's Co-operation.

COMMITTEE ON CARS

Will Spend Tomorrow In New York Inspecting the Best Types of Machines for Traction Purposes.

Co-operation from the Plainfield Board of Trade in the establishment of the proposed automobile traction line between South Plainfield and this city is to be sought by the organizers of the service at South Plainfield. It is argued that the Plainfield merchants would receive direct and large benefits from the service, and substantial support of the project should come from the progessive men of the city.

A committee of South Plainfielders will appear before the Board at its next meeting and lay the subject before it. There is a confident expectation of ready encouragement. The South Plainfield men are sure of carrying the scheme to a successful conclusion if the Plainfield merchants back up their efforts.

Active work on the plans has been entered into by the general committee. Matters have progressed to such an extent that the members will spend tomorrow in New York looking over suitable types of cars. It is the committee's determination to adopt only the very best model available. Every type of car will be investigated and tested, and when the selection is made, the choice will have fallen on a car capable of the highest class of service, combining speed with safety, capacity, and economy of operation.

When its investigations along this line are completed, the committee will report fully at a public meeting to be called for the purpose. The choice and cost of the cars is the most important, almost the only, preliminary things to be decided upon aside from the financing of the project, and when they have been established the scheme will have advanced appreciably.

JAMES TRIMMER ACQUITTED OF THE CHARGE OF ASSAULT.

Joseph H. Wright's Complaint Against His Neighbor Fails to Impress the Jury.

James Trimmer, of West Front street, was acquitted in the Union County Court, Elizabeth, yesterday, of the charge of assault and battery on Joseph H. Wright, a neighbor. Louis Clement and S. S. Swackhamer represented the defendant.

The action was the result of a quarrel over chickens trespassing upon Mr. Wright's property. It is said that he repeatedly spoke to Mr. Trimmer about his chickens running through his yard, but to no purpose. One day Mr. Wright called at Mr. Trimmer's house to complain, and he alleges that the latter struck him, knocked him down and kicked him and that his injuries kept him in bed for two weeks.

The defendant denied the allegation and the jury evidently did not put much credence in Mr. Wright's story as it was out only a few minutes when it returned with a verdict of "not guilty."

GAVE A BARN DANCE.

Members and Friends of St. Joseph's Church Enjoy An Unique Affair.

Members of St. Joseph's church conducted a barn dance and country social in Saengerbund Hall, last night. It was replete with unique features and was attended by fully 300 people, the majority of whom wore appropriate costume. The hall was decorated with farm products and anything that would tend to convey the rustic idea.

Suhr's Imperial orchestra furnished music for the dancing and the floor was in charge of Thomas Gough.

The committee which arranged and conducted the affair included Mrs. A. E. Kenney, Mrs. A. E. LaPorte, Mrs. James Bailey, Miss Agnes Fitzgerald, Miss Justine Smith, Miss Julia Bannon, Arthur A. Cannon, Garret Kiely, Robert McCormack and H. P. Greenwood. The proceeds are to be applied to the fund being raised for the new church.

Exhibit Will Be Continued.

Because of the inclement weather yesterday the exhibit of hand-painted novelties which is being held at the home of Mrs. Edward Johnston, on Westfield avenue, Scotch Plains, will be continued tomorrow afternoon and night from 2:30 to 9 o'clock.

Woman's Bike Astray.

A bicycle belonging to some woman awaits a claimant at police headquarters. Patrolman Messler found it at Madison avenue and Third street, late last night.

FRIENDS IN CONVENTION

Plainfield and Shrewsbury Meetings in Half-Yearly Session Here.

DISCUSS TIMELY TOPICS

Talk On Race Feud in the South and of San Francisco's Edict Against Japanese.

The half-yearly session of the Religious Society of Friends was held yesterday and this morning at the meeting-house on Watchung avenue, This comprises the Plainfield and Shrewsbury meetings and despite the stormy weather there was a large attendance, including members from New York and distant points.

The first meeting was held in the morning and consisted chiefly of the reception of reports from the Plainfield and Shrewsbury meetings. These indicated increased interest and an excellent spiritual condition. At noon dinner was served at the meeting-house by a committee from Friends from the Plainfield meeting.

The afternoon session was devoted to a talk by Timothy Hussey, who, with his wife has just returned from Palestine, where they have been engaged in mission work for eighteen years. They have established Friends' schools there which now have a membership of about 300. Mr. Hussey gave an exceedingly interesting talk about his mission labors, which took up the best part of the afternoon.

The session last night was given up to the Young Friends' Association, and the consideration of a paper presented by Mrs. Clara S. Rushmore, on "The American Race Problems." This was the opening paper in a series to be considered throughout the winter by the association. Mrs. Rushmore's paper treated chiefly with the colored people, beginning with a sketch of Africa, the climate, and environments of the colored people there, the introduction of the colored people into this county as slaves in 1735 and progress of the race since then. In the future papers the condition of the colored race will be presented more in detail.

Mrs. John Poole presented the paper on current topics, which included a synopsis of the recent outbreak between the colored and white people of the South, especially in Atlanta. Mrs. Poole spoke of the progress of the colored people, stating that they now have thirty-one banks conducted by people of that race in the south. The recent discussion regarding the Japanese in relation to public school education in San Francisco was also touched upon by Edward Hutchinson. These papers merely set forth facts as gleaned from the various newspapers and did not attempt to take sides or express opinions. The meeting closed with a social hour.

The morning's session was largely devotional, while a brief time was devoted to a consideration of the proposed changes to do away with the office of ministers and elders and substitute ministry and council, to which it is proposed to add the names of several young Friends. This question will come up at the yearly meeting to be held later.

Among those from out of town who attended the conference were former Dean Bond, of Swarthmore College; Mrs. Anna Rice Powell, of Philadelphia; Miss Phoebe C. Wright, of Manasquan; Robert Barnes and family, of Purchase, N. Y., and Mr. and Mrs. John Shotwell, of Asbury Park.

Those in charge of serving dinner at the conference were Mrs. Harry G. Adams, chairman; Mrs. J. H. Cooley, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Vail.

CONSTITUTION NO BAR TO STOKES' CANDIDACY

OF GOVERNMENT ITSELF

Loophole in State Constitution—Governor Not Prevented from Being Elected in Dryden's Place.

Despite all the declarations of State leaders that even should Governor Stokes aspire to succeed United States Senator John F. Dryden, a provision in the State Constitution would prevent him, there is a loophole in the Constitution through which His Excellency may crawl, if he so wishes. In fact he won't have to do any crawling for it is believed that the working of the provision would have no legal effect on his candidacy. It has been stated by friends of the Governor that the Constitution would not act as a bar, but that is as far as they will go in discussing the subject. The "why and wherefore" is kept in the dark—for the time being at least.

The concluding sentence of paragraph eight, article five, of the Constitution of New Jersey is the one relied upon by John F. Dryden and the State machine to head off the man who has made such an excellent record both as a State Senator and as Governor. It says: "Nor shall he (meaning the Governor) be elected by the Legislature to any office under the Government of this State or of the United State, during the term for which he shall have been elected Governor." As he will still be in office, when the Legislature performs its duty of choosing an United States Senator, the Dryden people hold that the Stokes boom would be legally punctured.

On the other hand, there is reason why much weight should be attached to the clause as Mr. Stokes' friends interpret it—"Nor shall he be elected by the Legislature to any office under the government of the United States, etc." A Senatorship is not an office under the Federal government, it may be argued. In fact it is part of the Government itself. The Constitution of the States divides the Government into three parts, Executive, Legislative and Judicial. The Senators are in the Legislative branch—they are a part of one-third of the whole government. They are not officers under the government, for in such class appointments made by the three branches of the Federal Government themselves would be placed.

Consequently, it is argued, the election of an United States Senator would not be the selection of a man for an office under the Federal Government. It would be the selection of one to become a component part of the Federal Government. This is the line of reasoning, it is believed, upon which the friends of the Governor rely to have him chosen to wear a Senatorial toga.

GOOD REPORT FROM DIOCESAN TREASURER

MRS. CARPENTER TELLS WOMEN'S AUXILIARY ABOUT MISSION WORK.

The regular monthly missionary meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary to Missions of the Church of the Holy Cross on Wednesday was well attended, about thirty women gathering to hear Mrs. Carpenter, the diocesan treasurer, speak of the work being done through the united offering. It was with a justifiable pride, she said, that she pointed out the work the women of the Episcopal Church were doing by the combined mite-chest offerings given in trienially. Workers in Alaska, in China, in Africa, in the South and in fact all over the missionary field, she said are receiving support and encouragement direct in sums of ready money to be used at discretion and apart from apportionments made by the General Board of Missions.

At the conclusion of her address the rector declared that the men were not to be left behind by the women but plans were in operation among the men of the church generally for an united offering of $1,000,000 to be given at Richmond, Va., in 1907, when the General Convention would meet. The work of Deaconess Boorman among Mountain Whites in Virginia next came up for consideration. The arduous character of her work was shown in that she has to go about nursing from house to house in a sparsely settled wild country and to do the work without necessary helps and conveniences. A box to be sent before Christmas, consisting of hospital supplies and useful gifts for the mountaineers is now being made up. A sum of money was appropriated from the auxiliary treasury and members have sent in contributions toward building a hospital.

The meeting ended with an informal tea and reception.

DOG KIDNAPPING CASE DISCLOSED IN DUNELLEN.

Mrs. Sanford and Her Husband at Odds Over Pet.

A big St. Bernard dog that is claimed by both Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Sanford, of New Market, who do not live together, disappeared from the latter's home at New Market last week. On Tuesday, Mrs. Sanford recovered the dog in Jersey City, at the home of her father-in-law, and on Wednesday she had her husband's brother, Carlisle Sanford, of New York, arrested in Jersey City on a charge of stealing the dog.

With R. P. F. Von Minden, of the Marsh building, his counsel, Sanford appeared before Justice A. W. Warden, Dunellen, Wednesday afternoon. Mr. Von Minden promptly had the prisoner released on the grounds of faulty complaint and faulty warrant, and Sanford left Dunellen unmolested. The defense had five witnesses ready to swear the dog belonged to Samuel Sanford and not his wife.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY

Republicans and Democrats are marking time in the collectorship dispute. "We must await developments," said one of the G. O. P. leaders yesterday. A recount is expected by the Republican, and Judge Hicks, of New Brunswick, will, it is understood, guard their interests if it is ordered. The Democrats are not worried over the recount prospect, because they are pretty certain that a third tally will result in as many advantages for them as for the Republicans.

GOTHAM'S AMUSEMENTS

Nat. C. Goodwin's appearance this week at the Grand Opera House is interesting to all clases of theatregoers, for Mr. Goodwin has the peculiar quality of being an actor that is as acceptable to audiences who look for high ideals as he is to those who want good entertainment without bothering with ideals of any kind. He presents his new farce by Wm. C. and Cecil de Mille, entitled "The Genius," which has just concluded a successful run at the Bijou. Mr. Goodwin's leading actress is Edna Goodrich, a young woman of unusual beauty and reputed dramatic cleverness. Others in the cast are Neil O'Brien, Robert Paton Gibbs, H. G. Lonsdale, Gordon Johnstone, Louise Randolph, Rose Snyder and Suzette Jackson. "The Genius" is elaborately mounted.

After three months on the road, Broadway looked good to Mr. "Joe" Weber and his company, who returned to the little music hall at Broadway and Twenty-ninth street, New York, Monday night. There was no new show to signalize the return to New York, but the familiar "Twiddle Twaddle" seemed good enough for all practical uses, and, reinforced by the burlesque "The Squaw Man's Girl of the Golden West," it proved an entertainment to start the smile that wouldn't come off. Mr. Weber got a rousing welcome when he came on to sing his first song, "O-hi-o," and a little later Miss Marie Dressler got almost as hearty a greeting. They both played with an abandon of merriment as though they were glad to be back. In fact, the whole company sang and danced with an excess of good spirits that was rewarded by much laughter and appreciative applause.

LITERARY.

Mrs. Henry Dudeney, the distinguished English writer, is the author of "The Shoulder-Knot," the novel which opens the December Smart Set. Here is a story of real power, of real emotion, of real people. The scenes of the tale are laid in a remote hamlet in rural England, and four characters constitute practically all those who are vitally concerned in the narrative. How dramatically Mrs. Dudeney brings about her unlooked-for climax, need not be told here; she writes in a masterly way, and along lines genuinely new, far from the beaten paths of current fiction. This novel closes another brilliant year of fiction in The Smart Sets' history.

GOLF.

The events at the Plainfield Country Club tomorrow will include the play for the November handicap cup, and the final rounds for the consolation and inconsolables' cup. A week from tomorrow there will be the final play for the handicap cup.

The active season at the Plainfield Country Club will close on Thursday, November 29, Thanksgiving Day, with a cross country tournament. Cups will be offered by the club as prizes to the winners.

The officers of the Plainfield Country Club have decided to allow play on the course as late as the weather will permit. There are many members who like to continue the game for the exercise and for those arrangements will be made to have the caddie house open, where conveniences will be furnished for those caring to play.

There will be an important meeting of the Eastern Professional Golfers' Association in New York on Monday, when a decision will be made regarding the place for holding next year's tournament. The Brookline, Mass., Country Club has offered the use of its course and it is said that other clubs are also anxious to secure the tournament.

In the season's play at the Plainfield Country Club, this year, the wisdom of using the Metropolitan Golf Association system of handicapping, invented by Leighton Calkins, has been apparent. There is practically no objection to the system, as it seems to be so fair for everyone. One strong feature of it is that it gives a poor player all the encouragement he needs and prevents the best players from walking off with all the prizes. Before the system was adopted the crack players got everything, while the poorer players had to be satisfied with anything that they might get, with no especial inducement to improve in their play. Now they have every encouragement and judging by the improvement made by some players, they will soon be up among the leaders. That is chiefly one of the reasons why the change was made, to help everyone to do their best and become just as good a player as possible. Without this it would be difficult to maintain the interest in the game.

It is a foregone conclusion that Leighton Calkins, of this city, will be re-elected secretary of the Metropolitan Golf Association at the annual meeting to be held soon. He has been a most capable official and has attended promptly to all matters coming before him.

FOOTBALL.

Alis is scheduled to play Dunellen at the latter place tomorrow. So far as known this will be the only local game of special importance. As the elevens are evenly matched a good game should result.

A large number of football enthusiasts are planning to witness the big game at Princeton tomorrow between the Tigers and Yale. Despite hard-luck stories all the week, the two teams will meet ready for a fast and lively gridiron contest. The probable lineup of the Yale eleven is as follows: Forbes, left end; Paige, left tackle; Brides, left guard; Hockenberger, centre; Erwin, right guard; Biglow, right tackle; Alcott, right end; Jones, quarterback; Knox, left halfback; Morse, right halfback; Roome, fullback. If Roome does not play Morse will be fullback and Veeder right halfback. Torrey is the substitute end most likely to get in, and Holloway will be held for either guard or centre as needed.

Frank B. Taylor, '08, Cambridge, Mass., has been unanimously chosen as captain of next year's Wesleyan football team. Bosey Reiter will continue to be at the head of the college athletics.

Bargain in Elephants.

New York, Nov. 16.—The United States government has three elephants that any one may buy at a discount. They were confiscated because their owner undervalued them and sought to enter them at the reduced duty. It was in August, 1905, that a man of the name of Thompson brought these elephants into New York, where their valuation was fixed at $6,000. They were taken to Canada and subsequently brought back and a valuation of $4,000 fixed on them, and later they were confiscated because the owner tried to sell them. They may go to some zoological garden.

—Louis Borsum, of Belvidere avenue, has been granted a patent for a photographic camera.

—A new time-table will go into effect on the New Jersey Central on Sunday, November 25.

—Hallett & Co. has opened a new piano store on East Front street in one of the stores owned by Dr. Albert Pittis, and G. H. Kenyon is in charge as manager.

Mr. and Mrs. Abram L. Cadmus, of Plainfield avenue, have returned from a sojourn at Atlantic City.

THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION.

"It is a time honored privilege annually accorded to the citizens of this mighty and prosperous Republic to pause for a day and ponder upon the bounty of an all-wise and all-powerful Father. History records another year of plenty, of gifts, bestowed upon us in rich profusion. Our civilization is advancing; our influence as a nation ever widening. The fruits of labor are abundant and he who toils receives a liberal reward. Rich and poor alike share in opportunity, in the blessings of freedom, of justice, of wider knowledge and higher standards. Happiness and contentment abide with us. Pestilence and plunder have long ceased to menace the homes of our people. Hopes of the past, realized in the present, inspire greater efforts for the future, and it is meet that a day be set apart to render thanks to Him who has guided us in prosperous paths. Therefore, I, Edward C. Stokes, Governor of the State of New Jersey, do designate Thursday, the twenty-ninth day of November, as Thanksgiving Day, and do recommend that the people of this Commonwealth gather together in places of religious worship to lift their voices in songs of praise to our Heavenly Father for the marks of His Divine favor already enjoyed and to ask that He continue to lead us in the way of peace. Given under my hand and seal at the executive chambers, in the city of Trenton, this twelfth day of November, one thousand nine hundred and six.

"Signed) EDWARD C. STOKES,
"Governor."

DRYDEN'S OPPORTUNITY.

The Republican State machine, in which Senator Dryden looms up in large proportions, pleaded with the people before the election to vote the straight ticket for the sake of the party. The voters were told that the party's future was at stake and unless they cast aside all petty differences and sunk their own personal views there was great danger that New Jersey would be turned over to the mercy of the Democrats. That was before the election.

Now that the Republicans have won, the same machine appears to be utterly unmindful of the party's future. The bosses, one and all, acclaim John F. Dryden as their choice for the highest office in the gift of the State. They do this despite the indisputable fact that the dissension within the party's ranks before election was largely due to opposition to the same Mr. Dryden. They know and they are frank enough to admit that the "new idea" faction, whose loyalty to the party saved it from utter defeat at the polls, is bitterly opposed to him. His election in defiance of a large proportion of the Republican voters' wishes means that such a course will be repudiated at the first opportunity. It means that the State may go Democratic next fall and that the Republicans may lose the Governorship.

Therefore, it may be asked, is John F. Dryden not big enough to sink himself politically for the sake of that party to which he professes to be so deeply interested. Is he not loyal enough to sacrifice his own political ambitions by giving up his chase after the Senatorial plum, when he knows what his election will cost the party?

John F. Dryden has a rare opportunity to show how much he thinks of his party. He can do so simply by withdrawing from the race. Then and then only can the people and not the bosses name the next United States Senator.

WHERE A SCHOOL IS NEEDED.

It has been sugested that it would be better for the Board of Education to erect another school further west before it builds on the lot at Darrow avenue and Essex street. At the present time there is but one school building in the entire western part of the city, the Irving, at Monroe avenue and West Fourth street. According to the residents in that section more school accommodations are urgently needed in the extreme west. A desirable site would be found on the north side of the railroad tracks near Clinton avenue for the location is one where the population is rapidly increasing and one in which is bound to grow rapidly within a few years. There is no gainsaying the fact that a school at Essex street and Darrow avenue would be very desirable, but the question is whether at the present time there is not more need for one further west.

CONSTITUTION NO BAR.

If an United States Senator is not an officer "under the government of the United States" but is a part of the government itself as is set forth in an article in another column. Governor Stokes is eligible to election by the Legislature. Here's hoping that he is!

Fight Likely Over New Job.

As a preliminary to the anticipated struggle of the Collins and Ford factions in the organization of the Elizabeth Council on January 1, it is probable that there will be a squabble over the suggestion that the office of city counsel in Elizabeth be created for City Attorney J. C. Connolly, and that Abe J. David, a lawyer, get the office of city attorney. Since the suggestion was made half a dozen candidates have arisen, ready to proclaim their fitness for the latter place, some of them demanding that they be informed by what right Mr. David should get the berth. It is expected that City Attorney Connolly, who says he should have an assistant, will send a communication to City Council on the subpect at its meeting tonight.

Avenger's Vigil Rewarded.

New York, Nov. 16.—Waiting day after day for a month on the landing pier of Ellis Island for a glimpse of Dimitrius Dimitrolias, who murdered his brother two years ago in Greece, Dimitrius Alevias sprang on the man, who was one of the passengers landed from the French line steamship St. Laurent yesterday afternoon. After the men were separated the accused man was brought before a special board of inquiry and the murdered man's brother was examined. In the midst of the cross-examination by the interpreter Dimitroulias confessed the murder. He is held in close confinement on the island, and will be deported.

Crazed By Fire Memory.

New York, Nov. 16.—Crazed by the memory of a fire which last March caused the death of five firemen and financially ruined their father, who had been a prosperous grocer, Mathilda and Edith, grown daughters of Dietrich Reick, of No. 493 Fourth avenue, Brooklyn, have been committed to the Kings County Hospital. Both were adjudged insane several days ago and were formally committed to the asylum by a magistrate in the Butler street court.

Willie Collier Tonight.

William Collier and a splendid supporting cast will present Mr. Collier's new play, "Caught in the Rain," at the New Plainfield theatre tonight. This is Mr. Collier's second visit to Plainfield in the present year, having presented "On the Quiet" here last February. His present vehicle is said to be the best thing he has ever appeared in and the advance sale indicates that he will be greeted by a large and friendly audience.

Industrial School to Meet.

The colored Industrial School, of Grace church, which is open to boys and girls of all ages and any church, will resume its meetings tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock in Grace church parish house. The school will meet every Saturday morning throughout the winter from 10 to 11:30 o'clock and it is particularly desired that there shall be a large attendance.

Interesting B. and L. Decision.

A decision by the Court of Chancery, just published in law notes, is of interest to members of building and loan associations. The court ruled that the claims of general creditors of insolvent building and loan companies were entitled to priority of payment from the assets over the claims of shareholders, as such.

Dryden's Bright Scheme.

A rumor was afloat around the State House at Trenton yesterday that the Dryden forces were trying to have a sort of preliminary and tentative caucaus or conference held next week to consider the United States Senatorship.

Woman to Give Columbians Money to Pay Off Mortgage.

Knights of Columbus in Jersey City have received word from the National Council at New Haven, Conn., that a woman in Boston has informed officers of the National Council she intends to pay off the $15,000 mortgage on the Knights of Columbus club-house at Bright street and Jersey avenue.

The woman heard James J. Hopkins, principal of the Jersey City High School and president of the Jersey City Council of the Knights of Columbus, tell in a banquet speech in Boston how the Jersey City Knights of Columbus bought the club-house formerly occupied by the defunct Palma Club.

S. O. Suits Begun.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 16.—Action against the Standard Oil Company by the government has begun. The papers were filed in St. Louis today. As has been stated, the government seeks to have the corporation dissolved, and in support of its plea a large number of alligations are set forth in detail to prove that the Serman Anti-Trust law has been violated, these violations including conspiracy, coercion, intimidation, rebating and other illegal acts and practices. The advisability of bringing criminal proceedings was under consideration for some time, but action along these lines has been reserved for future determination. In the case now pending all the seventy-one contituent companies comprising the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey are made defendants.

Japs Launch War Vessel.

Tokio, Nov. 16.—The first class Japanese battleship Satsuma, of 19,000 tons, the first battelship to be launched in Japanese waters, took the water yesterday in the presence of the Emperor. The greatest enthusiasm was manifested. The newspapers here reflect the epoch making nature of the event, as indicated by the unprecedented presence of the Emperor, and eulogize the success of the naval constructors. It is taken for granted that she is the equal, and perhaps the superior, of anything afloat.

Cranberry Crop Is Large.

New Bedford, Mass., Nov. 16.—Cranberries in abundance for the markets of this country and Canad are definitely assured by the heavy shipments for the Thanksgiving and Christmas trade. The amount of berries already shipped in carload lots to points west of New York and to Canada alone equals the total crop of last year. A conservative estimate places the ultimate crop for this year at two hundred and fifty thousand barrels.

Travel Modes Change.

New York, Nov. 16.—Mrs. F. D. Cottle, within two years of the century mark in age, starts today upon the last stage of her return trip to the place of her birth, from which she has been absent an ordinary lifetime. Fifty-six years ago she left Boston by overland stage for California, and her return to that city and thence to Martha's Vineyard, her birthplace, will be by automobile.

Crime Wave Sweeps On.

Pittsburg, Pa., Nov. 16.—With detectives from cities of neighboring States who are here in the hope of finding thieves they know, there has been no apparent cessation in the crimes that have stirred Pittsburg within the last two weeks. During last night and early this morning scores of persons were arrested in the streets as suspicious characters.

Would Stop Animal Shows.

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 16.—Before the American Humane Association yesterday Mrs. Huntington Smith, of Boston, declared the cruelty practised on animals in circuses and on the stage was worse than anything seen in Spanish bull fights. The convention pledged itself to try next summer to suppress exhibitions of trained animals.

Real Estate and Men Who Boom It.

WILLIAM JEFFERY.

More than any other year in the history of the city, the general real estate improvement of Plainfield has been great and noteworthy during the past twelve months. So much has been done to change the apeparance of the city's center, where the development of a municipality is reflected and indicated, that the city is almost new. To paraphase Bishop Scarborough's epigrammatic observation at the dedication of St. Stephen's church parish house last week, "The Plainfield of yesterday is far from being the Plainfield of today." A review of the past year by realty experts, men who have had much to do with bringing about the changes and who know what they mean, what they tend to and what should accompany them for the extraction of the greatest good, a review by such men is naturally of interest after such a record of growth and development.

William Jeffery.

William Jeffery, who with E. M. French, Charles H. Lyman and Armstrong Mulford, has had most to do with engineering the majority of deals and developments, was interviewed yesterday as a start in the makeup of a symposium on the sub ject.

"While there have been many sales of property recorded in Plainfield during the past year," said Mr. Jeffrey, "more in proportion than in any year during my experience in the city, the character of the property sold shows that the real estate situation needs careful consideration.

"Many of the sales of larger properties here have been the result of congestion of population brought about by two classes. One, the reluctance of local capitalists to make loans on outlying property; second, the pressure of those who will not go far from the station to live. As the population of Plainfield is constantly increasing, either the building area must be spread out, or the city be more closely built by substituting flats and apartments for dwellings. When the latter occurs, the value of land in the centre of the city advances sharply, for anyone knows that the more people that live on a lot, generally speaking, the more the lot will bring.

"If this is true, and Plainfield is becoming crowded, then the low values of our outlying lots is explained. We know that a little way out, good lots of full dimensions can be bought cheaper than in auy other community similarly situated in this part of the country. If those in our city who have money to lend on real estate would lend liberally on new buildings 'a little way out,' the first cause of congestion would be removed, and the real estate agents could persuade purchasers and tenants to occupy these properties.

"Another difficulty in the way of builders is the inability to borrow in any case over 50 per cent. Other cities have loans as high as 80 per cent. where the growing values of land justify the loan. Our land values are not over one-half what they should be in the outlying districts, and with the constant increase of population, the money lenders need not be so conservative.

"The sales of my office for the past year include among many other properties about forty houses in Plainfield, and indicate that the largest demand is for houses worth from $2,500 to $4,500, and more than one-half of the cheaper houses were sold on easy terms. The sale of this class of property turns tenants into owners, or results in the improvement of lots formerly vacant, and the bene,t to the city is evident.

"Some way should be found to encourage the speculative builder who puts up houses either for rent or for sale. There is a great scarcity of houses for rent; yet people will often come to a town and after a few years as tenants, settle down as homeowners. Others wish to buy homes but lack capital or the time to build for themselves, yet will buy a house they can see already built. This is especially true of the great number of New Yorkers who are looking for suburban residences.

"I am advising all my customers to build bungalows, which cost about one-third as much as a house, and give more satisfaction, being less expensive to maintain and about one-half the work for the women. In his way, many people will be able to get along with loans of 50 per cent., because the entire cost of such a house is very low. I am living in one myself and enjoying solid comfort."

MADAME BUTTERFLY.

In the Garden theatre Monday evening, where Henry W. Savage gave New York its first hearing of Puccini's "Madam Butterfly," there was something in the air that told of the near approach of the regular grand opera season at the Metropolitan. Here, there and everywhere, scattered through the great audience that fairly packed the theatre, were faces that are familiar in the season to the box tier and orchestra chairs of the big Broadway opera house, those of aany of the fashionable set who are still at the country houses but had run in Monday evening to have a look at the opera that Mr. Conried is to give them later at the Metropolitan. Such an audience the Garden has not seen in many a moon; not in full dress to be sure, but nevertheless a brilliant one, and so numerous that feminine tempers of late comers were sorely tried in the effort to force a passage through the crowd of standees. And the new opera? Went finely. Beautifully put on. Well sung and acted. In a word, "Madam Butterfly" scored an unmistakable success for its composer, its producer and for the artists and conductor concerned in its presentation.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

William Collier, in his new play, "Caught in the Rain," will be the attraction at the New Plainfield theatre tonight. It has been pronounced by critics to be the best play Mr. Collier has ever appeared in.

"A play with songs" is the subtitle used by the author of "The Choir Singer," one of the season's hits which comes to the New Plainfield theatre Monday night, fresh from its New York triumphs. This latest of the season's successes is said to contain a number of attractive and unusual features never before seen in a comedy drama. Scenically, the production is declared to be far above the ordinary in every way and includes, beside a novel church scene, an exact reproduction of a Broadway roof garden at night. During this latter scene, a number of high classed musical and travesty features are introduced, thus greatly adding to the strength of the comedy element which it is claimed predominates throughout the play. A big company of first class players insures an evening of real enjoyment to those who patronize "The Choir Singer."

Madame Herrmann, who comes to the New Plainfield theatre Tuesday afternoon and night, occupies an unique niche in the theatrical field, and the mere announcement of her name is a sure sign for crowded houses and brilliant audiences. No other class of entertainment seems to afford such an opportunity for complete enjoyment as does hers. Besides new feats of legerdemain, Madame Herrmann has invented many startling and thrilling acts, all of which are entirely new here and which she wil present with elaborate embellishments. Among these novelties are the spectacular magic-comedy, "The Artist's Dream," "Strobeika," "The Capture and Escape of Admiral Togo," "The Sensational Black Art," etc.

Breezy and gay situations, frivolous and jingling scenes and a continuous chain of merriment make up the principal features of the "Flubb Dubb Conspiracy," "The Girl from Happyland's" offering this season, which comes to the New Plainfield theatre next Wednesday night. The attraction is divided into four parts, the first one representing a lively scene in the butcher and grocery shop of the "Flubb Dubb's," the second one introducing eight prominent vaudeville features and the two following ones giving glimpses of the Casino theatre, New York's famous Gayety theatre, "The Stage Life" "rehearsal," "infernal regions," and finally "the wage of sin." The girls in the comedietta, embracing thirty, are the sweetest specimens of feminine loveliness, the comedians are up-to-date and really funny, costumes all of a lavish order and the scenic and electrical display is in keeping with the brilliancy of the entire.

There are few actresses on the stage who are closer to the hearts of the theatre-going West than Florence Gale, who will soon appear as Juliet in "Romeo and Juliet," at the New Plainfield theatre. In this city she is a strong local favorite, made so by former visits in ideal plays, notably her charming impersonation of Rosalind in Shakespeare's immortal comedy of "As You Like It." Judging by the numerous inquiries made at the box office, her forthcoming appearance will be greeted by a capacity audience. "Juliet" is said to afford Miss Gale a better opportunity for the display of her talents than any play in which she has previously appeared. Some critics have asserted that Miss Gale's impersonations in this remarkable play is nothing short of a sensational triumph. She will be supported by William Bonelli and a fine company, and the advantage of a beautiful production.

FOOTBALL.

It was rough on Capt. Eckersall, of the University of Chicago eleven, that in his last big game as a Maroon player he did not have a dry field on which to make use of his great speed and ability to get away like a flash. Eckersall is one of several ten second men who are playing football this year. Being a sure catch of a punted ball, he was off like a shot, and a man had to be on top of him to tackle him. He was so fast that he could take an oblique course and speed past many a man who had a shorter distance to go to intercept him. He made few mistakes in picking his route in a broken field and especially did not make the mistake that many a fast man does make, that is, instead of trusting to his speed, trying elaborate dodging.

ATHLETIC TOURNAMENT.

All Around Championship Competition at Y. M. C. A. Opens Dec. 6.

The all around athletic championship contest at the Y. M. C. A. will start December 6 with standing broad jump event. One event a week will be run off until the schedule is completed. There are nineteen entrants so far; twenty-five are desired.

The standing broad jump record at the association is held by Ray Smith, who covered 8 feet, 5 inches. December 13 the shot putt will take place. Ora Munger hung up a record of 20 feet, 3½ inches three years ago. December 20 the contestants will have two standing broad jumps to wrestle with. There is no record in that field.

Physical Director Listman has not arranged the schedule beyond those three dates. He said this morning that he expected a number of the records to go to smash.

Inter-City Basketball Schedule.

Leal's School basketball team announces the following schedule for the Inter-City Leagues games: December 12, Leal's against N. P. H. S.; December 19, P. H. S. against N. P. H. S.; January 9, Leal's against P. H. S.; January 23, N. P. H. S. against Leal's; January 30, P. H. S. against N. P. H. S.; February 6, P. H. S. against Leal's; February 20, N. P. H. S. against Leal's; March 15, N. P. H. S. against P. H. S.; March 27, P. H. S. against Leal's.

Athletic Association Elects

The Leal's Athletic Association met yesterday and elected these officers for the coming year: President, Tracy Howard; secretary and treasurer, Leslie Brokaw; athletic board, Fred Leary, Tracy Howard, Russell Lawrence, Leslie Brokaw and Francis Bergen. The association is formed to promote basketball, hockey, baseball and various other sports.

Fast Basketball Game.

The first fast game of the season will be played here by the Y. M. C. A. basketball five Monday night. The Orioles, of New York, a swift combination and hard nuts to crack on the basketball field, will be the opposing team. Between the halves the second team will play the Business Men.

Bowlers Got Stand-Up.

The Plainfield Bowling Academy five had one handed to it by the Garwood team last night. They went to the organ borough to meet the local rollers, but the latter didn't put in an appearance at Becker's auditorium. Garwood was defeated by Plainfield a week ago on McLaughlin's alleys.

P. H. S. vs. Business Men.

The Plainfield High School basketball team will play the Business Men's team from the Y. M. C. A., tonight at 8 o'clock in the High School gymnasium. A good game is assured.

Platt Gives Wife Million.

New York, Nov. 16.—Following revelations in the private life of Senator Thomas C. Platt, in which he figures as a frequent caller at the home of Mrs. Mary La Mont, No. 214 West Thirty-eighth street, where he was accustomed to meet women friends, and where his wife found him in a sensational raid six weeks ago, it was learned yesterday that the differences between the Senator and Mrs. Platt were settled a few days ago by the payment of a considerable lump sum. Mrs. LaMont, who appears to be familiar with the affairs of the Senator and his wife, made the statement that $1,000,000 was paid to Mrs. Platt by the Senator as the price of discontinuance of proceedings against him. That Senator Platt will retire from the Senate in the near future is now looked upon by many of the Republican leaders as a strong possibility.

Found Her Mother Dead.

New York, Nov. 16.—Unable to get into her mother's apartments, in No. 557 West 129th street, by a door, Mrs. Theresa Turner, of No. 277 West 130th street, late yesterday afternoon climbed along a 10-inch ledge three stories above the pavement and entered it through a window, only to find her mother dead. The elder woman, Mrs. Ellen Craig, had been asphyxiated by gas.

By Graham Phillips, author of "The Cost," etc.

"Mr. Monson says he wishes to see you particularly, sir," said he.

"Well—I'll see him," said I. I despised him too much to dislike him, and I thought he might possibly be in want. But that notion vanished the instant I set eyes upon him. He was obviously at the very top of the wave. "Hello, Monson," was my greeting, in it no reminder of his treachery.

"Howdy, Blacklock," said he. "I've come on a little errand for Mrs. Langdon." Then, with that nasty grin of his: "You know, I'm looking after things for her since the bust-up."

"No, I didn't know," said I curtly, suppressing my instant curiosity. "What does Mrs. Langdon want?"

"To see you—for just a few minutes—whenever it is convenient."

"If Mrs. Langdon has business with me, I'll see her at my office," said I. She was one of the fashionables that had got herself into my black books by her treatment of Anita since the break with the Ellerslys.

"She wishes to come to you here—this afternoon, if you are to be at home. She asked me to say that her business is important—and very private."

I hesitated, but I could think of no good excuse for refusing. "I'll be here an hour," said I. "Good day."

He gave me no time to change my mind. Something—perhaps it was his curious expression as he took himself off—made me begin to regret. The more I thought of the matter, the less I thought of my having made any civil concession to a woman who had acted so badly toward Anita and myself. He had not been gone a quarter of an hour before I went to Anita in her sitting room. Always, the instant I entered the outer door of her part of our house, that powerful, intoxicating fascination that she had for me began to take possession of my senses. It was in every garment she wore. It seemed to linger in any place where she had been, for a long time after she left it. She was at a small desk by the window, was writing letters.

"May I interrupt?" said I. "Monson was here a few minutes ago—from Mrs. Langdon. She wants to see me. I told him I would see her here. Then it occurred to me that perhaps I had been too good-natured. What do you think?"

I could not see her face, but only the back of her head, and the loose coils of magnetic hair and the white nape of her graceful neck. As I began to speak, she stopped writing, her pen suspended over the sheet of paper. After I ended there was a long silence.

"I'll not see her," said I. "I don't quite understand why I yielded." And I turned to go.

"Wait—please," came from her abruptly.

Another long silence. Then I: "If she comes here, I think the only person who can properly receive her is you."

"No—you must see her," said Anita at last. And she turned round in her chair until she was facing me. Her expression—I can not describe it. I can only say that it gave me a sense of impending calamity.

"I'd rather not—much rather not," said I.

"I particularly wish you to see her," she replied, and she turned back to her writing. I saw her pen poised as if she were about to begin; but she did not begin—and I felt that she would not. With my mind shadowed with vague dread, I left that mysterious stillness, and went back to the library.

It was not long before Mrs. Langdon was announced. There are some women to whom a haggard look is becoming; she is one of them. She was much thinner than when I last saw her: instead of her former restless petulant, suspicious expression, she now looked tragically sad. "May I trouble you to close the door?" said she, when the servant had withdrawn.

I closed the door.

"I've come," she began, without seating herself, "to make you as unhappy, I fear, as I am. I've hesitated long before coming. But I am desperate. The one hope I have left is that you and I between us may be able to—to—that you and I may be able to help each other."

I waited.

"I suppose there are people," she went on, "who have never known what it was to—really to care for some one else. They would despise me for clinging to a man after he has shown me that—that his love has ceased."

"Pardon me, Mrs. Langdon," I interrupted. "You apparently think your husband and I are intimate friends. Before you go any further, I must disabuse you of that idea."

She looked at me in open astonishment. "You do not know why my husband has left me?"

"Until a few minutes ago, I did not know that he had left you," I said. "And I do not wish to know why."

Her expression of astonishment changed to mockery. "Oh!" she sneered. "Your wife has fooled you into thinking it a one-sided affair. Well, I tell you, she is as much to blame as he—more. For he did love me when he married me: did love me until she got him under her again."

I thought I understood. "You have been misled, Mrs. Langdon," said I gently, pitying her as the victim of her insane jealousy. "You have——"

"Ask your wife," she interrupted angrily. "Hereafter, you can't pretend ignorance. For I'll at least be revenged. She failed utterly to trap him into marriage when she was a poor girl, and ——"

"Before you go any further," said I coldly, "let me set you right. My wife was at one time engaged to your husband's brother, but——"

"Tom?" she interrupted. And her laugh made me bite my lip. "So she told you that! I don't see how she dared. Why, everybody knows that she and Mowbray were engaged, and that he broke it off to marry me."

All in an instant everything that had been confused in my affairs at home and down town became clear. I understood why I had been pursued relentlessly in Wall street; why I had been unable to make the least impression on the barriers between Anita and myself. You will imagine that some terrible emotion at once dominated me. But this is not a romance; only the veracious chronicle of certain husman beings. My first emotion was—relief that it was not Tom Langdon. "I ought to have known she couldn't care for him," said I to myself. I, contending with Tom Langdon for a woman's love had always made me shrink. But Mowbray—that was vastly different. My respect for myself and for Anita rose.

"No," said I to Mrs. Langdon, "my wife did not tell me, never spoke of it. What I said to you was purely a guess of my own. I had no interest in the matter—and haven't. I have absolute confidence in my wife. I feel ashamed that you have provoked me into saying so." I opened the door.

"I am not going yet," said she angrily. "Yesterday morning Mowbray and she were riding together in the Riverside drive. Ask her groom."

"What of it?" said I. Then, as she did not rise, I rang the bell. When the servant came, I said: "Please tell Mrs. Blacklock that Mrs. Langdon is in the library—and that I am here, and gave you the message."

As soon as the servant was gone, she said: "No doubt she'll lie to you. These women that steal other women's property are usually clever at fooling their own silly husbands."

"I do not intend to ask her," I replied. "To ask her would be an insult."

She made no comment beyond a scornful toss of the head. We both had our gaze fixed upon the door through which Anita would enter. When she finally did appear, I, after one glance at her, turned—it must have been triumphantly—upon her accuser. I had not doubted, but where is the faith that is not the stronger for confirmation? And confirmation there was in the very atmosphere round that stately, still figure. She looked calmly, first at Mrs. Langdon, then at me.

"I sent for you," said I, "because I thought that you, rather than I, should request Mrs. Langdon to leave your house."

At that Mrs. Langdon was on her feet, and blazing. "Fool!" she flared at me. "Oh, the fools women make of men!" Then to Anita: "You—you —— But no, I must not permit you to drag me down to your level. Tell your husband—tell him that you were riding with my husband in the Riverside drive yesterday."

I stepped between her and Anita. "My wife will not answer you," said I. "I hope, Madam, you will spare us the necessity of a painful scene. But leave you must—at once."

She looked wildly round, clasped her hands, suddenly bust into tears. If she had but known, she could have had her own way after that, without any attempt from me to oppose her. For she was evidently unutterably wretched—and no one knew better than I the sufferings of unreturned love. But she had given me up; slowly, sobbing, she left the room I opening the door for her and closing it behind her.

"I almost broke down myself," said I to Anita. "Poor woman! How can you be so calm? You women in your relations with each other are—a mys——"

CHURCH GIRLS WON'T ELOPE, SAY SO IN RESOLUTION.

Or, If They Do, They Will Forego the Usual "Linen Shower."

Braddock, Pa., Nov. 16.—Elopements, romantic weddings and the like are tabooed by the Young Ladies' Mission Circle of the First English Lutheran church here. The church has lost 12 members by such methods in something less than the past five months. For quite a while the past summer there was an elopement each week from the ranks, and it was feared the whole society would be broken up.

It was the custom to give every member, eloping or otherwise, a linen shower when she married; but at a meeting of 52 survivors of the society, the following resolution was adopted and signed by every one:

"We, the undersigned, members of the Young Ladies' Circle of the First English Lutheran Church, do solemnly promise that we will not be parties to any elopements, such as have already become too common in our society. If we should choose such a method of assuming matrimonial bonds we hereby relinquish all rights to the linen shower which it has been customary to give our newly-wedded members.

HUSBAND SEARCHES FOR BRIDE OF EIGHT WEEKS.

Declares She Took $300 with Her After He Had Found Ring in Her Trunk.

The Paterson police have been asked by Albert Faron to search for his wife, who, he says, deserted him at Fitchburg, Mass., after a honeymoon of eight weeks. Faron says his wife took with her when she went away about $300 he had saved.

Faron says he met a Miss Bergo at a summer hotel near Lynn last summer. They were married eight weeks ago. He says one day when he returned from work he found a wedding ring and a man's photo in his wife's trunk. She explained she found the ring and the photo was that of a "dear friend." The next day his wife disappeared and so did his money.

A few days ago Faron says he received a letter from a man in Paterson, saying that he was the woman's husband. The writer did not sign his name, but asserted he married the woman in Paterson five years ago.

Earthquake Graft Probe.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 16.—After one hundred secret service men have been working throughout the post offices of the United States and the various offices of the big express companies tracing money that was sent to the Relief Committee at the time of the earthquake disaster, matters are in fine shape now for the biggest investigation of its kind the country has ever seen. According to the San Francisco Chronicle the investigations are to be so thorough that no one in the graft plot can escape. There are also charges of forgery that point to men of some prominence. President Roosevelt may take a hand in the matter. It is said that so keen is the government to have a thorough investigation that no amount of money will be spared to get the guilty ones. There are those who place the aggregate of the stealing at $1,000,000.

John D. Indicted.

Findlay, Ohio, Nov. 16.—Indictments charging violations of the Valentine anti-trust law have been returned by the Grand Jury against the Standard Oil Company of Ohio, John D. Rockefeller, president of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, and M. G. Vilas, H. P. McIntosh and J. M. Robertson, directors of the Standard Oil Company of Ohio. No immediate effort will be made to cause the arrest of Mr. Rockefeller, who is now in New York, as his attorneys are expected to come here and enter his appearance, as was done in the case of the information filed against him in the Probate Court. Should they fail to do this, steps will be taken without delay to apprehend Mr. Rockefeller.

Pastor to the Public.

New York, Nov. 16.—His resignation as pastor of the Baptist Church of the Epiphany, Sixty-fourth street and Madison avenue, to take effect at the time, the Rev. Dr. Madison C. Peters made it known Wednesday that, beginning with the first Sunday morning in January, he will inaugurate himself pastor to the public, with the Majestic theatre, in Columbus Circle, as his church. He will follow this move with evening services in a theatre in the vicinity of Herald square, thus for the first time in this city instituting permanent religious services twice each Sunday in two theatres. Many prominent professional and business men are aiding the Rev. Dr. Peters in his plans.

N. Y. Cops Change Headgear.

New York, Nov. 16—Helmets dropped from every policeman's head yesterday and each went on duty wearing the blue cloth cap with sharply down tilted visor which has been known heretofore in this city only through its use by the mounted men. Like every change this has found voluble opponents. Most of the men will welcome the change, for the helmet is the hottest head covering imaginable in summer and the coldest in winter. The new caps are modelled after those in use in the French army and their adoption is due to the recommendation of Mr. Mathot, Deputy Commissioner, after a visit several months ago to Paris.

POPE SENT BLESSING TO ALL AMERICA.

Bishop McFaul Returns from Rome After Several Months Absence.

Bishop McFaul, who has been abroad several months, has returned to Trenton. He says the Pope, in the face of the difficulties between church and state in France, spoke with great regard for the freedom the Roman Catholic church enjoyed in the United States, and sent his benediction to the American Federation of Catholic societies in this country. He added:

"I had two audiences with His Holiness Pius X, during which I presented the Peter's Pence offering of the diocese of Trenton and had pleasant conversations regarding the extent and population of the diocese of Trenton as well as the general condition of religion in the United States.

"In my second interview I explained the object and scope of the American Federation of Catholic societies, assuring the Holy Father that, while the organization was progressing slowly, it had nevertheless grown beyond the expectation of its founders and its national conventions had become great Catholic congresses, wherein before immense audiences in our chief cities and fundamental problems of the day, such as socialism, education, divorce, etc., were discussed by the most eminent clergymen and lawyers.

"His Holiness was much interested and bestowed the apostolic benediction on the organization.

"Speaking of France the Pope said he prayed for the day when the church would enjoy the same liberty there as in the United States. The state in America, he said, attends to its own affairs and allows the church to manage hers."

Concerning the disagreement in France, Bishop McFaul said the Pope's latest act would take from France the control of the foreign missions. His Holiness will gladually intrust them to the care of Germany and Italy.

THIS CAT CATCHES MICE AND BULLFROGS.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel A. Squire, of Rahway, are the owners of a Maltese cat that is exceptionally intelligent. Each alternate afternoon throughout the summer and the fall, and at the same hour, she has made her appearance at the kitchen outside door and "yeowled," keeping it up until some one came to see what was the matter. "Tabby" would be standing there holding either a mouse or a large bullfrog. Regularly as Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays came there would come the frogs. Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays were mouse days. Sundays she would bring neither. The mouse she would eat, but the frog she would leave on the steps. Where she catches the frogs is now known.

Negro Runs Amuck.

Asheville, N. C., Nov. 16.—William Harris, a negro desperado, who shot and killed two policemen and three negroes and shot a dozen others at an early hour Wednesday morning, is reported to be surrounded by an armed posse in a house between the towns of Olivette and Alexander, on the French Broad River, about ten miles from this city. The posse, consisting of several hundred men, is in charge of John A. Roebling, a wealthy manufacturer of New Jersey. If the negro is caught a lynching is almost certain. The negro murderer after killing three men in Hell's Half Acre made his escape through the centre of the city, shooting down and killing Policeman Bailey and firing shots at every one he saw. The murderer defied the town and put to flight every one he encountered.

Thugs Worse in Pittsburg.

Pittsburg, Pa., Nov. 16.—With audacity that fairly staggers the local police thugs and robbers continue to operate at will throughout the city. Instead of diminishing the reign of terror caused by the murderous burglars and footpads, the efforts of the authorities and precautions of householders seem only to have inspired the lawless element with a more desperate disregard of law and order. James Bowler, one of the highest paid steel plant employees in Pittsburg, died Wednesday afternoon in West Penn hospital with his skull fractured in six places. On Saturday night he was held up and robbed of $200, his two weeks' pay, at Liberty avenue and Seventeenth street, one of the congested districts of the city.

GOT HIS HAIR BACK.

Was Perfectly Bald When He Started to Use Newbro's Herpicide.

Frederick Manuell, Maryland block, Butte, Montana, bought a bottle of Newbro's Herpicide, April 6, '99, and began to use it for entire baldness. The hair follicles in his scalp were not dead and in 20 days he had hair all over his head. On July 2 he writes, "and today my hair is as thick and luxuriant as any one could wish." Newbro's Herpicide works on an old principle and with a new discovery—destroy the cause and you remove the effect. Herpicide destroys the germ that causes dandruff, falling hair, and finally baldness, so that with the cause gone the effect cannot remain. Stops falling hair at once and a new growth starts. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

GIVES MOTHERS ADVICE

Principal Travell Talks on Pupils' Health, Scholarship and Character.

CO-OPERATION NEEDED

Says Parents Should Visit Schools —Recites Causes of Failure in Pupils' Work.

Ira W. Travell, principal of the Plainfield High School, addressed the Mothers' Club yesterday afternoon in the High School auditorium. His theme was, "How the Home May Help the High School to Greater Efficiency in Promoting Health, Scholarship, and Character." For a teacher to work most successfully with a student, Mr. Travell said, the instructor should have the sympathy and co-operation of the parents. By keeping in touch with the teachers many students have been saved from failure. He said parents should visit the school at least two or three times a year and consult the different teachers regarding the work of the students in whom they are interested.

Failure in health, he said, and failure in study, go hand in hand. They are often marked by an attitude of indifference, discouragement, unrest, or a desire to leave school. Those who do well in school are happy in their work, and, as a rule, have no desire to leave. Smoking, he said, impairs the health of the student, for it produces nervousness, loss of will power, and, after two or three years in school the smoker often drags out and disappears.

Frequent attendance at social functions, he said, is also a cause for failure in school, for study is hindered by the excitement of expectation, and the late hours of retiring render the student unfit for good work on the following day. School and education, said he, should have first place, and the efforts to see and hear everything will work disaster in a school career.

In speaking of the different ways in which to preserve health, Mr. Travell emphasized the necessity of daily physical exercise in the open air, and proper protection against stormy weather. Every girl, he said, should be provided with a good umbrella, overshoes, raincoat, and leggings.

Mr. Travell suggested that girls exercise in the afternoon from 2 to 4, and study from 4 to 6; he thought boys should study first and take their exercise afterward. In order to complete a four years' course in the High School he said that three hours' study a day outside of school is necessary. If parents find that their children are studying more than four hours or less than two, they should consult with the teachers, for something is wrong somewhere.

Mr. Travell called particular attention to the value of punctuality, and showed how the habits of early retiring, rising, and home duties of various sorts may be brought to bear upon the training and development of character.

The electric bell system of the High School is again in working order. For the last week classes have been dismissed by a short ring of the fire-dismissal bell.

SALE ADDS TO NEW CHURCH CARPET FUND

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH AID ASSOCIATION HOLDS SUCCESSFUL AFFAIR

Unqualified success was scored by the sale held yesterday afternoon and night by the Pastor's Aid Association of the First Presbyterian church, in the church lecture room. The attendance was large and the booths and tables did a brisk business from the opening hour. The new carpet fund, for the benefit of which the affair was held, will be swelled by $200 as a result of it.

The booths and tables were prettily decorated. The room was a mass of tastefully blended colors, and its very appearance seemed like an assurance of perfect management and complete success.

Mrs. David K. Young was general chairman. She was ably assisted by these committees and workers: Decorating committee, Mr. Dunning, Jno. Burroughs, F. Lounsbury, A. V. Searing, Jr., Mrs. LeRoy Gates, Freeman Shotwell, Miss McConaighy, Miss Bessie Deforest, Miss Burroughs, Miss Colburn, Miss J. Abbott, Mrs. Poynier. CHAMBER CONCERT DRAWS LARGE AUDIENCE.

Society Present in Force, and Shows Approval Generously Throughout the Programme.

A large and fashionable audience greeted the first of Mr. McIntyre's chamber music concerts at the Casino last evening. Society was out in force as it always is at these enjoyable affairs and gave fresh evidence of the high favor in which it holds Mr. McIntyre and his assisting artists. The trio was brilliantly rendered, especially exquisite work being done in the charming scherzo and andante.

The Rubinstein sonata for piano and cello was the feature of the evening. This glorious composition providing a fit opportunity for Mr. McIntyre and Mr. Dubinsky to display their great ability as interprative artists. The many beauties of the sonata ,particularly in the song like middle movement, were most charmingly rendered.

Mr. Dufault's group of English and French songs were delightfully sung and he was enthusiastically encored.

The next concert will be in December, when the great Arinsky trio will be played. Mr. Culp, the violinist, will be soloist at that time. He made a most favorable impression last evening by his work in the trio.

Annual Fair W. C. T. U.

"Bids" Out for Country Dance.

The Pad and Pencil Club has issued invitations for its fourth annual country dance to be held in I. C. T. hall, Park and North avenues, on Thanksgiving eve. As in previous years, much originality has been displayed in getting up the "bids." They are printed on large sheets of yellow paper embellished with odd pictures in light green, the two colors intended to correspond with the pumpkins and vegetables that will be in evidence at the Thanksgiving dinners the next day. The committee from the club which will have charge of the dance consists of Archibald Hacquer, Thomas M. Muir and George E. Firstbrook.

Fine Over His Head.

Jacob Herman, of Willever street, was arraigned in the City Court this morning, charged with disorderly conduct by George Buss, a neighbor. Buss told the court that Herman, suspecting some of his chickens had strayed in the Buss yard, sent over a man on November 3 to impersonate a constable and search the Buss grounds for chicks. When he went to Herman's house to investigate the matter, Buss said Herman swore at him and abused him. Judge Runyon suspended a $10 fine over Herman's head.

JERSEY WINS MEDALS IN BIG BELGIAN SHOW

ECONOMY EXHIBIT OF STATE BOARD OF STATISTICS HONORED.

The State Board of Statistics of Labor and Industry received yesterday a diploma and bonze medal for its social economy exhibit at the Liege International Exposition in Belgium, which closed a year ago. The department was represented by a large collection of photographs, showing what had been done in the State to make life in factories healthy and comfortable. Reports were exhibited also, showing the able manner in which statistics were kept by the State Board.

Winton C. Garrison, of Newark, received a diploma of the gold medal class as the head of the department. Deputy James T. Morgan, as collaborator, was given a diploma of the silver medal class.

As similar departments in every State of the Union and in Continental counties had exhibits at the exposition, the prizes awarded the board are considered high honors.

Fourteen medals from the St. Lous Exposition were given yesterday to the several State departments that exhibited there.

EPWORTH LEAGUE HOLDS A SOCIAL.

Good Programme at Vincent Chapel Thoroughly Enjoyed by a Large Number.

Under the auspices of the Epworth League of the First M. E. church, a monthly social and entertainment was held in Vincent chapel last night. A large attendance of members and friends enjoyed the programme arranged by Miss Helen Whitney and her committee.

Before the rendition of the programme, the young people engaged in playing a game of "Authors." The names of various authors were put in a conspicuous place and the young people were requested to guess certain things about their works.

The programme opened with a piano solo, "The Two Larks," and "To the Sea," by Miss Muriel Collins, followed with two vocal solos, "When Love is Gone," and "He Was a Prince," by Miss Leila Druse, of the First Baptist church choir. Miss Louise Stowell gave a reading, entitled "Patsy." Another piano selection, "Polonaise," by Miss Collins, preceded the closing number on the programme, vocal solos, "Molly's Eyes," and "Good Night Beloved, Good Night," by Arthur Henly.

The evening's entertainment was concluded with the playing of "Blind Man's Bluff." Refreshments were then served by a committee of which Miss Mattie Humble had charge. Miss Stowell had charge of the games. During the evening there was a brief business session when Miss Anna Smalley was elected chairman of the committee on spiritual work.

The basketball game last night in the High School gymnasium between the Business Men's team and the High School team was a walk away for the latter, the final score being 50 to 20 in favor of the Plainfield High School. FUNERAL OF DR. JENKINS

Rev. A. C. McCrea Makes an Impressive Address During Service at the House.

MANY FLORAL TRIBUTES

Physicans Act as Pall Bearers—Interment Made at the Hillside Cemetery.

Before a gathering of friends that represented every walk of life in the city, the funeral of Dr. Olin LeRoy Jenkins took place at his late home on East Front street, yesterday afternoon. Though it had been the wish of the family that the final ceremony over the body he as devoid of ostentation as his life had been, the gathering indicated the great love and esteem in which the man who had twice been Plainfield's chief executive had been held. The mourners included city and county officials, doctors, lawyers, business men and ordinary citizens, all impelled to gather to honor the memory of a God fearing and honorable man.

The service was in charge of Rev. Dr. A. C. McCrea, pastor of the First M. E. church, and it was extremely simple. He began by reading parts of the forty-sixth Psalm and the fourteenth chapter of John and later made an address. In it he paid a tribute to Dr. Jenkins, every word of which came from personal knowledge and struck a responsive chord in the hearts of his hearers.

"The community has been plunged in sorrow," said Dr. McCrea, "by the death of one of its leading members. The whole city has felt it and there is an aching void in every home. In his political life, he had won many friends; in his business relations he had dealt just and fairly; in his social and fraternal life he was cordial and brotherly; in his home he had been devoted. All these made him widely loved and esteemed.

"It is interesting to look at such a life and learn the secret of its success and to me there is a verse of scripture that characterizes it: 'What doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God.' Who was more just—justice entered in all his transactions; in his official life and in his business relations. He would rather have been taken advantage of than take advantage of. He was generous to a fault. His calling was one of mercy and he was adapted to it. If all who had felt the kindness and tenderness of his ministrations, what a testimonial it would be.

"An example of his character is shown in the humility of his Christian life. He confessed Christ in 1873, becoming a member of the First Methodist Episcopal church under Dr. Bryant's pastorate, but it was not generally known. He would rather have his deeds proclaim his faith than do it in words. He showed to the community what it means to be a true Christian.

"Looking backward at the past, we wonder why such a life has been taken away. The world needs such a man and as St. Paul says: 'Now we see through a glass darkly.' The past is filled with beauty, the present is inscrutable but the future is filled with promises of joy unending. From his life we gain the message: 'What doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God,' and then to re-dedicate our lives for the help of our fellow-men."

During the service, two hymns, "Nearer, My God, to Thee," and "Abide With Me" were sung by Miss Bertha VanNuis Willis and Mrs. Stephen H. Tugwell, of the First M. E. church choir. With the pronouncing of the benediction by Dr. McCrea, the men and women in the gathering were permitted to view the features of Dr. Jenkins for the last time, the same opportunity having been accorded others in the morning from 11 until 12 o'clock. Interment was made in Hillside cemetery, the same simplicity marking the commitment of the body to the grave. The pall-bearers were members of the medical profession in the city, Drs. D. C. Adams, Edward Rushmore, T. S. Davis, George W. Endicott, Ellis W. Hedges, John B. Probasco and William H. Murray.

The floral tributes were so numerous as to occupy the larger part of one room at the house. There were pillows, columns, wreaths and emblems in great profusion, all of the societies to which the doctor belonged contributing one or more. Among those represented in this way were the Plainfield Medical Association, the various Masonic orders, the Elks, the Knights of Pythias, the Junior Order United American Mechanics, the Royal Arcanum, the Ancient Order of United Workmen and the Knights of Honor.

Trinity Commandery, No. 17, K. T., is preparing for its annual inspection to be held soon. Last night there was a special drill by the commandery.

MACHINISTS' BALL DRAWS CROWD OF 600

LODGE WILL GET MORE THAN $200 FROM THE ANNUAL AFFAIR

The fourth annual ball of Plainfield Lodge, No. 167, International Association of Machinists, last night, eclipsed all previous efforts of the organization and broke a record for attendance at an affair of this kind in Saengerbund hall. Over 600 people were admitted and at times dancing was carried on with difficulty owing to the throng. Splendid work was occomplished by the floor committee, however, and what inconvenience there was did not interfere with the enjoyment of the participants.

Suhr's Imperial orchestra furnished the music and it was one of the features of the evening. The attendance included many visiting machinists' delegations from Elizabeth, Newark, New Brunswick and other places. As a result of the ball, the lodge will clear over $200, the same to be applied to the fund being raised to build a labor tempie.

The general committee which arranged and had charge of the affair consisted of John R. Cline, chairman; James Smith, Michael F. Kiely, Martin J. Hibbits, Michael Cooney, Jos. F. Burke, Robert Sowden, Richard Scott, Jeremiah Callahan, Arthur Jacobson and Alexander G. Aitken. The floor committee was composed of Michael F. Kiely, general manager, Richard Scott, Martin Hibbits and Jeremiah Callahan, assistants.

VETERAN CARRIER RESIGNS.

Edward Dunn Retires After Seven teen Years' Service.

Edward T. Dunn, who for seventeen years has been employed by Uncle Sam as a letter carrier at the local post office, resigned his position on Thursday because of eye trouble and other complications. He has been faithful in the performance of his duties and Postmaster E. H. Bird has expressed his regret that he felt obliged to retire. Mr. Dunn began his service as a carrier, but during the past few years he was given the work of making all collections from the letter-boxes, working from 3 to 7 o'clock in the morning and from 4 o'clock in the afternoon until 8 o'clock in the evening.

Mr. Dunn's place has been taken by Letter-carrier Charles Glaentzer, who has had a West End route, and Mr. Glaentzer's route is now carried by Substitute John McCormick, who passed the civil service examination a few months ago.

DeMeza, his examination was laid over until Monday.

NOT GIVING OUT PLANS

Colby, Ackerman and Other G.O.P. Legislators Won't Vote For a Democrat.

PLENTY OF MATERIAL

Essex Man Says He Will Keep on "Until the Crack of Doom"—What Union Man Says.

Among Democratic visitors to the Capitol Building at Trenton yesterday there was a disposition to question the assertion that the fight is between Dryden and Col. Stevens. Democrats of Mercer county—in which is Princeton—say the name of President Woodrow Wilson, of Princeton University, surely will be presented to the Democratic legislative joint caucus. It was further asserted that Mr. Wilson will receive the support of many members from different sections of the State, notably those from Essex county.

But the election of a Democratic successor to United States Senator Dryden being, to say the least, remote, discussion of the respective chances of Col. Stevens and Prof. Wilson were overshadowed by speculation as to what the Republican legislative revolters against Dryden will do when their party caucus meets.

Those who took part in these speculations point to the fact that on strict party lines the Republicans have a majority of seven on joint ballot.

They also place much stress on the fact that when the smoke had cleared away after the conferences of Tuesday only four Republican members of the Legislature could be found who are in open opposition to the re-election of Mr. Dryden. These are Senator Everett Colby, of Essex; Senator Ernest R. Ackerman, of Union; Assemblyman James Devine, Jr., and Assemblyman Guy L. Fake, both of Bergen.

To these four men a reporter put this question:

"If Mr. Dryden is the nominee of the Republican Legislative caucus for United States Senator and your vote could either elect him or cause the choice of a Democrat, would you cast your ballot for Mr. Dryden?"

To this question Senator Colby made this answer:

"That is an impossible situation. The only way a Democrat may be elected will be by having some Republican Legislators vote for him, and as I will not vote for a Democrat my attitude in that respect would not decide the issue. At all events, I will have a candidate and if the contest lasts, I will keep on voting for him till the crack of doom."

Senator Ackerman's reply was:

"That question is too ridiculous. I'm not going into 'ifs' and 'ands' at this time; there are lots of good Republicans who could be elected by the Legislature to succeed Mr. Dryden."

Assemblyman Fake answered:

" I do not care to reply to that question at this time. I do not wish to commit myself. The position of Assemblyman is new to me and I desire to be better posted before I do much talking. All I care to do now is to refer you to a letter I wrote to the local newspaper about the Senatorship."

The letter to which Mr. Fake refers is as follows:

"My Dear Sir: In your editorial you raise the question as to whether or not I will abide by the decision of the caucus in the mater of the election of a United States Senator. In reply, I would say that receiving the nomination as I did I am bound to fight against the re-election of Senator Dryden just as though an additional plank had been placed in our platform to that end."

"It will my duty to represent our county in the Legislature as well as in the caucus, and if by bolting the caucus some Republican other than Senator Dryden can be elected I will reserve the right to bolt.

"There might, however, be conditions arising which would make it necessary for me to vote for Senator Dryden such as would arise to prevent a Democrat from being elected.

"Yours truly,

"GUY L. FAKE."

To the same question as addressed to the other revolters against Dryden Mr. Devine replied:

"I am a regular Republican, and I was not pledged to oppose Dryden or favor him. I have not declared myself one way or the other, but if Dryden is the caucus nominee and my vote was to decide, I would be a fool not to vote for Dryden and elect a Democrat."

At the New Plainfield theatre this afternoon and tonight theatregoers will see for the first time in Plainfield Felix Haney as the star of a new rural piece by Nell Twomey, "When the Harvest Days Are Over." The play is said to be build on different lines from the conventional rural comedy not having to depend on the live stock of the farm, without the snow storm or the village choir. One decided relief is the absence of snow and the characters of the piece are not blown in by gusts of wind.

Madame Adelaide Hermann, "The Queen of Magic," who appears here with her company of excellent artists on Tuesday afternoon and night next week at the New Plainfield theatre, prides herself in her present program of surpassing all her previous efforts, for besides her own feats with her marvelous hands which only a real Herrmann can perform, she has elaborated her programme with stage displays of what are called "magi-novelties," being spectacular illusions which she herself has devised and which, besides their mystic charm, possess an amount of dramatic interest that fascinates and at the same time commands thought for their wonderful skill and ingenuity. These illusions contain astounding effects and scenic devices, dazzling calcium and electric light embellishments. For their presentation the company carries a large staff of assistants, including specially equipped mechanics.

"The Flubb-Dubb Conspiracy," a bright, witty and melodious conglomeration of Metropolitan scenes as viewed along The Great White Way, better known as Broadway, will be the offering at the New Plainfield theatre next Wednesday night. There are numerous brilliant situations introduced in the cemedietta and care has been taken in the constructions of the plot and not a dull moment may be allowed to slip into the dialogue. As usual with this organization the chorus is of exceptional beauty, embracing twenty-five girls of almost every type of feminine loveliness. The olio presents quite a variety of prominent vaudevillians headed by those Kings of the Flying Banjos, the famous Howard Bros., the humorous conversationalists Friend and Downing, Minnie Higgins and Joe Emerson, World's Comedy Four, Goforth and Doyle and others equally well known.

Charles L. Young brings to this city on Saturday, November 24, for presentation for the first time at the New Plainfield theatre, a play called "A Square Deal." It comes here with all the laurels of a New York success fresh upon it and bearing the stamp of approval of the most severe critics in the country—those of New York city. It was put on there last season and scored the most remarkable success of a remarkable theatrical year. It played to full houses, opened there again this season and is booked to return late this season for another run. Otis B. Thayer, who was the star at the premiere of the play, is still at the head of the full New York Company.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

The residents of South Plainfield feel that owing to the number of houses and the lack of fire protection that it would be a wise provision and economical measure to establish an organization so that in case of fire there would be means of contending with it. When the Middlesex Water Company laid its pipes through the village it was to provide three fire plugs, but the committee that granted the privilege never saw to it that the promise was kept. The subject of forming a company was brought up before the Good Government Club and found hearty support, and while it might add to the taxes it would be a protection that is necessary. At the same time fire protection in this village will reduce the rate of insurance one-third, which will fully equal the cost of maintaining a fire company.

Cuban Situation Dangerous.

Havana, Cuba, Nov. 17.—From now on, it is declared here, it behooves the United States to be extremely careful in dealing with the Cuban question. Developments yesterday revealed an ugly situation, fraught with danger to both countries. Whatever solution may be had, whether the United States establishes a protectorate or makes way for another Cuban republic, a revolution is not the worst result that now threatens. There is a conspiracy on foot to blow up English railway property with dynamite if after the contemplated election the United States hands the government over to the liberals and ends its control of affairs. This is the sworn plan of a large body of influential and wealthy Cubans to force England to compel the United States to continue a supervisory government.

A November Tea.

Mrs. Duncan Taylor gave a tea on Thursday at her home on West Seventh street. A large number of guests were present in spite of the day's severe storm.

Mrs. Mason Patrick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin I. Cooley, of the borough, who is at the hospital under treatment, is much improved.

GOLF.

While the Plainfield Country Club course is considered to be one of the best in the Metropolitan district, it seems strange that efforts are not made to have some of the big tournaments played here. Conditions are ideal for such play and it would further add to the popularity of the links to have a gathering of well-known players visit here. The club, since its institution, has never made efforts to hold a big tournament, but many members favor the idea and no doubt steps will be taken sooner or later to hold such an event on the course.

There will be further play for the November handicap cup and final play for the consolation and inconsolables' cups at the Plainfield Country Club today. No doubt there will be a good sized field out.

The Westfield Golf Club is arranging a series of informal entertainments to be held at the clubhouse during the winter, the same as in past seasons. These affairs have always proved popular and have had a tendency to keep the members together, when it is not always possible to play golf.

After Miss Pauline Mackey, of the Oakley Club, Boston, had been officially declared Thursday afternoon the winner of the low score medal in the qualifying round of the women's open tournament that began that day at the New Haven Country Club, and had practically had the medal turned over to her, Mrs. G. W. Roope, formerly of Denver, Col., but now of Boston, came forward, claiming the honor by seven strokes. Miss Mackey's score was 107, while Mrs. Roope's score was 98. It was all the fault of a mixup in the cards of Mrs. Roope and her partner, Miss Chick, of the Essex club. Coming in they mixed their scores so that Miss Chick was credited by the official scorer with 53 coming home, while Mrs. Roope had a 66 opposite her name. When the latter in looking over the official scores later in the day caught the figures she declared that a mistake had been made and at once laid claim with the altered score to the medal, and the claim was admitted.

A snowstorm in the morning, with rain as a second course, did not improve the golfing conditions at the opening of the Country Club of Lakewood's fall tournament Thursday. Yet all returned cards, the majority taking advantage of the permission to play the eighteen hole qualifying round at any time to delay their starts until the afternoon. Those who had only the snowfall against them in the morning had the better turf play on, a just reward for their weather courage. Dr. D. P. Fredericks, of Oil City, played in the morning with A. W. Tillinghast. Tillinghast had a capital score coming in and returned 49, 38—87, and Dr. Fredericks had 46, 43—89. Harry Mackey, of Atlantic City, also a morning starter, did 46, 42—88.

FOOTBALL.

The members of the Orange Field Club are planning to hold an entertainment, the proceeds from which will be used to pay the doctor's bills for the injured members, who were laid up while playing football for the team.

In view of the fact that the Orange Field Club did not play Dunellen this season, it cannot lay claim to the 150 pound championship of the State. The Dunellen team tried many different methods to arrange a game with O. F. C., but there was a hitch which could not be overcome.

This afternoon Alis will meet Dunellen at the latter place and the result will be awaited with interest. Alis is likely to give its opponents the hardest game of the season.

Although association football is a comparatively new sport in Princeton, a great deal of interest has been manifested by the students in the work of the soccer team this fall. The squad has shown marked improvement during the last few practises, especially in the swiftness and accuracy of the attack and ability to rush the ball down the field in open play.

A 'varsity composed of the following men has been picked and engages in daily scrimmages with the scrub team: Goal, Strong; right fullback, Worth; left fullback, Sherrill; left halfback, Draper; centre halfback, Henderson; right halfback, Bruce; outside right forward, Voigt; inside right forward, Vandewater; centre forward, Heagey; inside left forward, Cameron; outside left forward, Robinson.

The following schedule has been arranged for the team this season. At present it includes eight contests, but games are also pending with Toronto, Yale and Cornell. It is as follows:

November 21—Harvard, at Princeton.
November 24—Staten Island Cricket Club, at Princeton.
December 8—Mt. Washington Club, at Baltimore.
January 12—Merion Cricket Club, at Princeton.
January 19—Haverford, at Princeton.
February 9—Radnor Cricket Club, at Princeton.
February 12—Staten Island Cricket Club, at Staten Island.

The increased value of kicking this year is shown by the many games which field goals have been the direct means of winning. The new rules meant more kicking, among other open tactics, and not only ability to boot the ball over the bar from placement or by a drop kick but skilful punting has played a more prominent part in deciding the issue under rules which keep the play away from close proximity to the goal lines more than formerly. The onside kick has created a call for more accuracy in placing the ball, and when a long punt is in order the punt becomes more effective if it can be driven past the opposing backs on the bound. Again, gaining ground on exchanges of punts becomes more important in a game in which it is harder to gain by rushing. Field goals, however, are immediate producers of points, while punts are not, and as the demand for them increased this year so did the supply. In at least twenty games this season the field goal has either brought victory or enabled the weaker team to score on its opponent. Early in the season Swathmore won two games by field goals. One was from Villanova and the other from Pennsylvania. A single field goal made the only points forthcoming in each of these contests. Pennsylvania State beat the Indians by a field goal, and Dartmouth defeated Maine the same way. The score was 4 to 0 in each instance. Other 4 to 0 games—games in which the only scoring was due to a goal from the field—were Exeter's defeat of the Harvard second eleven and Dartmouth's defeat of Amherst. Dartmouth and Swarthmore, it will be seen, have done particularly well in snatching games out of the fire by field goals.

In recent years there have been Harvard-Yale scoreless games, but none between Yale and Princeton. The latter's battles have been characterized by plentiful scoring. In the last seven games between them one side or the other scored at least twice. There has been only one scoreless conflict between the Blue and the Orange and Black in the last thirty years, and that was away back in 1881. It is ten years since Princeton was able to score on Yale by steady rushing. The Tigers expended so much energy in that line in 1896 that they have not got it back since. By now they have had plenty of time to recuperate. When Princeton won in 1898 it was because of Poe's long run. The Princeton victory of 1899 was due to an end run by Reiter which carried the ball to within Yale's 5 yard line at one fell swoop, and Poe's drop kick. The 1903 Princeton victory was due to DeWitt's long run on a block kick and the same player's goal from placement. In 1897 the two colleges gave up New York and took to playing on their own fields. Princeton won in 1898 on Brokaw Field. The next game at Princeton was on the present field, and not since New York was forsaken have the Tigers defeated Yale on the field they are now using.

Predictions regarding the outcome of today's game at Princeton are as divided as are the feelings of the cranks as to whether to take in the Yale-Princeton or the Pennsylvania-Michigan battle. The majority of predictions favor Princeton over Yale. Some go so far as to say Princeton will win by about 24 to 6, that the situation is similar to that of 1896, when the Tigers wiped up the field with the Ellis. On the other hand, those who think Yale has a chance do not venture to assert that the Blue will win by more than six points. One viewpoint is that, though Yale may have struck winning form in practice the last few days, Princeton has been showing such form a greater part of the season and has shown better public form than Yale. Strength that comes at the eleventh hour is not, in the minds of some, as trustworthy as strength that has been longer lived. So far as Yale is concerned, these folks want to be shown. They say that what has been done in actual contests is what counts most, and it must be admitted that the childish spells of play shown in games by Yale more than once have not attended the Tigers' play.

ON FOREIGN TERRITORY.

In the Newark Morning Star, James Martin, who is certainly making good as Senator Dryden's press agent, waxes sarcastic today because the New York papers have the impudence to discuss the New Jersey Senatorial situation. He wants them to stay over in their own yard and not interfere with the domestic relations of Jersey politics and politicians. That task is reserved for him and that's why he came over from New York a few months ago. Sometime prior to unpacking his grip in Newark Martine discovered what a really great man Dryden was and he proved it when he went to the pains of having the latter tell how much he loved Roosevelt—while he's running for Senatorship.

It has been rumored before this that New Jersey is not part of the United States, and it is interesting to note that James, the Ready-Writer, accepts the report as true. From that standpoint, of course, neither New York nor any other State in the Union has the slightest license to feel concerned over the sort of man New Jersey politicians push under the Senatorial toga.

TO A PATRIOTIC ORDER.

The five councils of the Jr. O. U. A. M., in Elizabeth, on Thursday night, presented an American flag to the Y. M. C. A. of that city. The attention of Plainfield's flourishing councils of the order is directed to that fact with a confidence that they will make a like gift to the local association. There cannot be too many National emblems waving over our big buildings.

In Bucks county, Pa., the other day a fellow was sentenced to nine years imprisonment for stealing a horse. Over this way, the judge suspends sentence and places the unfortunate rascal in the charge of a probation officer.

In his rainbow chase after the gubernatorial chair of the Empire State, William R. Hearst wasted $256,370.22, not to mention several tons of red ink and bill-poster size type.

Creates a Decoration.

Panama, via Galveston, Texas, Nov. 17—Despite a heavy rainstorm, such as for six months in the year is nature's opposition to the digging of the Panama Canal, President Roosevelt made a careful and detailed inspection of the work on the great ditch today, and in a speech to the workmen employed in the machine shops he put the canal on a military basis. "I have such a feeling," said Mr. Roosevelt, "is the world has at seeing the soldiers of a great army engaged in a historic campaign. Few armies have performed a feat of equal importance to this you are performing. Exactly as we feel that a man who did his part well in the civil war is a man among men, so I feel that the man who is doing well this work has the right to feel he is making a record worth being made by an American citizen." To foster such a spirit as this among the thousand American workmen on the canal, President Roosevelt announced that he would order a button to be awarded for faithful service. This button, he declared, would be regarded as of equal distinction with that of the Grand Army of the Republic.

LOCAL PLAYGOERS LIKED "CAUGHT IN THE RAIN."

A large and typically Plainfield audience witnessed the first production in this city of William Collier's new comedy, "Caught in the Rain," at the New Plainfield theatre, last night. The play gives Mr. Collier the greatest opportunity of his artistic life to show what a splendid comedian he is and both he and his company received hearty approbation from the spectators.

"Caught in the Rain" depicts the love-making of a bashful young man who willingly risks his life for a dying miner but runs at sight of a pretty girl. He runs once too often for, sprinting from a storm, he lands under an awning just as the rain descends in torrents and finds himself face to face with the prettiest girl he ever saw—Muriel Mason (Nanette Comstick). He falls desperately in love but makes a mistake as to her identity and when later he is offered a fortune with the hand of Miss Mason he refuses on the ground that he is in love with another girl. As a matter of fact that "other girl" is really Miss Mason, but he does not learn that until he has deliberately thrown away his own fortune rather than prove faithless. In the end all comes out right of course but not until after three acts that are brimful of fun as well as heart interest.

The supporting cast was excellent, with Miss Nanette Comstock, who was seen here a short time ago in "The Galloper," and Miss Louise Drew, a daughter of John Drew, sharing honors with the star. Manager Charles Frohman has had the play magnificently mounted and the scenic effects are artistic and novel.

Plan New Life Company.

New York, Nov. 17.—Agents of the New York Life Insurance Company to the number of more than ten thousand have planned to put a new company in the field in the event of the defeat of the administration ticket at the New York Life's election, which will be decided December 18. The company is to be incorporated under the laws of New Jersey, and is to be called the New York Life Protective Association, with a capital of $2,000,000 with which to begin business. Announcement of the organization of the new company was made yesterday.

Pittsburg Still Lawless.

Pittsburg, Pa., Nov. 17.—While detectives are still hunting for the murderers of Harry F. Smith and James A. McMillen, who were victims of thugs last week, and with the sections of the city where hold-ups have been most frequent fairly swarming with policemen and plain clothes officers, reports of robberies and burglaries continue to be made public.

Hippodrome's New Spectacle.

The plans for the New York Hippodrome's new spectacle, to be produced at the mammoth playhouse Thanksgiving Eve, November 28, have just been made public by Messrs. Shubert & Anderson. "A Society Circus," the present offering, will be continued at the Hoppodrome only until Saturday night, November 24, by which time it will have been performed in New York over five hundred times. The Hippodrome will then be closed for two nights for final dress rehearsals of the new spectacle. No name has yet been selected, but this important matter will be settled in a few days. The new spectacle was designed by Edward P. Temple, stage director at the Hippodrome, and the music and lyrics are by Manuel Klein, musical conductor of that playhouse. The production is being made under the general supervision of Lee Shubert, while Max Anderson, has devoted much of his time to gathering together an entirely new aggregation of spectacular circus acts, which will be introduced appropriately. All of these acts will be new to this country, having been imported from the big Hippodromes of London, Paris, Berlin and Vienna. No details of the new production have been made public by Messrs. Shubert & Anderson, and will not be made public until the first night, when the audience will assemble absolutely in the dark as to what kind of a spectacle they are to see. The only hint as to the locale is that twenty-four of the chorus girls are obliged to be expert swimmers, and they are compelled to plunge into the big water tank, which is the most unique feature of the big Hippodrome. This leads one to believe that certain marine effects of a novel nature will be introduced. But all this is mere guess work, as even the chorus girls are pledged to secrecy.

N. J. CENTRAL GETS FIFTY STOCK CARS.

They Have Steel Underframes and Are Fine Specimens of Car Building.

Fifty sturdy steel-underframe stock cars of thirty tons' capacity have been received by the Central Railroad of New Jersey from the Middletown Car Works, and they are about as fine-looking specimens of the freight car builder's art as ever rode on four-wheeled trucks.

The floor are built very low, being but three feet seven inches from the top of rail, with double end doors for loading lumber and five-foot side doors. The inside dimensions are: 35 feet 10 inches long, 8 feet 3 inches high, and 8 feet 4 inches wide. The underframe consists of a central box girder made up of two 12-inch 20 5-pound channels, spaced 12⅞ inches apart, with ⅝-inch top and bottom cover plates; similar channels for side sills and end sills, with built-up plate webb bolsters. The central girder is designed to carry, in addition to its normal load, any excess load between bolsters which the side sills cannot carry. This excess load is transmitted by two cross trusses and three channel ties, the cross trusses also serving as support for the intermediate floor nailing strips. The side nailing strips are bolted to a continuous angle 4 inches by 3 inches by 5-16 inch, which is riveted to the webb of the side sills, and gives them some small additional strength and vertical stiffness. The cars are mounted on Bettendorf cast-steel trucks.

"WHAT! KISSED BY THING LIKE THAT?"

Further testimony was heard yesterday at Newark in the divorce suit brought by Robert Burtt, of No. 159 New street, that city, against his wife, Katherine. The case began before Vice-Chancellor Emery a week ago.

The defendant went on the witness stand. Her husband's lawyer tried to get her to explain her having been with the co-respondent, Charles Huff, Jr., on a dark rainy night two months ago at Pettie's Pavilion on the river.

"Did he not stand with his arm around you; did he not kiss you on that occasion?" counsel asked.

"I hope to goodness," Mrs. Burtt said, with a withering look at the co-respondent, "that I never got kissed by a thing like that."

Huff is described as an amateur detective, who two years ago sought to get information for Mrs. Burtt concerning her husband. He got such evidence and upon it a successful suit for separation and alimony was maintained.

A week ago he gave evidence of having later joined forces with the husband.

Back to See His Tombstone.

Ansonia, Conn., Nov. 17—Mourned as dead for three years, Thomas Mulcahy, of this city, who went to the Klondike eight years ago, called on his sister in the Arlington House today. She dropped to the floor in a faint. Three years ago word was received that her brother had been drowned, and a record of his death was inscribed on a tombstone in Mount St. Peter's cemetery in Derby.

Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Cutter, of Sandford avenue, are spending a few days with friends in the Quaker City.

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

There is satisfaction about the meals and service at Timbo's restaurant not to be found in most restaurants. Remember this when hungry.

Putnam & DeGraw, the dry goods merchants, are well provided with seasonable goods which are well-worth your inspection. Just look them over.

O. M. Dunham, the men's furnisher of Park avenue, carries a large line of warm gloves and caps and other articles suitable for winter wear. His prices are right.

You can always depend upon the drugs and medicines purchased at C. M. Naegle's pharmacy on West Front street and his prices are reasonable. Everything up-to-date.

As the holiday season draws near remember that Carl Silbert, the West Front street jeweler, has a large stock of jewelry and silverware, watches and clocks and novelties from which to select a gift.

Some smokers prefer fresh cigars to the well-seasoned kinds. M. C. Dobbins, North avenue, has both, in brands that always fill the smoker's heart with pleasure. All the standard tobaccoes and new ones coming in right along.

This is the season for coughs and colds and L. W. Randolph, the West Front street druggist, has just the right thing to cure them before they cause other trouble. Just ask Mr. Randolph about these remedies and he will explain. Delicious hot soda is now popular at the fountain.

UNIQUE METHOD OF FIGURING SNOWSTORMS.

Rahway, Nov. 17.—Chief of Police George Wright figures out there will ba twenty-nine snow storms here this winter. His method, he says, is as follows: "Find what day of the month there was the last new moon. To the date of that day add the date of the day of the first snow storm, and you will have the number of snow storms for the winter. For instance, the new moon, the last one, came October 17. The first storm was November 13. Add these together and you have thirty storms in all, one of which we have had." Mr. Wright says this was handed down to him from his parents and grandparents, from the days when they had no meteorological agencies to prophesy those things, and he will place their record against the latter inventions and win out.

Negro Outlaw Riddled.

Asheville, N. C., Nov. 17.—Brought to bay by bloodhounds, which had tracked him from the George W. Vanderbilt estate at Biltmore, James Harvey, of Forest City, Va., otherwise "Will Harris," a negro, who killed two policemen and three negroes in this city on Tuesday night, was killed at Fletcher yesterday by a posse. He refused to surrender, led his pursuers a ten mile chase, in which hundreds of shots were exchanged, and wounded two more men before his death. When his cartridges were exhausted he faced the mob, folded his arms and laughed as the death volley was poured into his body. The saloons in Asheville have remained closed during the excitement, and the most perfect order has prevailed. The posses have been composed of the best citizens, and the negro population has aided in the search and contributed toward a relief fund for the families of the dead policemen.

Roosevelt in Foreign Soil.

Panama, Panama, via Galveston, Texas, Nov. 17.—At La Boca, the Pacific terminal of the canal, after a slow trip across the zone, President Roosevelt said to Chairman Shonts, of the Canal Commission: "The sight of the work is inspiring. I wish every American could see it. I am highly satisfied with my cursory examination." Mr. Roosevelt gave the rest of the day to an interchange of amenities with Panamanians, for which he broke all precedent by setting foot on foreign soil at a line marked by Panama and American flags midway between the Tivoli Hotel, in the canal zone, and the Panama Railroad station, in the republic. A fiesta was declared and two hundred Panamanians in rough riders' uniforms, specially purchased by the republic, served as a guard of honor.

'Frisco's Mayor Indicted.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 17.—The Grand Jury this afternoon returned five indictments against Mayor Eugene E. Schmitz and Arabham Ruef for extortion in connection with the French restaurants in this city. Bail was set at $10,000 on each count. Ruef will furnish his bail money tonight. Mayor Schmitz is on his way home from Europe, and will reach San Francisco in about a week.

Theodore Apgar, of this city, has returned from a visit with his uncle, Absalom Apgar, of Junction.

GOTHAM'S AMUSEMENTS

The Belle of Mayfair.

There is an idyllic love story that runs throughout the two acts of "The Belle of Mayfair,' the latest English musical comedy success that will be produced by Thomas W. Ryley at Daly's theatre, New York, for an indefinite engagement beginning Monday night. The book is by Charles H. E. Brookfield and Cosmo Hamilton and the music is by that most versatile and popular composer, Leslie Stuart. The play was produced originally at the Vaudevile theatre, London, with Edna May in the principal role. Because of the delightful story and the charming music it sprang into instant favor and the London critics declared that it was "Romeo and Juliet" set to music. Be that as it may, the authors were much more merciful to the lovers of their fancy than was Shakespeare to his, as in the play there is a happy ending with a wedding in the fashionable church of St. George in Hanover Square. The music throughout will be found fascinating in its refined melody. In fact, not since the captivating strains of "Floridora" took the world by storm has Mr. Stuart more successfully mastered the art of apepaling to the public ear. In the forthcoming production, Miss Christie McDonald, the daughter-in-law of the late Joseph Jefferson, will be seen as "Julia Chaldicott," the part that was created in the London production and until recently played by Miss Edna May. Miss Irene Bentley will have the other principal female role, that of the "Princess Carl," and Miss Valesca Suratt will appear as "The Gibson Girl" in the part in which Miss Camille Clifford created so great a furore in London's smart set.

The Three of Us.

The Madison Square theatre, the cozy little playhouse on Twenty-fourth street and Broadway, has sheltered more substantial dramatic hits than any other two theatres in New York. Hazel Kirke ran here for over six hundred nights. The late Chas. Hoyt made his fortune here with "The Texas Steer," "The Stranger in New York," "The Tin Soldier," and the dozen more equally as well known. The house is handsomely furnished and the seating arrangement perfect permiting a clear and unobstructed view of the stage and acoustic properties are perfect. Having assumed the management of this house, Walter N. Lawrence this season again has produced the biggest dramatic hit seen in New York in ten years, "The Three of Us," with Carlotta Nillson as the star. "The Three of Us" has the endorsement of every critic in the city of New York. They have declared it the strongest and best play seen in many years. Some of them even went so far as to say that it represents as near as it is possible to write a play, "the real type of the real American drama. The stgeing is perfect as to detail and the cast is the best now seen in any New York playhouse. The business is such that it seems that the Madison Square theatre will hold this attraction not alone for this season but for another one to follow.

The Reappearance of Rosenthal.

After an absence of eight years from this country, Moriz Rosenthal, the great Austrian pianist, who will give a recital in the Krueger Auditorium, Newark, Tuesday night, November 27, reappeared on the American concert stage at Carnegie Hall, New York. The interest felt by music lovers in the return of this phenomenal artist, and his performances under the management of Henry Wolfsohn, was shown by the presence of an enormous audience such as is attracted thither only by the appearance of a celebrity whose entertaing ability appeals to the casual as well as the regular concertgoer, or by a political meeting free to the public. During the eight years that have elapsed since his last visit here Mr. Rosenthal has developed and broadened as an artist. At a pianist he has no superior among his contemporaries. Those who desire to secure reserved seats for the Newark recital before the regular sale opens at the Lauter Company's music warerooms, 657-659 Broad street, Newark, on November 22, can do so by sending orders, accompanied by checks, to Frederick N. Sommer, 794 Broad street, Newark.

More Wage Increase.

New York, Nov. 17.—Another important corporation announced yesterday its intention to increase the wages in its employees owning to the higher cost of living and on account of the prevailing prosperity, which recently increased its dividend rate, thus distributing larger sums to its stockholders. Francis F. Flagg, vice president of the company, announced yesterday that, effective November 15, all employees of the company who are receiving wages less than $200 a month are to receive an increase of ten per cent.

Chauffeur Menaced Lives.

Stamford, Conn., Nov. 17.—After a struggle in which many lives were endangered, Edward W. Finney, of New York, chauffeur for Anson Phelps Stokes, was overpowered here last night by Chief of Police Brennan and Policeman Gonoud and dragged from Mr. Stokes' new twenty thousand dollar Delaunay-Belleville automobile and arrested for intoxication, reckless driving and disorderly conduct. He was locked up, Mr. Stokes declining to come to his assistance.

The Deluge.

By Graham Phillips, author of "The Cost," etc.

"I have only contempt for a woman who tries to hold a man when he wishes to go," said Anita, with quiet but energetic bitterness. "Besides—" she hesitated an instant before going on—"Gladys deserves her fate. She doesn't really care for him. She's only jealous of him. She never did love him."

"How do you know?" said I sharply, trying to persuade myself it was not an ugly suspicion in me that lifted its head and shot out that question.

"Because he never loved her," she replied. "The feeling a woman has for a man or a man for a woman, without any response, isn't love, isn't worthy the name of love. It's a sort of baffled covetousness. Love means generosity, not greediness." Then—"Why do you not ask me whether what she said is true?"

The change in her tone with the last sentence, the strange, ominous note in it, startled me.

"Because," replied I, "as I said to her, to ask my wife such a question would be to insult her. If you were riding with him, it was an accident." As if my rude repulse of her overtures and my keeping away from her ever since would not have justified her in almost anything.

"'FOOL!' SHE FLARED AT ME. 'OH, THE FOOLS WOMEN MAKE OF MEN!'"

She flushed the dark red of shame, but her gaze held steady and unflinching upon mine. "It was not altogether by accident," she said. And I think she expected me to kill her.

When a man admits and respects a woman's rights where he is himself concerned, he either is no longer interested in her or has begun to love her so well that he can control the savage and selfish instincts of passion. If Mowbray Langdon had been there, I might have killed them both; but he was not there, and she, facing me without fear, was not the woman to be suspected of the stealthy and traitorous.

"It was he that you meant when you warned me you cared for another man?" said I, so quietly that I wondered at myself; wondered what had become of the "Black Matt" who had used his fists almost as much as his brains in fighting his way up.

"Yes," she said, her head down now.

A long pause.

"You wish to be free?" I asked, and my tone must have been gentle.

"I wish to free you," she replied slowly and deliberately.

There was a long silence. Then I said: "I must think it all out. I once told you how I felt about these matters. I've greatly changed my mind since our talk that night in the Willoughby; but my prejudices are still with me. Perhaps you will not be surprised at that—you whose prejudices have cost me so dear."

I thought she was going to speak. Instead she turned away, so that I could no longer see her face.

"Our marriage was a miserable mistake," I went on, struggling to be just and judicial, and to seem calm. "I admit it now. Fortunately, we are both still young—you very young. Mistakes in youth are never fatal. But, Anita, do not blunder out of one mistake into another. You are no longer a child, as you were when I married you. You will be careful not to let judgments formed of him long ago decide you for him as they decided you against me."

"I wish to be free," she said, each word coming with an effort, "as much on your account as on my own." Then, and it seemed to me merely a truly feminine attempt to shirk responsibility, she added, "I am glad my going will be a relief to you."

"Yes, it will be a relief," I confessed. "Our situation has become intolerable." I had reached my limit of self-control. I put out my hand. "Good-by," I said.

If she had wept it might have modified my conviction that everything was at an end between us. But she did not weep. "Can you ever forgive me?" she asked.

"Let's not talk of forgiveness," said I, and I fear my voice and manner were gruff, as I strove not to break down. "Let's try to forget." And I touched her hand and hastened away.

When two human beings set out to misunderstand each other, how fast and far they go! How shut-in we are from each other, with only halting means of communication that break down under the slightest strain!

As I was leaving the house next morning, I gave Sanders this note for her:

"I have gone to live at the Downtown hotel. When you have decided what course to take, let me know. If my 'rights' ever had any substance, they have starved away to such weak things that they collapse even as I try to set them up. I hope your freedom will give you happiness and me peace."

"You are ill, sir?" asked my old servant, my old friend, as he took the note.

"Stay with her, Sanders, as long as she wishes," said I, ignoring his question. "Then come to me."

His look made me shake hands with him. As I did it, we both remembered the last time we had shaken hands—when he had the roses for my home-coming with my bride. It seemed to me I could smell those roses.

XXXI.

LANGDON COMES TO THE SURFACE.

I shall not estimate the vast sums it cost the Roebuck-Langdon clique to maintain the prices of National Coal, and so give plausibility to the fiction that the public was buying eagerly. In the third week of my campaign, Melville was so deeply involved that he had to let the two others take the whole burden upon themselves.

In the fourth week, Langdon came to me.

The interval between his card and himself gave me a chance to recover from my amazement. When he entered he found me busily writing. Though I had nerved myself, it was several seconds before I ventured to look at him. There he stood, probably as handsome, as fascinating as ever, certainly as self-assured. But I could now, beneath that manner I had once envied, see the puny soul, with its brassy glitter of the vanity of luxury and show. I had been somewhat afraid of myself—afraid the sight of him would stir up in me a tempest of jealousy and hate; as I looked, I realized that I did not know my own nature. "She does not love this man," I thought. "If she did or could, she would not be the woman I love. He deceived her inexperience as he deceived mine."

"What can I do for you?" said I to him politely, much as if he were a stranger making an untimely interruption.

My look had disconcerted him; my tone threw him into confusion. "You keep out of the way, now that you've become famous," he began, with a halting but heroic attempt at his customary easy superiority. "Are you living up in Connecticut, too? Sam Ellersly tells me your wife is stopping there with old Howard Forrester. Sam wants me to use my good offices in making it up between you two and her family.

I was completely taken aback by this cool ignoring of the real situation between him and me. Impudence or ignorance?—I could not decide. It seemed impossible that Anita had not told him; yet it seemed impossible, too, that he would come to me if she had told him. "Have you any business with me?" said I.

His eyelids twitched nervously, and he adjusted his lips several times before he was able to say:

"You and your wife don't care to make it up with the Ellerslys? I fancied so, and told Sam you'd simply think me meddlesome. The other matter is the Travelers' club. I've smoothed things out there. I'm going to put you up and rush you through."

"No, thanks," said I. It seemed incredible to me that I had ever cared about that club and the things it represented, as I could remember I undoubtedly did care. It was like looking at an outgrown toy and trying to feel again the emotions it once excited.

"I assure you, Matt, there won't be the slightest difficulty." His manner was that of a man playing the trump card in a desperate game—he feels it can not lose, yet the stake is so big that he can not but be a little nervous.

"I do not care to join the Travelers' club," said I, rising. "I must ask you to excuse me. I am exceedingly busy."

NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE.

The Original Remedy that "kills the Dandruff Germ."

THE HUNTERS CAME TOO LATE.

Their Faithful Dog has pointed out the True Remedy to prevent Baldness, but the hunters came too late—Chronic baldness is incurable.

HERPICIDE A "HAIR-SAVER."

Newbro's Herpicide saves the hair by destroying the germ or microbe that is now known to be the cause of dandruff, falling hair and baldness. In chronic baldness the hair follicles are completely atrophied, causing the scalp to shrink and shine; little can be done in such cases except to save the remaining "fringe," and this is well worth saving, for it offers some protection against the cold.

The "Hair Grower" is a fallacy. It requires but a slight knowledge of Anatomy to know that the hair gets its life and strength from the hair-papilla at the bottom of the hair follicle, and the papilla in turn gets its nourishment direct from the blood; therefore nature is the only true hair grower. There are enemies of hair growth that cause hair loss and baldness. Invisible microbic growths enter the sebaceous glands, situated at the top of the hair follicles (Dr. Sabouraud, of Paris, says the microbe usually enters the scalp in youth), where one colony after another is established, until finally, after months and sometimes years, there is dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair. The Sebum also solidifies, causing dry, lustreless and brittle hair. Destroy this microbe growth with Newbro's Herpicide and protect the hair against re-infection, and it will grow as nature intended.

Newbro's Herpicide is a Twentieth Century Remedy. Its mission is to teach new rules for scalp cleanliness, new rules for hair preservation and to supply a germ destroying solution that will enable careful persons to have beautiful and luxuriant hair. Almost marvelous results follow the use of Herpicide, and if it does not do more than we claim for it, your dealer will refund your purchase price. As a hair dressing it is truly exquisite, on account of its dainty and refreshing odor, which is characteristic. It contains no oil, grease or sedimentary substance, neither does it stain nor dye the hair.

Stops itching of the scalp almost instantly.

A Healthy Hair.

WHAT A LEADING DRUGGIST SAYS: Herpicide has been a success with us from the start, owing to two considerations. First, because it is essentially a meritorious article and does the work that is claimed for it and every bottle sold makes a friend, who publishes the glad tidings to other friends, and an endless chain is thus created for Herpicide.

Secondly: You fill your contracts to the letter and treat your Agents squarely and cleverly, and every Agent in turn takes pleasure in pushing the goods for your personal account. We have never sold a proprietary article which was more satisfactory. (Signed) W. H. Torbert, Dubuque, Iowa.

An Unhealthy Hair.

WOMEN THE WORLD OVER.

The New York teachers have taken up the fight for higher salaries, the women asking "equal pay for equal work," and at a meeting of the women's association the other day decided to ask the Board of Education to take up their cause. It will mean an amendment of the Davis law, but the teachers that could be accomplished if the Board of Education would help the movement. All over the country there is more or less of an agitation in regard to this question, and no doubt the desired result will be produced if the women keep at it long enough.

An odd idea is to have a name copyrighted, Mme. Melba seeking thus to protect herself in the United States from quack advertisements and other methods of making use of her name without her permission on articles for sale.

Mrs. J. E. Greenwood, of Perry, O. T., is a grandmother at 36, and Mrs. J. E. Smith, great-grandmother of the newcomer, was a grandmother at 32.

Mme. Melba said recently: "Americans enjoy and appreciate grand opera quite as much as do the people of Europe and it is my firm belief within a decade this country will have developed singers and teachers quite as great as those who claim Europe as their birthplace."

The most adventurous of Englishwomen and the most unconventional is Lady Ernestine Hunt, daughter of the Marquis of Aylesbury. She has trained steeplechasers and has ridden them, she was a nurse in South Africa after the unsuccessful Jameson raid and has roughed the passage to and from Australia in a sailing ship.

Lady Frances Cecil is giving up Stocken Hall, her beautiful residence on the Great North Road, about midway between Stamford and Grantham, England. This will be serious loss to tramps, for every one who called at the hall received a small loaf of bread and a thick slice of cheese. As many as fifty a day have been known to call.

Princess Elizabeth, of Belgium, wife of Prince Albert, heir apparent to the throne, is a daughter of Duke Charles Theodore, of Bavaria, the renowned occulist. Belgium's future Queen began the study of medicine at teh age of 16 under her father's guidance and took her M. D. degree at Leipzig shortly before her marriage. Since then the princess has continued her medical studies in Brussels. The princess is a daily visitor to a dispensary, founded by herself, for consumptives, and often treats the patients.

HOUSEHOLD HELPS.

Mix ginger cookies with cold coffee instead of water, as it improves them.

Turnips and beets are improved by adding one or two tablespoonfuls of sugar when cooking.

Cranberries can be made very palatable with much less sugar by mixing them with about half their bulk of apples. Rub both cranberries and apples through a colander.

A round piece of tin about three inches in diameter, half of it turned upright, makes a good pot scraper.

To make an inexpensive bread and cake cooler, something that no housewife should be without, purchase a piece of rather fine meshed, heavy wire fencing. Have the hardware man turn down about four inches on each end and bind across with tin. This makes the side pieces for the cooler to stand on, and you have a simple, durable and inexpensive article on which to cool bread, cake and pies, or to place the hot stewpan while the sauce cools.

Boiled cabbage, in one family, is served with an egg sauce, to which Parmesan cheese has been added. The sauce is turned over the cabbage after it is put into the serving dish. For the sauce, an ordinary white sauce made of a cupful of milk and a tablespoonful each of butter and flour has two hard-boiled eggs, chopped fine, stirred into it.

SEEN IN SHOPS.

Such attractive little things for the desk, in inkstand was a car with two highly finished figures.

An inkstand representing a little goose quill done in bronze.

Round and narrow beaten brass waiters are most attractive.

Dainty coin purses of elephant skin, had a faint gold tracing over the front.

A most compact litle alcohol lamp with kettle to hold a pint, made of nickle, fitted into a leather case, with cover and straps for traveling.

A set of side and backcombs of tourtoise shell, ornamented with cut jet and steel made to represent flowers.

A bright red leather box had a ball of twine in it and a small pair of scissors on the side.

PERFUMED HANDKERCHIEFS.

A girl just from Paris reports that many of the shops are showing handkerchiefs with a tiny pocket in one corner for perfumery.

The Advantage of Dealing With The Prudential.

A Newark widow of a Prudential policyholder, some months ago, while making out claim papers for an Industrial Policy on her husband, incidentally mentioned the fact that there had also been an Ordinary Policy on his life, but it was lapsed. "Let me see the policy," said the Agent. The policy was brought out and on examination it was found that it was still in force, having been kept alive by the Company's liberal Extended Insurance Clause. The widow was gratified to receive a check for $1,000 which she had never expected.

"Wealth is not acquired by speculation and splendid enterprises, but by the daily practice of industry, frugality and economy. He who relies on these means will rarely be found destitute."

THE PLAINFIELD TRUST COMPANY

Money to loan on bond and Mortgage

To the Toilers of Plainfield:

The following is intended to show, first, what I have done; second, what I am going to do.

My efforts in the past have met with success. A few years ago, after having fourteen years' real estate experience in New York, I started in the real estate business in Plainfield in a small way, and now my office is one of the best located and best equipped in the State of New Jersey. I have disposed of hundreds of pieces of Plainfield property and could have sold much more excepting for the difficulty of getting money on first mortgage on small houses. Many have come to my office to buy small houses with little money and I have been obliged to let them go away because the money lenders in this city will not loan much over 50 per cent. and the working man does not have the other 50 per cent. to start with.

It is deplorable to see the people pour into the office asking what we have to rent for about fifteen or twenty dollars—always the same old answer—nothing to rent for that money. Then the question—where are we going to live? Large numbers of colored people come in and we haven't a place to offer them, either. The time has arrived for a call to the people to help themselves, and after giving the matter much thought and study, I have arranged with wealthy men from New York to back me up in what I am about to undertake.

MY PLAN is to have you pay in any sum from $100 up and we will make loans to build homes, and to secure you for the money which you put up until you get your homes, I shall transfer to you a first mortgage gold bond bearing interest at 6 per cent., certified by the Fidelity Trust Company of Newark, N. J. The principal and interest of the bonds are guaranteed and you can get your money back at any time if you so desire. I have already received letters and calls from many earnest people who are desirous of procuring homes and from those who desire to invest their money at 6 per cent. The proposition is to bring these two classes together, the plan is up-to-date and is the best offered, for with this collective capital we can do what you cannot do for yourself, and what other people in Plainfield have found impossible to do for you.

The money which you pay in this way will bring you in 6 per cent. per annum anyway, and the interest is payable every six months. It is very different with a mining or oil stock scheme away out goodness knows where, of which the first thing you really know is that you lose what you put in it.

For further particulars I shall be pleased to have you correspond or call at my office either Tuesday or Friday evening between the hours of 7.30 and 9 o'clock. All questions answered fully.

Jerome Wakes Up.

New York, Nov. 17.—"I will break the neck of gambling in this city or it will break my neack." With this announcement, made in open court yesterday, District Attorney Jerome served notice on all who violate the law in this respect that he had entered on a crusade that will have no cessation while he is in office. He declared, too, that he would go further than New York city, inasmuch as it was his intention to do all in his power to bring about a repeal of what he termed the "vicious Percy-Gray law, which permits betting on one side of a barbed wire fence, but makes it a felony to do the same thing on the other side of the fence." That refers to race tracks.

Platt Non-Committal.

New York, Nov. 17.—Senator Thomas C. Platt refused yesterday either to confirm or deny the repeated rumors that he intends to resign his seat in the Senate and thus relieve his party of the burden which his martial difficulties and his increasing feebleness have placed upon it. Among his most intimate friends opinion was divided as to his intention in the matter. In discussing the question of his resignation with one of these friends recently Senator Platt is reported to have said: "Why should I resign? The Senate is not a Sunday-school. If the truth were known the rest of them are no better than I am."

Mrs. L. H. Biglow, Jr., of Brooklyn, was among the guests at the luncheon given by the Circle of King's Daughters at the Park Club, yesterday. She was accompanied by her sister, Miss Rafferty, who is spending the winter in Brooklyn.

FIVE CHURCHES JOIN IN S. S. A. A. SCHEME

ATHLETIC ORGANIZATION IDEA TO BE LAID BEFORE THE SCHOOL.

Pastors and Sunday-school superintendents representing five of the churches with the largest schools, met at the Y. M. C. A. last night to discuss the proposed Sunday-school athletic league. Organization was not accomplished, and another meeting for that purpose will be held Monday, November 26.

The meeting was attended by Rev. A. E. Finn, of the Park avenue Baptist church; Rev. C. E. Goodrich, of the Congregational church; F. E. Smith, of Trinity Reformed church; George H. Batchelor, of the First Baptist church; and J. W. Gavett, of Warren chapel.

Physical Director Listman, by whom the league idea was launched, explained the aims and purposes of the proposed organization. The pastors and superintendents approved of the idea, and promised their hearty co-operation in bringing it to successful conclusion, but they felt that full authority to act for their Sunday-schools was lacking. It was decided to put off steps toward organization to the twenty-sixth, in order to give them time to lay the subject before their schools and learn the sentiment among the boys. It is believed the pupils will enter heartily into the scheme, and make it an assured success.

BOWLED IN NEWARK.

Plainfield Newspaper Rollers Had a Perfectly Lovely Time, Yes?

The newspaper bowlers went to Newark last night as the guests of the Newark News rollers. After a happy-go-lucky trio of games on the Tuxedo alleys, the News men led the Plainfielders to a real supper, surrounded by mineral waters of several degrees of intensity.

Judge Runyon and Elmer D. Cutting were with the Plainfielders and they supplemented star performances on the alleys by corruscating whirls at the automatic piano player thoughtfully provided as an extra course by the supper committee. The supper was held in Fred Nelson's cafe, and the ex-Plainfielder let himself out to make the menu and the cuisine one to be lovingly remembered. Only one unpleasant incident marred the perfection of the evening. Willie Lambert spoke disrespectfully of the W. C. T. U., and Chairman Harry Hughes felt compelled to eject him.

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS

Somerset Against Strong Act.

It turns out that Somerset county did not adopt the Strong act at the recent election, and the old system of a big Board of Chosen Freeholders will be in aperation for another year at least. The majority against the change was only 145, and this came from the rural districts. The towns of Somerville, Raritan, Bound Brook and North Plainfield voted for the change, but the county districts were evidently afraid that they would lose their representation in the new board of three, and they therefore voted against it. The question of economy does not appear to have entered very largely into the consideration of the rural voters, nor did North Plainfield's demand for a greater proportion of the county improvements make them any more eager to share their advantages with the biggest borough in the county. It so happens that no charges of graft or of wasting the public funds have been laid against the Somerset County board, and the people there had no such reason for making a change as Hunterdon, Monmouth and Passaic have had.—Newark News.

No S. O. Immunity.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 17.—"No immunity for the Standard Oil officials" was the announcement made yesterday at the Department of Justice. The unconfirming report circulated that the controlling men in the accused corporation had offered to plead guilty to the civil charges alleged against them if they were assured immunity from criminal prosecution was met with the statement by those who have the confidence of the President that he will not be content with a mere civil prosecution that may result in the deposit with the government in the shape of fines of a few of the Standara Oil dollars. He is eeking, it is stated, to break up the Oil Trust in such a way that the method by which it is broken up will stand as a deterrent for all future trust organizers.

Fire at Jennie Clarkson Home.

Friends interested in the Jennie Clarkson Home for Children near White Plains, N. Y., will regret to learn of an incendiary fire on Thursday morning that desortyed one of the barns on the grounds with three horses, three cows and farming implements. It will be remembered that William Clarkson, a former resident of West Front street, established this institution for homeless children in memory of his daughter, Jennie Clarkson, and which bears her name.

A clock is more essential to complete the furnishings of the hall than in any other part of the house, unless it is the kitchen.

Proved Her Marriage.

All doubt in the minds of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Devlin, of No. 1,410 Sterling place, Brooklyn, as to whether their daughter Anna, seventeen years old, was legally wedded, was removed yesterday, when the Rev. William M. Nichols, pastor of the Second United Presbyterian church, appeared as a witness in Gates Avenue Court. Charged with being wayward, the girl was arraigned in court last week and startled her parents by declaring she was a bride. She gave the names of the minister, her young husband, Thomas Casey, nineteen years old, of No. 582 Baltic street, and two witnesses. All these appeared in court yesterday. After the girl's mother, the bride and other interested women had wept a few minutes all was forgiven and Casey and his young wife left the court under the guardianship of Mr. and Mrs. Devlin.

Don't Want Voting Machines.

So great has the feeling against the voting machine become that some residents have decided to use every effort to cause their removal from North Plainfield. In various parts of that borough blank petitions have been posted for the signatures of voters, and those responsible for the move declare that they are sanguine that more than one-half of the taxpayers will indorse the proposition to return to the old method of voting. Each one of the petitions is addressed to Secretary of State Dickinson, and as soon as all of them are filled out the batch will be transmitted to Trenton by Walter L. Linbarger.

PTOMAINE POISON VICTIM

Mrs. Powers Taken Violently Ill After Eating Canned Salmon Dies In Hospital.

AFTER WEEK'S ILLNESS

Seized With Awful Pains on Nov. 9 and Doctors Battled in Vain to Save Her Life—Funeral Tomorrow.

Mrs. Jane Powers, the wife of Pierre Powers, for many years residents of the Glenside Park section back of Scotch Plains, died in Muhlenberk hospital, Saturday, from ptomaine poisoning produced by eating canned salmon. She had been ill since Friday, November 9, and was taken to the hospital as a last resort but her system had been so badly affected that the physicians could do nothing for her.

A member of Mrs. Powers' family brought home a can of salmon that had been purchased in a local grocery store and it was placed on the table for supper. Mrs. Powers partook of it heartily, and the same night was taken with violent pains. Dr. F. W. Westcott was called and at once diagnosed the trouble as ptomaine poisoning and adopted every precaution to stay the inroads of the trouble. She continued to remain ill and when no improvement was noted in a few days, it was decided to have her removed to the hospital. The physicians there worked with Dr. Westcott to bring about her recovery but their efforts were of no avail.

The case was one of the worst a local physician has had to contend within in some time and the fact that other members of the family ate sparingly of the salmon is probably all that saved them from a similar fate. They were affected slightly but the trouble soon passed away.

Mrs. Powers was well known in this city as well as at the Plains and leaves many warm friends. Beside her husband, she is survived by one son, Morris Powers, who resides in this city.

The funeral will be held at the home of her brother, Henry Dugan, of Second street, Somerville, tomorrow morning at 9:30, and from the Church of the Immaculate Conception at that place a half hour later. Interment will be at Somerville. Carriages will be in waiting at the Somerville station on the arrival of the 8:21 train from Plainfield.

ANNOYED SMALL GIRLS.

Colored Man Offered Money With Trolley Trip Invitation.

In the city court this morning, Matthew Howell, colored, charged with disorderly conduct by Mrs. Josephine Johnson, also colored, was accused of offering her young daughters money to go on a trolley ride with him Saturday afternoon. The children, she testified, told of the alleged offer, and she sent for Patrolman Higgins, who placed Howell under arrest.

The oldest daughter, Ruth, twelve years old, testified that the man followed her and persisted in his offer. Howell denied the charge, and said he hadn't even been drinking Saturday. Judge Runyon fined him $5. His wife paid.

They tried to settle an argument by a wrestling bout that threatened the equilibrium of a lot of people standing around. Sentence was suspended on Aaron Reed, who was charged with violating the health ordinance.

OPERATIC ASSOCIATION PLANS FIRST CONCERT

PHILHARMONIC STRING QUARTETTE TO TAKE PART IN THE PROGRAMME.

In the formation of the Plainfield Operatic Association, the object was to confine its efforts entirely to operatic work, but acting on the suggestion of music-lovers in the city, the organization has decided to give two concerts each season, the latter entertainments in a measure to take the place of those provided by the Choral Society, whose excellent work will be recalled.

It has been several years since Plainfield has had the pleasure of hearing a large chorus of local talent, and in presenting the first concert on Tuesday night, November 27, William Holmes, the musical director, has taken particular care to make the chorus work a feature. Many new voices, carefully selected from a waiting list, have been added, and the work bids fair to surpass the standard established last season.

For the first concert the association has secured the Philharmonic String Quartette, of New York, composed of musicians of note. Otto K. Schill, first violinist, is an artist of exceptional ability, and has long been known as an eminent soloist and ensemble player. Uudo Gossweiler, the 'cellist, a native of Switzerland, is a born artist. His playing reveals temperamental and artistic qualities. The Philharmonics need no introduction here, as they have been heard on several occasions at musical services in the First Baptist church.

They will contribute the following numbers to the programme:

Theme and Variations from quartette op. 18 No. 5, Beethoven; L Seeret d'amour, Klein; Canzonetta, Mendelssohn; Capriccio for three violins, Herman; Music of the Spheres, Rubenstein; Menuetto, Godard.

The concert will take place at the Casino.

ROGER MURRAY'S BILL.

Compulsory Voting Has Its Good Points.

In 1899 Assemblyman Roger F. Murray, of Union County, introduced in the Legislature a bill providing for compulsory voting. It was such an innovation that it received the unstinted condemnation of almost the entire State press, and was so unpopular that Mr. Murray was glad to let it die in the committee to which it had been referred. But there are those who still think that compulsory voting will yet win the day, and they are now able to point to Belgium, not only, but to Canada as countries in which this experiment is now, or soon will be, in progress. For the past few years all qualified citizens of Belgium have been compelled by law to vote at every election, or to give some sufficient reason for absenting themselves from the polls. When the law was first passed the chronic stay-at-homes strenuously objected, but they now seem to be doing their duty without being dragged to the polls. The Canadian Parliament proposes to pass a compulsory voting law at its coming session, making disfranchisement for a term of years the penalty for remaining away from the polls without sufficient excuse. New Jersey isn't ready for compulsory voting yet, but the Canadian experiment will have great interest for those who think that the State has as much right to the votes of all its qualified citizens as it has to their taxes.—Newark News.

Presented With a Morris Chair.

Following his retirement as letter-carrier after a service of seventeen years, Edward T. Dunn, the veteran, was the recipient on Saturday of a handsome Morris chair from his fellow-letter-carriers, which will help him to pass his remaining days in comfort. The gift was sent to Mr. Dunn's house and was a complete surprise to him. Mr. Dunn was obliged to retire from Uncle Sam's service last Thursday, owing to eye trouble and other physical infirmities and his fellow-employes planned to mark his retirement in a way that would show their esteem for years of faithful service.

Rev. Dr. Whitney Will Speak.

The annual meeting of the Netherwood Fresh Air Home Association will be held at the Y. M. C. A., tonight at 7:45 o'clock. The association has secured Rev. Dr. G. H. Whitney, of this city, president-emeritus of the Centenary Collegiate Institute, Hackettstown, to make the address of the evening. There will be talks by Miss Sara Curry, matron, and others interested in the Home and special music. Reports for the past year will also be presented.

THROWN FROM HORSE; BROKE COLLAR BONE

AFTER TREATMENT AT HOSPITAL, SMITH PLUCKILY RIDES TO COLONIA.

Leonard Smith, of New York, a member of the Watchung Hunt Club, was thrown from his horse Saturday afternoon, while riding with the club on it's weekly run, and received a fracture of the collarbone. He went to Muhlenberg hospital, and after the bone was set he jumped on his horse and rode back to the clubhouse at Colonia.

The hunters started out about 2 o'clock from the Plainfield Country Club, and it was while the riders were going along at a pretty good gait in the vicinity of Oak Tree that Mr. Smith met with the accident. The riders had been jumping fences and it was while going over one of these that Mr. Smith's horse struck the top rail. This caused the rider to lose his balance and after the horse had taken several steps, he fell off a distance of about two feet.

The other riders who were nearby laughed at Mr. Smith, not thinking that he was injured at all, in fact he did not think so himself until he attempted to get up. He experienced excruciating pain about the shoulder and a hasty examination by Dr. Knott disclosed a break in the collarbone. Mr. Smith was assisted on his horse and he rode to the hospital, where the physician in charge set the bone. Mr. Smith is a member of Troop A, of New York, and an experienced rider. He has been a member of the Watchung Hunt Club for some time and regularly joins in the hunts. Later Saturday night he returned to his home in New York.

ANOTHER MEN'S CLUB.

The Men of the Seventh-Day Baptist Church Organize.

The men of the Seventh Day Baptist church met in the parlors of the church, last night, to form a men's club, and in response to the invitation about thirty persons were present. The following officers were elected:

President, Starr A. Burdick; vice-president, Dr. Marcus L. Clawson; secretary, N. O. Moore, Jr.; treasurer, Ira N. West. These officers were appointed as a committee to draft a constitution to be acted upon at a meeting to be held Sunday, December 2, when the organization will be completed. The object of the club is similar to those of other men's clubs formed in the various churches and it promises to be a large and flourishing organization. Dr. O. B. Whitford, Asa F. Randolph and Orra S. Rogers comprised the original committee which called the men of the church together.

The purpose of the club is to promote sociability and furnish entertainment which will probably be of an educational nature. The four officers and Asa F. Randolph, Ora S. Rogers and Dr. A. B. Whitford were appointed as a committee to draw up a constitution and by-laws. All those present joined as charter members of the club. The next meeting will be held the first Sunday night in December. After the business meeting refreshments were served and a social time enjoyed.

Davenport to Exhibit Fowl.

Homer Davenport, the cartoonist, has promised the officers of the Dover Poultry, Pigeon and Pet stock Association that he will send an exhibit to the association's second annual show to be held in Library hall, Dover, from November 27 to December 1, that will, if anything, exceed his exhibit at last year's show. Mr. Davenport's exhibit last year was made up of fifty entries and was a show in itself. This year he will send from his Morris Plains farm fancy domestic fowl, imported game and water fowl, including rare specimens from all parts of the world, and Angora goats.

A Surprise Party.

Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Crandall, of Somerset street, were pleasantly surprised Saturday evening, when about twenty-five friends visited them unannounced. Mr. Crandall is instructor in mechanical drawing and manual training in the North Plainfield schools. During the evening games were played in which acting was a feature. George Clark won first prize. Refreshments were served, after which all joined in singing college songs.

To Enlarge Greenhouses.

Charles L. Stanley, the florist, with a store on North avenue and greenhouses at 1126 South avenue, has been compelled to enlarge his greenhouses, so great is the demand for flowers. The present conservatory is tested to the limit and Mr. Stanley is unable to grow any additional number of plants. Mr. Stanley has also added another delivery wagon in his business.

J. H. McVey, of McVey's Hotel, West Front street, is very ill with heart trouble.

DENNY CARNEY ON GUARD WITH A SHOTGUN

MARTIAL ASPECT TO THE TROUBLE BETWEEN PAT AND ALECK KANE.

With a double-barrelled shotgun across his knee, Denny Carney, Jr., startled North avenue this afternoon by announcing from the bootblack chair in front of Pat Kane's defunct peanut and candy emporium that he was guarding the premises. A Daily Press reporter asked Denny what was up. Denny shifted his gun from "ready" to "rest," took a fresh grip on his quid and explained:

"You see, Pat and his brother Aleck made a sort of an agreement about running this place. They can't neither of them write and I was there so they asked me to write out the arrangement; which I did right there before them and signed it as a witness. Also signing for the both of them to put their mark. After that Aleck took complete charge, and a bit after that he sold out. LaTourette sold the things at auction, and got $4 for it. They was $64 cleared from the sale, and I saw it counted in the Kensington. Then Aleck counted it before Pat and took out $14 toward the rent and $4 for La Tourette and $1.20 for a box of cigars Pat bought and some other things, leaving about $30 coming to Pat. Now Pat's suing Aleck," concluded Denny with entire disregard of the hiatus.

"What for?" queried the reporter.

"Why for rent, to be sure," said Denny. "The rent was paid to Aleck and it ain't been paid. There goes a man now, Health Inspector Addis, whose been subpoenaed. Aleck made the crack that Pat wouldn't be allowed to do any more work in town. There goes another man, Commissioner Gavett. Aleck says the same thing about him. He's subpoenaed, too.

"Pat put me here to watch for him. I just left Pat with Bill DeMeza. Bill will tell him about the law of the case."

No attempt had been made to run the guard lines up to the time of going to press, but North avenue was holding its breath in suppressed excitement.

H. R. MUNGER HOPE CHAPEL'S SUPERINTENDENT

ANNOUNCEMENT MADE OF HIS APPOINTMENT MADE YESTERDTY.

At yesterday's session of Hope chapel's Sunday-school it was announced by Assistant Superintendent Travell that Henry R. Munger had been appointed superintendent to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Henry C. Squires. The appointment was made by the Session of the Crescent Avenue church and received hearty approbation from the chapel members. The new incumbent was present yesterday and after Pastor L. R. Howard had welcomed him in behalf of the school, he was formally introduced by Leander N. Lovell, formerly superintendent of Warren chapel. Mr. Munger made a cordial address to the members and afterward entered upon his duties.

The work at the chapel is not new to Mr. Munger as he was one of the few men closely identified with Mr. Squires in its early history. He took charge of the men's Bible class when the Sunday-school was first opened in 1888 and served faithfully for years until impaired health compelled him to resign. As soon as he regained his strength he returned, though not as teacher, but there was always something for him to do and Mr. Squires depended upon him a great deal. He has endeared himself to every member of Hope and under his leadership the good work began by Mr. Squires will be continued. Ira W. Travell will continue to act as assistant superintendent and the other officers will remain the same.

Daley Was Officious.

William Daley, of the borough, got a sharp edge on Saturday night and tried to instruct the police how to take care of the crowd on Somerset street. Marshal Pope thought Daley was too officious and ran him in. He gave bail for appearance before Mayor Smalley tonight.

Y. M. C. A. Entertainment.

A musical and literary entertainment by the Vivo Instrumental Trio, assisted by Mrs. F. Kirberg, dramatic reader, will be given Saturday evening, November 24, at 8:15 o'clock, at Young Men's Christian Association hall. Silver offering at the door.

Will Report on Wednesday.

It was announced at the Court House, Elizabeth, this morning, that the Grand Jury would complete its labors and make a final report to the court Wednesday. There will be a session of the court tomorrow.

"BOB" WHITTAKER LAUDED BY FLORIDA PEOPLE

WARMLY COMMENDED FOR HIS WORK AT JACKSONVILLE'S CARNIVAL.

Robert Whittaker, the well known Plainfield equestrian and circus man, accompanied by Fred S. Whittaker, has returned home from Jacksonville, Fla., where the former had charge of the amusement end of one of the biggest carnivals the South has had in years. It took place at Jacksonville and lasted 10 days, closing last week. Whittaker, or "Bob," as he is known to all his Plainfield friends, was given instructions to secure performers for the "Hippodrome" and assume entire charge of the programme while the carnival was on. The fact that he did so to the satisfaction of all concerned is attested by the following glowing notice given him by the Jacksonville Metropolis, the city's leading paper:

"The Jacksonville Carnival Association owes a great deal of the success of their hippodrome to the able and efficient manner in which the director, Mr. Robert Walberti Whittaker, conducted the affair this week. Under his intelligent and capable management, the aggregation of stars that had been secured for the Carnival Association were displayed to the greatest advantage. The staging of the different acts attracted most favorable and enthusiastic comment from the thousands of people who nightly came to enjoy the scenic performance, the like of which has never been seen in the South before. With rare skill, Mr. Whittaker most capably controlled the performances, and got the very best results from each. The remarkable smoothness with which the different acts were carried on elicited the admiration of everybody. The stage manager is born, not made, and Mr. Whittaker, with his long experience in the circus ring, proved himself to have been adapted of the very best methods. His management was signalized by quick, effective work. There were no amateurish drags at any stage of the performance, it being clearly visible that a master hand was in control.

Mr. Whittaker came to the Carnival Association most highly recommended, and his work here proved that the reports concerning him were not exaggerated in the least. He has the art of stage craft developed to a marked degree, and, although the personnel of the hippodrome was composed of many different nationalities, he controlled them with rare tact and marked ability, and held their esteem to the extent that they would do anything he asked them willingly and promptly.

"The Carnival Association feels so indebted to Mr. Whittaker for his assistance in making the hippodrome such a wonderful success that they unhesitatingly and unstintedly give him the praise which is his just due. All his dealings with the association have been marked with courtesy and consideration of their interests, and he has labored early and late with the keenest zeal to help this difficult movement out in every particular. He has in his son, Fred S. Whittaker, a most valuable assistant, who, following the lines laid down by his father, has been also of valuable help to the Carnival Association.

"Mr. Whittaker, Sr., and son sail this week for New York, on the Clyde ship, from whence they will go to their home at Plainfield, N. J., taking with them the best wishes of the Carnival Association. They have been much pleased with their trip to Jacksonville, and hope to come here again in an official capacity some time."

Exhibition of Cigars and Liquor.

Commencing on Monday, November 26, and continuing for one week, Henry Windham, proprietor of the Waldorf Hotel on East Front street, will hold one of the largest cigar and liquor exhibitions ever given in Plainfield. The brands of cigars and liquors are the best in the market and it will be to the advantage of intending purchasers to examine the stock before buying elsewhere.

Lane's Case Set Over.

The case of Clarence Lane, the Union News agent charged with embezzling $144, was laid over indefinitely this morning by Justice Mosher. The prison has sent for his father, who lives in South Jersey, and asked for the adjournment pending his father's arrival. Lane has been unable to get a bondsman and will be kept at the police station until the case is disposed of.

Opportunity to Help Hospital.

The harvest home to be held at Muhlenberg Hospital, Thursday afternoon, affords the people of Plainfield and vicinity an excellent opportunity to contribute to the various needs of this institution. Gifts of fruits, vegetables, canned goods and money will be gratefully received during the week.

Y. M. C. A. SUNDAY AT CRESCENT AVENUE CHURCH

W. J. SOUTHAM SPEAKS ON THE ASSOCIATIONS IN CHIMESE KINGDOM.

W. J. Southarn, religious work director of Canada for the Y. M. C. A., sptoke at the Crescent Avenue church yesterday morning, in the interest of the local Y. M. C. A. The service was a belated part of the Y. M. C. A. thirty-ninth anniversary. The Crescent Avenue church was unable to lend itself to the celebration last week on account of a prearranged calendar.

Mr. Southarn spoke of the awakening of China, and the growth of Y. M. C. A. work there in the eight years it has been established in the Flowery Kingdom. He was general secretary at Hong Kong for seven years.

The development of the Y. M. C. A. in eight years in China, Mr. Southarn said, was wonderful. In Hong Kong alone three active associations had sprung up. The business men of the country had interested themselves in the work and the associations were now self-supporting. All that America did was to pay the expenses of the general secretaries. The speaker told of a high government official who gave up his place to become a general secretary.

Speaking of the general advancement of the country, Mr. Southarn told of the Imperial edicts forbidding any native to hold office if his mother, wife or daughters followed the practice of binding their feet, or if he used opium in any quantity.

MR. AND MRS. SMALLEY SIXTY-ONE YEARS WED.

Venerable Couple in Borough Receiving Congratulations of Their Friends Today.

Mr. and Mrs. William L. Smalley, parents of Mayor Newton B. Smalley, are celebrating their sixty-first wedding anniversary today at their home in Craig place. During the day, all the neighbors and friends have called to wish them a much longer lease on their "one grand sweet song." Considering their years, both of them are in good health and are exceptionally active.

Mr. and Mrs. Smalley were married on Nov. 19, 1845, at Liberty Corner. In 1856, they removed to North Plainfield, which was then almost a wilderness. At that time there was but one house in Somerset street and one in Craig place. Until he retired from active work, Mr. Smalley was a drover and had a reputation in his business that extended all over this section of the State.

Among those who called to wish the happy old couple long life were their five sons and three daughters, N. B. Smalley, Albert I. Smalley, David C. Smalley, William L. Smalley, Jr., and J. M. Smalley and Mrs. David W. King, Mrs. Henry Dunbar and Mrs. Anna Cadmus.

DUNHAM-SMITH.

William Cortlandt Dunham Becomes a Benedict.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Florence Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Smith, of South Plainfield, and a sister of Philip Smith, the well-known baseball player, to William Cortlandt Dunham, formerly of the Dunham Grocery Company. The ceremony took place quietly on Saturday in New York, and the couple returned this this morning to Plainfield, where they will reside.

While the bride's parents have been residing at South Plainfield, they recently moved to West Second street for the winter. Mr. Dunham is well-known here, where he has lived for many years. He is a member of Plainfield Lodge, B. P. O. E. At present he is engaged in the grain business in this city.

Miss Peterson a Bride.

Miss Sophia Olive Peterson and Eric John Luthman were married at 5:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the home of the groom, 128 Johnston avenue, by Rev. A. S. Peck, rector of St. Stephen's church. The wedding was largely attended by relatives and friends of the couple. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Peterson, of Sweden, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Luthman, of this city. Both the bride and groom are natives of Sweden. A reception followed the ceremony and supper was served. The couple will reside on Johnston avenue.

Two Kinds of Skates.

Edward Britton, arrested by Sergeant Charles Peterson at Company K's skating rink Saturday night for drunkenness, was arraigned before Judge Runyan in the City Court this morning. He pleaded guilty to the charge, and acknowledged raising a row when ordered out. His case was aggrevated in its disorderly feature and it cost him $8 in spite of his frankness.

SAYS WIFE IS POISONER

Charges and Counter-charges When Popeks Face In Court.

JUDGE BLAMES BOTH

Poison Notion Nonsensical and Mrs. Popek's Idea that Her Husband Is Crazy Not Right, Peacemaking Magistrate Declares.

Charged by her husband with attempted poisoning, Mrs. Vincent Popek, the Polish wife of a Polish laborer, countered with a charge of insanity against him in the city court this morning. The appearance of the pair in court was the result of a marital unpleasantness that Judge Runyon could only succeed in partially smoothing over.

Mrs. Popek had her husband arraigned on a charge of disorderly conduct and non-support. He left their home on Jackson avenue eight weeks ago, after packing up a knife, a fork and a spoon, and hired lodgings on this side of the brook. Since then she has received just fifty-five cents from him.

Popek made no pretense of denying his desertion. He said his wife tried to poison him and he got out because he was afraid to eat food cooked by her. He suffered terrible pains in his stomach, he said, up to the time he left, and they stopped as soon as he took to "American cooking." He was sullen and bitter, and charged his wife with having, first, induced him to deed their house to her after getting him drunk, and, then, trying to break down his health to get him out of the way. Also, there was a small matter of a story told him by one Becker, to the effect that his wife had two daughters in Galacia, and had given them each a substantial dot, with which to capture husbands, out of his hard-earned money. He wanted it understood that he had married his wife and not her whole family.

Mrs. Popek laughed at the story; then she wept. He had had stomach trouble for years, she said, and the pains he suffered came from his own habits of eating. He deeded the property of his own volition, she swore, and as for the Becker story, her husband knew all her friends and kindred in the old country, and he could easily have learned how false it was by writing to Galacia.

Popek grunted at that, and said he took no stock in letter-writing. Judge Runyon told him he was foolish. The idea that his wife had designs on his life, the magistrate continued, was nonsensical and the acceptance of a rank outsider's tale against his wife at face value, without any attempt to verify it, was just as silly. He asked Popek if he wouldn't go back to his wife and make another try at marital happiness.

Popek gave grudging assent. His wife started to cry again, and said she was afraid he was not sane enough to live with in safety.

"There's nothing in that," said Judge Runyon. "He was examined by doctors the other day after you filed the complaint, and he was found to be all right."

Popek said he would only resume husbandly relations if his wife allowed him to hire rooms on this side of the brook, near his work. Mrs. Popek cried again, and expressed a fear that he wanted a home among people who were not quiet and orderly. The couple left court in an atmosphere surcharged with dissension.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

The pretty pastoral play, "The Choir Singer," with its wealth of scenery and gorgeous stage settings, will be the attraction at the New Plainfield theatre tonight. The company is composed of well known stage folk.

Madame Adelaide Herrmann, the fascinating widow of the original Herrmann; the Great, who with her company is announced to appear here at the New Plainfield theatre tomorrow afternoon and night, gives such a strange, yet dainty and charming performance that startled auditors are forever wondering what a woman will do next. Madame Herrmann has auburn hair, some call it uncompromising red, which she wears in long curls, loosely caught with jewels. Her eyes are blue, but dark enough for the impressive pantomime upon which she relies to guide the attention of her audience to her various movements. She gowns superbly, in creations patterned after the style of the Orient for the most part, and has beautiful hands and arms. She has light, light, light! Everywhere are strong lights thrown upon the stage with colored calcium shining directly upon herself. Her wonderful arms, bared to the shoulder, offer no possibility of having anything "up her sleeve," yet she produces numerous balls and coins from the air, doves and ducks from somewhere. A lithe maiden in Persian costume and a stalwart Ethiopian, in Moorish garb, assist her on the stage, where the hangings, scenery and articles used in the tricks are always suggestive of the Orient.

"The Girl from Happyland" presents "The Flubb Dubb Conspiracy," a musical comedy craze production in three acts, said to be deliciously tempestuous conglomeration of animated fun and nonsense, richly seasoned with most popularly tuneful conceits ever furnished for a like purpose. This is purely a sufficiently strong recommendation to inspire confidence, and one that will in all probability make itself sufficiently felt at the box-office of the New Plainfield theatre, where the play is to be the attraction for Wednesday night. A number of droll comedians will carry the bulk of the fun and they certainly understand how to keep their audiences in roars of laughter throughout the performance.

The political comedy, "A Square Deal," by Edward E. Rose, was presented last season in New York in opposition to two other new plays, one at Wallack's theatre and the other at Daly's theatre, both famous Broadway playhouses. The stars in the opposition plays were already known—Otis B. Thayer, the star of "A Square Deal," was unknown to New York audiences. The critics were unanimous in saying the next morning that Otis B. Thayer and "A Squire Deal" so overshadowed and entirely eclipsed the two Broadway opposition plays that comparison was impossible and that of the three offerings "A Square Deal" was the only one worthy of serious attention. Mr. Thayer appears here for the first time in "A Square Deal" at the New Plainfield theatre next Saturday afternoon and night, with the original New York company.

Mrs. Scott Siddons was a famous stage beauty in her day, so was Mary Anderson and Margaret Mather. More recently Mrs. Langtry and Lillian Russell shared the honors and have had their innings as famous actresses whom the god of beauty smiled upon, and whose comparisons were found wanting. Up to and including the present time Maxine Elliott has been extolled and dreamed about on account of her rare physical attractiveness, but now she has another fair sister who is fast becoming famous for her rare type. Old time beauty judges say that Florence Gale closely resembles Mary Anderson, when the fair Mary was young, with similar clear cut features set in a mass of blond tresses. Not only has nature endowed Miss Gale with her rare beauty, but she also has given her talent to act. She will be seen here on November 26, matinee and night, in "Romeo and Juliet."

In presenting to the public the new romantic opera, "The Student King," by DeKoven-Ranken-Stange, Henry W. Savage has endeavored to eclipse his former efforts in the realm of light opera. It is also designed to build up a new singing organization that may even divide attention with his famous English Grand Opera Company, for the production of higher grade operas. The first performances in this city will be given on Saturday afternoon and night, December 1. The cast is an exceptionally brilliant one, Mr. Savage having determined that each member of his company should have not only voice of the highest quality, but be possessed of unusual histrionic ability as well. Among the principals are Lina Abarbanell, formerly prima donna with Conreid's Metropolitan Grand Opera Company; Henry Coote, the popular tenor; Alexander Clark, the distinctive and versatile comedian; Flavia Arcaro, a contralto who has sung with great success in grand opera but who is practically new to the comic opera stage; Gustav Von Seyffertitz, ranked among the best German comedians; Dittmar Poppin, Thomas C. Leary and Fanny McIntyre.

—The Rasores Club will meet tomorrow with Mrs. John T. Baker, Stelle avenue, subject, "Dickens."

Prospect avenue and New Market road are the streets next to be improved by the street committee. The cost of the improvements of Lincoln avenue, petitioned for by the Mountainview terrace residents, will amount to $55, of which amount the property-holders will pay $35.

The school board is puzzling over the case of a boy who boards in New Market, but whose father claims a residence in the borough. The members don't know whether to charge tuition or not. County Superintendent Willis' opinion has been sought.

Pedestrians who use the new crosswalk from the depot park to Garretson & Gray's corner complain over the tardiness with which the borough officials are approaching the task of cleaning it. The walk is thick with gutter filth.

There was a constant stream of automobiles through the borough Saturday forenoon and night, bearing an army of football enthusiasts to and from Princeton. Some of them knocked the speed law to flinders.

Next Sunday night, William G. Holton Council will attend church in a body, as is the annual custom. The service will be at the Methodist Episcopal church. Rev. E. C. Dutcher will preach.

It has been decided not to grant the petition for a street light at Mountainview terrace and Washington avenue. The funds do not warrant the outlay at present.

It is believed that most of the stock in the bank, the organization of which now seems assured, will be held by boroughites.

Miss Margaret Honeywell has returned to her home in Lincoln, Nebraska, after a visit to Miss Louise Brakeley.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD

The union service at the Baptist church last night was well attended. Rev. A. H. Cook, of the Methodist church, preached the sermon. The meetings will be continued every night this week in the Baptist church. Rev. T. Moore-Smith and Rev. A. H. Cook have arranged to have a different speaker at each service. The public is invited to attend the meetings.

A constant stream of automobiles, gayly trimmed with orange and black or blue, passed through town Saturday morning from 9 until 12 o'clock, on their way to the Princeton-Yale football game Saturday afternoon at Princeton.

One lone drunk was seen on the streets here yesterday; he was invited by the local police to go from whence he came, or contribute something to help swell the police fund. He concluded to take the next car out of town.

The foundation work for the new building being erected by Mrs. John Cook on Park avenue is finished and Contractor John Bornmann will begin work on the building this week.

John Wade, who is a student at the Centenary Collegiate School, Hackettstown, has been spending several days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Abram Wade.

Considerable interest was manifested here in the football game Saturday afternoon at Princeton. Local sympathy and coin was all Princeton's way.

Miss Margaret Skelly, of Raritan, was the guest over yesterday of Mrs. William H. Lee, of Front street.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

The cottontails had a respite of two days during the late snow storm, as the law will not allow them to be shot while there is a tracking snow upon the ground. The hunters came out in such force when the season opened that there is scarcely a rabbit to be seen and it is only ten days since the season opened. Quail are also very scarce.

Now that the miller lives near the mill, and not two miles away, as has been the case for some years, it is to be hoped the gates at the dam will be raised before damage is done through neglect of this duty.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Smith announce the marriage of their daughter, Florence Marion, to William Cortlandt Dunham, of Plainfield. The marriage took place on Saturday afternoon, November 17.

The services yesterday were well attended but the pastor would like to see a still larger gathering as the winter advances.

Several people here were invited to an informal reception at the home of Mahlon Dayton at New Market.

Mrs. Norman and her daughter, Grace, saw the play at the New Plainfield theatre Saturday afternoon.

The recent rain and snow storm has filled the lakes almost to overflowing.

Ptomaines Fatal.

Mrs. Perry Powers, of Scotch Plains, who was taken to Muhlenberg Hospital last Monday, suffering from ptomaine poisoning, caused by eating canned salmon, died Saturday night at 7 o'clock. Funeral services will be held tomorrow morning. The deceased woman is survived, besides her husband, by one son, Lawrence Powers, of this city.

They Can Stop Their Hair Falling Out With Herpicide.

Ladies who have thin hair and whose hair is falling out, can prevent the hair falling out, and thicken the growth, with Newbro's "Herpicide." Besides, Herpicide is one of the most agreeable hair dressings there is. Herpicide kills the dandruff germ that eats the hair off at the root. After the germ is destroyed, the root will shoot up, and the hair grow long as ever. Even a sample will convince any lady that Newbro's Herpicide is an indispensable toilet requisite. It contains no oil or grease, it will not stain or dye. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

GOLF.

"Marty" O'Loughlin has decided not to go south this winter and take part in any of the big golf tournaments to be held there. He did expect to visit his friend, Eugene McCarthy, at Columbia, S. I., but has also given up that trip. He says that if everything goes well next winter he will arrange to spend the cold weather in warmer climes.

Among the big golf events of the winter will be the one to be held in Mexico a little later. Practically all of the Eastern "pros" have decided to go south and take part in the event. Charles Kirchener, of this city, who is interested in the Eastern Professional Golfers' Association, will probably make the trip.

The Eastern Professional Golfers' Association will meet in New York today to decide upon a course for its second annual tournament to be held next year. As several flattering offers have been received, it will be no easy matter to accept one.

One thing that is favored by many local golfers and which it is hoped will be accomplished next season is the arranging of more team matches among the members of the golf clubs in this vicinty. Plainfield, North Plainfield, Essex County, Westfield, New Brunswick and Somerville clubs have plenty of material for such matches and it would tend to stimulate a local interest as nothing else would do. With the two local clubs it would be an easy matter to arrange matches and they would result in much rivalry.

Neither the Plainfield Country Club or the Park Golf Club has done very much toward promoting team matches and it seems that this is a mistake. There are many players who enjoy that rivalry that results from such competition and it would be a means of bringing the players together in friendly contests. A few years ago the Park Golf Club and the Westfield Golf Club had a series of matches and they were very successful. Cranford also has a strong club and could easily furnish a team to compete for honors.

FOOTBALL.

The football contest at Princeton on Saturday, between Yale and the Tigers did not terminate in a way that was pleasing to either side. The fact that neither side was able to score may furnish some comfort to a few enthusiasts, but there remains that element of doubt of supremacy that is disappointing. Princeton and her thousands of admirers fully expected a Tiger victory, while Yale was more conservative and refused to make any boasts. To the football world in general the result was a surprise.

Michigan was taken into camp on Saturday on Franklin Field by Pennsylvania by the score of 17 to 0. This was one of the most important games of the season as it was the first time that an eastern college team has met an eleven from among the western colleges. The Pennsylvania eleven showed that it was fully prepared for anything and "Hurry-Up" Yost's aggregation was unable to withstand the strong playing of its opponents. The victory has boosted Pennsylvania stock several points and filled its students with justifiable pride.

Among the Plainfielders who witnessed the Princeton-Yale game, Saturday, were T. M. Day, Lawrence Tweedy, Ames Brooks, Owen Fleming and J. Whitney Baker.

While Pennsylvania was defeating Michigan on Saturday, the Indians were invading the west and defeating Minnesota. The score by a strange co-incident happened to be the same as the Penn-Michigan contest, 17 to 0. The Indians have shown remarkable form this year and they are undoubtedly one of the fatest of the college teams. Their success is a cause for much rejoicing on the part of football enthusiasts throughout the country. A few weeks ago they defeated Pennsylvania, and now Minnesota goes down before them, while the Quaker City team has redeemed itself by showing its superiority over Michigan.

Plainfield was on the route for hundreds of football enthusiasts who went to and from Princeton on Saturday in automobiles. During the early part of the morning at least fifty big touring cars, everyone filled to the limit with young and old people en route for Princeton, passed through the city. In a majority of cases the machines were decorated with the favorite colors of the occupants, while the fair sex wore articles of dress, either of blue or the familiar colors, orange and black.

School Flag Tattered.

Patriotic South Plainfielders—and that includes nearly all the residents—are wrought up over the tattered flag which flies above the schoolhouse. The emblem is a thing of shreds and rags. The Township Committee is being criticised for laxity in connection with it.

AUSTRALIAN BALLOT WANTED.

It is said that Assemblyman-elect Charles E. Hendrickson, of Hudson county, plans to introduce a bill in the next Legislature intended to abolish the voting machine. If that bright young lawyer does nothing else during his career as a law-maker than to use his best energies to rid New Jersey of that half million dollars' worth of junk he will have made a good record for himself. Reports from various parts of the State show that the machine has proven to have been as great a failure elsewhere as right here in Union county, where it "went wrong" in at least half a dozen instances. There are many sound reasons why the automatic devices should be dumped on the ash heap and there is only one point that has ever recommended them. They facilitate the work of counting up the returns after the polls are closed, but beyond that what good are they?

The sooner the law-makers give us the Australian blanket ballot, the better. Pennsylvania, New York and other States have found that method perfect in every respect. It is even more simple than the machine and is a thousand fold more satisfactory in the long run.

The scheme to erect a temple of labor in Plainfield is one that should meet with general approval. Such an institution, a meeting place and conference chamber for union workingmen, would be a fine thing. No doubt provision could be made for entertainment and recreation and in such case the "home" would be doubly desirable.

Senator Dryden should have his political life insured in the company of which he is the head.—Westfield Standard.

Pretty bad risk for that company to take.

The best friend of the voting machine is the political machinist. The bosses do not like to see split tickets and there's little danger of them where the device is put at work.

For United States Senator for the term beginning March 5, 1907—Edward Casper Stokes.

Rushmore Escapes Fine.

Judge Atwater, in the Court of Common Pleas at Elizabeth last week, reversed the decision of the lower court in the case of the State vs. S. W. Rushmore, of Plainfield, who was fined $50 by Recorder Clark, of Scotch Plains, on July 4 last, for reckless driving. Rushmore was defended by the New Jersey Automobile and Motor Club, of which organization he is a member. The automobilist was charged with frightening a horse belonging to Charles Vincent, of Scotch Plains.

Forty-one Drowned.

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 19.—The steamer Dix, Capt. P. Lermon, bound from Seattle to Port Blakeley with passengers, sank two miles north of Alki Point, shortly after 7 o'clock last night, after having collided with the steamship Jeanie, Capt. P. H. Mason, of the Alaska Coast Company. Forty-one passengers and members of the crew of the Dix are missing and thirty-one were saved. The Dix is a total wreck.

Pupils' Work.

An attractive poster drawn in crayon by Miss Grace Weeks, is displayed on the Plainfield High School bulletin board, advertising the girls' basketball game with East Orange next Saturday. Another poster in pen and ink by Weston Gavett, tells of the coming reception on Thanksgiving Eve.

Mr. and Mrs. James Quackenboss, of New Brunswick, were visitors at the home of Mrs. Quackenboss' parents, Mr. and Mrs. George S. McGinnis, of Somerset street, yesterday.

Real Estate and Men Who Boom It.

JOHN H. DOANE.

John H. Doane, of the Vanderbeek building, is as optimistic over the real estate outlook as the rest of the operators. The business done through his office during the year has been large in volume, and indicative of a steady increase in the activity of the realty market.

"As with all other real estate men," said Mr. Doane this morning, "the year 1906 has been a very busy and prosperous one with me, the sales of our office amounting to more than $150,000. And as this was mostly to out-of-town people we have, in our small way, added to the wealth and prosperity of our city. The greatest demand is for houses of moderate price, properties that will sell at from $2,000 to $5,000, or will rent from $15 to $30 per month.

"There is also good demand for properties of higher values from $6,000 and upwards. I find most of my calls for this character of property are by New York and Brooklyn people who are now living in flats and apartments and are not satisfied with their present manner of living and are anxious to come where they can rest after their day of business excitement and breath God's own pure air.

"One subject that I think is of importance and that my more experienced friends in the real estate business, whose smiling features have appeared in your paper for a few days past, have not brought out, is that Plainfield values and rentals are much lower than in other places of the same class and distance from New York city and are notably on the upward grade, so that the present is a most attractive time to buy, especially for those who can see the certain healthy and natural rise in the near future. What we want at the present time is some builders who will step in and erect homes of any and all prices, and I am sure the real estate brokers will do their part in selling them quickly at a fair profit.

"We especially need small houses that can be sold on the easy payment plan, the nearer the center of population the bette. I quite agree with our brother, Jeffery, that our institutions and moneyed men should be much more liberal in the percentage of their loans on property here in Plainfield. I find, with the other brokers, great difficulty in getting loans of even 50 per cent. of values. People coming here from New York city and all other places where they loan up to 75 and 85 per cent. of values are somewhat discouraged in trying to place loans after buying.

"Plainfield is the only city near New York that has not been advertised. The Board of Trade and all the real estate brokers should get together and tell the outside world of our beautiful city with its miles of sanitary sewers, pure water, fine roads and the other hundred and one things that could be truthfully said about it."

Wings and Flies

By Tom Muir.

Mrs. Adelaide Herrmann, at New Plainfield Theatre, Tomorrow, Matinee and Night.

Contracts were closed today for the appearance of George Cohan's "Forty-Five Minutes from Broadway," at the New Plainfield theatre on January 7. The original cast will be seen, including Fay Templeton and Victor Moore, the latter in his famous role of "Kid Burns." The company is at the New York theatre this week, completing a six weeks' engagement.

The announcement that the famous Brothers Byrne and their equally famous "Eight Bells" are coming to Plainfield a week from tomorrow night, has been received with pleasure by local theatregoers. The brothers are well known in this city, having appeared at Music Hall several times and in addition have many of their boyhood friends here. Before adopting a stage career they were employed as machinists in several New England shops and worked side by side with a dozen or more men who are now in the Potter shop.

"Montana," a new Western play, has been secured for the Thanksgiving attraction at the local playhouse. It is a new and original story of life on the plains, dealing with the wholesale cattle stealing which is known to be a most troublesome question. Blended in this there is an excellent love story and a lot of humorous comedy. The company is a large one, numbering twenty people. Two car-loads of scenery are required to stage the production, beside four thoroughbred horses, which are carried especially for the play.

While "The Confessions of a Wife," a melodrama which appeared here a short time ago, was at Wilmington, Del., one night last week, Walter Smith, a member of the company, put a diamond scarf pin in his mouth when washing after the show. He was suddenly compelled to sneeze and in doing so swallowed the pin. He has since felt no ill effects but is greatly worried.

Michael Heffernan.

Michael Heffernan, a well-known resident of the East End, dieid at Muhlenberg hospital, last night, after a brief illness. He was sixty-one years and lived on East Third street. The funeral will be held at St. Mary's church Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock. Interment will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

W. J. Southam, who conducted the Y. M. C. A. service at the Crescent Avenue church yesterday morning, spoke at Association Hall yesterday afternoon. G. E. Garretson, the novelty entertainer, played handbells.

THE FORUM.

Should Shop Early.

Editor, The Daily Press:

Dear Sir: Gaiety and misery come in together at this season. The gaiety is everywhere apparent. Will you not call attention in your columns to the other condition? From December 15 to 25 the stores are open till 11 p. m.—and a gala appearance they present as I am aready to admit. But consider the women and children who—without extra compensation—are working there until this late hour, and consider the boys who are delivering packages often as late as 1 a. m. Just at this time comes our coldest weather. It is great wonder if the over-worked fall easy victims to pneumonia and kindred forms of disease?

In their Christmas leaflet, the Consumers' League put the question, "What Can We Do?" and they give us a three-fold reply: 1. Shop early; before Thanksgiving, if possible, not later than December 15. 2. Shop early in the day. 3. Request that no packages be sent after 6 p. m.

Of course it is not possible for every one to shop early in the day but every one can shop early in the month; and surely the shops would not be overcrowded in the evening if only those shopped in the evening who had no other time.

The Largest Cash or Credit House in the State.

The Deluge.

By Graham Phillips, author of "The Cost," etc.

A flush appeared in his cheeks and deepened and spread until his whole body must have been afire. He seated himself. "You know what I've come for," he said sullenly, and humbly, too.

All his life he had been enthroned upon his wealth. Without realizing it, he had claimed and had received deference solely because he was rich. He had thought himself, in his own person, most superior; now, he found that like a silly child he had been standing on a chair and crying: "See how tall I am." And the airs, the cynicism, the graceful condescension, which had been so becoming to him, were now as out of place as crown and robes on a king taking a swimming lesson.

"What are your terms, Blacklock? Don't be too hard on an old friend," said he, trying to carry off his frank plea for mercy with a smile.

I should have thought he would cut his throat and jump off the Battery wall before he would get on his knees to any man for any reason. And he was doing it for mere money—to try to save, not his fortune, but only an imperiled part of it. "If Anita could see him now!" I thought.

To him I said, the more coldly because I did not wish to add to his humiliation by showing him that I pitied him: "I can only repeat, Mr. Langdon, you will have to excuse me. I have given you all the time I can spare."

His eyes were shifting and his hands trembling as he said: "I will transfer control of the Coal combine to you."

His tones, shameful as the offer they carried, made me ashamed for him. For money—just for money! And I had thought him a man. If he had been a self-deceiving hypocrite like Roebuck, or a frank believer in the right of might, like Updegraff, I might possibly, in the circumstances, have tried to release him from my net. But he had never for an instant deceived himself as to the real nature of the enterprises he plotted, promoted and profited by; he thought it "smart" to be bad, and he delighted in making the most cynical epigrams on the black deeds of himself and his associates.

"Better sell out to Roebuck," I suggested. "I control all the Coal stock I need."

"I don't care to have anything further to do with Roebuck," Langdon answered. "I've broken with him."

"When a man lies to me," said I, "he gives me the chance to see just how much of a fool he thinks I am, and also the chance to see just how much of a fool he is. I hesitate to think so poorly of you as your attempt to fool me seems to compel."

But he was unconvinced. "I've found he intends to abandon the ship and leave me to go down with it," he persisted. "He believes he can escape and denounce me as the arch rascal who planned the combine, and can convince people that I foozled him into it."

Ingenious; but I happened to know that it was false. "Pardon me, Mr. Langdon," said I with stiff courtesy. "I repeat, I can do nothing for you. Good morning." And I went at my work as if he were already gone.

Had I been vindictive, I would have led him out to humiliate himself more deeply, if greater depths of humiliation there are than those to which he voluntarily descended. But I wished to spare him; I let him see the uselessness of his mission. He looked at me in silence—the look of hate that can come only from a creature weak as well as wicked. I think it was all his keen sense of humor could do to save him from a melodramatic outbreak. He slipped into his habitual pose, rose and withdrew without another word. All this fright and groveling and treachery for plunder, the loss of which would not impair his fortune—plunder he had stolen with many a jest and gibe at his helpless victims. Like most of our debonair dollars chasers, he was a good sportsman only when the game was with him.

That afternoon he threw his Coal holdings on the market in great blocks. His treachery took Roebuck completely by surprise—for Roebuck believed in this fair-weather "gentleman," foul-weather coward, and neglected to allow for that quicksand that is always under the foundation of the man who has inherited, not earned, his wealth. But for the blundering credulity of rascals, would honest men ever get their dues. Roebuck's brokers had bought many thousands of Langdon's shares at the high artificial price before Roebuck grasped the situation—that it was not my followers recklessly gambling to break the prices, but Langdon unloading on his "pal." As soon as he saw, he abruptly withdrew from the market. When the Stock Exchange closed, National Coal securities were offered at prices ranging from 11 for the bonds to two for the common and three for the preferred—offered, and no takers.

"Well, you've done it," said Joe, coming with the news that Thornley,

"FOR MONEY—JUST FOR MONEY! AND I HAD THOUGHT HIM A MAN!"

of the Discount and Deposit bank, had been appointed receiver.

"I've made a beginning," replied I.

I had decided to concentrate upon Roebuck, because he was the richest and most powerful of "The Seven." For, in my pictures of the three main phases of "finance"—the industrial, the life insurance and the banking—he, as arch plotter in every kind of respectable skulduggery, was necessarily in the foreground. My original intention was to demolish the Power Trust— or, at least, to compel him to buy back all of its stock which he had worked off on the public. I had collected many interesting facts about it, facts typical of the conditions that "finance" has established in so many of our industries.

For instance, I was prepared to show that the actual earnings of the Power Trust was two and half times what its reports to stockholders alleged; that the concealed profits were diverted into the pockets of Roebuck, his sons, 11 other relatives and four of "The Seven," the lion's share going, of course, to the lion. Like almost all the great industrial enterprises, too strong for the law and too remote for the supervision of their stockholders, it gathered in enormous revenues to disburse them chiefly in salaries and commissions and rake-offs on contracts to favorites. I had proof that in one year it had "written off" 12 millions of profit and loss, 10 millions of which had found its way to Roebuck's pocket.

Roebuck was the keystone of the arch that sustained the structure of chicane. To dislodge him was the direct way to collapse it. I was about to set to work when Langdon, feeling that he ought to have a large supply of cash in the troublous times I was creating, increased the capital stock of his already enormously overcapitalized Textile Trust and offered the new issue to the public. As the Textile Trust was even better bulwarked, politically, than the Power Trust, it was easily able to declare tempting dividends out of its lootings. So the new stock could not be attacked in the one way that would make the public instantly shun it—I could not truthfully charge that it would not pay the promised dividends. Yet attack I must—for that issue was, in effect, a bold challenge of my charges against "The Seven." From all parts of the country inquiries poured in upon me: "What do you think of the new Textile issue? Shall we invest? Is the Textile company sound?"

I had no choice. I must turn aside from Roebuck; I must first show that, while Textile was, in a sense, sound just at that time, it had been unsound, and would be unsound again as soon as Langdon had gathered in a sufficient number of lambs to make a battue worth the while of a man dealing in nothing less than seven figures. I proceeded to do so.

The market yielded slowly. Under my first day's attack Textile preferred fell six points, Textile common three. While I was in the midst of dictating my letter for the second day's attack, I suddenly came to a full stop. I found across my way this thought: "Isn't it strange that Langdon, after humbling himself to you, should make this bold challenge? It's a trap!"

"No more at present," said I, to my stenographer. "And don't write out what I've already dictated."

I shut myself in and busied myself at the telephone. Half an hour after I set my secret machinery in motion, a messenger brought me an envelope, the address type-written. It contained a sheet of paper on which appeared, in type-writing, these words, and nothing more:

"He is heavily short of Textiles."

It was indeed a trap. The new issue was a blind. He had challenged me to attack his stock, and as soon as I did, he had begun secretly to sell it for a fall. I worked at this new situation until midnight, trying to get together the proofs. At that hour—for I could delay no longer, and my proofs were not quite complete—I sent my newspapers two sentences:

"To-morrow I shall make a disclosure that will send Textiles up. Do not sell Textiles!"

Sparrows Kill Rat.

New York, Nov. 19.—Officers in the Navy Yard witnessed a fierce battle between a large rat and a flock of sparrows yesterday. Jumping out from under a wall, the rat caught a tiny sparrow and was killing it when the bird's companions swooped down in a flock. For several minutes the battle was on. The rat maimed several fo its enemies. The fight waged up and down the street, the rat being unable to escape. Dozens of sparrows pecked at the rat when it tried to run. They finally killed the rat.

GOLFERS ONLY THOUGHT OF YALE-PRINCETON GAME.

Little Doing On the Plainfield Country Club Course As a Result.

The Princeton-Yale contest affected the attendance at the Plainfield Country Club, on Saturday, a majority of the active members going to Princeton to see the Tigers do battle with the wearers of the blue. In consequence there was little doing in golf.

It was expected that Frank C. Talmadge and Arthur Murphy would play the final for the Golf Committee consolation cup, but by agreement they postponed the match until next week. In the final play for the inconsolables' cup, between E. B. Shoemaker and Morris J. Dumont, the match went as far as the sixteenth hole. The players being all square at this hole and darkness overtaking them, they decided to quit and finish the match next week.

There were several players who contested for the November handicap cup, but no card was put on the bulletin, where scores could be posted and the result of the play was not learned. The contestants dropped their cards in the box. The final play for this cup will be on Saturday, when the winner will be announced.

Aside from the final play for the consolation and inconsolables' cups, and for the November handicap cup on Saturday, there will be nothing more doing until Thanksgiving Day, when there will be a cross country tournament to wind up the active season. This is sure to bring out a large field as it is one of the most popular events of the year.

Holy Cross Against Cranford.

There is unusual interest in the football game to be played Thursday afternoon on the Cricket Field, North Plainfield, between Holy Cross and Cranford. The average weight of Cranford is 110 pounds and Holy Cross is a shade lighter. The Cranford eleven has a good record for the season as being a strong team in its class. Holy Cross has a record of seven games won, a tie contest and one defeat. The game played between Holy Cross and the N. P. H. S., was merely for practice, the church boys offering to play with that understanding. Even at that the school boys were held down to a score of 15 to 0. Spectators commented on the strength of a line which could hold the school boys for downs. The game on Thursday will be called at 3:30 o'clock.

KILLS HIMSELF.

Frank Lacalli, of New York, Hangs Himself at Elizabeth.

Frank Lacalli, aged about forty-five years, residing at 403 East Fifth street, New Yor,k was found hanging from a tree at Dark Lane and Jersey avenue, yesterday afternoon at 1 o'clock. The body was still warm, although life was extinct. In the man's pocket was found a note which read: "This is all her account and the children's fault for I am hanging here. Alex."

This morning the dead man's wife and son went to Elizabeth and identified the body and it has been shipped to New York for burial. Lacalli was a German and leaves a wife, five daughters and one son. He was employed by the New York Wire Works' Company. Lacalli left home a week ago today after some family trouble and nothing was heard of him until his body was found yesterday.

Shot Across Porch.

For hunting too close to houses in Netherwood, Frank Morelli was arrested this morning by Patrolman Higgins. The police went after him after a frightened woman had telephoned that a charge of shot had just whizzed across her front porch. Higgins found the prisoner in the woods back of the house with a gun. He said he hadn't fired a shot. Sentence was suspended after an interpreter had warned him that hunting in the city limits was tabooed.

Horsely Barker, of New York, formerly engaged in the drug business at West Front and Grove streets, has been visiting friends in town.

To the Toilers of Plainfield:

The following is intended to show, first, what I have done; second, what I am going to do.

My efforts in the past have met with success. A few years ago, after having fourteen years' real estate experience in New York, I started in the real estate business in Plainfield in a small way, and now my office is one of the best located and best equipped in the State of New Jersey. I have disposed of hundreds of pieces of Plainfield property and could have sold much more excepting for the difficulty of getting money on first mortgage on small houses. Many have come to my office to buy small houses with little money and I have been obliged to let them go away because the money lenders in this city will not loan much over 50 per cent. and the working man does not have the other 50 per cent. to start with.

It is deplorable to see the people pour into the office asking what we have to rent for about fifteen or twenty dollars—always the same old answer—nothing to rent for that money. Then the question—where are we going to live? Large numbers of colored people come in and we haven't a place to offer them, either. The time has arrived for a call to the people to help themselves, and after giving the matter much thought and study, I have arranged with wealthy men from New York to back me up in what I am about to undertake.

MY PLAN is to have you pay in any sum from $100 up and we will make loans to build homes, and to secure you for the money which you put up until you get your homes, I shall transfer to you a first mortgage gold bond bearing interest at 6 per cent., certified by the Fidelity Trust Company of Newark, N. J. The principal and interest of the bonds are guaranteed and you can get your money back at any time if you so desire. I have already received letters and calls from many earnest people who are desirous of procuring homes and from those who desire to invest their money at 6 per cent. The proposition is to bring these two classes together, the plan is up-to-date and is the best offered, for with this collective capital we can do what you cannot do for yourself, and what other people in Plainfield have found impossible to do for you.

The money which you pay in this way will bring you in 6 per cent. per annum anyway, and the interest is payable every six months. It is very different with a mining or oil stock scheme away out goodness knows where, of which the first thing you really know is that you lose what you put in it.

For further particulars I shall be pleased to have you correspond or call at my office either Tuesday or Friday evening between the hours of 7.30 and 9 o'clock. All questions answered fully.

FRESH AIR HOME ANNUAL

Figures Show a Remarkably Low Average Cost Per Beneficiary.

CHAPMAN ON RIVALRY

No Need to Draw Line of Hostility Between Netherwood Institution and the Kings' Daughters' Camp.

There was a disappointingly small attendance at the annual meeting of the Neherwood Fresh Air Association at Y. M. C. A. hall last night. Not much more than a dozen people were present, although a programme for a houseful had been prepared, even to the printing of a programme slip. Still, there was a robust spirit in the air, and the prospects of another highly successful year, brightened by reports of last summer's success and of a snug balance in hand, were very plain.

Rev. E. M. Rodman, president of the association, was in the chair. Miss Sara Curry, matron of the Home, who brought an interesting assortment of tenement children from the Little Missionary Day Nursery, her winter charity, with her, and George A. Chapman, who has been interested in the Home work for several years, spoke.

Mr. Chapman referred to the idea of rivalry that appeared to have sprung up here and there as between the Home and the King Daughters' Baby Camp. He earnestly deplored any such feeling. There was no need of it, he said. The Baby Camp was an admirable institution, and should be supported with all heartiness, but there was no reason why the Fresh Air Home should be ignored because of it. The charity was not only a beautiful one, but most remarkable. As for the argument that New York should take care of it's own poor and not expect Plainfield to help in sharing the burden, it was true enough as a general proposition, but the Fresh Air Home was the exception that proved the rule.

The Home was the most remarkable charity he knew of, Mr. Chapman said. Figures show that the average cost of bringing the beneficiaries to the Home, maintaining them and returning them to the city was just sixty cents per person. He didn't know how it was done, except that he knew Miss Curry to be a wonderful manager, but the fact remained that for each sixty cents paid to the charity by a Plainfielder, some one tenement sufferer would be brought out for a health-giving, perhaps a life-saving, stay. He knew of no charity where a dollar went so far in actual, discernible good accomplished.

Miss Curry said the past year had been the most beautiful in her life. She would not be in the work, she said, were it not for the spiritual side. She thanked the people of Plainfield for all they had done for the Home.

A. C. Morgan, the New York banker whose generosity has transformed the Home in two years, was present, but he modestly withdrew before he could be drawn into a speech.

Several reports were read. D. M. Runyon's report as treasurer, read by Mr. Chapman, shows that a total of $16.20 was received by the association during the year, and that the year was started with a balance of $125 on hand. The expenditures amounted to $1,345, leaving a balance of $400. During the Home season over 1,600 children and more than 500 mothers were entertained.

Miss Florence Hawkins reported for the Devotional Committee; David Hand for the Buildings and Grounds Committee, and Mrs. J. C. Pierson for the House Committee.

Rev. Mr. Rodman was re-elected president. Four vice-presidents were elected, instead of one: J. T. Parker, G. E. Hall, J. W. Gavett and W. D. Murray. Benjamin Hadley was elected secretary and D. M. Runyon treasurer. The committee chairmen were named as follows: House Committee, Mrs. Herbert Henry; Finance, George A. Chapman; Devotional, Miss Hawkins; Buildings and Grounds, J. D. Loizeaux; Entertainment, Herbert Henry.

The musical programme included selections by M. A. Korff's Vivo trio; songs by Miss Etta Raybert, accompanied by Miss Lillian Force; and songs by the Day Nursery children. The latter blomed also in a little garden of verse.

As usual the Sir Knights went through their drill in a perfect manner, which called forth hearty applause and words of commendation from the visitors. W. A. Pinto, as captain general, had charge of the drill and every detail was executed with exactness.

E. S. Cortright led a delegation of seventy-one sir knights from Damacus Commandery, of Newark, and Jersey Commandery, of East Orange, the trip being made to this city in a special car. There were also several sir knights from Hugh De Payne Commandery, of Jersey City, the entire company numbering over 150. There were also present Past Grand Commanders Jacob Kirkner, of Trinity Commandery; Josiah Davidson, of Washington; James McKane, of Newark, and Warren Dobbs, of Jersey City.

After the inspection supper was served under the direction of Mrs. Henry Johnson, the caterer. The committee in charge of the entertainment of the visiting Sir Knights consisted of B. Frank Coriell, Lemuel B. Woolston and Henry Woodland.

During the time allotted for business, suggestions were received for next year's programme.

TO REORGANIZE S.P.C.C.

Prominent Women Interested in Movement to Revive Local Association.

MEETING ON FRIDAY

Preliminary Plans To Be Made at Public Gathering In Stirling Building—All Are Invited.

Impelled by the feeling that there is a great need for an active Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals in this city, steps will be taken Friday morning to re-organize the society at a meeting to be held in the office of W. A. Coddington, of the firm of Reed & Coddington, Stirling building, Friday morning at 10 o'clock. A few years ago such a society existed in Plainfield and good work was done for a time, but the members lost interest and the organization finally disbanded. Since that time William N. Pangborn, of Linden avenue, has been the local agent for the State society and has prosecuted all cases which have been brought to his attention.

Now a number of prominent Plainfield women have interested themselves in the society and its re-organization and prospects are encouraging for a strong society. An urgent invitation is extended to all members of the old society or others who may be interested, to attend the meeting Friday morning. At that time plans will be presented to effect a re-organization and officers will be chosen.

The women who are deeply interested in the matter are Mrs. J. S. Zelie, Miss May Rodman, Mrs. J. Kirtland Myers, Mrs. Duncan Warren Taylor, Mrs. Knox Taylor, Mrs. George W. Bunnell, Mrs. Francis De Lacy Hyde, Mrs. Marvin D. Rae, Mrs. S. S. Schuyler, Mrs. Albert A. Atterbury, Mrs. Edward A. Stevenson, Mrs. Dorsey Hyde, Mrs. Theodore D. Wilson, Mrs. B. Van D. Hedges, Miss Edith Smalley, Miss Wickersham, Miss May Waring, Miss Munger, Miss Seward, Miss Hartridge, Miss Maida Hyde, Miss Harman and Miss Lapsley.

It is proposed to make the local organization a part of the State society and one will co-operate with the other in preventing all kinds of cruelty practiced on animals. While the women have taken the initiative in the re-organization it is expected that men also will become interested, join the society and do all in their power to make it successful.

MISS ANNA O. MARSH.

Death Came Last Night From the Effects of Uraemic Poisoning.

Miss Anna O. Marsh, daughter of the late Elston and Eliza Stelle Marsh, died at her home on Madison avenue, last night. She had been in poor health for the past two years but only gave up and took to her bed a few days ago. Uraemic poisoning is ascribed as the cause of death.

Miss Marsh was born in this city and had resided here all her life. Following the death of her father, she took up instruction in music and with her sister, Miss Minnie Marsh, became one of the most prominent teachers in the city. She was a member of the First Baptist church and was active in the work of all its departments. She attended there with unceasing regularity until the condition of her health prevented. She was also a member of the Monday Afternoon Club.

Beside Miss Minnie Marsh, she is survived by two other sisters, Mrs. S. St. John McCutchen, of the borough, and Mrs. Oliver B. Leonard, of Arlington avenue.

The funeral will be held at her late home tomorrow afternoon at 2:30.

League Basketball.

The league basketball games will begin at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium next Monday night. Rahway will be the opposing five. Both second teams will play between halves. Whatever the fate of the first team may be, the second local team will almost certainly win very decisively. The seconds are swift and growing swifter with each game. One of these days it will pass the first team.

A Birthday Affair.

Mr. and Mrs. John LeMatty, of West Fifth street, entertained a large number of friends at their home last night in honor of the birthday of their daughter, Miss Julia LeMatty. Guests were present from Rahway, Westfield, Dunellen, Bound Brook and this city. Games, vocal and instrumental music and refreshments were the features of the evening's enjoyment.

Revival at Mt. Zion Church.

Rev. J. S. Yemmans, a revivalist, of Camden, commenced a series of evangelistic services at the Mt. Zion A. M. E. church, West Fourth street. Last night's service was an excellent one and much spiritual interest was shown. The services will continue for a week.

ANXIOUS ABOUT UNION

Attitude of County's Legislators Most Important in Senatorial Contest.

BALANCE OF POWER

As In 1901, Union May Decide the Battle—Some Political History.

In its last night's issue, the Newark Evening News, the leading paper in New Jersey, said editorially:

"There is profound and well-grounded anxiety among those who insist upon the re-election of Senator Dryden, with reference to the attitude of Union county, for it is certainly true that a regular Republican caucus would be held immediately if it were thought that the Union County Senator and Assemblymen would attend it and be bound by the decision of the majority. One reason why the caucus is not called is because of the unsettled conditions in Union, or, rather, because it seems to be settled that Union county is anti-Dryden.

"Senator Ackerman, of Plainfield, was the first to declare that he was not in favor of the re-election of Senator Dryden, but would cast his vote for either Governor Stokes or former Governor Griggs. Next, Leader Perkins, of Westfield, declared his preference for Stokes, and Assemblyman Tillman, of Rahway, who was at first reported to be emphatically opposed to Dryden, modified this attitude by saying later that he was not pledged to any candidate. The Assemblyman-elect from Elizabeth, Mr. Moxon, has given no clear indication of how he stands on the Senatorial issue.

"The attitude of the Union county legislators is entirely consistent with that of some of their predecessors of five years ago. At that time Congressman Fowler had camped in Trenton in the interests of Edward C. Stokes, who was John F. Dryden's most formidable opponent. Mr. Fowler threw the whole force of his personal strength and political influence in favor of Stokes, and Governor Voorhees, though maintaining a neutral position, undoubtedly hoped for the election of his friend, United States Senator Kean and other Union county leaders favored Mr. Dryden.

"The Senator from Union county at that time was Judge Cross. He favored former Governor Griggs. All efforts to induce him to support Dryden in the caucus were unavailing. "No," he said, "not so long as there is such a candidate as Griggs in the field." It was only when the Passaic contingent itself fell away from their own eminent candidate and his support vanished that Judge Cross abandoned him and gave his vote to John F. Dryden. This settled the matter, but it was only after Griggs was hopelessly deserted by his own constituents.

"Congressman Fowler, the strongest advocate Mr. Stokes had five years ago, was chosen for the seventh term at the recent election. He lost Union county, but the city of Plainfield, which was always his stronghold, saved him from defeat in the Congressional district. He has great political influence in that city and there is reason to believe that he leans toward the "new idea" and that he holds the same opinions with reference to Dryden and Stokes that he held five years ago. This year Senator Kean says he would be pleased to see Mr. Dryden re-elected, but astute politicians agree that if South Jersey had one of the United States Senators, Mr. Kean's chances of re-election in 1911 would be improved.

"These facts, taken together, show that Union county is entirely consistent in opposing Mr. Dryden and they tend to explain the anxiety of the Dryden constituency and the reason why a caucus of the Republican members of the Legislature is not called at once.

"If the Union county legislators refuse to support Mr. Dryden, the chances of his election are very slender, and to hold a caucus now and not win would be almost equivalent to ultimate defeat. Union county virtually holds now, as in 1901, the key of the Senatorial situation; with greater reasons than then for opposing Mr. Dryden to the end."

Assistant to the Manager.

M. M. Richey, formerly an official of the New Jersey Central, but late with the U. S. Steel Corporation, has been appointed assistant to the manager of the Southern Railway with headquarters at Washington. Mr. Richey was formerly with the Southern Railway on the southern division.

SELL FAMOUS CLUB HOUSE

Fanwood Resort Built in Borough's Heyday Disposed of By Land Company.

P. RITTER'S PURCHASE

Originally the Home of the Fanwood Club—Recently the Headquarters of Suburban Club.

An important deal in Fanwood real estate was consummated, yesterday, when Peter Ritter, of that borough, purchased the Fanwood Club House property from the Central New Jersey Land Improvement Company. It includes the large club building and extensive grounds, located on South avenue, directly opposite the Jersey Central station. The sale price has not been given out but it is understood that it went at a bargain. The new owner will probably have the building remodelled into a dwelling and livery stable combined, using the hall part for the stable.

The club house was erected eighteen years ago by the Land Improvement Company at the time it was developing Fanwood real estate. One of its principal advocates was the late George Kyte, secretary and treasurer of the concern. The club house was handsomely furnished, bowling alleys, billiards and other forms of amusement were provided and for a time the organization was on the crest of the social wave. The bowling team was well known throughout the county and the club house receptions and dances drew many people from the select circles of Plainfield, Westfield and Elizabeth. Later a hall for theatricals was added and then housing quarters for the borough's fire apparatus were provided.

The club flourished a number of years but constant changes among the borough residents and dissension among the members seriously impaired its growth and then it gradually fell away. The place was evidently taken over by the improvement company and for years it remained closed, except for an occasional social function. Three years ago, the Suburban Club, composed of young men from Plainfield, Netherwood and the Plains, was organized and leased the building. It renewed the furnishings and placed the bowling alleys in first class shape and prospered more than did its predecessor in its best days. Its lease was secured from the Fanwood Club, which still has control until next April.

A NOVEL CASE.

Landlord Wanted Tenant Ejected on a Disorderly Charge.

A jury in Justice Snape's court in the borough, yesterday, brought in a verdict of no cause of action in the landlord and tenant suit brought by Alexander E. Faber, Jr., against Jesse E. Cottle.

The case was one of the first kind that has been decided in this vicinity, the suit being brought by the landlord against the tenant under a section of the landlord and tenant act which provides that any tenant who is disorderly as to destroy the peace and quiet of the other tenants or of the neighborhood, may be ejected from the premises on three days' notice. The disorderly charge was made after Mr. Cottle and Edward Olssen, agent for Mr. Faber, had gotten into an argument, during which Olssen, he alleged, was assaulted.

S. S. Swackhamer, counsel for Cottle, produced witnesses to prove that his client was a peaceable tenant and the testimony was accepted by the jury. The plaintiff was represented by Charles J. McNabb.

TO AMPUTATE ARM.

Adam Young Must Undergor Serious Operation.

As the result of an injury received about six months ago, Adam Young, of South Second street, will be compelled to have his arm amputated at the shoulder. The operation will be performed today or tomorrow at the hospital.

Mr. Young's injury is due to a fall. He struck his arm, but at the time paid little attention to the matter. A few weeks ago he began to suffer intense pain and a physician was called. The examination disclosed a severe contusion just above the elbow and the physician decided that amputation at the shoulder was the only thing that would prevent more serious trouble.

Fifty-six People Employed.

The force of clerks at the Woodhull and Martin Company has been increased by seven women, making fifty-six people in all who are on the company's pay roll. The following salespeople have been engaged as permanent help: Miss A. Agatha, of Dunellen; Miss Ursula C. FOUND BURNED AND MANGLED BODY OF WOMAN

Mutilated and Charred Corpse Discovered By Hunters Near New Providence.

IDENTITY ESTABLISHED

Declared by Husband and Son to Have Been Mrs. Georgiana Uliana—Remains Brought to This City.

Hunters with their dogs last evening came upon the mutilated and burned body of a woman in a lonely place in the woods at New Providence. It was found just off Elwood avenue. The condition of the body was such that identification depend upon the shoes and bits of apparel that were not wholly destroyed by the flames. Some persons who saw the shoes thought they recognized them as of the pattern worn by a woman named Georgiana Uliana, who lived in the vicinity.

Mrs. Uliana disappeared from home about a month ago and her husband and son were apprised of the suspicions. They examined the bits of clothing and had no hesitancy in declaring them to be those of the missing woman. She had been mentally irresponsible and it is possible that she wandered away and killed herself.

Chief of Police Jacob Miller and Mayor Thomas F. Crane, of New Providence, and County Physician F. W. Westcott, of Fanwood, were summoned, and they went at once to the spot where the body was found. The woods there for some distance around were swept by fire about a month ago and that probably accounts for the condition of the remains. The parts of the body were gathered up and taken at first to John Hahr's hotel in New Providence, and afterward conveyed to this city.

It was at first thought that the woman may have been murdered but this theory was afterward abandoned.

One of the hunters who found the body is E. D. Rich, a civil engineer, of New Providence. He and his party were on their way home after a day's sport. It was the dogs that first drew their attention to the ghastly find. The dogs pointed it persistently, and at last the hunters went up to look.

First they found the skull, severed clean and lying about six feet from the trunk. The skull was cracked just above the forehead, and there was a hole in it that might have been made by a bullet. There was a depression also that might have been made by a heavy blow from a club. A few thin gray hairs were visible, clinging to the temples.

The lower jawbone was separated from the head, but two rows of perfect teeth were intact. A puzzling feature is that a mass of dark hair was found. It lay some distance from the body near a clump of charred bushes. There was but one ear, the left. The other may have been burned or cut off.

In the hasty examinations made by the authorities last night it was uncertain which. The right leg was severed from the body, but lay very near it. It was much burned like the rest. The left leg was missing. This was searched for, but no part of it was found. Small particles of flesh still adhered to the leg, but it looked as if dogs had picked the bone. There are other evidences that dogs had feasted on what was left of the burned body. The police think that this may account for one leg being missing. They say that the dogs may have carried it off farther into the woods.

The flesh was entirely gone from the head, but some remained on the hands. This, too, looked as if it had been chewed off.

The funeral will be held at the Stony Hill church Wednesday afternoon.

Meet to Accept New Bridge.

The bridge committee from the Union County Board of Freeholders, together with the entire Board of Freeholders from Somerset county, will meet at the West End avenue bridge, this afternoon, to examine the structure and decide about accepting it. The question of building retaining walls on both sides of the bridge will also come up for decision. It is the opinion of the engineers from both counties that these walls are a necessity.

Owing to a severe cold contracted on Sunday, Miss Cornelia Sampson, of East Fifth street, was unable to take part in the song recital at Vincent chapel, last night. Her numbers were omitted from the programme.

RECOUNT ORDERED IN DUNELLEN ELECTION TIE

JUDGE SWAYZE SIGNS ORDER AND THE BOARD SETS A DATE.

Judge Swayze has signed an order at New Brunswick, granting a recount of the votes cast in Dunellen for the two candidates running for tax collector, where the result was a tie. The County Board of Elections yesterday fixed Tuesday, November 27, for holding the recount, at the Court House.

The fight for the collectorship was the hottest the borough has ever had. Isaac J. Stites, the Republican nominee, is a deacon in the First Methodist church there and an enthusiastic advocate of the Bishops' law. He was opposed by John Moynihan, the Democratic nominee, who favors more liberal liquor legislation. Mr. Stites is also a member of the William Holton Council, Junior Order United American Mechanics, and had the latter's support in the contest.

Election night there was dispute as to the court, and the District Election Board recounted the entire vote cast, finishing its work the next morning at half-past ten o'clock. It was found that the two candidates for collector were tied.

The church deacon has since applied for a recount on the ground that two votes which were rejected by the Board because his name was not properly spelled should have been counted, and that if they should not a vote cast for his opponent where the name was misspelled should be rejected.

PENNY PICTURE FUND STOLEN FROM SCHOOL

Sneakthieves, supposedly local, entered the Scotch Plains school several nights ago, and ransacked the rooms. They got only $1.20 in money and a few trinkets of little value from the teachers' desks, but their visit has compelled the children in Miss Hogan's room to start a new penny fund for classroom pictures.

The $1.20 the thieves got represented the savings of the pupils for the pictures. The police kept the theft quiet in the hope of smoking out some clue to the thieves, but no trace has been discovered.

The crooks got into the building by way of the fire escape and a rear window on the second floor. It is not considered at all likely that a hobo or a professional crook would have paid any attention to the school as a field for operations.

DUNELLEN BANK PROMOTERS TO ELECT THEIR DIRECTORS.

Nearly $24,000 Worth of Stock Subscriptions Reported Today.

The First National Bank, of Dunellen, is practically assured. The men of that place who are interested in the movement will meet tomorrow night for the purpose of electing nine directors. Nearly all of the $24,000 worth of stock has been subscribed and it is expected that all of it will be taken up within the coming week.

In deciding upon a place to locate the bank the residence property of the late Eugene Runyon on Front street is considered adapted in every way. There is also some talk of engaging Fred Haynes, of Dunellen, who holds a position in the First National Bank, of this city, to become cashier of the new bank. Among those who are prime movers in the enterprise are Alvah Gray, Walter Runyon, L. L. Block, Dr. P. W. Brakeley and Newton Apgar.

Scrapped In Loving Kindness.

Charles Barry and Pete Seader were haled from their hacks this morning to answer to a charge of fist fighting at the North Avenue hackstand, last week, before Judge Runyon. They said the fight was not in earnest, and bumps they got only made them love each other the more. Judge Runyon received the statement with palpable suspicion, but Pete and Charley are very plainly good friends now, sentence was suspended.

To the Toilers of Plainfield:

The following is intended to show, first, what I have done; second, what I am going to do.

My efforts in the past have met with success. A few years ago, after having fourteen years' real estate experience in New York, I started in the real estate business in Plainfield in a small way, and now my office is one of the best located and best equipped in the State of New Jersey. I have disposed of hundreds of pieces of Plainfield property and could have sold much more excepting for the difficulty of getting money on first mortgage on small houses. Many have come to my office to buy small houses with little money and I have been obliged to let them go away because the money lenders in this city will not loan much over 50 per cent. and the working man does not have the other 50 per cent. to start with. It is deplorable to see the people pour into the office asking what we have to rent for about fifteen or twenty dollars—always the same old answer—nothing to rent for that money. Then the question—where are we going to live? Large numbers of colored people come in and we haven't a place to offer them, either. The time has arrived for a call to the people to help themselves, and after giving the matter much thought and study, I have arranged with wealthy men from New York to back me up in what I am about to undertake. MY PLAN is to have you pay in any sum from $100 up and we will make loans to build homes, and to secure you for the money which you put up until you get your homes, I shall transfer to you a first mortgage gold bond bearing interest at 6 per cent., certified by the Fidelity Trust Company of Newark, N. J. The principal and interest of the bonds are guaranteed and you can get your money back at any time if you so desire. I have already received letters and calls from many earnest people who are desirous of procuring homes and from those who desire to invest their money at 6 per cent. The proposition is to bring these two classes together, the plan is up-to-date and is the best offered, for with this collective capital we can do what you cannot do for yourself, and what other people in Plainfield have found impossible to do for you.

The money which you pay in this way will bring you in 6 per cent. per annum anyway, and the interest is payable every six months. It is very different with a mining or oil stock scheme away out goodness knows where, of which the first thing you really know is that you lose what you put in it.

For further particulars I shall be pleased to have you correspond or call at my office either Tuesday or Friday evening between the hours of 7.30 and 9 o'clock. All questions answered fully.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

GOLF.

Frank C. Talmadge and Arthur Murphy will play the final for the Golf Committee consolation cup at the Plainfield Country Club on Saturday. As both players are at the top of their game the result is much in doubt.

On account of darkness, E. B. Shoemaker and Morris J. Dumont were unable to complete their play for the inconsolables' cup at the Plainfield Country Club, Saturday. That the pair was evenly matched is shown by the fact that at the sixteenth hole they were all even. The match will be finished this week.

Final play for the November Handicap cup will be one of the closing events of the season at the Plainfield Country Club on Saturday. It will then be announced who has the best averaged score for the month.

C. B. Morgan was unable to follow his favorite game on Saturday owing to the death of his sister-in-law and it was one of the very few times during the season that he has absented himself from the course.

A serving of injunctions, with claims for cumulative damages, on the dealers in New York and other cities who have been selling golf balls made in England is the sensation of the week. The injunctions have been taken out by the patentees of the rubber-cored ball. Since the quashing of the American claim to priority of invention last spring in the English courts, several dealers have been selling the foreign balls. The prior rights of the American patentee have never been fought to a finish in this country, for the suits pending with that end in view a few years ago were settled by the defendants confessing judgment and undertaking the further making of the balls under a royalty payable to the patentee. The vendors of the English balls may claim they are protected by the courts there. They have bought the balls in the open market, paid the full duty on importing them and they are still able to sell the foreign balls here at a profit. The first injunction case will come up in New York today, unless there is an adjournment. Should the hearing result in the vacating of the injunction, the balls will again be on sale during the appeals and the matter may lead to a long litigation against the priority of the American patent, in which the British makers will back up the defence. The point is whether or not goods made in violation of an American patent may be sold in this country. In the first instance the Americans to play with the English balls had them brought in by friends in the import business. The claim then was that the English balls were not skimped nor rushed in the process of manufacture; that they carried further and putted more true. It is an open secret that both Eben M. Byers and George S. Lyon, winner and runnerup in the amateur championship, used English made balls and that George Low won the Metropolitan Golf Association championship with one. There has grown up a great trade in foreign balls in this country, but those to be imported this fall have many imperfections. This may be because the Britishers have had to hustle to keep up with orders, or it may be that the firms anticipate being shut out of the American market and have become indifferent. The question involves retail sales in excess of $1,000,000 each year. Only the regular dealers have been enjoined and in each case the patentee claims to have direct evidence. The golf professionals who have been handling English balls have not been enjoined, but they have been tipped off not to sell them unless looking for legal trouble. An English ball is now as scarce as hen's teeth in the shops of the professionals. In the spring the American patentees gave notice that they would enjoin and sue individual players who used the English balls, but this has not been done. Should the present injunctions be upheld it is possible that individual golfers may be caught in the legal meshes.

Miss May Hezlet, in the London World of Golf, pays a compliment to Miss Harriot Curtis and prints an announcements that is news here. The paragraph reads: "Congratulations to Miss Harriot Curtis on her win in the United States championship! Both she and her sister will probably be among the American players who intend to visit Newcastle next year for the open championship meeting. They are both powerful golfers, and the Newcastle links should suit them excellently."

WRITE TO YOUR REPRESENTATIVES.

As the Newark Evening News says, "If the Union county legislators refuse to support Mr. Dryden, the chances of his election are very slender, and to hold a caucus now and not win would be almost equivalent to ultimate defeat. Union county virtually holds now, as in 1901, the key of the Senatorial situation; with greater reasons than then for opposing Mr. Dryden to the end."

It has been suggested that the Republican voters in Plainfield and throughout the county generally give expression to their opinions regarding the present situation by writing personally to Senator Ackerman and Assemblymen Perkins, Tillman and Moxon. A word of encouragement or of criticism of the position taken by Union's legislators, who, with the exception of Moxon, favor candidates other than John F. Dryden, will be welcomed by them. Messrs. Ackerman, Tillman and Perkins are in favor of the election of Governor E. C. Stokes, and they believe that their choice reflects the best sentiment of Union. Whether it does or not, is up to the voters to say.

By Tom Muir.

Miss Georgia Cayvan, the actress, died yesterday at the sanatorium at Flushing, Long Island, where she had been confined since October, 1901. For most of that period her mind had been practically a blank. For a time, too, she was financially embarassed, but a benefit at the Broadway theatre three years ago insured her comfort for the last years of her life.

A treat is in store for local playgoers who like light opera as Manager Counihan has secured Henry W. Savage's Castle Square Opera Company to produce "The Student King" at the New Plainfield on Saturday, December 1. It will be one of the most pretentious offerings of the season and is said to be one of the most delightful efforts of the jrolific Reginald DeKoven. The orchestration is the heaviest that has been written for any light opera in the past ten years. Some of the finest passages are carried by the harp-an instrument that is seldom carried in a light opera orchestra.

The political drama, "A Square Deal," which comes to the New Plainfield Saturday, had its premiere on Broadway, last season in opposition to two new big productions in its immediate neighborhood—to be exact at the Daley and Wallack theatres. Despite the counter-attractions, "A Square Deal" drew a crowded house and "packed 'em in" for many weeks afterward. Otis B. Thayer and the original cast will be in the production when it is seen here.

Margaret Mayo, who in conjunction with Upton Sinclair, dramatized Mr. Sinclair's much talked of book, "The Jungle," received over two thousand congratulatory telegrams on the opening night of the play in Trenton from friends and managers all over the world, in fact an extra force of messenger boys were mustered into service for the occasion. The play was an emphatic hit and broke all records for three performances in that city. It looks as if the charming young writer would have to engage a storage warehouse in which to place her royalties. The play is to be seen in this city after the first of the year.

Digby Bell, who is known to Plainfielders as the star of "The Education of Mr. Pipp," has two negro servants—man and wife—who have been in the family many years at the actor's summer home as Siasconsett, Nantucket Island, Mass. He noticed them arguing quite excitedly one day and evidently quarreling. He thought he might pour oil upon the troubled waters. He approached the couple and said, "What are you two arguing so excitedly about? Tell me; perhaps I can settle it for you." "We'se not argying, Mr. Bell," said the man. "I'se made $10 wid a lettle outside speculashun. My wife tinks she ain't gwine to git dat $10. Well, she ain't. Dis ain't no argumint, sir."

THE FORUM.

Alex. Kane Explains.

Editor, The Daily Press:

I see in your paper where my name in brought up in regard to the store on North avenue. I must contradict Denney Carney; but I will say that I have sold the store out for the benefit of his wife and family. Everybody knows my brother Pat and the company he travels with. I don't have to tell the public what Denny Carney is as his pedigree is well known and for Mr. Addis and Mr. Gavett and Will DeMeza I don't see why they should be brought into such matters for his city work. I will safely say that they have told me that he would have no more of it. I was told of this without asking any information. And for my writing part, I can both read and write. Thanking you for the space in your paper, A. KANE.

HOLY CROSS' FAIR WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY.

Big Bazaar to Be Held by Women of the Parish.

The rooms of Holy Cross parish house are quite transformed by the quaint and artistically decorated booths scattered here and there throughout the building for the women's fair for tomorrow and Thursday afternoons and evenings. In the main room a combination of soft colors, of green and white, is found in the flower booth at the left. An interesting horicultural wonder is found here quite unique in its way, an orange tree laden with attractive oranges, big and inviting stands waiting for customers at a reasonable price to pick from the branches and sample. Each orange contains a surprising little gift for the purchaser.

The delectable way is found at the centre of the room where sweets, groceries and lemonade vie with one another. In an octagonal booth in crimson and white with great sticks of old-fashioned red and white stick candy at each angle are piled sweets of all sorts and shades of sticky attractiveness, home-made candies, and those of well known made. Across the aisle is the big red brick grocery store. In the centre of the room is a well, full, deep and inexhaustible, containing lemonade.

The fancy booth of useful and comfortable things, and the utilities booth next in order are full of practical and useful articles. The art booth and the Japanese tea room are also attractive.

Elaborate preparations are completed for the dinner to be served Wednesday and Thursday evenings.

A wigwam with a fortune teller is to be a feature of the affair. Several automobiles will be waiting outside the parish building to take parties for a spin over the country afternoons and evenings for a small compensation.

ORIOLES DEFEAT THE Y. M. C. A. FIRST TEAM

HOME FIVE WEAKENED BY ABSENCE OF REGULAR PLAYERS.

Crippled by the absence of three of their regular men, the Y. M. C. A. basketballists fell down before the Orioles, of New York, last night. At that, they put up a good fight. The score was 24 to 12.

As if a hurriedly-built team was not hard luck enough, Leary, one of the regulars, sprained his ankle within three minutes after the game started, and had to limp for the antiphlogistine department without delay.

The team naturally was weak on passing. Brilliant individual work, with flashes of concerted action, served, however, to hold the visitors down in the first half, and the score was tied at seven to seven when the period closed. Long and Schoonmaker made a god showing as utility men considering their lack of team practice.

Between halves the Business Men were slaughtered to make a second team holiday. What the seconds did to the perspiring B. M.'s is a sad story of hard times in business. Loizeaux scored four goals and Smith one, and that was all, except for two useless fouls, that the Business Men scored. The second team? Oh, about 40 for theirs.

JERSEY CENTRAL'S ENGINEERS MEET

REPRESENTATIVES OF SEVEN DIVISIONS DISCUSS "MINOR DIFFERENCES."

Elizabeth, Nov. 20.—Representatives of all the divisions of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers covering the New Jersey Central Railroad system met here Sunday in the Lyceum theatre building. There were present 131 members of seven divisions. With them were Senior Assistant Grand Chief E. W. Hurley, of Cleveland, O.; H. E. Evans, general chairman of the divisions of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad system, and E. A. Tucker, one of the grand officers, of Brooklyn. The call for the meeting was made a week ago, and members of the different divisions began to arrive early in the morning.

They went into session at noon and lost no time in getting down to the consideration of the minor differences with the officials of the company that form the only disturbing element in the relations that have existed between the engineers and their employers since the signing of the contract under which they are now working about three years ago. The session lasted from noon until 5:30 o'clock, when an adjournment was taken until 7 o'clock, and the final adjournment at 10:20 o'clock Sunday night.

In an authoritative statement given to a reporter by two members of the Brotherhood after the meeting, the greatest stress was laid on the statement that the matters under discussion were only "minor differences," and that neither these differences nor the serious discussion of them by the engineers should be taken as indicating any possible break in the amicable relations of the Brotherhood and the company, or a strike on any division of the road.

While the engineers have decided on asking for certain changes they are confident of bringing them about without making any formal demand for them, and it was with a desire to do justice to all concerned and thereby strengthen the friendly relations now existing with the company rather than to give any cause for a rupture that the matters were discussed and the plan of procedure decided upon.

While there were a number of matters taken up the most important was that involving a change of the working schedule so as to shorten the working hours of the engineers. There was no discussion of an increase of pay as the shortening of the hours will amount practically to an advance. The wages now paid range from $3.50 to $4.20 per day, but the engineers average twelve to fifteen hours for a day's work. There are some few—not more than four or five—exceptionally good runs on the road which give the incumbents short hours and extra good pay, but they do not count in the general calculation of the time schedule. After all the subjects had been thoroughly thrashed out the opinions of the engineers were embodied in a series of resolutions which will be presented to the officials of the company some day this week by a committee consisting of General Chairman Arthur Kirkendall, of the Central system, and the other represenatives of the general board of adjustment.

"MY RIGHT EYE OFFENDS ME."

Next day Langdon's stocks wavered, going up a little, going down a little, closing at practically the same figures at which they had opened. Then I sprang my sensation—that Langdon and his particular clique, though they controlled the Textile Trust, did not own so much as one-fiftieth of its voting stock. True "captains of industry" that they were, they made their profits not out of dividends, but out of side schemes that absorbed about two-thirds of the earnings of the Trust, and out of gambling in its bonds and stocks. I said in conclusion:

"The largest owner of the stock is Walter G. Edmunds, of Chicago—an honest man. Send your voting proxies to him, and he can take the Textile company away from those now plundering it."

As the annual election of the Trust was only six weeks away, Langdon and his clique were in a panic. They rushed into the market and bought frantically, the public bidding against them. Langdon himself went to Chicago to reason with Edmunds—that is, to try to find out at what figure he could be bought. And so on, day after day, I faithfully reporting to the public the main occurrences behind the scenes. The Langdon attempt to regain control by purchases of stock failed. He and his allies made what must have been to them appalling sacrifices; but even at the high prices they offered, comparatively little of the stock appeared.

"I've caught them," said I to Joe—the first time, and the last, during that campaign that I indulged in a boast.

"If Edmunds sticks to you," replied cautious Joe.

But Edmunds did not. I do not know at what price he sold himself. Probably it was pitifully small; cupidity usually snatches the instant bait tickles its nose. But I do know that my faith in human nature got its severest shock.

Fortunately, Edmunds had held out, or, rather, Langdon had delayed approaching him, long enough for me to gain my main point. The uproar over the Textile Trust had become so great that the national department of commerce dared not refuse an investigation; and I straightway began to spread out in my daily letters the facts of the trust's enormous earnings and of the shameful sources of those earnings.

In the midst of the adulation, of the blares upon the trumpets of fame that saluted my waking and were wafted to me as I fell asleep at night—in the midst of all the turmoil, I was often in a great and brooding silence, longing for her, now with the imperious energy of passion, and now with the sad ache of love. What was she doing? What was she thinking? Now that Langdon had again played her false for the old price, with what eyes was she looking into the future?

Alva, settled in a West Side apartment not far from the ancestral white elephant, telephoned, asking me to come. I went, because she could and would give me news of Anita. But as I entered her little drawing-room, I said: "It was curiosity that brought me. I wished to see how you were installed."

"Isn't it nice and small?" cried she. "Billy and I haven't the slightest difficulty in finding each other—as people so often have in the big houses." And it was Billy this and Billy that, and what Billy said and thought and felt—and before they were married, she had called him William, and had declared "Billy" to be the most offensive combination of letters that ever fell from human lips.

"I needn't ask if you are happy," said I presently, with a dismal failure at looking cheerful. "I can't stay but a moment," I added, and if I had obeyed my feelings, I'd have risen up and taken myself and my pain away from surroundings as hateful to me as a summer sunrise in a death-chamber.

"Oh!" she exclaimed, in some confusion. "Then excuse me." And she hastened from the room.

I thought she had gone to order, or perhaps to bring, the tea. The long minutes dragged away until ten had passed. Hearing a rustling in the hall, I rose, intending to take leave the instant she appeared. The rustling stopped just outside. I waited a few seconds, cried: "Well, I'm off. Next time I want to be alone, I'll know where to come," and advanced to the door. It was not Alva hesitating there; it was Anita.

"I beg your pardon," said I, coldly.

If there had been room to pass I should have gone. What devil possessed me? Certainly in all our relations I had found her direct and frank, if anything, too frank. Doubtless it was the influence of my associations down town, where for so many months I had been dealing with the "short-card" crowd of high finance, who would hardly play the game straight even when that was the easy way to win. My long, steady stretch in that stealthy and sinuous company had put me in the state of mind in which it is impossible to credit any human being with a motive that is decent or an action that is not a dead-fall. Thus the obvious transformation in her made no impression on me. Her haughtiness, her coldness, were gone, and with them had gone all that had been least like her natural self, most like the repellent conventional pattern to which her mother and her associates had molded her. But I was saying to myself: "A trap! Langdon has gone back to his wife. She turns to me." And I loved her and hated her. "Never," thought I, "has she shown so poor an opinion of me as now."

"My uncle told me day before yesterday that it was not he but you," she said, lifting her eyes to mine. It is inconceivable to me now that I could have misread their honest story; yet I did.

"I had no idea your uncle's notion of honor was also eccentric," said I, with a satirical smile that made the blood rush to her face.

"That is unjust to him," she replied, earnestly.

"He says he made you no promise of secrecy. And he confessed to me only because he wished to convince me that he had good reason for his high opinion of you."

"Really!" said I, ironically. "And no doubt he found you open wide to conviction—now." This a subtlety to let her know that I undertsood why she was seeking me.

"No," she answered, lowering her eyes. "I knew—better than he."

For an instant this, spoken in a voice I had long given up hope of ever hearing from her, staggered my cynical conviction. But—"Possibly she thinks she is sincere," reasoned my head with my heart; "even the sincerest women, brought up as was she, always have the calculator underneath; they deny it, they don't know it often, but there it is; with them, calculation is as involuntary and automatic as their pulse." So, I said to her, mockingly: "Doubtless your opinion of me has been improving steadily ever since you heard that Mrs. Langdon had recovered her husband."

She winced, as if I had struck her. "Oh!" she murmured. If she had been the ordinary woman, who in every crisis with man instinctively resorts to weakness' strongest weakness, tears, I might have a different story to tell. But she fought back the tears in which her eyes were swimming and gathered herself together. "That is brutal," she said, with not a touch of haughtiness, but not humbly, either. "But I deserve it."

"There was a time," I went on, swept in a swift current of cold rage, "there was a time when I would have taken you on almost any terms. A man never makes a complete fool of himself about a woman but once in his life, they say. I have done my stretch—and it is over."

She sighed wearily. "Langdon came to see me soon after I left your house, and went to my uncle," she said. "I will tell you what happened."

"I do not wish to hear," replied I, adding pointedly, "I have been waiting ever since you left for news of your plans."

She grew white, and my heart smote me. She came into the room and seated herself. "Won't you stop, please, for a moment longer?" she said. "I hope that, at, least, we can part without bitterness. I understand now that everything is over between us. A woman's vanity makes her belief that a man cares for her die hard. I am convinced now—I assure you, I am. I shall trouble you no more about the past. But I have the right to ask you to hear me when I say that Langdon came, and that I myself sent him away; sent him back to his wife."

"Touching self-sacrifice," said I, ironically.

SCIENCE PREVENTS BALDNESS.

The Fatal Germ and Its Remedy Now Facts of Science.

It is the rarest thing in the world for a man to be necessarily bald. No man whose hair is not dead at the roots, need be bald if he will use Newbro's Herpicide, the new scalp antiseptic. Herpicide destroys the germ that cuts the hair off at the root; and cleans the scalp of dandruff and leaves it in a perfectly healthy condition. Mr. Mannett, in the Maryland Block, Butte, Mont., was entirely bald. In less than a month Herpicide had removed the enemies of hair growth, and nature did its work by covering his head with thick hair an inch long, and in six weeks he had a normal suit of hair. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

Necromancy must needs be charmingly presented when the art is handled by so delightful an artist as Adelaide Herrmann, who is scheduled to appear at the New Plainfield theatre this afternoon and tonight. The widow of the late original Herrmann, The Great, is said to be equally as convincing as her husband who was the greatest magician of the century, in that her work during his life was that of assistant to him, and since his death she has devoted many and arduous months to the completion of a series of illusions he began.

Mirth, merriment and melody, sensations, gayety and frivolity will be the chief ingredients in the offering of "The Girl from Happyland," who is billed at the New Plainfield theatre tomorrow night. It is a well known fact that this prominent organization has always managed to be in the lead and to uphold its established reputation they have added many new and spectacular features to their offering. The three act extravaganza entitled "The Flubb-Dubb Conspiracy," which deals with a hodge podge of Metropolitan situations of prominence introduces an endless round of bully and humorous pictures. There are also numerous prominent vaudevillians in the cast who are kept busy introducing their various popular specialties. Among those best known are Howard Bros., in their sensational flying banjo feature; Friend and Downing, parodists and humorists; Goforth and Doyle, novelty entertainers; World's Comedy Four; Minnie Higgins and Joe Emerson.

One of the cleveriest musical comedies, "A Trip to Egpyt," will be the attraction at the New Plainfield theatre next Friday night. It was written by C. H. Kerr, author of "The Beauty Doctor," "Over the Fence," and other popular musical farces. There are thirty people in the cast, including Phoebe Cardownie, Fredericks Brothers and Burns, West and Price, the Dolly Sisters, Hungarian dancers; Mildred Morton, prima donna soprano; Albert Dashington, Irish comedian; vivacious Gertrude Carter, and a large chorus and pony ballet.

Statements made by the management of a theatrical attraction are sometimes regarded by the public as unreliable but when those statements are endorsed by the theatregoers and the critics of a city like New York and the play runs successfully there to full houses, those statements must be accepted as true. The manager of "A Square Deal," has stated that the Edward E. Rose political comedy is the best theatrical offering in its class for many seasons and the New York critics have gone out of their way to say that the manager has made a modest claim and to say that they thoroughly agreed with him. That seems a pretty strong guarantee that the play must be good. No critic has yet been found who did not like the production. The play comes here Saturday and local theatre patrons will be given an opportunity to judge for themselves when it is seen at the New Plainfield theatre.

One of the most attractive features of "Romeo and Juliet" are the costumes and gowns worn by Miss Florence Gale. The designs were modelled from old Italian and Austrian prints now the private collection of a famous New Yorker. The richness of the imported fabrics, expensive workmanship, exquisite patterns and elaborate embellishments combine to render them models of grace and beauty. Wherever these dresses have been seen this season, feminine theatregoers have openly expressed their admiration. Miss Gale is particularly well suited by nature to wear such fetching and costly garments, for she is of striking personal beauty as regards face and figure. The costumes worn by the other women of the cast are also artistic and attractive, while the real romantic effect of the play is doubly strengthened by the attire of the male characters in semi-military and Royal raiments, becoming the period in which the story is laid. "Romeo and Juliet will be presented at the New Plainfield theatre next Monday night.

DISTRICT COURT.

Only Two Cases Disposed of Finally —Others Off.

The defendant refused to receive the shipment, on the ground it came too late, and ordered the cloaks back. The court rendered a verdict of no cause of action. F. J. Blatz appeared for the defendant.

In the case of Charles Francis French against George A. Francis, on contract, a verdict of $61 was awarded in proof. The rest of the calendar was laid over.

MR. PERKINS COUNTS 14

Union Co. Legislator Sanguine Opposition to Dryden Will Be Successful.

GOVERNOR'S DAY TALK

Conference Between Morris and Union Legislators—Talk of Senatorial Election Investigation.

The Senatorial situation was apparently more complicated than ever when the legislators, legislators-elect and politicians went home from Trenton yesterday afternoon. The views expressed there outspoken and the rumors were of a more vivid and emphatic character.

Senator E. R. Ackerman, of this city, said that he had not changed one iota from his determination as originally expressed. He favors Governor Stokes for the place.

Assemblyman Randolph Perkins, leader in the Assembly last year, gave out an interesting interview. He said he had been around a good deal of late talking with the members of the next Legislature. He found the sentiments against Senator Dryden strong. This was especially true in the northern part of the State. If a caucus should be called now, he thought there would be an unlooked for expression of opinion. The members would not pledge themselves in advance. He believed that at least fourteen men would be against Senator Dryden to the end, which would, of course, defeat him.

He predicted that Union county would control the caucus if one should be held. As all the Union county members are understood to be opposed to Mr. Dryden, the question naturally arose as to how Senator John Kean, who resides in Elizabeth, really stood on the matter. It was freely stated that, on the quiet, Kean was against Dryden because Kean's chances would be materially lessened if the two Senators came from the same locality.

A prominent State House official, who makes no concealment of his antagonism to Dryden, said yesterday afternoon that a rock bottom Dryden could not calculate on a vote, as things stood now, from Essex, Hudson, Passaic, Bergen, Union, Monmouth, Somerset, Middlesex or Mercer.

If the joint meeting were to be held today, a South Jersey man would have to nominate Mr. Dryden, unless Senator Hillery, of Morris county, consented to do so. As Hillery is the chairman of the committee to investigate the insurance companies, which has not made its report, it is doubtful whether he would deem it wise to act as the Dryden spokesman on the floor. Hillery, in addition, is having a hard fight with Minch, of Cumberland, for the presidency of the Senate, and would not want to hamper his chances unnecessarily.

The State Senators at Trenton yesterday were Wakelee, Minch, Shinn, Ackerman, Minturn, Brown and Hutchinson. The Republican Senators understood to be adverse to Dryden are Ackerman, Colby, Hutchinson, Frelinghuysen, Minch and Wakelee. If this is accurate, adding the Democratic Senators to the list, Dryden has not a majority in the Senate.

The report that attracted the most notice was that when the Legislature met the Democrats in the House would at once offer a resolution to have a committee appointed to investigate the manner and methods employed to elect John F. Dryden in 1902, when he was chosen to fill the vacancy caused by the death of General William J. Sewell.

None of the Democrats around the corridors at the State Capitol would stand sponsor for the story, but several of them admitted that such a proposition was under consideration. Many of the party leaders seemed to be pretty positive that Senator Dryden would win, while others of the legislators voiced opposition to the Senator.

Senator Dryden himself arrived early. He went at once to the Trenton House, where he received some callers. There was a rumor, unconfirmed, that Governor Stokes, Treasurer Briggs and some others were in private conference with the Senator. Near noon the Senator presented himself at the State House. He went to the Governor's rooms and the Governor followed close after. He was followed by ex-Governor Franklin Murphy, who came up from Lakewood in his automobile. Later ex-Governor Foster M. Voorhees joined the party. At 1 o'clock Governor Stokes entertained the whole party at luncheon in the dining room under the Senate chamber. One of those stated to a reporter that nothing more serious was discussed than farming.

RAISING $50,000 FOR A MISSIONARY SCHOOL

INSTITUTION'S PRINCIPAL EXPLAINS ITS NEEDS TO CONGREGATIONAL WOMEN

The Home Missionary tea held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. John M. Whiton, of Central avenue, under the auspices of the women of the Congregational church, was largely attended. It afforded an unusual opportunity to learn much concerning the work being carried on by the graduates of the Shauffler Missionary Training School at Cleveland, Ohio. Mrs. Mary Wooster Mills, principal of that institution, made an address.

Mrs. Mills talked especially of the results of the work being done by the graduates from the school among the foreigners who are arriving in this country at the rate of 1,000 a day. The graduates of the school are taught the various languages so that they can work intelligently and Mrs. Mills related many interesting incidents to show the value of the efforts being put forth in this missionary movement.

The Shauffler Training School is maintained by the Congregational church, but Mrs. Mills said that members of all denominations are constantly seeking graduates to do special missionary work among foreigners. The school is not endowed and she is making a special effort to raise $50,000 for that purpose. During the meeting yesterday the annual thanksgiving offering was received from the women of the Congregational church.

Mrs. Curtis Bates is the president of the Home Missionary Society of the church.

In connection with the meeting Mrs. J. M. Whiton gave a tea. Mrs. J. V. Beekman and Mrs. Thomas F. Hylan poured tea and the members of the Girls' Club, of the church, served during the social hour which followed.

Mrs. Theodore Mantz rendered a solo.

DARK ROCK AVENUE.

Residents Agitating for a Light at Menacing Crossing.

Residents of the neighborhood and those who have had occasion to use the Rock avenue crossing are complaining over the lack of street lighting there. It is said that the gloom there is responsible for many stumbles and falls. One man fell several nights ago, because of a misstep in the darkness, and sprained his wrist, besides cutting his hand.

The section beyond the tracks is being built up rapidly, and the number of men and women who desire to use the crossing is growing almost daily. There is no light on Rock avenue from Front street to Second street. The crossing at best is a bad one, and it is felt that the city would be doing little enough if it placed a light there.

Somerset Courts.

In the Somerset county courts at Somerville late yesterday afternoon six Peapack Italians were found guilty of atrocious assault on Antonia Napolitano. The trial was the result of a scrap last summer in which Napolitano was severely beaten by the six men, he having gone into their shanty to get a cup. Two days were consumed by the case. The trial of Giavanni Gabbianelle, of Raritan, charged with the embezzlement og $187 from Michael Troizi, a saloon keeper by whom he was employed, was taken up this morning and will go to the jury late this afternoon.

Thanksgiving at the Relief.

Each year adds new families to the list of those to whom the Plainfield Relief Association gives Thanksgiving dinners, and to meet these increasing demands the officers of the association appeal to the generosity of the citizens of Plainfield. Gifts of money are asked for and should be sent as soon as possible to the treasurer, Miss Tillie Moore, 717 Watchung avenue; also poultry, groceries, fruit, etc. These should be at the rooms, 544 West Front street, not later than 12 o'clock on Wednesday, Nov. 29.

Dr. Carroll to Lecture.

The Public Education Society, of Somerville, has secured Dr. H. K. Carroll, of this city, to lecture on Porto Rico at its next meeting on Monday evening, Dec. 3, in the assembly room of the public school building in Somerville. Dr. Carroll is well versed in the subject, having been commissioned to Porto Rico during President McKinley's administration.

Michael Heffernan's Funeral.

The funeral of Michael Heffernan, who died at Muhlenberg hospital from apoplexy, was held at St. Mary's church this morning. The mass was conducted by Rev. Father Delehanty in the presence of a gathering of friends. Interment was made in St. Mary's ceemtery.

BANKERS DINE IN HONOR OF ALEXANDER GILBERT

DIRECTORS OF HIS BANK TENDER HIM A BANQUET IN NEW YORK.

The directors of the Market & Fulton National Bank, of New York, of which Alexander Gilbert is president, tendered him a complimentary dinner last night. The dinner was held at the Metropolitan Club.

Covers were laid for thirty. Among the guests were bankers of distinction in the Wall street district. Mayor-elect Charles J. Fisk, Charles W. McCutchen, John B. Dumont and J. C. Gilbert, of this city, were present.

Mr. Gilbert was recently elected president of the New York Clearing House. The position is second, in the financial world, to that of the Secretary of the Treasury. He has been head of the Market & Fulton Bank for a number of years and is considered one of the best authorities on matters pertaining to finance.

PLAINFIELD SUPPORTS UNION'S LEGISLATORS

ADDRESSING THEM BY PETITION AND LETTER TO BE FIRM AGAINST DRYDEN.

Warm endorsement of Senator Ackerman and his Assembly colleagues in the Legislature who followed his lead in ignoring Dryden as a candidate for re-election to the United States Senate is expressed by many of the rank and file of the party here. Letters commending the stand they have taken have been written and signatures, preparatory to sending them to the Senator and to Assemblymen Perkins, Tillman and Moxon, are being secured. Men of the strictest "regularity" in the party, as well as their more "independent" brethren are signing.

"As Republican voters of Union county, we desire to express to you the gratification with which we have learned of your recent statement as to your choice for United States Senator. We interpret your statement as meaning that you are opposed to the re-election of Senator John F. Dryden, and we feel sure that in the decision which you have reached in regard to this matter, you have correctly gauged the wishes of a majority of the people of this county.

"In view of the present state of the public mind as disclosed by the recent election, we believe that aside from any question as to Senator Dryden's fitness or unfitness for the high office which he now holds, his re-election would be extremely unwise from a political point of view, if New Jersey is to continue in the Republican ranks."

The body of the letter to the Assemblymen is almost the same, but instead of the phrase "your recent statement as to your choice for United States Senator" it reads "statement made by some of your number, etc.;" and this paragraph is added:

"We therefore sincerely trust that in the Republican caucus, the delegation to the Assembly from Union county will be found united in opposition to such re-election."

DR. LINDSAY TO ADDRESS ORGANIZED AID ASS'N.

U. of P. Professor to Speak Here Tuesday Night on Public Charity.

The annual meeting of the Organized Aid Association will be held in the parlors of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, Tuesday night, to discuss the question of consolidation with the Plainfield Relief Association. A few weeks ago the relief association met and voted to consolidate with the Organized Aid Association, now the question will be acted upon by the latter organization. There appears to be no doubt but that the merger will be made.

At the meeting of the Organized Aid Association, Samuel McCune Lindsay, secretary of the National Child Labor Committee, will make an address. Dr. Lindsay is professor of political history in the University of Pennsylvania, one of the governors of the newly-organized "People's Lobby" at Washington, former special commissioner of education at Porto Rico, and a man of national distinction in various ways, well worth hearing.

Fire at the Swayze Farm.

Fire visited the R. H. Swayze place on the River road at Bound Brook, early this morning, and destroyed the big barn and outbuildings. The live stock and a costly touring car were gotten out in safety. The loss will reach several thousand dollars.

—Charles Stranzenbach, of West Front street, has taken a position at Fred Endress' market.

WORK ON MURDER THEORY

The Result of Examination of Uliano Woman's Body to be Given County Prosecutor.

AUTHORITIES ACTIVE

County Coroner and County Physician Make Examination—Warrants May Be Issued.

An investigation covering the past twenty-four hours has convinced the New Providence authorities that Mrs. Georgianna Uliano, whose mutilated body was found in the woods near that place, Monday night, met death violently at the hands of some person or persons. They are working on the murder theory and the matter will be placed in the hands of County Prosecutor N. C. J. English. When the body was first discovered it was thought that the woman had committed suicide and that dogs had dismembered the parts but later developments have tended to make them think otherwise.

County Physician F. W. Westcott and Coroner C. B. Lufburrow visited Cole's undertaking rooms in this city this morning and made a closer examination of the body than at any time before, paying particular attention to the skull for evidences of depressions. At noon they called in Chief Kiely but what they discovered or what suspicions they entertained were not made known. Both physicians refused to talk and the chief declared that he had no information to divulge at this time. It was asserted, however, that the result of the investigation would be made known to the prosecutor.

Sheriff Lawrence, whose home is in Summit and who visited the scene of the discovery, stated today that he believed the woman was murdered at a place some distance from the woods and that the mutilated portions of the body were conveyed to the spot in a wagon and there burned. Julian DeMark, who lives next door to the house occupied by the Ulianos, told the sheriff that he heard the woman and her husband quarreling shortly before she left home. Uliano when questioned, emphatically denied that there had been any trouble between he and his wife and that her disappearance had puzzled him as much as anyone.

The New Providence police said today that they expected to make an arrest in the case.

The suspicions or investigation has not left the authorities to interfere with the funeral arrangements and the body was removed from this city to Stony Hill this afternoon. A service is to be conducted in the church at hat place this afternoon.

GRAND JURY THROUGH.

Returned This Morning With a Batch of Thirty Indictments.

The Union County Grand Jury completed its labors this morning and at 12 o'clock brought in a batch of thirty indictments, making sixty-two in all for the term. It also handed up a presentment against the New Jersey Central for not maintaining proper safe-guards at the Schiller street crossing, Elizabeth.

After being formally discharged, the jurymen adjourned to the Burkely hotel where dinner was served. During an intermission, the foreman, Benjamin King, of Clark township, was presented with a silver loving cup. The presentation address was made by John S. Sauer, of Elizabeth, and the recipient responded fittingly.

May Install Light Plant.

The question of installing an independent lighting plant at the Plainfield Country Club with which to light the clubhouse, was discussed at a meeting of the trustees held at the Casino, last night. It was the opinion of those present that it be a wise move to provide an independent system of lighting. E. T. Barrows was appointed a committee of one to investigate the matter and report later. There was also some talk about the annual meeting of the club to be held in February, when officers will be elected and plans for the coming year decided upon.

Only the Furnace.

Fire headquarters received a telephone message this morning that the Crescent Avenue church was on fire. The apparatus was hustled out but on reaching the structure it was found that there was "nothing doing." The smoke from the furnace has a peculiar outlet from the roof and the person who sent in the alarm thought there was trouble.

Fisk Chooses Offices.

Mayor-elect Charles Joel Fisk has decided to locate his office January first on the second floor of the Woolston & Buckle building on North avenue, the room formerly being used by Charles A. Reed as his private office, when Reed & Coddington occupied a suite of rooms in that building.

SOCIETY GATHERS FOR ELABORATE LUNCHEON

GIVEN BY MRS. C. J. FISK IN HONOR OF MRS. B. VAND. HEDGES.

Mrs. Charles Joel Fisk, wife of Mayor-elect Fisk, gave a charming luncheon today at her home in honor of Mrs. B. VanD. Hedges, wife of Dr. Hedges, of Watchung avenue. There were about eighty guests, including those most prominent in local society affairs.

The home in West Seventh street was elaborately decorated for the occasion, the prevailing color being pink. In the dining room the table was lavishly garnished with pink roses. Holland, of Philadelphia, was the caterer.

Dr. and Mrs. Hedges were married a few months ago, and since their return to Plainfield, several brilliant social functions have been given in honor of Mrs. Hedges for the purpose of introducing her to society.

"HOLY CITY" WELL RENDERED AT GRACE

Gaul's "Holy City" was splendidly rendered by the choir of Grace P. E. church, last night, at a musical service held for the benefit of the music fund. There was a large congregation, and the offering was proportionately liberal.

The choir was only slightly augmented, and the excellence of the rendition reflects a delightfully large amount of credit on the singers under organist William E. MacClymont. The chorus brought out the beauty of the cantata to a noteworthy degree.

The soloists were Mrs. Theodore Mantz, soprano; William J. Tallamy, tenor; Miss Millie Pottgieser, contralto, of New York, and Arthur H. Chamberlain, basso. Miss Pottgieser was the only outside soloist. Dr. Waldo played the 'cello in a duet with Mr. MacClymont.

Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, the rector, offered the prayers, and gave a brief history of the cantata before the musical feast opened.

A PUBLIC CHARGE.

Efforts to Have City Care for Scotch Plains Woman.

Margaret Comiskey, who has been living at the home of James Connolly, of Scotch Plains, was brought to Plainfield this morning by Overseer of the Poor Augustus Klemser and Mr. Connolly to have her put in the hospital. They claim that she is suffering from a tumor and is not able to take care of herself. As Overseer of the Poor Alex Ayers was not at his office, Chief Kiely was notified. He learned from Mr. Klemser that he had a warrant issued by Justice Clark, of Scotch Plains, authorizing the removal of the woman to this city. Chief Kiely disputed the right of Justice Clark to take any action in the case.

The Comiskey woman was in the hospital three years ago when Connolly hired her as his housekeeper. Dr. C. B. Lufburrow, the city physician, has been called in on the matter by the other authorities.

When Connolly was asked by Chief Kiely as to the whereabouts of his wife, he replied that she went away some time ago with a colored man.

MR. BUTTFIELD FORTUNATE.

Miss Banahan and Miss Westcott Are Winners.

W. J. Buttfield's fine bays, Miss Banahan and Miss Westcott, won the $50 prize at the opening of the horse show in Madison Square Garden on Monday. There was sharp competition between them and the Philadelphia winners, Lettie Lee and Leonora, who came in for first prize.

Yesterday Mr. Buttfield's same pair won the first prize, $200, in class 13, pairs of horses four years old or over, shown to harness or wagons. Conformation, substance, style of going, shoeing, bitting action, manners, and as they are and appear at the time of showing in the ring considered in judging. Mr. Buttfield drove his team yesterday.

Mrs. Townley Calls Meeting.

ELKS PLAN ANNUAL MEMORIAL SERVICE

Plans for the annual memorial service of the Elks will be completed by Plainfield Lodge at its meeting tonight. The date for the service has already been set, and the speaker secured.

As is always the case, the music will be of unusual character. Townsend H. Fellows, a baritone, will lead the singing. Mr. Fellows is a brother of Miss Blanche Fellows, well remembered as a soloist at the First Baptist church. He is related by marriage to S. P. T. Wilbur.

Rev. Dr. Glazebrook is a pulpit orator of unusual finish. He is chaplain of the Elizabeth Elks and of the Second Regiment, N. G. N. J.

FIVE DOMESTIC FILLATES FOR TRENTON DIOCESE.

Pope Pius X Appoints Them on Bishop McFaul's Request.

Rt. Rev. James A. McFaul, Catholic bishop of the diocese of Trenton, received from Pope Pius X. yesterday a cablegram assuring him of the appointment of the five domestic fillates for whose elevation to that dignity the bishop had made a request to the pontiff on his recent visit to the vatican. The priests were given the honors for their participation in the arrangements for the silver jubilee of the Trenton diocese.

When the bishop had his audience with his holiness, he informed him that the silver jubilee of the diocese of Trenton would be celebrated on November 27, and the pontiff cheerfully granted these honors to several of the leading priests.

There are many old and distinguished clergymen in the diocese of Trenton, and it was difficult to select one as more worthy than another for preferment. After much consideration the bishop thought it best to nominate clergymen from the various nationalities. No doubt at some future time other aged priests will be similarly honored.

The bishop entertained the new prelates at lunch yesterday in his residence in Trenton. All were present except Monsignor O'Connell, who is ill.

Those who received the honors at the hands of the pontiff are: Rt. Rev. Monsignor P. F. Connolly, dean of Philadelphia; Rt. Rev. Monsignor Frederick Kiveltz, dean of Freehold; Rt. Rev. Monsignor John F. Brady, of St. Mary's church, South Amboy; Rt. Rev. Bernard T. O'Connell, rector of St. Mary's church, Perth Amboy; Rt. Rev. Monsignor Aloysius Pozzi, rector of St. Joachim's church, of Trenton.

The cablegram was signed by Monsignor Kennedy, rector of the American college at Rome.

CATHOLIC FAIR CLOSES.

Goodly Sum Realized for Building Fund in South Plainfield.

The three-nights' fair for the benefit of the Catholic church fund at South Plainfield, closed last night at Washington, that place. The proceeds were large.

The attendance was heavy. Music and dancing were features, and an informal entertainment programme was presented, in which P. J. Kane scored a hit with a humorous monologue.

Prizes were won as follows: P. J. McDonough, ton of coal; Walton Smith, barrel of flour; F. Miller, umbrella; Mrs. Linebury, spread; Mrs. Charles Shirley, table; Mrs. Hogan, rug; M. Pyatt, toilet set; Cornice Hennen, dress suit case; Mrs. Mary Phillips, set of dishes; Mrs. J. Geary, parlor lamp; James Savard, pair of blankets; T. Klein, lace curtains.

Other things were left until December 15, when the parish will hold a fair for one night, to decide who is the lucky winner for the contest for a diamond ring, in which Miss Hogan, Miss Geary and Miss McGuire are interested.

K. G. E. Election Change.

By order of the Grand Castle, communicated to Freedom Castle, No. 42, K. G. E., last night, the castle election will be held in the forepart of December this year, instead of late in the month. The order was promulgated to enable the members whose evenings are apt to be taken up during the holiday season to get to the meeting. The nominations will be made next Tuesday night, and the election will follow a week later.

Sesame Club Meeting.

The Sesame Club will meet tomorrow morning at the residence of Mrs. G. S. Simons, No. 822 Second place.

THREE HORSES ROASTED

Patrolman Makes Futile Attempt to Rescue Maddened Animals From Flames.

A BARN DESTROYED

Hearse and Other Vehicles and Harness Also Lost In Mysterious Blaze in Moore's Barn.

Three horses were burned to death and a money loss of at least $3,000 was brought about by a fire which broke out shortly after 1 o'clock this morning in the barn belonging to Undertaker Thomas A. Moore and situated in the rear of his home on East Sixth street, near Scott place. The fact that no wind was blowing and prompt work on the part of the city department prevented a serious conflagration as the Moore residence and two others nearby, occupied by Charles Bock and John Miller, were smoking from the heat when water was first thrown on them. The cause of the fire is unknown.

The blaze was first noticed a few minutes past one by Patrolman Theodore Martin, who had previously detected a strong smell of smoke in the air and was trying to locate the origin. He first hurried to the barn and made an attempt to get the horses but when he had broken in the door, two of the animals had been suffocated and the other was in such a position that he could not reach it. He withdrew with his face scorched and his hair singed and stopping only long enough to rap heavily at the Moore door to arouse the sleeping inmates, ran to Seventh street and Franklin place to turn in an alarm from box 23. At the same time some one else pulled box 63 and both were sounded, bringing out all the city apparatus with the exception of one hose company.

The barn and its contents made a fierce fire and the blaze lighted up the entire eastern section of the city. With the arrival of the firemen, three hydrant streams were soon playing on the burning structure and the chemical engine took care of the houses on East Seventh street, directly back of the building. Beside a large quantity of hay, Mr. Moore's hearse and four other vehicles, one of them Dr. Roland Tomlinson's carriage, a half dozen sets of harness, undertaking supplies and other property was consumed. Two of the horses were Mr. Moore's and the other belonged to Dr. Tomlinson. The loss is partially covered by insurance.

Chief Doane and Mr. Moore have both made an effort to determine the cause of the fire but as yet it is merely supposition. The structure was lighted by electricity and it might possibly have been from a cross of the wires. The theories have also been advanced that spontaneous combustion may have generated in some new hay that had just been put in or in the embalming fluids that Mr. Moore kept in his workshop. The barn was a well built structure and was practically destroyed. The firemen had hard work in extinguishing the last bit of flame and it was 2:30 this morning before they left the scene.

Conference at Trenton.

County Clerk Daniel Voorhees and Assemblyman Richard J. Chaplin were at Trenton from Morris, and had a lengthy conference with the Union men, which gave observers the impression that Morris would be found in the anti-Dryden column when the time came. The two Morris men laughed when asked if that was so and said that Morris stood where it did last week, was pledged to no one and would vote in the caucus for the man whose election to the United States Senate would conserve the best interests of the Republican party.

Elmer Squier Re-instated.

Elmer Squier, who has been employed as night clerk at the post office, and who suddenly left the office one morning, remaining away for several days, has been reinstated, after being cautioned not to repeat the offense. At the time of his disappearance, Postmaster Bird was on his vacation. He claims that he left a note explaining his action, though it was not found. Ac Mr. Squier's record was a good one and this was his first offense, the postal authorities were lenient with him.

Pupils' Recital.

The first recital this winter of the pupils of Miss F. May Grant was given at her home on East Seventh street, Saturday night. A pleasing programme was presented and the pupils were well received.

"Ninety and Nine" Pictured.

Charles L. Lewis will sing "Ninety and Nine" at the Y. M. C. A. meeting Sunday afternoon, and a stereopticon will illustrate it. Rev. Charles L. Goodrich will speak.

NEWS IN THE SUBURBS.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY

Plans have been made for a series of revival meetings at the M. E. church, to begin Monday night, January 14. One of the speakers will be Rev. Dr. John Krantz, of the Methodist Book Concern. He is a former Somerville pastor.

Robert Lowrie has sold his lots on Madison avenue, between North avenue and Front street, to E. E. Walton, of Philadelphia. The purchaser intends to build several houses. The sale was engineered by D. L. Gulick.

Miss Lou Gise, who is the secretary of literature and of reading circles, read reports at the recent meeting of the Women's Home Missionary Society of the Newark Conference in Newark.

Conforming to a recent solemn and duly enacted resolution, the borough building committee has scattered a dozen cuspidors about the municipal hall.

Mrs. Herman Muller has rented the house on Prospect avenue recently occupied by Alexander Karst. She intends to open a boarding-house.

Superintendent Meseroll and his staff of teachers have planned to attend the institute to be held at New Brunswick Friday of next week.

There was a good attendance at the revival meeting last night. Rev. J. O. McKelvey, of Plainfield, spoke.

Former State Senator Welsh, of German Valley, was in the village yesterday looking over his property.

The pastor will speak at the Presbyterian revival tomorrow night.

Several repairs are to be made to the roof of the borough building.

Miss Cora Dayton has recovered from her recent illness.

Court Dunellen has a new and additional set of quoits.

Mrs. Jacob Fem is steadily recovering.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD

Funeral service of Mrs. Jane Powers, wife of Perry Powers, of Glenside, were held yesterday morning at 9:30 from the home of her brother, Harry Dugan, at Somerville, and at 10 o'clock from the Church of the Immaculate Conception. Interment was made at Somerville. The service was attended by a number of friends and neighbors from here.

This is the last week of the two weeks' union revival meetings being held by Rev. T. Moore-Smith, of the Baptist, and Rev. A. H. Cook, of the Methodist church. The meetings this week are being held in the Baptist church. Last night's meeting was in charge of Rev. Mr. Hoffman, a former pastor of the Methodist church.

The baseball team has about settled upon the night of December 13 as the date for the entertainment to be held for the purpose of bringing the club's treasury to a more healthy condition. Muir's Gold Medal Minstrels will be the attraction and it is needless to say the troupe will be greeted with a crowded house.

David Hand, of Netherwood, has opened up a new tract of land near Terrill road and North avenue. The property has been cut up into building lots, and ten houses are to be erected by Mr. Hand, several of them being already underway. The new section has been named Midway.

The sale of the Fanwood clubhouse to Peter Ritter will probably not affect the Suburban Club for the present, as it is said they hold a lease of the building until April 1.

John Wade, who has been spending several days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Abram Wade, has returned to his studies at the Collegiate Centenary Institute, Hackettstown.

Hetfield & Weldon, the owners of the stone crusher in the valley, have orders enough ahead to keep the crusher working all winter.

"The Girl from Happyland" is Manager Counihan's attraction at the New Plainfield theatre tonight.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

The weather continues mild and pleasant for farmers who have not yet finished husking. One farmer near here was so slow last winter that his entire field of stalks were frozen in a sleet storm so tight that they remained on the field all winter.

The Catholic fair and bazaar, which closed Monday evening, netted the members of St. John's parish a handsome sum toward a church. They feel so much encouraged that another fair will be held in the near future.

The manager at the golf links has finished cutting sod from W. E. Smith's pasture from where they took the sod to fill out sunken spots on the golf course.

The members of the Morrison family, who were stricken with diphtheria, are now on the road to recovery.

Kimble, of Elizabeth; fourth, Tuesday, December 4, "Mishaps and Misfits," by Rev. George C. Wilding, D. D., of Paterson; fifth, Tuesday, December 18, "Men for Our Times," by Rev. Chas. S. Ryman, D. D.; sixth, Thursday, December 20, "Thirty Nights in a Sleeping Car," by Rev. Perry Bascom.

A quiet wedding took place at Mount Horeb Methodist parsonage on Election Day, November 6, in the marriage of Jacob B. Giddes, son of Oza and Sarah Giddes, of Warrenville, and Miss Kittie E. Nolte, daughter of Charles and Theresa Nolte, also of Warrenville, by Rev. William Stout, pastor of Methodist church at Mt. Horeb.

The heavy fall of snow on Thursday last has disappeared and the farmers have taken their place beside the corn heap picking and husking the corn, determined not to be found napping when the next fall of snow comes.

—Mr. and Mrs. Louis O. Barton, formerly of Sandford avenue, are now residing on East Fifth street.

—The annual inspection of Co. K will be held early in January at the armory. The inspection officer has not yet been announced.

A SMALL WASHING

When a housewife "does out" her fine handkerchiefs or laces it is often too windy to hang them out of doors.

It is not necessary if a gas heater is in the house.

They may be hung in any room, the heater lighted and they dry before they have time to materially effect the atmosphere by their dampness.

The heater may be used for innumerable other purposes.

It is available for sleeping, sewing or bath-rooms at any time by attaching the tube to the gas jet.

Price $1.50 and upwards.

Pianos for the Economical

You Can Buy One For $5 a Month.

It should not be imagined that because we represent such high-grade instruments as the Hardman, Kranich & Bach & Gabler that we do not sell the more moderately priced instruments. We have two particularly good low-cost makes which we believe are by odds the best instruments on the market selling at such low prices.

HENSEL PIANOS, $225.

SPENCER PIANOS, $185.

There are those who do not wish to invest a great deal of money in a piano—some for pecuniary reasons alone; others because the introduction of a piano into the home is somewhat of an experiment. A good many people who have just begun giving children music lessons are not sure that the musical talent of the children is sufficient to justify a large expenditure for a musical instrument. They desire to first see if the child develops into a musician and whether the piano is sufficiently fascinating to it to make it worth while educating it and giving it a high-class instrument to perform upon.

To these the Hensel and Spencer Pianos will appeal strongly for they are excellent, tuneful instruments in which the musical qualities are first-class and the durability remarkable. In general appearance and finish they cannot be equaled for the money.

Not only for those experimenting are these low-cost pianos useful, but they are especially good for use in public places, in dance halls, clubs and the like, where hard usage is often given.

We make it extremely easy for anyone to buy either of these pianos.

The Hensel will cost you $225 and you can secure it by paying only $10 down and $6 a month thereafter.

The Spencer will cost $185, which may be paid $10 down and only $5 a month thereafter—merely a fraction more than rental would cost.

A noted physician of Pittsburg, Pa., in a recent letter to Dr. Oidman says:

"In your prescription known as 'Pepsoids' you have given the medical world the greatest and most valued discovery in medicine of the present century. You have at last solved the problem that has baffled the skill of the best physicians of recent times, how to cure permanently all Acute or Chronic Stomach Diseases known as Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Catarrh of the Stomach and Digestive Weakness. I have used your prescription, 'Pepsoids,' in hundreds of cases without a single failure. I attribute the success of your treatment mainly to the fact that the disease germs of the stomach cannot resist Pepsoids. Your theory that most Stomach Diseases are brought about by multitudes of nefarious disease-breeding germs must be correct, judging from the remarkable results attained from the use of your 'Pepsoids.' I consider 'Pepsoids' the best and most valuable remedy yet discovered, for the treatment of stubborn stomach ailments."

Pepsoids cure Dyspepsia and all Stomach Diseases, in a new way, by repairing the wornout lining of the Stomach and at the same time, destroy all disease-breeding germs. Dyspepsia and the worst forms of Stomach Disorders once cured in this way never returns.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

GOLF.

Despite the fact that the golf season is rapidly waning enthusiasts still follow the game on the local links and will continue to do so as long as weather permits.

Harry Vardon has declined the invitation to play a series of matches in Australia this winter, but may possibly visit the Antipodes next year. In spite of his fine play this year he is far from being well.

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Morris County Country Club held on Monday for the election of fifteen directors and a committee of three to nominate candidates for the offices to be filled at the annual meeting, those elected were as follows: For directors—John O. H. Pitney, George G. Frelinghuysen, Charles W. Harkness, George C. Palmer, Ransom H. Thomas, Hamilton McK. Twombly, Louis A. Thebaud and John I. Waterbury. The seven candidates selected by the regular and associate members of the club, known as club nominees, are: Joseph B. Dickson, Robert D. Foote, William Shippen, Wynant D. Vanderpool, Albert H. Vernam, Ridley Watts and Richard H. Williams. Nominating committee—George C. Palmer, Wynant D. Vanderpool and Peter H. B. Frelinghuysen.

The Eastern Professional Golfers' Association has practically decided not to hold its next championship tournament in the spring. This may result in the withdrawal of the Country Club of Brookline's offer, which suggested a spring date as well as a possible combination with the Massachusetts open championship tournament. The almost unanimous opinion among the professionals at their recent meeting was in favor of a fall date. They prefer October to any other month.

From now on the sale of foreign made golf balls in this country will cease. Futher legal trouble was averted yesterday by the defendants in the suit confessing judgment, paying damages and agreeing to return his stock of balls of foreign manufacture.

There is a chance of a team of American woman golfers going abroad to compete in the championship tournament at Newcastle next spring. It is generally admitted now that there is little or no difference between the best players of Great Britain and America.

Robert Weir, the young man from the Wilmington Country Club, continued his good work at Lakewood on Saturday by winning the chief cup, defeating E. L. De Forest, of Shinnecock Hills, 4 up and 3 to play in the final round. R. L. Redfield, of the Montclair and Essex County Country Club, also won a cup.

One of the lowest eighteen-hole scores made this season was credited to David Robertson, professional of the Pittsburg Golf Club. He went out in 30 and back in 33, for a total of 63. Robertson had nine threes, seven of which were made consecutively. The former record for the Pittsburg course was 64, held by W. C. Fownes, Jr., the well-known amateur.

Harry Mackey, of Atlantic City, made a remarkable record during the Lakewood tournament last week. The twelfth hole is 270 yards long, yet Mackey made it in 3 five times in succession.

In winning the third division cup at Lakewood on Saturday, J. Hains Lippincott, of Atlantic City, scored his first win in a tournament. He defeated one of his club mates in the final round.

BOWLING.

The Park Club bowling team is getting in fine condition for the opening of the Central Journal Bowling League tournament early in December. Under the direction of F. O. Ball, captain, the bowlers practice nearly every night.

Arrangements are about completed for the ten-pin and cocked-hat bowling tournaments to be held at the Park Club through the winter. These are open to the club members and there promises to be unusual interest.

William Barlow is one of the best bowlers at the Park Club. In following his work on the alleys there is a uniform excellence which makes him a valuable member of the team.

MR. ACKERMAN'S POSITION.

Senator Ernest R. Ackerman gave a statement regarding his position on the election of a United States Senator to a Courier-News reporter last evening which may be construed to mean that he will not "bolt" the Republican caucus choice for that office.—Courier-News.

For ourselves we do not believe that Senator Ackerman ever made any statement to the reporter which might "be construed to mean that he will not bolt the Republican caucus choice." Senator Ackerman is far too wise a man to commit himself to any such course, particularly at this stage of the political game. That he will not vote for a Democrat under any circumstances is not to be wondered at. The truth of the matter is that he so stated in so many words in these columns some days ago. When the question was put to him direct, the Senator, it will be recalled, dismissed it with the assertion that such an idea was too ridiculous to be considered; that there were many good Republicans who might be voted for.

Furthermore we do not believe that the Senator from Union, knowing him as we do, ever gave out any interview as to what course he would take in a party caucus. That he may go into such a conference when the proper time comes is to be expected. But that he will be bound by it is quite another thing. He could, for instance, take part in the deliberations of his party colleagues with the distinct understanding that he was not to be held to any majority rule, or that his future course should not be restricted by anything which the majority might vote to be best.

Senator Ackerman represents Union county and he knows better than his colleagues from other parts of the State what are the wishes of his constituents. For him to be bound by a caucus as to his vote for an United States Senator, or for anything else, would be making the members of that caucus his constituents. He knows that as well as any other person does.

We venture the prediction that no matter what the outcome of any party caucus may be, Senator Ernest R. Ackerman will cast his vote in the joint session of the Legislature convened for that purpose for the Republican he believes would be most suitable to his own constituents, the Republicans of Union county.

In Memoriam.

Miss Anna O. Marsh was born and always lived in Plainfield. She was the second daughter of the late Elston Marsh. She passed from the scenes of her earthly activities on Monday, November 19. She exemplified a noble type of Christian womanhood, unselfish, consecrated and unswerving in principle. She was scrupulously faithful in the performance of all her duties, secular and religious. In her chosen profession of music she was proficient and skillful as a teacher. From childhood she has been identified with the First Baptist church, the spiritual home of her parents, and on her mother's side as far back as the planting of the oldest Baptist church in New Jersey, 1686-89. She leaves as survivors of the family three sisters, Miss Minnie S. Marsh, Mrs. Helen M. McCutchen and Mrs. Lizzie M. Leonard. This afternoon the last services are being conducted at her late residence, 915 Madison avenue, Pastor Chambliss officiating. Interment will be made in Evergreen cemetery.—Contributed.

Real Estate and Men Who Boom It.

CHARLES H. HAND.

Charles H. Hand, of Watchung avenue, looking back over a busy and prosperous year, sees signs that Netherwood is to grow greater, and calculates that the extreme West End is due for a steady rise in population and taxable values. To his mind, the biggest thing that has happened to any section of the city in the past year is the acquisition of the Netherwood Hotel by Mrs. Truell. In connection with which Mr. Hand sings a little sunshine song, as is to be seen hereinafter.

Said Mr. Hand when the interviewer got him properly started:

"In the past year I have sold very nearly $100,000 worth of real estate by contract and actual sales, wherein the money passed. I have sold some forty vacant lots in the twelve months.

"We have had a great many applications from New York and Brooklyn for houses that would rent for from $300 to $600 a year, and would sell for $4,000 to $6,000; and we couldn't fill them. We couldn't fill half the applications we had. From the experience I have had in real estate, I think if 200 houses were built in this city between now and next May we could find a ready market for them all.

"Netherwood looks like the most swiftly growing section to me. The demand for houses there far exceeds the supply, both as to rentals and purchases. With the opening of the hotel at Netherwood next spring, the demand for property in that neighborhood will exceed anything we have ever seen. Applications for property about the hotel are already coming in.

"It is very plain that the hotel, running steadily on a prosperous basis, will be a most valuable factor in upbuilding Netherwood, and in making it an integral part of the growth and activity of the city. This being so, it is the part of wisdom and simple self-advancement for all Netherwoodites to do all in their power to make the hotel a success. To speak optimistically and encouragingly of it, for one thing, and not merely stand dubiously aside and recall the fact that it hasn't been a success in other hands. Let them sing its praises—and they can do that without injuring the delicate fabric of truth—to their city friends and associates, and urge it upon them as a splendid place of residence, part of the year or all year—as it will be.

"Now that Netherwood has been set aside by general consent as the select and desirable residence section let something be done to turn the attention of homeseekers of moderate means to the West End. There are ideal locations for such investors in that section. Take the neighborhood about the Clinton avenue station, for instance, where the Home Real Estate Company, of which I am manager, has been actively developing splendid home sites; lots of the most desirable sort can be secured for from $150 to $400. No part of the city is healthier than that neighborhood.

"I see no reason why the city of Plainfield should not add 10,000 to its inhabitants in five years, if the city were properly advertised in the metropolitan and Jersey papers. No other place of its character has brighter prospects, and a many other towns have prospects far less bright."

THE FORUM.

In Justice to Mr. Moynihan.

Editor, The Daily Press:

I noticed an article in The Daily Press under date of Nov. 20, 1906, relating to the contest in Dunellen over the collectorship between one I. J. Stites, deacon of the M. E. church and temperance advocate supported by the Junior Order of American Mechanics on one side and John Moynihan, an advocate of liquor license and opponent on the bishops' law on the other.

As to Deacon Stites' standing in the M. E. church and Junior Order I know nothing, but I do know Mr. Moynihan's record on the liquor question. He became a member of our society here away back in 1875, and his every work and action has contributed to its support. He was for many years our honored president, and he is now and always was in good standing.

The citizens of Dunellen may vote him down on this question but they cannot alter his record with us.

(Signed) Thelesphore Parent, Jr., Secretary St. Mary's Total Abstinence Benevolent Society.

CLAIMED ALCOHOL SPEEDS TUBERCULOSIS RAVAGES

New York, Nov. 21.—A paper on "Alcohol and Tuberculosis" was read by Dr. T. D. Crothers, of Hartford, Conn., before the American International Congress on Tuberculosis here last Thursday. He said:

"Alcohol as a remedy or a preventive medicine is a most dangerous drug. All preparations of sirups containing spirits rather increase than diminsh the disease.

"They may cover up the bad symptoms, but they increase the poisons and the soil of the growth of the consumtive germs. Rock and rye prescriptions make the conditions more incurable.

"Alcohol is a narcotic, and while quieting the pain, lessening the cough, diminishes vitality and power of nature to overcome the disease. Consumption and alcoholism are twin sisters. The subsidence of the one is followed by the development of the other.

"A very large per cent. of the so-called inebriates, or persons who have stopped drinking, die of consumption or pneumonia.

"A large number of consumptives become inebriates and die suddenly. Consumption associated or following moderate or excessive drinking is always marked by severe hemorrhages.

"Alcohol seems to have weakened the blood vessels of the lungs and predisposed to the growth of consumption and other acute diseases.

"The congestion of the face from excessive use of spirits is the same in the lungs. Hence, a chill, or any special disturbance, develops congestion, pneumonia and death.

"The excessive drinker of spirits whose breath gives evidence of alcohol being thrown off is permanently injuring his lungs and inviting consumption.

"Alcoholic parents are followed by consumptive children, and consumptive parents have alcoholic children. Statistics show that at least a third of the descendants of inebriates have consumption, and fully a fourth of the children of consumptives become spirit drinkers.

"Spirit drinkers living in close, bad air, always have lung diseases. Alcohol and drug taking—are very active causes of consumptive, for the reason that they diminish the vitality of the body and the power to resist bacteria invasions. Also they add to the toxines and poisons of the system.

"Sonsumption may not break out from these causes, but pneumonia is almost certain to follow. Children born during this period are almost certain to be inebriates in any ordinary exposure.

"Both of these diseases depend on poisons and low vitality.

"In alcoholism the system is starved and the brain and nerves suffer, and alcohol is a most grateful narcotic.

"In consumption a local inflammation exists, encouraged by low resisting power and general degeneration.

"Mountain sanitariums can do little toward permanent restoration unless all other conditions are favorable.

"Absolute freedom from all alcoholic, wines and beers, also from dust and noise, and in conditions where the air is in active circulation, are great remedial forces which can often be had in the homes.

"Both alcoholism and tuberculosis, one the 'Great White Plague,' and the other the 'Great Black One,' are a menace to civilization and a reflection on the failure of medical men to permit them to grow and develop without the most strenuous protest.

"Consumption is attracting a great deal of attention, alcoholism is neglected and the preventable deaths from both will exceed in numbers any estimates of the present. Of the hundred thousand inebriates dying every year, consumption and pneumonia are the most prominent causes at the last. Of the vast army of consumptives a very large per cent. are inebriates, alcoholics and spirit and drug takers.

"Bad air, laden with germs and contact with other victims are all insignificant causes, compared with the degenerations fro alcohol, and the toxines from neglect of healthy living.

"Tuberculosis and alcoholism are so closely associated that all measures of prevention and treatment, must recognize this relation, if they succeed. Both of them can be stamped out, the same as yellow or typhoid fevers, and the work of the future will be in this direction."

STOKES SPEAKS TODAY TO NEW JERSEY I. O. O. F.

Governor and Congressman Wood Initiated Into Order Last Night.

The Grand Encampment of New Jersey, I. O. O. F., completed its annual session in Masonic temple at Trenton yesterday after transacting much business and electing officers.

There were contests for nearly all of the other offices. The following is the result of the election: Grand patriarch, Oscar Falk, Paterson; grand high priest, Rev. H. D. Speakman, Absecon; grand senior warden, Gustav L. Erb, Newark; grand junior warden, John M. Stowell, Jersey City; grand treasurer, A. J. Doan, Jersey City; grand scribe, Frank R. Jummel, of Trenton.

Degrees were conferred on twenty-five candidates at the morning session. The afternoon session was taken up with the reading of reports. The reports showed that the past year had been the most successful in the last decade.

Grand Patriarch Taylor submitted a lengthy report covering his official acts for the year. He reported the institution of one encampment, the revival of two charters, and the consolidation of two encampments. His recommendations were, one, that grand officers should have a more liberal allowance for traveling expenses; two, that the sessions of the grand encampment should be separated from the annual meeting of the grand lodge.

Grand Scribe Jummel reported membership figures as follows: Members last report, 3,286; initiated during the year, 398; admitted by card, 40; reinstated, 12. The losses were: Errors, 19; withdrawn by card, 32; suspended for cause, 1; dropped, 137; died, 61; present membership, 3,486, a net increase of 200 for the year.

The department officers of the New Jersey Patriarchs Militant held a meeting last night. Department Commander Colonel F. B. Potter presided. Two new cantons, one at Newark and the other at Atlantic City, were organized during the year.

At the election of officers Colonel Potter was again chosen president. The other officers elected were: Vice-president, Lieutenant Colonel Poole, Long Branch; secretary, Captain Thomas Eastburn, Vineland; grand representative, Lieutenant Colonel Walter H. Blake.

The delegates who will attend the grand lodge today will form in a body at Masonic temple in that city and march to the Hotel Windsor, where they will meet Grand Master Wesley B. Stout.

The body will then proceed to the Mechanics National bank and escort Governor Edward C. Stokes to Masonic temple, where the latter will make an address of welcome.

Governor Stokes, State Treasurer Frank O. Briggs, Congressman Ira W. Wood and Mayor Frederick W. Gnichtel were initiated into Trenton Lodge, No. 3, last evening.

Battling for Child's Life.

The sight of one eye of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Smith's infant son has been lost as a result of an ulcer. Dr. Ard and Dr. Ellis Hedges, with three trained nurses, are battling to save the other eye. They are hopeful of success.

The Deluge.

By Graham Phillips, author of "The Cost," etc.

"No," she replied. "I cannot claim any credit. I sent him away only because you and Alva had taught me how to judge him better. I do not despise him as do you; I know too well what has made him what he is. But I had to send him away."

My comment was an incredulous look and shrug. "I must be going," I said.

"You do not believe me?" she asked.

"In my place, would you believe?" replied I. "You say I have taught you. Well, you have taught me, too—for instance, that the years you've spent on your knees in the musty temple of conventionality before false gods have made you—fit only for the Langdon sort of thing. You can't learn how to stand erect, and your eyes cannot bear the light."

"I am sorry," she said, slowly, hesitatingly, "that your faith in me died just when I might, perhaps, have justified it. Ours has been a pitiful series of misunderstandings."

"A trap! A trap!" I was warning myself. "You've been a fool long enough, Blacklock." And aloud I said: "Well, Anita, the series is ended now. There's no longer any occasion for our lying or posing to each other. Any arrangements your uncle's lawyers suggest will be made."

I was bowing, to leave without shaking hands with her. But she would not have it so. "Please!" she said, stretching out her long, slender arm and offering me her hand.

What a devil possessed me that day! With every atom of me longing for her, I yet was able to take her hand and say, with a smile, that was, I doubt not, as mocking as my tone: "By all means let us be friends. And I trust you will not think me discourteous if I say that I shall feel safer in our friendship when we are both on neutral ground."

As I was turning away, her look, my own heart, made me turn again. I caught her by the shoulders. I gazed into her eyes. "If I could only trust you, could only believe you!" I cried.

"You cared for me when I wasn't worth it," she said. "Now that I am more like what you once imagined me, you do not care."

Up between us rose Langdon's face—cynical, mocking, contemptuous. "Your heart is his! You told me so! Don't lie to me!" I exclaimed. And before she could reply, I was gone.

Out from under the spell of her presence, back among the tricksters and assassins, the traps and ambushes of Wall street, I believed again; believed firmly the promptings of the devil that possessed me. "She would have given you a brief fool's paradise," said that devil. "Then what a hideous awakening!" And I cursed the day when New York's insidious snobbishness had tempted my vanity into starting me on that degrading chase after "respectability."

"If she does not move to free herself soon," said I to myself, "I will put my own lawyer to work. My right eye offends me. I will pluck it out."

CHAPTER XXXIII.
"WILD WEEK."

"The Seven" made their fatal move on Updegraff's advice, I suspect. But they would not have adopted his suggestion had it not been so exactly congenial to their own temper of arrogance and tyranny and contempt for the people who meekly, year after year, presented themselves for the the shearing with fatuous bleats of enthusiasm.

"The Seven," of course, controlled directly, or indirectly, all but a few of the newspapers with which I had advertising contracts. They also controlled the main sources through which the press was supplied with news—and often and well they had used this control, and surprisingly cautious had they been not so to abuse it that the editors and the public would become suspicious. When my war was at its height, when I was beginning to congratulate myself that the huge magazines of "The Seven" were empty almost to the point at which they must sue for peace on my own terms, all in four days 43 of my 67 newspapers—and they the most important—notified me that they would [illegible] carry out their contracts [illegible] publish my daily letter. They gave as their reason, not the real one, fear of "The Seven," but fear that I would involve them in ruinous libel suits. I who had legal proof for every statement I made; I who was always careful to understate! Next, one press association after another ceased to send out my letter as news, though they had been doing so regularly for months. The public had grown tired of the "sensation," they said.

I countered with a telegram to one or more newspapers in every city and large town in the United States:

"'The Seven' are trying to cut the wires between the truth and the public. If you wish my daily letter, telegraph me direct and I will send it at my expense."

The response should have warned "The Seven." But it did not. Under their orders the telegraph companies refused to transmit the letter. I got an injunction. It was obeyed in typical, corrupt corporation fashion—they sent my matter, but so garbled that it was unintelligible. I appealed to the courts. In vain.

To me, it was clear as sun in cloudless noonday sky that there could be but one result of this insolent and despotic denial of my rights and the rights of the people, this public confession of the truth of my charges. I turned everything salable or mortgageable into cash, locked the cash up in my private vaults, and waited for the cataclysm.

Thursday—Friday—Saturday. Apparently all was tranquil; apparently the people accepted the Wall street theory that I was an "exploded sensation." "The Seven" began to preen themselves; the strain upon them to maintain prices, if no less than for three months past, was not notably greater; the crisis would pass, I and my exposures would be forgotten, the routine of reaping the harvests and leaving only the gleanings for the sowers would soon be placidly resumed.

Sunday. Roebuck, taken ill as he was passing the basket in the church of which he was the shining light, died at midnight—a beautiful, peaceful death, they say, with his daughter reading the Bible aloud, and his lips moving in prayer. Some hold that, had he lived, the tranquillity would have continued; but this is the view of those who cannot realize that the tide of affairs is no more controlled by the "great men" than is the river led down to the sea by its surface flotsam, by which we measure the speed and direction of its current. Under that terrific tension, which to the shallow seemed a calm, something had to give way. If the dam had not yielded where Roebuck stood guard, it must have yielded somewhere else, or might have gone all in one grand crash.

Monday. You know the story of the artist and his Statue of Grief—how he molded the features a hundred times, always failing, always getting an anticlimax, until at last in despair he gave up the impossible and finished the statue with a veil over the face. I have tried again and again to assemble words that would give some not too inadequate impression of that tremendous week in which, with a succession of explosions, each like the crack of doom, the financial structure that housed 80,000,000 of people burst, collapsed, was engulfed. I cannot. I must leave it to your memory or your imagination.

For years the financial leaders, crazed by the excess of power which the people had in ignorance and overconfidence and slovenly good-nature permitted them to acquire, had been tearing out the honest foundations on which alone so vast a structure can hope to rest solid and secure. They had been substituting rotten beams painted to look like stone and iron. The crash had to come! the sooner, the better—when a thing is wrong, each day's delay compounds the cost of righting it. So, with all the horrors of "Wild Week" in mind, all its physical and mental suffering, all its ruin and rioting and bloodshel, I still can insist that I am justly proud of my share in bringing it about. The blame and the shame are wholly upon those who made "Wild Week" necessary and inevitable.

MUST BELIEVE IT.

When Well-Known Plainfield People Tell It So Plainly.

When public endorsement is made by a representative citizen of Plainfield the proof is positive. You must believe it. Read this testimony. Every backache sufferer, every man, woman or child with any kidney trouble will find profit in the reading.

Andrew Mattis, carpenter, of 127 West Fourth street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "I have been troubled for years with dull backache and pain in the back of my head, caused by kidney complaint. I was hurt severely some time ago by falling from a scaffold and the physicians thought my spine was injured. I think that fall injured my kidneys. As nothing else that I tried seemed to help my back or kidneys, I decided to try Doan's Kidney Pills and got a supply at Randolph's pharmacy. I have now taken nearly three boxes, and find that the backache and headaches has disappeared."

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

Mirth, merriment and melody, sensations, gayety and frivolity will be the chief ingredients in the offering of "The Girl from Happyland," who is billed to appear at the New Plainfield theatre tonight. It is a well-known fact that this prominent organization has always managed to be in the lead, and to uphold its established reputation they have added many new and spectacular features to their offering. The three act extravaganza entitled "The Flubb-Dubb Conspiracy," which deals with a hodge podge of metropolitan situations of prominence, introduces an endless round of bully and humorous pictures. There are also numerous prominent vaudevillians in the cast who are kept busy introducing their various popular specialties. Among those best known are Howard Bros., in their sensational flying banjo feature; Friend and Downing, parodists and humorists; Goforth and Doyle, novelty entertainers; World's Comedy Four; Minnie Higgins and Joe Emerson.

One of the most pleasing musical comedy attractions of the recent season makes its appearance at the New Plainfield theatre next Friday night under the title of "A Trip to Egypt." This merry comedy was written by C. H. Kerr, who also wrote "The Beauty Doctor," "Over the Fence," "Papa's Baby," etc., etc., and it goes without saying that it will be a meritorious offering. Many pleasing stage pictures, a large and important cast, a pony ballet, a pretty girlie chorus, and numerous fine specialties are among the features promised by Frank E. Morse, the genial business manager of this attraction.

Dolly Sisters, in "A Trip to Egypt," at New Plainfield Theatre Friday Night.

A play of the times is "A Square Deal," which comes to the New Plainfield theatre Saturday afternoon and night, with Otis B. Thayer and the original New York cast appearing. Edward E. Rose, the author, has written a play around President Roosevelt's utterance of "A Square deal for every man," and the fight of the masses against the trusts and bosses is realistically portrayed. A delightful love tale and much good comedy is claimed for the piece.

A prominent critic says: "If there is an actress capable of showing one side of woman's capricious nature, Florence Gale is opportuned with a hundred, which she does indeed most admirably. At times sad, joyful, coquettish, whimsical, alarmed, flighty, bantering, etc., up and down the whole gamut of human emotion, she made the most of her part in 'Romeo and Juliet.'" Miss Gale is said to have lots to do—from her inception in the first act as the petted ballerina until her final rescue of her lover from the sombre castle, her pleasing personality is ever present. Miss Gale's youth and beauty is a great factor in her professional success, yet this does not cast reflection upon the other speaking parts of the play. There are many good characters, all placed in most competent hands. "Romeo and Juliet" will be at the New Plainfield theatre next Monday afternoon and night.

Florence Gale, in "Romeo and Juliet," at New Plainfield Theatre, Monday, Matinee and Night.

"Eight Bells" will be presented at the New Plainfield theatre next Tuesday night. There is no villian in Byrne Brothers' rejuvenated "Eight Bells," but there is plenty of fun, trick scenery, good music and clever specialities. The piece has been seen here so often that little need be said in praise of its many excellent features. All the former successes in the way of trick effects are retained and many new things added. It still presents the great revolving ship scene, the trick wagon, the hustling octopus, the weird trunk, doors and chairs, and numerous new features. Incidentally a number of pleasing specialities are introduced. No one can help but admire the fine acrobatic work of the John Byrne troupe of acrobats.

Football and General Sports

FOOTBALL.

Among those who played a star game in the gridiron contest at Princeton on Saturday, was Ray Biglow, of Yale, formerly of this city. His excellent work was frequently spoken of.

Although he did not play for any length of time on Saturday, Howard Roome, of Yale, was in the game just long enough to win his "Y." He was called into the game within a few minutes of the end of the last half.

Western football prowess suffered a severe jar on Saturday when Pennsylvania defeated Michigan 17 to 0, and the Carlisle Indians, not ranked as the best team in the East, defeated Minnesota, one of the top-notchers of the West, by the same score. So far as scores tell anything, the Indians are a better team than Michigan or Chicago. Chicago was beaten by Minnesota and Chicago beat Illinois, 65 to 0, whereas Michigan beat Illinois, 28 to 9. Not only was Michigan outdone in straight football by the Pennsylvanians but also in this year's developments. Michigan had next to nothing in the open plays brought about by the new rules. She tried one forward pass, which was abortive, and not a single onside kick. Pennsylvania did not use the onside kick. Nor did she use the forward pass often, but used it well when she did try it. The Quakers also employed a pretty backward pass once. The man with the ball passed to a man behind him, with both on the run. The Quakers made telling use of the fake kick, and Michigan was all at sea in sizing up the play. It is only fair to Yost to say that he has turned out stronger teams than this year's. No claims were made for Michigan that they were wonders this year. Nevertheless they were beaten by a Pennsylvania team which is not the best that Pennsylvania has turned out. Relatively they were as strong as the Quakers, barring the absence of Curtis. Curtis being out, the attack centred around Garrels and was a failure. The sweeping arcs described by Garrels in trying to circle the ends were more suited to use against a school team than a 'varsity organization. The Michigan material when it appeared on the field was good to look upon. Endurance, speed and strength were represented, but the football ability was not there, though judging from the physiques there was rich soil for planting it. One could not help wishing to see what an Eastern coaching corps could do with such a promising array of material. Magoffin, for one, had all the symptoms of a jewel. At the finish of the game one wondered why the "hurry up;" likewise where the "hurry up?" Most of the hurrying done by Michigan was back toward her own goal line. As for Pennsylvania, she was an entirely different team from that of the early season. Her game was dashing and sure. Mistakes were few and far between, and that wide-flung, varied and well assorted style of play seen so much last year and the year before was again on tap. It was a game that would have made trouble for a much stronger adversary than Michigan. The Quakers' brace and Cornell's big victory over Swarthmore point to hot doings on Franklin Field on Thanksgiving Day.

The local football season is about at an end, few games remaining to be played in this vicinity. Tomorrow Holy Cross will play Cranford at the Cricket Field in the borough, and this contest should attract a large crowd. It is the hope of all enthusiasts here that another season will find a strong representative football eleven to represent Plainfield, thus insuring some fine games. Nearly every town of any importance in the State has one or more good teams and there is no reason why Plainfield should not have.

Coach Warner sprung another surpise in the ranks of the Cornell squad last week by shifting O'Rourke back to his former position at right guard and putting Dann in at right tackle. Captain Cook was also deposed of his position at left tackle, which was filled in good shape by Sailor.

New York will not be without Thanksgiving Day football games. Fordham has arranged a contest with Holy Cross to take place at 2:30 in the afternoon of Thanksgiving Day at the Polo Grounds, and football enthusiasts of the city are pretty likely to see a game full of fights. Holy Cross has been playing well under the new rules, and the plucky Fordham eleven has gone along better this season than it has in some years. A game with Holy Cross is equivalent at Fordham to bringing out proportionately as much enthusiasm as a game brings at Princeton when Yale is the contender.

Gus Zieger, Pennsylvania's veteran right guard, sprained his ankle in practice Tuesday, and will be unable to play again this season.

Three more big college games will be played and then the football season of 1906 will pass into history. Next Saturday Yale will tackle Harvard; on Thanksgiving Day, Cornell and Pennsylvania will play their annual game, and on Saturday, December 1, West Point and Annapolis will wind up the season in their annual battle.

The supporters of Cornell are greatly encouraged over the victory with Swarthmore Saturday, and hope is now strong that the Big Red team has excellent chances to defeat Pennsylvania on Thanksgiving Day. Walders and Newman, who have been considerably behind the others in reaching condition, are now approaching the required standard, and should be in great fighting trim for the contest.

After the Yale-Princeton game Saturday the Yale team went to the home of DeWitt Cochrane, the old Yale player, at Hastings-on-the-Hudson, where they are being entertained. The players will return to New Haven today to get in shape for the Harvard game.

Lee Waring, of Newark, got a chance at quarterback for Swarthmore, in the Cornell game Saturday, taking O'Brien's place in the second half. Although it was a hopeless game for Swarthmore after the first half, Waring played a splendid game and succeeded in making several gains.

Curtis Hidden Page, Ph. D., of Columbia University, will lecture at the next meeting of the Monday Afternoon Club on "Victor Hugo as the Spokesman of France."

NEW BOWLING GAME.

Klondyke Makes Its Appearance at the McLaughlin Alleys.

A new game was introduced at the McLaughlin bowling alley, last night, and a high score was promptly hung up for the inspiration of aspirants in it. The game is klondyke, in which four pins are set up. They are ranged in a row at the back of the alley, equally distant apart. Two balls are allowed, as usual, to a frame. A good man at the game can make a strike once in a while but it is a long time between strikes. Spares are comparatively easy.

P. L. Gaddis and V. W. Nash, Jr., adopted the game, and developed promise as future cracks. Gaddis scored high with 41.

Radin's Great Bowling Feat.

Harry Radin, a well-known local bowler, broke all records for the city at McLaughlin's alleys Monday night, by topping off a 296. He made eleven straight strikes and six off, a feat hitherto unknown in Plainfield. This is better than National Champion Johnny Voorheis' recent score on the alley, having rolled an exhibition game of 277. Radin has been in the 200 class for several years and is considered one of the best pin smashers in this part of the State.

At Willow Grove.

The entertainment, two-act comedy, "Mr. Bob," which was to have been given in the Willow Grove chapel on November 15 but was postponed on account of a storm, will be given on Friday evening, November 28, at 8:15 o'clock. All tickets issued before are good until redeemed. Stages will leave Scotch Plains trolley at 7:30. The proceeds will be for the benefit of the Sunday-school Christmas fund.

William Daily has sued C. C. Plume in a landlord and tenant action, before Justice VonMinden. The premises are on West Fourth street, over the city line. The hearing is set for Monday.

CAUGHT AT KEARNY.

Borough Boy Who Robbed Brother-in-law Found in a Freight Car.

In looking through a string of empty freight cars on a siding at Kearny, near Newark, last night, a policeman found a boy huddled up in a corner of one of them. The latter had no sooner caught sight of the bluecoat than he began to cry and whimpered:

"Are you going to take me back to Plainfield?"

The cop didn't have to be told that the boy was mixed up in something or other and it came out when he was taken to the precinct station. He told the sergeant that his name was Charles Dilley, he had been living with his brother-in-law, Britton Shepherd, of Somerset place, North Plainfield, and that he had taken "French leave" after stealing $12 from a trunk.

The borough police were called on the 'phone and it was learned that the boy's story was correct. He is being held at Kearny pending the arrival of his sister and her husband.

THE MOUNTAIN WHITES.

Subject of Paper Read at Baptist Women's Meeting.

"The Educational and Religious Work Among the Mountain Whites" was the subject of an excellent paper prepared by Mrs. Alex. D. Mallinson, and read by her at the monthly meeting of the Woman's Home Mission Society of the First Baptist church, held in the lecture room yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Mallinson's account of the simple worship among the southern mountaineers and her description of the rites of baptism, communion and feet washing were full of interest. Emphasis was given to the educational needs of these people and the desire of some of the parents that their children may have advantages superior to their own.

Preceding the paper, Mrs. S. T. Wilson led the devotional service with the subject for thought "The Elect Lady or a Christian Mother's Influence." Routine business of the society followed.

BRIDGE IS ACCEPTED.

West End Avenue Structure Now Open for Traffic.

The West End avenue was accepted yesterday by the bridge committee for the Union County Board of Freeholders and the Somerset County Board of Freeholders, and a sufficient amount of money was held back from the contractor with which to put on the finishing touches to the sidewalls next spring. Otherwise the bridge is complete and the avenue was opened for traffic this morning.

The freeholders discussed the question of building retaining walls on both sides of the bridge, but no decision was reached. County Engineer Frank J. Hubbard will draw plans for the proposed walls, ascertain the cost and report. Freeholder W. A. Westphal, as chairman of the bridge committee from Union county, has given his attention to the building of the structure.

Y. M. C. A. THANKSGIVING.

Day Will Be a Busy One at the Association.

There will be something on the tapis all day at the Y. M. C. A. Thanksgiving Day. The boys will have a hare and hound chase at 10 o'clock in the morning, and a little later the seniors will hold a cross-country run. At 1:30 o'clock the usual dinner to young men away from home will be held. This will be a quiet, invitation affair.

The basketball team will play the Naval Reserves, of Jersey City, in the afternoon. In the evening the second of the Star Course entertainments will be given. The Hearons Sisters, assisted by F. J. Reynolds, a Boston humorist, will be the attraction.

In honor of Mr. and Mrs. William Cortland Dunham, who were married Saturday, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Smith, the parents of the bride, gave a dinner at their home on West Second street, last night. To a certain extent the dinner was also in honor of W. Butler, of New York, the guest of Miss Maud Smith.

Covers were laid for ten. The decorations were red and green.

Miss Sarah F. Smith, of East Sixth street, is slowly improving from her severe illness.

Will Not Permit Rowdyism.

Elizabeth, Nov. 21.—Because of the tendency of certain classes attending celebrations to mistake liberty of action for license to exceed the bounds of propriety, the old home week committee of the Board of Trade adopted the following resolution at its meeting Monday night: "Resolved, That this committee hereby places itself on record as unalterably opposed to ruffianism and rowdyism under the guise of celebration, and that we assure the citizens of Elizabeth that the committee will use its utmost endeavor to conduct the old home week celebration on an elevated plane and in a dignified manner."

News Agent Freed.

Clarence Lane, the former Union News Company agent, charged with embezzling $144 from the company, was released yesterday afternoon, because of the non-appearance of the plaintiff in court. When Justice Mosher called the case no representative of the company was in court, and Lawyer William G. De Meza, for the defendant, promptly moved and obtained a dismissal of the action. The news company knew the hour set for the hearing. Lane's father, pending whose arrival from South Jersey the hearing was delayed, reached the city yesterday morning.

The first official printed report on the membership of the House of Representatives of the sixtieth Congress has just been issued by the clerk of the House. The Republicans are shown to have a majority of fifty-eight. The Republican membership is 222 and the Democratic membership 164. These figures take into account the election of Charles McGavin, Republican, over Stanley Kunz, Democrat, from the Eighth Illinois District, recently reported by the official board of canvassers.

Nearly a hundred New Marketers and Dunellenites enjoyed the dime sociable held by Lakeside Council, D. of L., at the home of Mrs. A. Hardy, of New Market, last night. Whist was the feature of the evening, and some spirited contests were fought. Mrs. Ogden Meeker won first prize. Refreshments were served. The committee was composed of William Piddington, chairman; Mrs. Foster Sofield, Mrs. Ziba Osmun, Mrs. Coriell and Frank O. Nelson.

MISS BORSUM A BRIDE

A SOCIAL FUNCTION

Dean Rodman Officiates At Charming Nuptials at the Home—Bride Gorgeously Gowned.

The marriage of Miss Anna Louise Borsum, the youngest and last unmarried daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Borsum, to Dr. William Boydston North, took place last evening at their home on Woodland avenue. Rev. Erskine M. Rodman, rector-emeritus of Grace church, who has been her pastor from childhood, was the officiating clergyman.

Promptly at 7 o'clock, to the music of the wedding march from Lohengren, the bridal party entered the parlor, the bride attended by her father, who, in accordance with the Episcopal service, gave her away. The ushers were William C. Fiedler, Franklin R. Sanford, Ernest J. Fiedler, Dr. Albert Pittis, August Borsum and Gustav Borsum, the two last named cousins of the bride. After the ceremony and reception an elaborate supper was served under the direction of Simon Davis, of Newark. The music was furnished by Issler, also of Newark.

The wedding gown of soft and shimmering ivory white satin messaline was made in Watteau style and trimmed with an exquisite bertha of Duchesse and rose point lace, one of the many beautiful wedding gifts. The veil was held in place by a wreath of myrthe imported especially for the occasion from Germany, where it is considered from tradition as of good omen; its tiny, glossy dark green leaves and trailing sprays formed a vivid and charming contrast to the purity of the bridal white and enhanced the beauty of the slender, graceful bride. Dr. North is tall and fine looking and the happy pair presented an unusually handsome appearance.

The house was beautifully decorated with smilax and white chrysanthemums most in use. In the hall, dining-room and library white roses were combined with the smilax. The parlor, in the bay window of which the ceremony took place, was profusely ornamented with snowy chrysanthemums, ferns and palms; candelabra on each side with their many lights shining through the dark green foliage gave an added touch of beauty to the scene.

Many lovely wedding gifts of silver, cut glass, china and lace were received. Dr. North is a graduate of the University of Michigan. From the Theta Delta Chi fraternity of that college a handsome silver bowl was received.

Dr. and Mrs. North leave shortly for their future home in Independence, Kansas, stopping en route at Toledo, Ohio, where his parents reside and also at Chicago, where a married sister lives. Among the invited guests were the following:

Dr. and Mrs. John North, the Misses Delaney, Miss Jessie Murphy, Miss Mabel Massey, Miss Bertha Murphy, Miss Adaline Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Minford, Thomas Minford, Jr., Richard Minford, Irving Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Massey, Dr. and Mrs. Albert Pittis, Mr. and Mrs. W. MRS. SANFORD GETS OUT WARRANT FOR HUSBAND

HE WILL SURRENDER, AND MAY TAKE ACTION HIMSELF.

Mrs. Alice H. Sanford, of New Market, has sworn out a peace warrant against her husband, Samuel Sanford, from whom she is seeking a divorce, and some more of her trouble with her husband's family is to be aired in a justice's court. The warrant alleges that Sanford has been making threats for "thirty days last past" to take personal property from the complainant.

It was issued by Justice Sedam, of New Brunswick, and Officer Finnegan brought it to Dunellen to serve last night.

He didn't find Sanford, because the husband, who is a carpenter, has been working in New York for nearly "thirty days last past." Lawyer R. P. F. Von Minden, counsel for Sanford, said this morning that his client would surrender in a day or two and face the charge, which he says is ridiculous.

It is rumored that Mrs. Sanford will be called upon to face a charge herself. Her husband has already filed a cross-bill in the divorce action.

FAST ELECTRIC TRAINS

FOUR TRACK LINE

It Will Be Part of Huge Undertaking Which Will Cost the Railroad Company $3,000,000.

As part of its plan for the reorganization of its passenger service in connection with the completion of the Hudson River tunnels, the Pennsylvania Railroad is considering the construction and operation of a fast electric service between New York and Elizabeth. The original plan, as adopted from the Public Service Corporation, was for such a line as far as Newark, although the Public Service had proposed before giving up the entire scheme to the Pennsylvania to continue the road through Newark to Bloomfield, and possibly further.

According to information obtained from an Elizabeth man who is connected with the Pennsylvania Railroad, the new electric line will in no way be connected with the operation of the Pennsylvania's trains from Harrison to New York by electricity as soon as the tunnels are in working order. In fact, the new rapid transit passenger line is designed to relieve the railroad's main line, so that the through service will not be in any way hampered by the suburban traffic, which will greatly increase with the opening of the tunnels. The electric passenger line, it is said, will have four tracks, the outside ones being used for frequent stops and the inside tracks for express trains.

This is only a part of the Pennsylvania's general scheme to improve its entire passenger and freight service, which will cost about three million dollars. Agents of the company are now buying property between Elizabeth and Trenton for its new freight line between the latter city and the road's big Waverly transfer station, at the southern end of Newark, and which connects by a direct line with the new freight terminal at Greenville, which was built at great expense.

During the last two weeks many farms between New Brunswick and Dayton have been purchased. Dayton will suffer, as a town, more than any other place along the proposed freight route. From the surveys that have been made the railroad will cut the town in two. It will pass in the rear of the Presbyterian church, wiping out half of the latter's wagon sheds, which are used by many farmers when they come to town. One of the biggest prices the Pennsylvania had to pay in that section was $10,000, for the property of Dr. S. F. Carroll, formerly county physician of Middlesex.

Two miles below New Brunswick the road will cross the Raritan river, where a long drawbridge will be erected when the plans have been approved by the Secretary of War.

Negotiations have been progressing in regard to the purchase of property in Spring street, Elizabeth, for the new freight line. The road will enter the southern end of that city over a right of way already procured. The route, as filed in the office of the Secretary of State, at Trenton, takes the new line through Elizabeth from Spencer street to Spring street, crossing the tracks of the Central Railroad of New Jersey near the Spring street station, and then curving toward the Waverly freight yards.

It is expected the work of constructing the new line will be begun as soon as the right of way has been acquired for the entire distance between Waverly and Trenton.

Censures Railroad.

The Union County Grand Jury yesterday made a presentment against the Central Railroad Company for maintaining a nuisance at the Schiller street grade crossing. The nuisance the presentment defined as being caused by the negligence of the gatemen, who caused the gates to be lowered all the time instead of having them raised except when trains were passing. It censured the railroad severely for "allowing the gates to be improperly and carelessly operated by an incompetent and negligent agent." The Grand Jurors partook of a dinner at the Burkeely Hotel yesterday afternoon. To the foreman, Benjamin King, was presented a silver loving cup.

Settling An Estate.

N. C. Dunn, of Philadelphia, accompanied by his daughter, Miss Carrie, spent yesterday in Plainfield and a part of the day with his attorney, John H. VanWinkle, preparatory to settling up the estate of the late Mary L. Force, of the borough. The final accounting before Surrogate Demond, of Somerset county, will take place tomorrow at Somerville.

NEW JERSEY I. O. O. F. PLANS STATE HOME

MATTER DISCUSSED AT LENGTH BY GRAND LODGE BUT NO ACTION TAKEN.

The seventy-third annual session of the Grand Lodge, I. O. O. F., of New Jersey, began in Masonic temple, Trenton, yesterday morning with 237 delegates in attendance. Many delegates of the grand encampment, which met at Trenton on Tuesday, were in attendance.

Immediately after the opening ceremonies Grand Master Stout referred to the death of Grand Secretary Lewis Parker, which occurred June 20 last. Mr. Parker joined the order in 1862, and from 1870 to the time of his death served as grand secretary.

The grand master took a stand in favor of having a home for aged Odd Fellows, their wives and widows, operated by the grand lodge. He thought that $1.50 from each member in this State would make a fund with which to purchase and equip a home, and that the annual cost of running the institution would not exceed 15 cents per member, and possibly 10. He also reported that the estimated cost per year for each inmate would be about $155.

ADMITTED TO HOSPITAL.

Margaret Cumiskey's Case May Be Contested in the Courts.

Margaret Cumiskey, of Scotch Plains, who was brought to this city yesterday by Overseer of the Poor Augustus Klemser, of that place, for the purpose of having her admitted to the hospital, accomplished his purpose. She was taken there in the afternoon.

It is now learned that the woman's case has been under advisement by Corporation Counsel Craig A. Marsh for several days, to determine Plainfield's responsibility. Papers were served on Overseer of the Poor Alex Ayres and according to the law he is compelled to receive the woman and if any question arises as to the city's responsibility it must be decided in the courts. It is possible that the city will make a legal contest over the right of Scotch Plains to send the woman here.

MANY EAT TURKEY AT CHURCH SUPPER.

Seventh-Day Baptist Church Women Conduct the Affair.

The turkey supper given in the parlors of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, last night, under the auspices of the Women's Society for Christian Work, was liberally patronized. The parlors were decorated throughout with chrysanthemums and other things appropriate to the harvest season. Especially attractive were the menu cards, containing pictures of harvest scenes in sepia tones.

The supper was an excellent one, turkey, with all the accompaniments, being served for a nominal sum. The supper room was very attractive decorated, while each one of the tables was garnished with flowers. The general supper committee consisted of Mrs. Frank J. Hubbard, chairman; Mrs. Marcus L. Clawson, Mrs. C. L. Ford and Mrs. William H. Rogers.

Mrs. Charles H. Dunham was in charge of the waitresses, who were Miss Marie Rogers, Miss Eva Rogers, Mrs. Mary St. John, Miss Mildred Greene, Miss Mary Greene, Miss Isabelle Randolph, Miss Anna Stillman, Miss Mary Ross and Miss Ethel Titsworth.

During the evening there was an informal programme of music, consisting of organ selections by Arthur L. Titsworth and piano selections. Mrs. J. Everett Kimball and Miss Ernestine Curtis Smith were in charge of the programme. The proceeds from the affair will be used to carry on the work of the society.

City Flag Pole Removed.

The city flag pole, which has been standing on Front street, opposite Park avenue, during the past few years, was taken down today for the purpose of being put up in the yard at the Plainfield High School. The upper half of the pole, which was taken down some time ago and which was located at Crescent Oval, will be put back in its old position as soon as the lower half is set at the high school. The pole was ordered taken down by the city, it having been condemned by Building Inspector T. O. Doane, and presented to the high school. The New York and New Jersey Telephone Company took the contract to take down and reset the pole, the work being done under the direction of Manager C. W. Runyon.

Had Husband Arrested.

William Tomes was arrested last night on complaint of his wife, charged with stealing three rings, valued at $35 from her. She didn't appear to press the complaint this morning, and Justice Mosher dismissed it. It is said the couple have not lived together for a week, and that a struggle is on between them for the possession of their child.

SOMERSET WITH UNION

Current Report Has It That Frelinghuysen and Smalley Will Oppose Dryden.

SENATORIAL GOSSIP

Understood That Ackerman Will Act to the Last According to What He Deems To Be His Constituents' Wishes.

According to rumors on the street today Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen and Assemblyman William W. Smalley, of Somerset county, will not vote for Mr. Dryden in the caucus. Senator Frelinghuysen is put down as a vote for Governor Stokes if the opportunity occurs, and Mr. Smalley has been counted among the uncommitted.

Leader Randolph Perkins, of Union, was not only outspoken in his opposition to the insurance man, but that he declared that he had been laboring with his fellow-members of the Assembly to oppose him in the caucus. The utterances of Senator Ackerman, of the same county, were also considered significant, and several who heard him were convinced that should Senator Dryden receive the caucus nomination the Union Senator would refuse to vote for him.

Mr. Ackerman was asked if he would "bolt" the caucus if Mr. Dryden was nominated and he replied that if "bolting" meant voting for the Democratic nominee, he would not bolt. He would vote, he continued, as he believed the people of Union wanted him to vote, and if opposition to a candidate was manifested by the citizens of his county he would consider it his duty to vote against that candidate.

As it is known that there is strong opposition to the re-election of Mr. Dryden in Union, this declaration was taken by some to mean that the entire Union delegation would vote against Mr. Dryden, even if he should be nominated by the caucus.

But there was a strong feeling that no one would be required to "bolt" the caucus, because, in spite of the assertions of his supporters to the contrary, it was declared that Mr. Dryden had not at this time the twenty-three votes necessary to secure the caucus nomination.

All attempts to get the Dryden men to produce a poll of the Republican members showing just who would vote for their man were unavailing. They declined "to show their strength at this time," as they expressed it, and adhered to their declaration that Mr. Dryden would ultimately win.

Some of the Dryden men said that the reason they did not call the caucus was that the legislators-elect could not participate in or be bound by a caucus until they were sworn in, but those who doubted that Mr. Dryden had a majority said that was all moonshine. The members-elect, they said, had just as much right to participate in and were equally bound by the Senatorial caucus held before they were sworn in as they were in the case of one held for the purpose of nominating candidates for the offices of the House and Senate, and every one knew such caucuses were held every year before the new members took their oaths.

Peter McGowan Missing.

Peter McGowan, of Raritan, a conductor of a Central Railroad fast freight known to a number of Plainfielders, has been missing from home since last Thursday. He left the house that afternoon to go to Elizabeth, and was afterwards seen there. Then all signs of him disappeared, and no word or hint of his whereabouts has been received since. He is married and has two children. He drew his wages two days before his disappearance and it is feared he met with foul play.

Celebrated Birthday Anniversary.

Francis Seidel, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Seidel, of Jackson avenue, celebrated the fifth anniversary of his birthday yesterday and last night he entertained a company of playmates at his home. The evening was enjoyed in playing games, stereopticon views, and refreshments were served later. The little fellow received a number of gifts.

Husband and Son of Uliano Woman Arrested After Her Body is Buried.

DAMAGING EVIDENCE

Revolver and Blunt Instrument Found in Their Home—Stories Told by the Neighbors.

Theodore Uliano and his son John, nineteen years old, husband and son of Mrs. Georgiana Uliano, whose charred body was found Monday by hunters in the woods near New Providence and Scotch Plains, were arrested yesterday on suspicion of having murdered the woman. Her body, except the skull, was buried yesterday in St. Mary's cemetery at Summit, and Detectives Dalation, of Westfield, and Crane, of Summit, waited until father and son had heard the funeral service read in St. Mary's church, Stony Hill. Then as they left the edifice the detectives arrested them. The crowd of spectators was greatly excited. Uliano and his son were locked up in the jail at Summit.

The detectives made yesterday an examination of the Uliano home on Cedar street and found a revolver of the same calibre as the one which had been used to fire a bullet into Mrs. Uliano's forehead. They also found a blunt instrument which they believe may prove to be the one used on the murdered woman.

Further suspicion was directed toward the men, the detectives say, by the statements of George Bishop, a foreman on the estate of Albert Edward Jackson, which is near the Uliano home on Cedar street, and of Miss Carrie Robinson. Both Bishop and Miss Robinson told the detectives that they heard shuots and two pistol shots, followed by the shrieks of a woman. Miss Robinson was not sure of the date, but Bishop was certain that he heard them on the night of October 8, the night Mrs. Uliano disappeared.

Bishop declared that he heard one man shout, "Where is she?" and another reply, "I'm on her track. There she is now down by the brook." The shouts were quickly followed by two pistol shots, and Bishop says that he heard a woman shriek. He was alone, and as quarrels among the Italians are frequent he feared to go to the woman's assistance and thought no more of the matter.

It was recalled yesterday by townspeople that neither Uliano nor his son mentioned the absence of Mrs. Uliano until it was remarked by neighbors a week after the woman had disappeared. Then Uliano refused the offer of Justice of the Peace William Woodruff to advertise for Mrs. Uliano's return.

Mrs. Uliano owned some property in New Providence and was known to be provident. Both husband and son were spendthrifts, and the detectives believe that their desire to possess Mrs. Uliano's savings was the motive for the crime.

Relief Corps Inspection.

The annual inspection of Winfield Scott Relief Corps, No. 10, will take place tomorrow night. Mrs. Inez Lord, of Paterson, department president, will conduct the inspection, and there will be present members of Boggs Janeway Corps, No. 2, of New Brunswick; Ulric Dahlgren Corps, No. 27, of Elizabeth, and delegations from Trenton, Jersey City, Bloomfield and Paterson. A collation will be served after the inspection.

New Bank for Bound Brook.

Twenty representative business men of Bound Brook met in the office of Mayor Brokaw, that place, Monday night, to take steps towards organizing the Bound Brook National Bank. The capital stock was fixed at $50,000 and $27,000 worth of stock was subscribed at the meeting. Another meeting will be held Monday night to complete the organization and make arrangements to secure a charter.

A Raise Coming.

One of the important matters likely to come up at the December meeting of the Common Council is that in reference to increasing the salaries of the policemen and firemen. The members of the Common Council have practically agreed to grant an increase of ten per cent. or thereabouts to the city employes and there is every reason to believe that this will be done.

Attending Yearly Meeting.

Rev. and Mrs. George B. Shaw, of Central avenue, and Rev. H. N. Jordan, of New Market, have gone to Shiloh, to attend the yearly meeting of the Seventh-Day Baptist churches of New York city and New Jersey, which opens at the Marlboro church tomorrow and continues until Sunday night.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

Lovers of pure, wholesome and refined comedy, bright and catchy music, beautiful costumes and pretty stage pictures will turn out in force on Friday night when "A Trip to Egypt" will be presented at the New Plainfield theatre. The company is a large one, and among its members are singers, dancers and cemedians well known in the musical and dramatic world.

the New Plainfield theatre Saturday afternoon and night. This is one of few cities that will be played on the jump from New York to Chicago where the play goes for a long run. It is by Edward E. Rose, author of "Janice Meredith," "The Way to Kenmare" and other successes.

That actors are born not made is not only a respected saying, but a fact continually and unmistakably proven in the history of the stage. Many an ambitious young man or young woman has striven without satisfactory results to succeed. Many of them have apparently possessed qualifications and have studied hard and diligently only to fail. One of the youngest and one of the most promising stars of the day is Florence Gale, who has risen rapidly to prominence in her profession through the possession of God-given talents, physical beauty, appreciation of dramatic intensity and reserve. As Juliet in "Romeo and Juliet" Miss Gale is making the hit of her career and building up for herself firm constituency. She has the advantage of a splendid supporting company including Howard Kyle and others of equal merit and her coming engagement is one of the most gratifying theatrical announcement thus far made this season. The production will be at the New Plainfield theatre next Monday, for matinee and night performances.

Almost entirely rearranged and greatly improved, the Byrne Bros. will bring "Eight Bells" to the New Plainfield theatre next Tuesday night. This popular production has been on the road several years and its success has been remarkable, and now in its bright new clothes, it is destined to another long life. While many of the big features still remain, there are a number of new ones and the old "Eight Bells" is scarcely recognizable. Among the principal favorite old features is the revolving ship scene, which is probably the most popular and attractive in the production. There is much that is new about this also, there are a number of new specialties. The acrobatic work has not been displaced for there is an abundance of it, and in a very attractive and entertaining form. The acrobatic troupe is complete in every particular and their work much of which is entirely new is remarkable. The scenery is entirely new, and exceedingly unique.

"Montana," a new western play, will be seen for the first time in this city at the New Plainfield theatre Thanksgiving afternoon and night. "Montana" is a new and original story of life on the plains, dealing with the wholesale cattle stealing which is known to be a most troublesome question. Blended in with this there is an excellent love story and a most humorous scene of comedy ever introduced in any play. The company is a large one numbering twenty people. Two car-loads of scenery are required to stage this production, besides four thoroughbred horses which are especially carried for this play.

FOOTBALL.

All Princeton is "down in the dumps" after a few days' reflection on the great football contest on Saturday and over the failure of the Tigers to defeat its rival, Yale. A more depressing spirit never hovered over the town in the many stings of defeat registered by Yale in past years. Every supporter of the Orange and Black eleven is simply wondering how it all happened, but is asking no questions how it came about. It was one of the hardest jolts ever given to Old Nassau, and it will be some time before the game of Saturday is forgotten. It is admitted by the most rabid Princeton rooter that Yale played a better game than the Tigers, and had the contest gone a little further defeat would have been the lot of the Tigers. Neither side scored, but Yale was dangerous at least five times to Princeton's twice. Penalties stopped the onward march of the Tigers when they menaced the Yale line, and the Princeton line stiffened just enough to hold off the assaults of the Blue team.

This afternoon Holy Cross will meet Cranford on the Cricket Field, the borough. This will be one of the last games to be played this season by the church boys and as both elevens are so evenly matched, the game should be very close.

The North Plainfield High School eleven has about concluded its season's schedule. The games played have been good ones and the borough boys have the credit of winning a large majority of them.

Roome yesterday again gave evidence of his ability to play a hard game in a long scrimmage on the second eleven against the third squad. He made his presence felt continually. The second bunch got away with the third by scoring twice and holding the opposing side easy all the time. The varsity candidates arrived early yesterday and all seem fit for the Harvard fray on Saturday and now face the prospect of what looks like a hard game tomorrow. At that time the freshmen are to take on the varsity for a regular contest and the big players will have all they can do to handle Capt. Coy's bunch of husky cubs. Coach Rockwell late yesterday announced that no choice had been made for the full quota of officials for the Harvard game. A referee one umpire and the head linesman have been picked, but until the other umpire is chosen the names of the other officials will not be divulged. The Yale men feel hurt at what they call Harvard's senseless quibbling over officials. It was said at the all night conference yesterday that Coach Reid, of Harvard, was himself overcoached and could do nothing at all unless he consulted with a lot of assistant advisers.

Difficulties experienced this season by Herr Yost, the Michigan coach, were a short schedule, no preliminary training and no training table. Asked how his present team compared with his star aggregation of 1901, Yost took a piece of paper and made the following eloquent figures: "550-72," the former being the total points scored by the 1901 team, the latter the 1906 team's total. The 1901 team, he said, had the same players all season, the 1906 team hardly ever had the same players in the same positions. "Last Saturday," said Yost, "Loell played end in a game for the first time. and Eyke was in the first game as a tackle. Davidson was put on the varsity for the first time a week ago and never played in a scrub game or anything. Hammond, at end, had been out only two weeks. Newton had never so much as scrimmaged at tackle in his life. Clement, the centre, had played in only three games there. Graham, Garrels and Hammond were the only members of the team that had played in a big game before. With the old team it wouldn't have mattered whether they had five, ten or fifteen yards to go in three downs. In the Pennsylvania game six of the attempts which Garrels made to circle the ends were intended to be forward passes, but the assisting players were not where they were expected to be, and the passes could not be made. I see that Yale gets the credit for making the longest forward pass used this season, but you would have seen longer ones in Philadelphia had the man who was to have taken the pass done what was expected of him. Garrels can throw a ball fifty yards and throw it accurately, and with the same spiral motion that a punter imparts to the ball. Pennsylvania sprang only one play against us that the team had not been told to watch out for. Capt. Curtis of our team never was out of a game before this one in his football career. It was my intention to use him as a defensive quarter against Pennsylvania, and that would have plugged up the weaknesses in the line some. The best back that ever lived can't gain any ground if his line does not stand up well enough for him to reach the line."

HEALTHY PLANTS

Require the Most Careful Attention as Well as Good Soil.

Did you ever see a rosebush which—despite the most beneficent environment of soil—of sunshine—and of atmosphere,—seemed never to achieve a healthy growth.

A ton of manure will not help a plant that has a canker eating out its heart.

You must destroy the cause before you can remove the effect.

You cannot cure Dandruff and Baldness by rubbing on hair lotions, and rubbing in vaseline, etc.

You must look to the cause of the trouble—it's a germ at the roots of your hair which causes it to fall out.

By Tom Muir.

Notable bookings for the New Plainfield theatre continue to be the rule and some of the very best productions of the year have been secured this week. The list includes Anna Held in her new play, Grace George in "Clothes," the reigning Manhattan theatre success; John Drew in the New Empire production, "His House in Order;" Hattie Williams in Charles Frohman's big musical production, "The Little Cherub," now running at the Criterion theatre; "The College Widow" and a return date for "Wonderland." All will be presented soon after the holidays as will Klaw & Erlanger's immense scenic production, "The Prince of Inria," the companion piece to "Ben Hur."

Since announcement has been made of Florence Gale's coming visit to Plainfield in "Romeo and Juliet," several theatre parties have been formed by local playgoers to welcome this popular actress. She has been in this city in other Shakespearean productions, and according to reports her impersonation in her new play will strengthen the esteem in which she is held. Her leading man is Howard Kyle, who visited Plainfield last season in Ivy Ashton Root's play, "Mozart," afterward changed in title to "The Greater Love," when it ran for several months at the Madison Square theatre.

Doctors of medicine and doctors of theology are in a furor over the new George Bernard Shaw play, "The Doctor's Delimma," produced for the first time in London, Monday. The play deals with the question of right or wrong in the case of a physician who puts a patient under the care of another M. D. known to be criminally incompetent. The patient dies. Shaw calls the act murder. The play is an amusing satire on doctors, their "fads, follies" and "ignorance."

Robert Mantell, now appearing at the Academy of Music in a repertoire of Shakespearean plays, will be seen in this city on December 21. He will probably present "Richard III."

Before a large gathering of relatives and friends, the funeral of Miss Anna O. Marsh was held at her late home on Madison avenue, yesterday afternoon. It was conducted by Rev. Dr. J. A. Chabliss, pastor of the First Baptist church, and was very simple. According to his custom Dr. Chambliss made no address but a quartette composed of Miss Lelia Druce, Miss Nan Randolph, William Holmes and M. C. VanArsdale sang two selections, "Abide With Me" and "Lead, Kindly Light." There were numerous floral tributes. Interment was made in Evergreen cemetery.

CLOSED PORTALS.

Somerset Council, No. 104, Jr. O. U. A. M., will meet tomorrow night and have initiation.

Deputy Grand Master Theodore B. Townley, of Elizabeth, paid a fraternal visit to Jerusalem Lodge, No. 26, F. and A. M., Tuesday night. A collation was served during the evening.

Under the auspices of Friendship Lodge, Daughters of Rebekah, a dime social was held at the home of Mrs. J. B. Higgins, Tuesday night. Music and games were enjoyed and refreshments served.

Plainfield Council, No. 711, Royal Arcanum, will meet tonight, when arrangements will be completed for a whist tournament to be held this winter. Regent Armstrong Mulford has the matter in charge. There will also be a distribution of the souvenir buttons sent by the Grand Regent.

Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., will meet tonight to make arrangements for attending the Thanksgiving service to be held at the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, Sunday night. The other Junior Councils of the city will also attend. Rev. E. E. Roberson will preach the sermon.

Woman Dies; Man Goes Crazy.

New York, Nov. 22.—In a pawnshop at No. 1,629 Second avenue an unidentified and poorly dressed woman, who carried a baby two years old, dropped dead. A few moments later a man stopped at the door and asked the cause of the crowd. Upon being told, he suddenly became seemingly insane. Though he was poorly dressed and apparently had been ill, he drew a considerable sum of money from his pockets and scattered it among the crowd. Then he started to undress. Two policemen fought desperately with him before they could overpower him. At the East 104th street station he gave the name of John F. Giblin, of No. 513 East Eighty-first street.

Experiments Killed Him.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 22.—Robert Vance Freeman, a member of Dr. H. W. Wiley's "poison squad," is dead. The "poison squad" was a class of young men obligated to eat under rules and regulations prescribed by the Bureau of Chemicals of the Department of Agriculture for the purpose of ascertaining whether the ordinary use of borax and other preservatives in food is harmful. Mr. Freeman's mother asserts that her son died in consequence of the use of the poison diet. The cause of death was tuberculosis. She asserts that the chemically treated food so weakened his condition that he became an easy prey to the disease, and she talks of suing the government.

French Priests Recalcitrant.

Paris, Nov. 22.—In the majority of cases yesterday the priests refused to obey the summons of the authorities to open the churches, and the soldiers were compelled to break the doors open. In several places lively encounters took place, but the authorities and soldiers displayed great patience, and the use of arms was avoided.

CAFE RECEPTION FOR PLAINFIELD WOMEN

WALDORF BAR TO SUSPEND SO THEY MAY SEE DECORATIONS.

That women lovers of the artistic who have scruples against going into a saloon at ordinary times may see how beautiful a barroom can be in holiday attire, Henry Windham, proprietor of the Waldorf Hotel, will close up his bar for two hours next Wednesday, and give the women of the city an opportunity to see his Christmas decorations. For the two hours not a drop of liquor will be sold or served, and the urbane barkeepers, in subdued raiment, will become, for that space of time, urbane guides and courtly members of a reception committee. The town soaks will be shoved away, and no male suspected of even hankering for a jag will be allowed in the place.

Thus is the sweet influence of woman mightier than the bishops of a hundred dioceses, even unto the power to stop the trafficking in the tall and foamy ones and the kind with a cherry in, in broad daylight and on a mid-week day.

It is expected that no small number of women will take advantage of the cafe keeper's invitation. Not alone to see the decorations, but to see just what sort of a place it is in which those awful men spend their evenings. The sight will be a goodly one. That is, lovely from a male standpoint. Maybe the lure of the long and cool, or the hot and vivifying, glass may strike the feminine mind as more terrible because of the loveliness of the rocks among which the siren lurks. Anyway, the cafe will be elaborately decorated. There is to be a great showing of wines and liquors, and one-half of the place is to be devoted to the biggest cigar display ever seen in the city. There will be 250 electric lights going; new electroliers of bronze, striking in design, have already been fitted along the mahogany bar. Mr. Windham will start the holiday illumination next Tuesday, and from then until the following week the cafe will be lighted up by the dazzling array of electric lamps daily from 10 o'clock in the morning until closing time at night.

President In Puerto Rico.

Ponce, Puerto Rico, Nov. 22.—President Roosevelt arrived here yesterday morning from Colon on board the battleship Louisiana at ten minutes of nine o'clock. He was greeted on board the vessel by Governor Winthrop, who extended a welcome to the island. The president at once came ashore, and was greeted at the pier by Mayor Oppenheimer, of Ponce, and a delegation of prominent officials and citizens. The town, which was profusely decorated in the President's honor, was crowded with people from the surrounding country eager to greet Mr. Roosevelt.

Death Rather Than Court.

New York, Nov. 22.—Rather than appear in court to answer to a charge of intoxication, John Springer, a man of sixty, and for eighteen years employed as a driver at Christopher Hofer's iron works, in West Thirty-seventh street, jumped into the North river at West Thirty-seventh street yesterday morning and was drowned. His employers say he has been a very steady worker and believe that the disgrace of his arrest weighed heavily on him. He lived at No. 407 West Thirty-seventh street, with his wife and daughter.

Murdered Man a Murderer.

New York, Nov. 22.—Investigation by the Brooklyn police disclosed yesterday that Charles Ward, twenty-three years old, of No. 115 Prospect street, who was shot and killed one week ago by Daniel Mulvaney, would himself have to face a charge of murder were he alive to-day. Links in the chain of evidence prove, it is alleged, that Ward was the mysterious assailant of Edward J. Byrnes, of No. 87 High street, who died yesterday in the Cumberland Street hospital from injuries received twenty-four hours before Ward met his own death.

Oil Leases Cancelled.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 22.—Governor Higgins has failed in his effort to have the President intervene in behalf of Theodore N. Barksdale, of Pittsburg, and others for the enforcement of oil leases in the Indian Territory. One of the last things done by President Roosevelt before sailing for the Isthmus of Panama was to approve the action of Mr. Hitchcock, Secretary of the Interior, in cancelling leases which had been capitalized as an $8,000,000 corporation financed by the Standard Oil Company.

Harry Thaw's Trial Off.

New York, Nov. 22.. Although a week from next Monday had been set for the beginning of the trial of Harry K. Thaw, accused of the murder of Stanford White, he will not be called to face the ordeal then. Indeed, the chances are he will not be tried until January, or perhaps the next month. And when he is brought to the bar it will not be in General Sessions Court, as was the first intention of District Attorney Jerome, but in the Criminal Branch of the Supreme Court.

Chloroformed Herself to Death.

Binghamton, N. Y., Nov. 22.—Lydia K. Van Slyke, twenty-two years old, daughter of W. Van Slyke, an architect, committed suicide during the night at her home in this city. She poured a quantity of chloroform on her pillow and buried her face in it. When Mr. Van Slyke found her, shortly after eleven o'clock this morning, the girl had been dead several hours. Her right hand still held the empty bottle. No cause is known for her unexpected act.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Nov. 25: "Temperance."

By REV. WALTER J. YATES, D. D.

Total abstinence enjoined.—Prov. xxiii, 19-22. Strong drink unfits for service of God.—Lev. x, 8-9. Its evil hereditary effects avoided.—Judges xiii, 4, 5. Abstinence while acquiring national character in the wilderness.—Deut. xxix, 6. Strong drink brings personal and universal ruin.—Isa. xxviii, 1, 3, 4, 7.

One who has not given careful attention to the subject can scarcely conceive how strong and startling are the denunciations of the use of intoxicating drinks made by the great prophets of the Old Testament. No fault of those times is made more conspicuous. No excuse is found for it.

It is apparent that the popular worship of those ancient days had much of drunkenness and debauchery connected with it. The worship of Jehovah was to be free from all the vileness practiced by the surrounding heathen people, but in the process of time many of the heathen abominations became mixed with the religious practices of the Hebrews. These, the prophets of Jehovah, who were true to the Mosaic ideal, never ceased to condemn.

It is certain that drunkenness and true piety can never be boon companions. No one can be deeply pious and be given to strong drink. The two things are incompatible.

It is singular that the Christian church has so long tolerated, to the extent that has been done, the use of intoxicants by her members. It is still stranger that makers of and dealers in such liquors have been allowed to remain in her membership and in too many cases among her officers and the money made in the traffic welcomed to her contribution boxes.

Few evils of the present time are of greater magnitude than the making and using of alcoholic beverages. Some say there is no other evil which can be compared with it. It is worth while occasionally to place the figures in array and look steadily at them. Note the cost of this in our land as given in reliable statistics to be had by means of the revenue tax placed on it. But money cost is the least important item. Who can compile the statistics of ruined health, blighted hopes and happiness, homes made desolate and hearts broken until death comes as welcome relief!

It is well that our own church speaks in plainest terms on this subject. Our people should be solid in their opposition to the use and sale of this harmful stuff. Total abstinence in practice and prohibition of sale is the only logical position for us to hold. It is the only safe position for us as individuals, as families, communities and as a nation.

There are some encouraging signs of gain in this matter. The drinking customs of our fathers are surely, even if slowly, giving way and in large sections of society have almost entirely disappeared. More influential even than this for good is the stand that the business world is being forced to take by reason of the necessities of the case. It is found that a man who uses intoxicating liquors cannot be an efficient railroad employee and intrusted with the lives of the people who travel, so railroad men are increasingly coming to be sober. What is true in that business is being found to be true in many other branches, so that with steady advance the drinking man is being forced out of business life. If you are to get work, you must not drink.

The strongest factor on the side of the liquor trade is the money there is in the business. No one now undertakes to defend it except on this ground of money profit.

Gradually the people will come to see that even this is a delusion and that it costs more than it pays and must be abolished for the good of the community.

Our leagues should give this whole subject full attention and make their temperance meetings times of power and resolution that shall show in the life of the community around for good.

Wrong Kind of Piety.

Unfertile piety is a curse. It is a byword for the heathen and a hissing for the infidel. The religious man who abounds in words as the fig tree in leaves, who is full of doctrines and authorities, but cannot yield a practical life upon which tired wayfarers can quench their hunger and thirst, only cumbers the ground. The test of religion is in its reproductiveness. Any church member who does not bring forth an abundance of good fruit must be taken away and cast into the fire. The barrenness of speculation, the fruitless controversies often indulged in, the dearth of genuine spirituality and practical usefulness in religious bodies, might well necessitate the parable of the fig tree.—P. C. Mozoomdar.

Immortality.

In this matter of the life to come, when I have thought and thought and sometimes become dazed with thinking, I turn to Christ; I see how His teachings are alive with this feeling of immortality; how He could never think of death except as a falling asleep or as going to the Father. There I finally rest. Humanity at its highest, where it seems consciously to touch the divine, utters the same thought, which speaks in the dumb instincts of human nature at its lowest, that man is to live again.—Herford.

Duty.

Duty is a power which rises with us in the morning and goes to rest with us at night. It is co-extensive with the action of our intelligence. It is the shadow which cleaves to us, go where we will, and which only leaves us when we leave the light of life.—W. E. Gladstone.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

By REV. S. H. DOYLE.

Topic.—Thanksgiving topic. Praise and humility.—Ps. lxxv, 1-10.

The Seventy-fifth Psalm was written at a time of contemplated deliverance from an enemy by the power of God. It may have been in the reign of Hezekiah, when the hosts of Sennacherib were encamped about Jerusalem. Though Sennacherib had been victorious against many enemies and Jerusalem was unprepared to defend itself, yet King Hezekiah was confident that deliverance would come from the Lord, and this confidence and its effects are set forth by the psalmist. It is therefore most appropriate for our study as we approach our national Thanksgiving day, as it practically expresses the thanksgiving of a nation for the providence of God that watched over it and preserved it. The same God of nations has watched over us as a nation and abundantly blessed us in the year that has just passed, wherefore we should be grateful and express a nation's gratitude to God.

1. The gratitude of our nation to God should be unstinted and unqualified. The psalmist is emphatic in his expression of thanksgiving. This is clearly shown in the repetition of his thanksgiving. "Unto Thee, O Lord, do we give thanks; unto Thee do we give thanks." Repetition signifies emphasis. The psalmist's heart is so full of gratitude that he must repeat his expression of it. And when we think of the past year and God's most gracious dealings with us as a nation the same feeling should pervade us. Our God has "crowned the year with goodness." We have enjoyed undreamed of prosperity. The nation has enjoyed the blessings of peace. Business has abundantly prospered. The fields have been blessed and have brought forth rich harvests. Famine, pestilence and sword have not come nigh us. What causes for thanksgiving, full, abundant and exuberant!

2. The national thanksgiving should be associated with national humility. What a temptation it is for a great and powerful nation to boast, to exalt itself as the architect of its own fortunes! Nebuchadnezzar could not resist the temptation. "Behold mighty Babylon, which I have built!" he exclaimed. And there are not a few Nebuchadnezzars in the United States. They point with pride and boasting to our national achievements and exclaim, "Behold what great things we have done!" But rather should we in humbleness and thanksgiving say, "Behold what God hath wrought!" Promotion cometh neither from the east nor from the west nor from the south, but God is the Judge, "And in His judgment He exalts one nation and putteth down another." As we witness our unparalleled success and prosperity let us put down pride and in true humility and gratitude let us say, "Unto Thee, O Lord, do we give thanks; unto Thee do we give thanks; for that Thy name [God Himself] is near, Thy wondrous works declare."

3. National thanksgiving should be accompanied by national consecration to God. Thanksgiving should be expressed in deeds as well as in words. It is not enough that the nation in sermon, prayer and praise should on one day of the year thank God for His goodness. The life of the nation should be a daily thanksgiving to God. Righteousness should be exalted and sin removed. The nation in all its life should stand only for principles approved of God. His will should be done, and then we can ever expect His providence to watch over us and His blessing to be upon us.

Successful Irish Society.

It is gratifying to note how Christian Endeavor societies are springing up in various villages in different parts of Ireland and what blessing is coming from the work in such surroundings. One of the most successful of these is the Togherdoo society, in County Fermanagh. This society has been doing very good work in the interests of temperance. The temperance committee recently organized a very successful meeting when a number were induced to sign the roll of total abstinence. The Rev. G. H. Stockdale is the president.—Christian Endeavor Times.

Out In Ohio.

The largeness of the work done in Ohio is evidenced from this scrap taken out of the annual report of the field secretary, Rev. C. H. Hubbell of Columbus: The field secretary has been moving from where he was to where he is with considerable frequency and rapidity. It is not given to him to be a pillar in the church; he must be content to be a pedestrian. The following summary gives the record of field work from September, 1905, to June, 1906:

Engagements filled	128
Addresses and conferences	278
Counties visited	48
Societies reached	1,510
Miles traveled	16,943

For Every Life a Programme.

The Lord Jesus Christ has a programme for every life, every Endeavor society, every church, every nation and every world. When brought to judgment the burning questions will be: Have we remembered Jesus Christ? Have we followed the programme? Have we builded according to the plans and specifications in the mind of the Master? In that great day God may show us the life we might have lived—the work our society might have done. Herbert R. Chapman at Colorado State Convention

By Graham Phillips, author of "The Cost," etc.

In catastrophes, the cry is "Each for himself!" But in a cataclysm, the obvious wise selfishness is generosity, and the cry is: "Stand together, for, singly, we perish." This was a cataclysm. No one could save himself, except the few who, taking my often-urged advice and following my example, had entered the ark of ready money. Farmer and artisan and professional man and laborer owed merchant; merchant owed banker; banker owed depositor. No one could pay because no one could get what was due him or could realize upon his property. The endless chain of credit that binds together the whole of modern society had snapped in a thousand places. It must be repaired, instantly and securely. But how—and by whom?

I issued a clear statement of the situation; I showed in minute detail how the people standing together under the leadership of the honest men of property could easily force the big bandits to consent to an honest, just, rock-founded, iron-built reconstruction. My statement appeared in all the morning papers throughout the land. Turn back to it; read it. You will say that I was right. Well—

Toward two o'clock Inspector Crawford came into my private office, escorted by Joe. I saw in Joe's seamed, green-gray face that some new danger had arisen. "You've got to get out of this," said he. "The mob in front of our place fills the three streets. It's made up of crowds turned away from the suspended banks."

I remembered the sullen faces and the hisses as I entered the office that morning earlier than usual. My windows were closed to keep out the street noises; but now that my mind was up from the work in which I had been absorbed, I could hear the sounds of many voices, even through the thick plate glass.

"We've got 200 policemen here," said the inspector. "Five hundred more are on the way. But—really, Mr. Blacklock, unless we can get you away, there'll be serious trouble. Those damn newspapers! Every one of them denounced you this morning, and the people are in a fury against you."

I went toward the door.

"Hold on, Matt," cried Joe, springing at me and seizing me. "Where are you going?"

"To tell them what I think of them," replied I, sweeping him aside. For my blood was up, and I was enraged against the poor cowardly fools.

"For God's sake don't show yourself!" he begged. "If you don't care for your own life, think of the rest of us. We've fixed a route through buildings and under streets up to Broadway. Your electric is waiting for you there."

"It won't do," I said. "I'll face 'em—it's the only way."

I went to the window, and was about to throw up one of the sunblinds for a look at them; Crawford stopped me. "They'll stone the building and then storm it," said he. "You must go at once, by the route we've arranged."

"Even if you tell them I'm gone, they won't believe it," replied I.

"We can look out for that," said Joe, eager to save me, and caring nothing about consequences to himself. But I had unsettled the inspector.

"Send for my electric to come down here," said I. "I'll go out alone and get in it and drive away."

"That'll never do!" cried Joe.

But the inspector said: "You're right, Mr. Blacklock. It's a bare chance. You may take 'em by surprise. Again, some fellow may yell and throw a stone and—" He did not need to finish.

Joe looked wildly at me. "You mustn't do it, Matt!" he exclaimed. "You'll precipitate a riot, Crawford, if you permit this."

But the inspector was telephoning for my electric. Then he went into the adjoining room, where he commanded a view of the entrance. Silence between Joe and me until he returned.

"The electric is coming down the street," said he.

I rose. "Good," said I. "I'm ready."

"Wait until the other police get here," advised Crawford.

"If the mob is in the temper you describe," said I, "the less that's done to irritate it the better. I must go out as if I hadn't a suspicion of danger."

The inspector eyed me with an expression that was highly flattering to my vanity.

"I'll go with you," said Joe, starting up from his stupor.

"No," I replied. "You and the other fellows can take the underground route, if it's necessary."

"It won't be necessary," put in the inspector. "As soon as I'm rid of you and have my additional force, I'll clear the streets." He went to the door. "Wait, Mr. Blacklock, until I've had time to get out to my men."

Perhaps ten seconds after he disappeared I, without further words, put on my hat, lit a cigar, shook Joe's wet, trembling hand, left in it my private keys and the memorandum of the combination of my private vault. Then I sallied forth.

I had always had a ravenous appetite for excitement, and I had been in many a tight place; but for the first time there seemed to me to be an equilibrium between my internal energy and the outside situation. As I stepped from my street door and glanced about me, I had no feeling of danger. The whole situation seemed so simple. There stood the electric, just across the narrow stretch of sidewalk; there were the 200 police, under Crawford's orders, scattered everywhere through the crowd, and good-naturedly jostling and pushing to create distraction. Without haste, I got into my machine. I calmly met the gaze of those thousands, quiet as so many barrels of gunpowder before the explosion. The chauffeur turned the machine.

"'GO SLOW,' I CALLED TO HIM. 'YOU MIGHT HURT SOMEBODY.'"

"Go slow," I called to him. "You might hurt somebody."

But he had his orders from the inspector. He suddenly darted ahead at full speed. The mob scattered in every direction, and we were in Broadway, bound up town full-tilt, before I or the mob realized what he was about.

I called to him to slow down. He paid not the slightest attention. I leaned from the window and looked up at him. It was not my chauffeur; it was a man who had the unmistakable but indescribable marks of the plain-clothes policeman.

"Where are you going?" I shouted.

"You'll find out when we arrive," he shouted back, grinning.

I settled myself and waited—what else was there to do? Soon I guessed we were headed for the pier off which my yacht was anchored. As we dashed on to it, I saw that it was filled with police, both in uniform and in plain clothes. I descended. A detective sergeant stepped up to me. "We are here to help you to your yacht," he explained. "You wouldn't be safe anywhere in New York—no more would the place that harbored you."

He had both common sense and force on his side. I got into the launch. Four detective sergeants accompanied me and went aboard with me. "Go ahead," said one of them to my captain. He looked at me for orders.

"We are in the hands of our guests," said I. "Let them have their way."

We steamed down the bay and out to sea.

From Maine to Texas the cry rose and swelled:

"Blacklock is responsible! What does it matter whether he lied or told the truth? See the results of his crusade! He ought to be pilloried! He ought to be killed! He is the enemy of the human race. He has almost plunged the whole civilized world into bankruptcy and civil war." And they turned eagerly to the very autocrats who had been oppressing them. "You have the genius for finance and industry. Save us!"

If you did not know, you could guess how those patriots with the "genius for finance and industry" responded. When they had done, when their programme was in effect, Langdon, Melville and Updegraff were the three richest men in the country, and as powerful as Octavius, Antony and Lepidus after Philippi. They had saddled upon the reorganized finance and industry of the nation heavier taxes than ever, and a vaster and more expensive and more luxurious army of their parasites.

The people had risen for financial and industrial freedom; they had paid its fearful price; then, in senseless panic and terror, they flung it away. I have read that one of the inscriptions on Apollo's temple at Delphi was: "Man, the fool of the farce." Truly, the gods must have created us for their amusement; and when Olympus palls, they ring up the curtain on some such screaming comedy as was that. It "makes the fancy chuckle, whilst the heart doth ache."

STATES TAXES JUST 10,244 CORPORATIONS.

The Total Receipts for This Year Should be $3,523,971. 67.

Trenton, Nov. 22.—According to records on file in the office of the State Board of Assessors more than three thousand five hundred miscellaneous corporations of the State have failed to make returns to the board as required by the corporation laws.

Up to date the State board has assessed 10,385 corporations for the present taxing year and has certified the assessment to the State Comptroller. The assessment and certification includes the corporations which have not reported, because when a corporation defaults in its return the board proceeds to levy teh assessment on its own information. Within three months after such an assessment the corporation has the right to appeal. Under the law providing for these appeals the State board has just completed the work of passing upon and adjusting petitions from more than two hundred and fifty corporations.

Up to date the net number of corporations assessed for this year is 10,244 and the net amount of the tax certified to the Comptroller and which the State should receive is $3,523,971.67.

Jewels for Organ Grinder.

Hartford, Conn., Nov. 22.—Sewed in a corset, a small bag containing $1,100 worth of unset diamonds, was thrown by a patient from the second story window of a private sanitarium in this city to Signora Francesca Cavallo, a pretty Italian organ grinder, a week ago. The story became known today when Sergeant Dietrich, of the Hartford police force, went to Meriden to restore the recovered jewels to the family of the woman who threw them away.

Rev. H. C. Ashley, pastor of the Mt. Zion A. M. E. church, who underwent an operation at the hospital, is greatly improved and hopes to resume preaching soon. During his illness the pulpit has been occupied by supplies.

The trustees of the Plainfield Country Club in discussing the question of installing an independent lighting plant at the clubhouse, believe that a considerable sum can be saved. The question has been under consideration for some time and after E. T. Barrows, who has been appointed a committee of one to thoroughly investigate the matter and reports, the club will have an opportunity to act upon it. The chances are strongly in favor of the independent system.

The question of heating the clubhouse was decided about a month ago by the Plainfield Country Club. This was done not so much with the idea of making it an all-year-round clug, but there are many times in the early spring and late fall when heat is needed in the clubhouse for the social affairs planned by the members. If an independent lighting plant is installed it will be possible to light the house better and probably at a great saving in cost.

The annual meeting of the Plainfield Country Club will be held early in February and at that time a number of important matters will be brought up for discussion. There is a nominating committee which will present the names of officers to be acted upon at the meeting. It is believed that Councilman George P. Mellick will be re-elected president.

The members of the Eastern Professional Golfer's Association in favoring the fall of the year as the time to hold its annual tournament has decided wisely, it is believed. After a season's play the "pros" are in the best condition to engage in a tournament, while if it was held in the spring of the year there would likely be considerable dissatisfaction.

A majority of the "pros" have gone or are on their way to southern climes, where they will remain during the cold weather. There are a number of big events scheduled to take place in the south during the next few months and the "pros" will have no trouble in keeping in practice and ready for the opening of the game in the east next spring. It is probable that there will be some changes in the club "pros" throughout the Metropolitan district when spring rolls around again.

On Thanksgiving Day the Eastern Parkaway Golf Club will hold its last competition. In October the club lost the first green, but a good makeshift nine holes has been played. Now much of the property has been sold at auction to real estate men and final notice has been served that streets are to be opened through. The club is five years old, but it has been hanging by the eyelids for two years. There are over two hundred members and a cash surplus on hand. The members have no future plans as a body, but there has been talk of using Devereaux Emmet's new course at Garden City. The club's lockers and furniture have been bought by the Highlands Golf Club of Jamaica. James Laing, the professional, may take a green near Philadelphia.

FOOTBALL.

The work of the Yale freshman eleven this season is a conspicious feature of the campaign. The youngsters acomplished the rare feat of gong through with a clean string of victories in conjunction with not being scored on. They played eight games and made a total of 126 points to opponents' none, They scored at least twice in every game, beating Pratt 12 to 0, Andover 11 to 0, St. Paul's 18 to 0, Hotchkiss 22 to 0, Exeter 21 to 0, Princeton freshmen 14 to 0, and Harvard freshmen 28 to 0. Half a dozen or more of them were disqualified for low stand in studies just before the game with the Tiger freshmen, but they went on winning just the same. The young Elis composed the strongest freshman eleven that ever took the field, and they played not only an unusually good game, but a strictly modern game. They utilized all the new wrinkles and did it in varsity style. Three or four of the freshmen would have been on the varsity team had they been eligible. The best part of it, from a Yale standpoint, is the good material which the freshmen will give to the varsity next season. It will come in handy in filling vacancies caused by graduation. Forbes, Morse, Roome, Knox, Veeder, Erwin, Hockenberger, Linn and Dines are 1907 men. Biglow, Brides, Alcott, Paige, T. Jones, H. Jones, Burcn and Foster will be in college another year. In view of the gaps left by graduation Yale is fortunate to have the good freshman material—material which has shown pronounced proficiency in grasping the fine points of the new game. Cooney, Coy, Logan, Hunt, Andrus, Wheaton, Murphy, Bingham, Brown, Berry and Moorehead are among the promising freshmen, though several of them will have to do better in their studies if they are to make the varsity. A point in favor of the freshman material is that it is well distributed over the various positions.

AUTOING.

Charles J. Glidden, the globe girdling automobilist, again pays his respects to the bad roads which are so plentiful in this country in writing to a Boston friend after finishing the first 1,000 miles of his tour for this winter. "The first 1,000 miles of the Boston to Mexico City motor car drive is completed and the tally is 34,600 miles in our world tour," writes Mr. Glidden. "We left Washington with a letter conveying the greetings of President Roosevelt to President Diaz of Mexico, which we hope to carry all the way by motor car from the White House to the castle at Chepultepec. Wretched and disgraceful roads make up the main thoroughfare from the Capital north as far as Wilmington, Del., and our average running time from Washington to Philadelphia, via Baltimore, Belair, Havre-de-Grace, Wilmington and Chester, 149 miles, was fourteen miles an hour. From Philadelphia we drove via Camden, New Brunswick and Newark over the plank road to Jersey City, crossing to New York, thence via Poughkeepsie to Hudson, N. Y., where this is written. The New Jersey roads excepting the plank road are good, while those up the Hudson can be considered fair to good. Police vigilance continues. We had escorts in Washington, Philadelphia and New York, another timed and followed us in New Jersey and between New York and Poughkeepsie. No attention was paid to horse drawn vehicles or street cars that passed us at a greater speed than is permitted by law. A New Jersey constable held up his hands and we experienced the shock of another holdup, but he simply wanted to know if I had my license and registration card. Another in Camden said: 'You must cover up your London, Massachusetts, Maryland and Pennsylvania numbers and show only New Jersey.' The spirit of the speed laws is entirely disregarded. The drive from New York to Rhinebeck can be classed among the world's picturesque routes."

If a car is put away during the winter it is advisable to clean the lubricators with kerosene or stale gasolene, and tubes running from the lubricator to the engine, &c., should also be cleaned, which can be readily done with a syringe. If the oiling system is thus carefully cleansed and gone over, all that needs to be done in the spring when the car is taken out again is to fill it with oil. The machinery cases should also be carefully cleaned of all oil and washed out with kerosene or gasolene to remove all the metal grit and the gum from the oil.

Unless the jackets of water cooled cylinders have been cleaned with special regard to the removal of the last vestiges of core sand, there is every likelihood that after a few weeks or months of use a few particles will detach themselves from some obscure nook and be drawn into the pump, where they will clog it, possibly causing a breakage of some connecting part. On this account a new machine which has been in use but a month or six weeks should be thoroughly flushed out, the pipes all being disconected and water run through all the jackets from a main. In this way a surprising amount of dirt will be ejected, and much possible annoyance saved the user.

Automobile using physicians in England have organized an association to oppose the proposed higher rate of taxation on motor cars. Dr. H. E. Bruce-Porter, of London, has been appointed honorary secretary and a letter has been sent to the newspapers which states that "the new taxation would fall heavily upon medical men, who, owing to the exacting nature of their work, the requirements of reliability, the rough roads and steep hills they have to traverse, must use substantially built cars with adequate horse-power. It is not right that motors used by medical men in their daily work should be taxed as though they were the pleasure vehicles of the rich. The medical man has neither time nor money to allow of such luxuries; his car has to be used strictly for professional purposes, and in consideration of the enormous amount of gratuitous work he does ought to be exempt."

If all the other automobilists who use the many fine roads of Massachusetts to drive their motor cars over would give strict heed to the list of "don'ts" compiled by Miss Eva Brunnell, a fourteen-year-old motorist of Worcester, the auto trap constables of the Bay State would be forced to follow their regular and less remunerative occupations. She has had a list of "don'ts" posted in her father's garage, from which the following are taken:

Don't drive too fast.

Don't be dirty. Don't lose the coil plug.

Don't forget to get a license.

Don't take your friends out riding when you are testing an automobile.

Don't forget to put enough gasolene into the tank.

Don't think every girl thinks you are it because you run an automobile.

Don't think every one with an auto cap and goggles owns an auto.

Don't try to race every auto you see.

CONCRETE MACHINERY PLANT TO BE BUILT.

New York Concern to Locate Its Factory on Rock Avenue.

One of the largest manufacturing plants to be built of reinforced concrete in recent years is now being constructed in this city by the Ransome Concrete Machinery Company, of New York. Upon completion of this plant the main offices of the company will be moved to this place, occupying one of the buildings of the new plant. Accurately speaking the plant is located at Rock avenue and on the line of the Jersey Central. At this point a tract of land 200 feet wide and 1,200 feet long has been purchased and plans have been completed for buildings covering practically the whole tract. Briefly described the plans are to erect four buildings 500 feet long and fifty to sixty feet wide placed four square on the lot with space between for loading platforms, switch tracks and sidings and at the ends for a power house and subsidiary buildings.

Work is now in progress on the power house fifty by seventy feet in pland and on the first of the main shop buildings 592½ feet long and 53 feet wide. Both structures are being built of reinforced concrete one story high with steel truss roofs for the main shop. An interesting feature of the power plant is that it will be equipped with gas engines operated by producer gas. The main shop will be fully equipped with machine tools, bridge cranes, industrial railway, etc., for handling and working the sheet steel, casting and forging used in making Ransome mixers, concrete carts, concrete buckets, tamping bars, axes, etc., etc., which make up the large line of machines and tools produced by this firm for concrete work.

If the plan is carried out Berlin will have three million inhabitants.

Both daughters declared the woman was so bad she was not worthy to be called "mother."

NAME OF THE CITY ON THE U. S. STAMPS

FEDERAL POSTOFFICE DEEPARTMENT IS CONSIDERING A NEW PLAN.

The next issue of postage stamps to be printed under the contract which the Postoffice Department is about to give out may be an innovation.

Postmaster-General Cortelyou is now considering the feasibility of introducing a system of printing on the postage stamps the names of the cities where the stamps are sold in the largest quantities. The plan may be introduced of providing each one of these offices with stamps having the name of the office printed across the face of the stamps. No word has been received at the local post office yet that Plainfield will be one of the places that will have its name on the stamps.

The purpose of this radical change is to do away with the evil of diverting the sale of stamps and of mailing. The pay of the postmasters of the first, second and third classes, with the exception of a half dozen large cities like New York, Boston, Philadelphia and Baltimore, where the salary is fixed by law, is readjusted annually on the basis of the gross receipts of the office for the year. It has been found that in many cases presidential postmasters inflate their receipts by the sale of stamps, stamped envelopes and postal cards for use outside the territory of the office.

The effect is, by increasing the receipts of the office from these improper sales, to increase the salary of the postmaster, as well as the allowances made the office for clerk hire, rent, light, fuel and other expenses. Sometimes the inflated receipts even result in the inauguration of the free delivery system. During the year 1904 an investigation was made by the Postoffice Department, when sixty-two postmasters were detected inflating the receipts of their offices, the irregular sales at these offices amounting to $250,000.

It is believed by the postoffice officials that if the system of printing the names of the largest offices on the stamps is adopted the habit of many business men of buying stamps from other post offices will stop, as it is argued that the average business man will feel sufficient public spirit and local pride to use on all his mail only the stamp bearing the name of his city. Moreover, if any large mailings are detected in any city where the postage stamps do not bear the name of that city the fact could be promptly reported to the postoffice inspectors and an investigation could be made, resulting, in most cases, in the detection of the postmaster who was irregularly selling stamps.

The net cost of the plates for printing one and two cent stamps and the two-cent stamp books for the large offices for the first year, is estimated at $7,500, while the additional cost for handling and accounting would be about $5,000 more. This extra expenditure, it is believed, would soon be more than saved by the Government in the saving effected by the reduction of salaries and extra allowances to postmasters who had inflated their receipts by the improper sale of stamps.

It has been further suggested that this reform might be carried even further, to the extent of having special stamps made for the leading post offices of the United States and printing the names of the post office on all stamps intended for the remaining presidential post offices in the country. If this sweeping change is adopted it will be impossible for a presidential postmaster to seel a single stamp which will not be used by the patrons of his own office and inflation of receipts will be made impossible.

HAUL OF SLOT DEVICES

Seven Stores Raided by a Confiscating Detail of Cops.

STOREMEN RELEASED

Judge Accepts Plea of Unintentional Wrong-Doing and Suspends Sentence On Promise To Abjure Machines In Future.

Seven slot machines were confiscated by the police yesterday in raids on as many small candy and cigar stores. The proprietors of the places, arraigned before Judge Runyon this morning, were released under suspended sentences on their promises not to use such machines again.

The machines were gathered up yesterday forenoon in the patrol wagon. Detective McCarthy, and Patrolman Kelly and Higgins were out with the wagon. Chief Kiely had had his men sleuth about the city several days before, and the raiders knew just where to go for the machines. The raiding party worked quietly, and took all the storekeepers by surprise. They experienced no trouble in gathering up the devices.

These are the men whose stores were raided: Juliano Cinquegrani, 405 Watchung avenue; Frank J. Shattle, 659 West Fourth street; Charles Johnson, 308 Richmond street; Pules Mastodionato, 310 Liberty street; Morris Farbman, 520 West Third street; Julius Segal, 537 West Third street; Abram Wolf, 428 West Front street.

All the machines were similar in design. A rack of nails placed perpendicularly in a glass-fronted case, receives the penny as it drops from the slot, and after bouncing, governed, it is supposed, entierly by chance, the coin falls into one of a dozen compartment at the bottom. The landing place of the coin decides what the return for the cent shall be. Most of the compartment yield gum, high prize is twenty-five cents in trade.

Chief Kiely said this morning that the machines were mostly patronized by children. Wolf's store, opposite Leal's school, is said to have attracted the boys of the institution to the game. It is said that companies place the machines about the city, for the purpose of booming the gum, but the police take no stock in that story. The Cabinet Novelty Company, of Newark, and a New Brunswick concern are mentioned in connection with the case.

When the storekeepers were arraigned they all pleaded ignorance of the illegality of the device. Judge Runyon said he would accept the statements at face value, and release them without penalty if they engaged to keep such machines from their places in the future. There was no hesitation among the storekeepers in making the promises.

MUHLENBERG HARVEST HOME A SUCCESSFUL ENTERPRISE.

Many Contributions and Large Attendance at Hospital Affair.

While the harvest home celebration at Muhlenberg Hospital, yesterday afternoon, was perhaps not as largely attended as those in the past, the contributions of groceries, vegetables, fruits, money and other necessities were abev the average. The affair was held in the Nurses' Home, on Park avenue, where the members of the Women's Auxiliary were present. The goods were displayed in the lecture room and the entire space was occupied with donations which have been received during the week.

During the hours of the reception from 3 to 6 o'clock, tea was served by the Women's Auxiliary in the parlor of the Home. Mrs. William T. Pelletier, Mrs. Augustus Kleinecke and Mrs. William C. Kinney poured tea, while a number of young women assisted in serving.

Perhaps one of the most interesting sights was the display by the Needlework Guild, Plainfield Branch, which was in charge of Mrs. John B. Dumont and Mrs. J. Edgar Corlies. In all there were 900 articles in the display, all made by the guild for the hospital. This was one of the most valuable contributions and was greatly appreciated.

The Women's Auxiliary was busily engaged today in arranging the contributions at the hospital.

A Farewell Party.

Miss Mary Graves, of Liberty street, gave a farewell party at her home, last night, to Mr. and Mrs. Mortimer Givens, of Orchard place, who are to leave shortly for California. Thirty-five guests were present and various features made a very enjoyable evening. Peanut euchre was a feature and there was also vocal and instrumental music. Mr. and Mrs. Givens are going to the Pacific coast for the benefit of the former's health.

G. E. HALL ENTERTAINS SUNDAY-SCHOOL TEACHERS

SUPPER AT PARK AVENUE BAPTIST CHURCH; RECEIVES TESTIMONIAL.

As the guests of their superintendent, George E. Hall, the teachers of the Park Avenue Baptist church were entertained at supper last night. The affair was as delightful as it was informal.

The wives and husbands of the married teachers were included in the invitation, and covers were laid for over twenty guests. The supper was served in the church lecture room. The tables, set in the form of a square, were prettily decorated with flowers and candelabra, and broad red streamers strung from the chandelier to the board, added an effective touch of bright color to the scene.

The teachers about the board were Rev. A. E. Finn, the pastor; Theodore I. Runyon, Mrs. Finn, Miss Florence G. Hawkins, Mrs. W. J. Clark, Mrs. Charles Van Winkle, Mrs. W. S. Lowry, Mrs. Arthur Krom, Mrs. Frank Quaas, Miss Jennie Giles, Miss Cora Brokaw, Miss Helen Cuming, Mrs. Nelson Runyon, Mrs. De Lany, Miss Elmira Runyon, Miss Charlotte Tennant, Mrs. Harry Runyon.

Young women of the church waited on the guests. They were the Misses Helen Cuming, Elmira Runyon, Mamie Clark, Olive De Lany, Cora Brokaw and Mary Giles.

When the post prandial hour arrived Mr. Hall was presented with a testimonial from the teachers, in the shape of engrossed resolutions, signed by all the teachers. It is bound in vellum. G. W. V. Moy made the presentation.

Mr. Hall and the pastor spoke. The superintendent dwelt on the plans for the Christmas service, emphasizing the joys of giving. He urged his hearers to a special effort to make the Sunday when the Christmas offering of chant gifts are brought a noteworthy day in the church.

ENGLISH EXPERT TALKS ON MARINE INSURANCE.

J. Sanderson Allen Gives Instructive Talk Before High School Pupils.

J. Sanderson Allen spoke to the students of the Plainfield High School this morning on the subject of "Marine Salvage." With specific illustrations the speaker told in a clear and interesting manner the way in which wrecks are raised from great depths to the surface of the water, and repaired, thus saving many millions of dollars each year. The success, said Mr. Allen, is primarily due to decision and determination.

He said the only thing that seamen fear is fog, for this is the cause of most wrecks. In illustrating the great improvement made in travelling the sea Mr. Allen compared the ships of Columbus' time with those of today. The application of compressed air and other appliances which enables divers to work on sunken vessels, he said, are the inventions which have advanced the salvage work.

Mr. Allen is an Englishman. He is secretary of the Marine Insurance Company, of Great Britain, and president of the Liverpool Salvage Association.

To Sentence Her December 1.

Justice Garretson will be in Somerville, Saturday, December 1, when Miss Florinda Illario, who was convicted of manslaughter for shooting Alexander Di Paolo, an Italian politician of Raritan, at the home of Mrs. Jane Warwick, June 2, 1906, in Somerville, will be arraigned for sentence. Clark & Case, counsel for the defense, may ask for a new trial on the ground that the constables who had the jury in charge during the trial took them to the scene of the crime without an order from the court. A petition has been largely signed asking that Miss Illario be given a short term in the county jail and not sent to State Prison.

Skillman Case Up January 7.

Judge Schenck has granted a further postponement in the case of William H. Skillman, charged with forgery, and the trial will not come up until January 7. Skillman is very ill at his home at Skillman from gastritis and his physical condition is such that it would be impossible for him to appear in court at the present time. He is held in $2,000 bail on a charge of forging the will of the late William Lanehart, a prosperous farmer of Blawenburg. By the paper he was to receive half of the estate. He is not mentioned in a former will.

CLIMATOLOGICAL RECORD

Statistics of Local Climatology as Compiled by State Weather Bureau.

AVERAGES COMPUTED

Facts and Figures Ae Presented by Levi A. Judkins, Section Director of New Jersey Department of U. S. Bureau.

The city of Plainfield is situated in the extreme southwestern part of Union county, in the Red Sand Stone Plain section of New Jersey, latitude 40 degrees, 38 min. N., and longtitude 74 degrees, 24 min. W. The surrounding country is generally level. The elevation of the ground above sea level in the vicinty of the co-operative meteorological station is about 100 feet. Weather records for Plainfield date from August, 1888, but for the period extending from February, 1890, to May, 1892, inclusive, the series of observations is incomplete. In the first part of June, 1892, the observations were resumed by Mr. John Neagle, the present observer, and for a period of 14 years valuable data have been regularly received at the Section Center. The meteorological instruments at Plainfield are standard Weather Bureau. They are exposed in a proper manner, the thermometer shelter being over sod, in an open yard, at the residence of the observer. The rain gage is on the ground and is about 25 feet from the nearest high objects. The daily observation is taken at 8 p. m., 75th meridian time.

The mean annual temperature is 51.4 degrees. The average temperatures for the several seasons are as follows: Winter, 29.9 degrees; spring, 49.6 degrees; summer, 72.2 degrees; autmun, 53.9 degrees. The normal monthly temperatures are: January, 28.7 degrees; February, 28.5 degrees; March, 38.6 degrees; April, 49.4 degrees; May, 60.7 degrees; June, 69.3 degrees; July, 74.5 degrees; August, 72.8 degrees; September, 65.8 degrees; October, 54.0 degrees; November, 42.0 degrees; December, 32.4 degrees. Beginning with February, the coldest month of the year, the normal monthly temepratures increase until July at an average rate of 10 degrees, and beginning with August they decrease about 10 degrees each month to the end of the year. The summer temperatures are usually at their maximum during July, this month having a normal temperature of 74.5 degrees, or 5.2 degrees higher than the normal for June, and 1.7 degrees higher than the average for August. Although Feb'y. is named the coldest month, its average temperature is practically coincident with the average for January, the difference between the normals being merely a fraction of a degree. The highest annual temperature on record for the station is 52.9 degrees (1900), and the lowest is 48.9 degrees (1904). The coldest winters were those of 1903-4 and 1904-5, when the temperatures averaged 24.3 degrees and 24.5 degrees, respectively, or about 5 degrees below the normal. The winter of 1891-2 was exceptionally mild, its mean temperature having been 34.8 degrees, or nearly 5 degrees above the normal, and 1.3 degrees higher than the mean for the remarkably mild winter of 1905-6. The warmest summers occurred in 1892 and 1900—mean temperatures 74.8 degrees and 74.4 degrees, respectively. The summer of 1903 (68.6 degrees) was unusually cool.

The absolute maximum temperature is 105 degrees (July 26, 1892) —a temperature of 104 degrees occurred in July, 1901. August has been entirely free from temperatures of 100 degrees, and only one such value is on record, for June. September has had a maximum temperature of 102 degrees on two successive days, viz., 21st and 22d, 1895. The absolute minimum temperature is—13 degrees, for January 5, 1904. Zero temperatures are more frequent in February than in January—in December they are infrequent. Temperatures of 32 degrees, or lower, have invariably occurred in October, November, March and April, but May and September are, as a rule, free from freezing weather.

The average length of the growing season in and around Plainfield is 165 days, the average date of the last killing frost in spring being April 28, and of the first killing frost in autumn, October 10. Destructive frosts have accurred, however, in some years in May and September.

The average precipitation for winter is 11.62 inches; for spring, 12.24 inches; for summer, 15.24 inches, and for autumn, 12.61 inches.

The average annual snowfall is 34.6 inches.

The average annual number of days with a measurable amount of precipitation is 129.

NEW COMPANY TO RUN LAKE PIGMENT PLANT

PRESIDENT MILTON KNAPP WILL ORGANIZE AND BACK IT.

The plant of the Lake Pigment Co., West Front street, which passed into the hands of its president, Milton Knapp, of Bound Brook, at a receiver's sale two months ago, is to be continued under the operation of a new corporation. Mr. Knapp will be the chief stockholder. Papers of incorporation will be filed by H. C. Suydam, lawyer for Mr. Knapp, in a few days.

Mr. Knapp was the chief stockholder and the principal financial backer of the Pigment Company. F. G. Lasher, who was one of the principals in the Lashrer-Pray Color Co., from which the Lake Company was formed, will probably be in the new company. He is an expert chemist, and it was on formulas made up by him that the original company based its hopes of success. Mr. Knapp, after careful consideration of the outlook, is convinced that the plant has a prosperous future. He will supply what it lacked before, adequate capital for operating.

The works have never shut down. They continued by permission of the court pending the receivership proceedings, and Mr. Knapp kept them going after he bought them in.

WOMEN DISCUSS PLANS FOR A LOCAL S.P.C.A.

PRELIMINARY MEETING THIS MORNING —TO ORGANIZE TWO WEEKS HENCE.

Finding preliminary action still necessary, the organizers of the proposed local S. P. C. A. were unable to complete organization at the meeting in Judge W. A. Coddington's office in the Stirling building, this morning. Another meeting will be held in two weeks, at the same place.

A dozen women prominent in local society were at the meeting. Judge Coddington advised them that it was necessary to receive a certificate of authorization from the State S. P. C. A. headquarters, which had not been obtained, before organization as a regularly constituted S. P. C. A. could be accomplished. Action was accordingly deferred until Friday, December 7, by which time it is expected Judge Coddington will have received the certificate. Officers will then be elected, and an active campaign in behalf of abused or ill-treated creatures will be inaugurated.

In its work for the amelioration of the lives of suffering beasts, the society will have the hearty and vigorous co-operation of Chief of Police Kiely. Chief Kiely has several times, after moving, himself, against some cruel horseowner or malicious boy, said that he would welcome the formation of an S. P. C. A. here, and his assurance of ready support awaited the organizers when the meeting opened this morning.

Dr. L. S. Pocock, the veterinary surgeon, tendered his services to the organization. He is heartily in favor of its work, and is anxious to cooperate in the prosecution of it.

PLAINFIELDERS ARRAIGNED.

Plead Not Guilty and Will Be Tried Monday.

Five Plainfielders were arraigned in the Court of Common Pleas, Elizabeth, this morning, and with one exception all plead not guilty, and in three cases trial was set down for Monday. Charles Eaton was indicted on a grave charge. They will be tried on Monday.

Samuel and James Harvey, colored, were indicted on a charge of breaking and entering. Samuel Harvey plead not guilty and no date was fixed for his trial. James Harvey plead guilty and the court announced that he would be sentenced on Wednesday, November 28.

SOCIETY AT 'SUNNYSIDE'

At a Brilliant Gathering, Miss Margaret Mead Makes Her Debut.

THE GOWNS HANDSOME

A brilliant social function, last night, was the introduction to society of Miss Margaret Mead, daughter of Mrs. Frederick Goodhue Mead, at a large reception given by Mrs. Mead and her mother, Mrs. Lawrence Myers, at their home, "Sunnyside," East Front street. The affair really marked the opening of the social season in Plainfield and it was a charming one. From 8 to 11 o'clock the reception was held and after that dancing was enjoyed until an early hour this morning. There were about 400 guests present from this city, New York, Brooklyn, Morristown, Philadelphia and Princeton.

Miss Mead received the guests in the reception room with her mother and grandmother and the following young women: Miss Ruth McClintock, of Denver, Col.; Miss Anna Fitch, of New Haven; Miss Ethel Adams, of Brooklyn; Miss Katherine LeBouttlier, of New York; Miss Anita Stillman, of Hoboken; Miss Ursula Rowland, Miss Eva Browne, Miss Maida Hyde, Miss Georgianna Smith, Miss Abi Sykes and Miss Helen Harman, of this city.

The gowns were exceptionally beautiful and attractive.

The decorations throughout the home consisted chiefly of southern smilax, chrysanthemums, roses, while in the reception room there was a profusion of roses, chrysanthe mums, orchids and lilies-of-the-valley, gifts to the debutante. The decorations in the dining room consisted of pink roses and smilax, the prevailing colors being pink and green.

Miss Mead, who is a favorite among the younger social set, was showered with congratulations and her reception into society was most cordial and happy. During the hours for the reception and the dance which followed, music was furnished by Austin. The supper was served by Maresi.

Following last night's affair a number of luncheons and dinners will be given in honor of Miss Mead by friends. These will take place during the next two weeks.

DREW LARGE AUDIENCE.

Warren Chapel Brotherhood Entertainment a Great Success.

The entertainment of the Young Men's Brotherhood of Warren chapel at Y. M. C. A. Hall, last night, drew a large audience. The programme was much enjoyed, and the committee was made happy by the substantial addition accruing to the new chapel library fund from the receipts.

Moving pictures were the chief feature of the entertainment. Magic by H. Warren Rankin and selections by the Musical Stewarts, including illustrated songs, completed the programme.

The committee was made up of H. W. Rankin, C. F. Windham, Charles Bugan, Alexander Galloway and Neils Neilson.

Miss Ola Bidwell Entertains.

Under the auspices of the Ladies' Missionary Circle, of the First M. E. church, Miss Ola Bidwell, a talented singer, reader and violinist, gave a pleasing entertainment is Vincent chapel, last night. Miss Bidwell occupied the entire evening herself, interspersing vocal solos and recitations with violin selections. She has an excellent voice of wide range, and she made good selections. Her character recitations were well received, especially one by Ezra Kendall, entitled "Tell It to Me." The violin selections were also enjoyed.

A Successful Fair.

The Women's Christian Temperance Union fair was continued yesterday afternoon and closed last night. Nearly all of the goods offered for sale were disposed of at good prices and the fair was a success. The attendance was much better yesterday afternoon and evening, and as an extra attraction last night music was furnished by Kenneth Stuart's orchestra. The profits from the fair will go in the Union's treasury to help carry on the temperance work.

Shower Party.

Forty relatives and friends gave a surprise party to Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hamilton, colored, at their home on West Fourth street, last night. The couple was recently married and their friends planned to give them a shower. They received a great many presents. Refreshments were served.

FORMER PHILADELPHIAN WEDS MISS MIRIAM WILCOX

SEVENTY-FIVE GUESTS WITNESS CEREMONY AT THE BRIDE'S HOME.

In the presence of seventy-five friends, Miss Miriam Wilcox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Wilcox, of Fairview avenue, and Alfred Anthony Tayno, of Cranford, fomerly of Philadelphia, were married at the home of the bride's parents last night. The ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock by Rev. Charles E. Herring, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. It was a chrysanthemum affair, the autumn flower being used in variegated profusion in the decorations. The parlor was in white, set off by palms and plants, while the same color scheme was maintained in the hall.

Miss Wilcox was gowned in white silk with old point lace yoke. Her bouquet was of white chrysanthemums. Her attendant was her sister, Miss Bertha Allen Wilcox, who, as maid of honor, wore white voile over white silk and carried pink roses. The best man was John Carr, of Philadelphia, and Mrs. Frank Thomas, of Elizabeth, played the wedding march as the bridal party was essembling. Miss Wilcox entered the room leaning on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage.

Following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Tayno were tendered a reception and at midnight took their departure for a wedding trip. Washington is to be the destination and at its conclusion they will make their home in Cranford. The guests in attendance were from New York, Philadelphia, Somerville and this city.

Both bride and groom were remembered by their friends with an array of handsome presents, mostly silverware, cut glass, bric-a-brac and furniture. There was also an exchange of gifts in the bridal party.

SNEAKTHIEF GETS OCCULISTS' INSTRUMENTS.

H. A. Stiles Finds Office Door Broken When He Comes On Weekly Visit.

Through the depredation of a sneakthief, H. A. Stiles, the Philadelphia occulist who has an office in the Schwed building, East Front street, opposite Park avenue, is minus $100 worth of instruments.

The crook took them from the office. Mr. Stiles comes to Plainfield on Thursdays only, so the thief had plenty of time in which to choose the hour for his visit. When Mr. Stiles reached his office yesterday morning he found the front door broken open. It is supposed that the crook entered the place late the afternoon before. An employe of Schwed Brothers discovered the smashed door yesterday morning before Mr. Stiles reached the office.

The instruments taken were in one case. The case is the only thing missing. A reward is offered by Mr. Stiles.

BOOM IN REALTY.

Sewers Now Being Rushed to Completion at Netherwood Park.

The Plainfield Land and Building Company has sold to A. W. Ransome, of the Ransome Concrete Machinery Company, two building plots at Netherwood Park, upon which Mr. Ransome expects to erect a residence for himself and for an associate. Robert McCready's handsome dwelling is being pushed rapidly, and as others are contemplating the erection of houses in the near future, the company has found it necessary to lay the sewer pipes without waiting for the city to act.

Fifty men are now at work on the sewer, and as soon as it is completed, both Denmark road and Dixie lane will be macadamized. C. M. Meeker has contracts for both sewer and macadam work. About half of the fine plots in this beautiful section are now sold; and with the addition of sewer and macadam, it is expected that the balance will be speedily disposed of to New Yorkers looking for a desirable suburban home site.

TRIP AROUND THE WORLD.

Mr. Ackerman Gives a Delightful Description of One.

Senator Ernest R. Ackerman, of West Eighth street, who returned several weeks ago from a trip abroad, gave a delightful illustrated lecture in the Presbyterian church, Westfield, last night, on the subject of "A Trip Around the World." Many of the views shown were taken by Mr. Ackerman on his last trip across the ocean, while some of them were taken on previous trips. They gave a comprehensive description of some of the most interesting places of the old world.

Mr. Ackerman's talk was listened to with great interest. He has travelled so extensively in foreign countries that he is espically well fitted to tell about them.

DESTRUCTIVE BARN BLAZE

Caused the Death of Two of Baker Wirth's Horses and a Money Loss of $700.

THE ORIGIN UNKNOWN

Fire broke out in a small brick barn rented by Baker John Wirth and situated in Exchange alley, directly back of Trinity Reformed church, at 8:55 last night, causing the death of two horses and entailing a total loss of $700. The origin of the blaze is uncertain but in the opinion of Chief Doane it started from a match dropped on the floor by William Nelson, an employe of Mr. Wirth's, who was in the place at 8 o'clock. He left about a half hour later and it must have smoldered unnoticed.

Someone passing through the alley discovered the fire and turned in an alarm from the keyless box on West Front street. Previous to the arrival of the department, Patrolman William Messler reached the scene and made a heroic effort to recue three horses which were in adjoining stalls directly beneath the hottest part of the blaze. With the help of W. H. Clarkson and other citizens who ran up he succeeded in getting two out but one of them broke away and in its frenzy ran back in the barn. It was gotten out a second time but was so badly burned the policeman shot it upon the advice of a veterinary. The one animal which could not be reached was still alive when the fire was quelled sufficiently for the men to get inside and a round of bullets from Patrolman McCarthy's revolver ended its misery. The third horse was quite badly burned but it can be brought around. In his efforts to reach the equines Patrolman Messler received several severe burns.

The fire evidently started at the foot of the stairway and made its way up to the hayloft on the second floor. It then crept down again through openings just above the heads of the horses and spread along under the flooring. When the department arrived two streams were gotten on the flames in a jiffy and the fire was quickly under control, but owing to the quantity of hay that had to be turned over it was 10:15 before the recall could be sounded. The walls of the building are intact but the upper flooring and part of the roof will have to be renewed.

The structure is owned by Henry Liefke and he places his loss at $300 with insurance of $500. Baker Wirth's wagons were saved and the greater part of his loss is placed upon the horses. He fixes the total amount incurred by him at $400 with insurance of $600.

The death of the two horses last night makes six that Mr. Wirth has lost in a short time, the others dying from natural causes. His store was also recently robbed of $300 by an employe.

STILL ANOTHER CARRIER ADDED TO P. O. FORCE.

Three Additional Mail Men Obtained for Plainfield in Three Months.

Postmaster E. H. Bird received word from Washington this morning authorizing him to put on another regular letter-carrier December 1, making three additional carriers allowed by the postal authorities within the past few weeks. As there is but one man eligible for appointment; Edward E. Ripley, who recently passed the required examination. He will probably be assigned to the East End of the town. In the case of the other two regulars, one was assigned to North Plainfield and the other to the West End, and in both districts the service has been improved.

Carrier Ripley is the last one on the eligible list and there will be need for at least six substitutes very soon. An examination was taken by four men yesterday and their papers have been sent in. Postmaster Bird says that he could use six additional carriers now if he had them. The service is being made more attractive with a prospect for increased pay. With the approach of the holiday season there will be need for extra help and something will have to be done to handle the big incoming mail at this season of the year.

Church Fair Closes.

The fair at Holy Cross P. E. church closed last night. The attendance was large, and the proceeds of the affair will be most satisfactory.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Presbyterian church sent a barrel to the college at Abberville, S. C., Wednesday. It was well filled with serviceable articles.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD

The funeral of Mary, the eight-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Guerrier, who died Wednesday after a week's illness with diphtheria, was held yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the home. Rev. William Mulford, rector of All Saints' Episcopal church, had charge of the service, which was private owing to the house being under quarantine. Interment was made in the Baptist cemetery. Another child has the disease but it was reported last night that she was improving. Mr. and Mrs. Guerrier have the sympathy of the entire town in their bereavement.

The Park avenue sidewalks are a disgrace to the town; but little repairs have been made to them in several years, and the condition they have been in for two weeks has made rubbers a necessity even in the best of weather. The Township Committee is not to blame; it is up to the taxpayers who believe in cutting the annual appropriation smaller and smaller each year. Repairs cannot be made without money and the sooner the taxpayers realize it the better for the town.

The last meeting of the union revival services being held in the Baptist and Methodist churches will be held tonight. Last night's meeting was in charge of Rev. C. C. Woodruff, of Roselle Park Methodist church, a former pastor of the local church. Mr. Woodruff was greeted by a large audience of friends and former parishioners, many of them remaining after the service to greet their former pastor.

The report that the new bridge on Union avenue over Green brook is unsafe is unfounded, the only trouble being the settling of the loose earth about the stone piers. The bridge itself is considered one of the strongest and best over Green brook.

The Township Committee meets tonight in the town rooms. All bills to be paid must be in the hands of Township Clerk Edward L. Hand before 8 o'clock.

The stages running to the entertainment held tonight in the Willow Grove chapel will leave the corner of Park avenue and the trolley promptly at 7:30 o'clock.

Miss Annie Ryno, of Westfield avenue, has been entertaining friends from out of town.

Mrs. George L. Dunn was the guest yesterday of friends in Plainfield.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

According to the weather prophet we are to have twenty-seven snow storms. If the rabbits' tracks can be seen in the first snow storm twenty-seven storms are to follow. This is an old saying and rarely fails to prove true. So be prepared for a snowy winter.

The P. O. S. of A. and P. O. of A. orders represented here held a joint open meeting last evening in Washington Hall. Able speakers told the principles of both orders. There was a good attendance and much interest manifested.

Master Eddie Norman, son of the proprietor of Norman's Hotel, who is only eleven years old, killed his first rabbit yesterday morning, using a small rifle.

A fire department in this village is an assured thing in the near future.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

The uproariously funny farce comery, "A Trip to Egypt," will be the offering at the New Plainfield theatre tonight, and those who wish to see nothing but the best should not miss attending the performance. It was written by C. Herbert Kerr, and tells a side-splitting story, with many pleasing stage pictures, a large and important cast, a pony ballet, a pretty girlie chorus and numerous fine specialties.

Among the prominent actor engaged to support Otis B. Thayer in "A Square Deal," which comes to the New Plainfield theatre tomorrow afternoon and night, are Jack Kennedy, Louis Fitzroy, William Haddock, John S. Fender, Judge Drowning, Clara Knott, Edna Irvine, Margaret Sayres, and Margaret Campbell. Besides these more than 200 people will be seen in the big election scene in the third act, one of the largest scenes ever put on the stage.

An extract from the review of the

Syracuse Post Standard on the performance of Miss Florence Gale as Juliet in "Romeo and Juliet," says in part: "By its keen appreciation of her admirable characterization of Shakespeare's most bewitching heroine the audience expressed to Miss Gale over the footlights the fact that it was glad to meet her and the hope that the acquaintance auspiciously begun would be strengthened by future visits to Syracuse." Miss Gale, acknowledged to be one of the most beautiful of our American actresses, and admittedly one of the best that has ever attempted Shakespearean heroines, together with an acting company of excellent and uniform ability, and a scenic investiture of unusual granduer, will give the famously delightful "Romeo and Juliet" at the new Plainfield theatre next Monday, afternoon and night.

The Brothers Byrne with a superior company will present the new "Eight Bells" at the New Plainfield theatre next Tuesday night. If the old adage, "Laugh and grow fat" counts for anything, it will be safe to predict that any one who has the pleasure to witness this performance will increase in avoirdupois from the rise of the curtain unto its final fall, the spirit of mirth and fun prevails, calling forth prolonged laughter. "Eight Bells" is a natural production constructed on a scale differing in many ways from the average farce comedy, and it is refreshing to know that the art of genuine fun making on the stage, when pantomime, gymnastics and humor, coupled with novel scenic effects abound, is not a thing of the past. The Brothers Byrne, of course, are a "whole show" in themselves. They are assisted by a capable company who help to make the play a complete success. The revolving ship scene, the trick wagon and the great John Byrne Troupe of Acrobats are features worthy of special mention.

The company playing "Montana," which is to be seen at the New Plainfield theatre Thanksgiving afternoon and night, contains among its members some of the best known people in the theatrical world. Mr. Carey, the author of the play, has long been known as one of the best leading men in the country. Having supported some of the best of stars such as Mrs. Fiske, E. H. Sothern, etc. The other members all have been specially selected for their respective parts. The scenic effects are many and beautiful. Two horses are required in the play, and both are thoroughbreds, having been brought from Montana by Mr. Carey himself.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Flynn, of this city, have returned from a visit with Mrs. Flynn's parents at Raritan.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

GOLF.

The final play for the November Handicap cup will be one of the chief events at the Plainfield Country Club tomorrow, in the waning days of the season. There will also be the final play for the Golf Committee consolation cup between Frank C. Talmadge and Arthur Murphy and E. B. Shoemaker and Morris J. Dumont will finish their match for the inconsolables' cup. A week ago they played nineteen holes and was obliged to stop on account of darkness. The match ended with two more holes to play, the players being all even.

The cross country golf tournament on Thanksgiving Day will be the final event scheduled this season at the Plainfield Country Club. There is sure to be a large field as it is one of the most popular competitions arranged by clubs.

The Plainfield Country Clubhouse is now lighted with lamps of the oil variety and it is with the desire to get away from the primitive method that the club is discussing the plan to install an independent lighting plant.

FOOTBALL.

Considerable interest is being shown in the football game to be played tomorrow afternoon between Alis and Dunellen on Alis Common. Early in the season these teams met and failed to score and the same thing happened at Dunellen two weeks ago. The two elevens are exceptionally well matched and the betting is even on the result in the third game. No doubt a large crowd will witness the contest tomorrow.

ROD AND GUN.

George Simmons, of East Third street, went out hunting on Wednesday and captured three cottontails.

Ninepins Now.

Have you ever rolled ninepins? It used to be a popular game, according to Chief Expert McNulty, who introduced it to the rollers at McLaughlin's alleys Wednesday night. In ninepins the head pin is left out, and the bowler is required to leave one standing. If more are up there is no count. If all the pins go down it means a lemon also. Two balls are allowed. Some spares are horrors, because they reverse the usual order of things, and the ordinarily easy trick becomes a teaser or an impossibility. The count is one point to a frame.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

The Women's Home Missionary Society of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church will hold a sewing meeting in the chapel, this afternoon.

Rev. H. Clay Ashley, pastor of the Mt. Zion A. M. E. church, who recently recovered from an operation, is expected to occupy his pulpit on Sunday.

The Young Women's Mission Band of Trinity Reformed church has selected Thursday night, December 6, as the date for the annual supper in the lecture room of the church.

Several persons will be baptized at the First Baptist church Sunday night by the pastor, Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss. It is expected that many more new members will be received within a short time.

At the meeting of the Young People's Association of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, tonight, a statement will be made about the course of study which is to follow on "The Servant of Jehovah."

Rev. Dr. Clivers, field secretary for the Baptist Home Missionary Society, is expected to speak at the First Baptist church Sunday morning, when the annual offering for home missions will be received.

A meeting of special interest to young people will be held at the First Baptist church tonight under the auspices of the Young People's Association. Pastor Chambliss requests that all the recent converts and other young people attend.

Bishop Lines, of Newark, in the course of an address this week to the clergy on the third anniversary of his consecration, declared that the clergy should not take an active part in the work of legislation. He said the clergy were not in all respects the successors of the prophets, and that they were not qualified by training to take an active part in the work af lawmaking. "Whenever the fortunes of the Church," he said, "have been wound up with a particular political party the results to the Church have been bad. It is right that the Church should keep before the people the moral issues of great questions, but it is more likely to win favor for good measures by patient insistence upon principles which are necessary to the welfare of the community." Regarding the question of temperance, the Bishop said it was a great mistake to take the line of suppression without taking into account the social instinct which expresses itself in saloons. With a plea for restriction and regulation, he said, should go efforts to find ways and means to gratify this instinct in legitimate and healthy ways.

In Chorus Cried, Give Us Newbro's Herpicide.

This word of late has been in everyone's mouth, and many are wondering what the word signifies, though no one has yet been found, who will deny that NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE does the work. Well, for the information of thousands of people who like to know all about a good thing, we would say that HERPICIDE means, a destroyer or killer of "Herpes," Now "Herpes" is the family name of a disease caused by various vegetable parasites. A similar microbe causes dandruff, itching scalp, and falling hair; this is the microbe that NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE promptly destroys; after which the hair grows. Sold by leading druggists. HOMES FOR WORKINGMEN

IN GREAT DEMAND

Building Boom To Encourage Erection of Fire-Proof Dwellings.

The necessity for immediate action in the matter of erecting a large number of two- or three-family houses in this city is evidenced by the work already naugurated in Jersey City, Hoboken and elsewhere to provide for the rush of homeseekers who will turn their faces toward the Jersey shore when the tunnels under the Hudson River are completed. One Jersey City real estate dealers said Thursday that he and the other dealers had to refuse no less than 10,000 applications for houses renting at $30 per month last year. These applications covered five counties in the State. This, in addition to the statement of local dealers that they have been turning away fifteen people a day for want of suitable accommodations, points to the importance of the work taken up here for the formation of a building syndicate referred to in a presentation of local opportunities for investment in the Journal Thursday.

The Jersey City dealer referred to above said further:

"I have gathered some statistics from builders and real estate men of my acquaintance and through the boards of trade of our larger cities, and I find that in the counties of Hudson, Essex, Bergen, Passaic and Middlesex during the next year no less than 12,000 two- or three-family houses will either be completed or begun. In Essex county some 900 such houses are now building. In Middlesex county the number is smaller, but in proportion to the inhabitants of the principal towns of Middlesex the number is far greater than in Essex or Hudson counties.

"The rapid rate at which rents are advancing in New York city promises for New Jersey a far greater demand for cheap houses than has been recorded for the past year. The demand for building materials already exceeds the supply on hand, and also the ability of our builders to procure additional materials. The price of such materials has increased steadily in the last year, but has not kept pace with the demand. The short supply of building brick is being supplemented now to a very great extent by the use of concrete blocks for foundation and first-story walls.

"One result of this exceptional boom in building, I think, will be the gradual introduction of practically fireproof house, even of the cheaper sort. New Jersey produces so many clay products for building purposes and the demand for these products is so great, and the prices are being cut by competition so that within a year or so I believe it will be cheaper to construct of concrete block and hollow fireproof brick than of pressed brick and stone. The use of these materials certainly will be cheaper than lumber and pressed brick at their present prices. In view of the increased demand for these materials the clay product factories and the cement block makers are working double time for the most part, and will continue to do so throughout the winter in prospect of a great demand for their products next spring.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—C. L. King has moved from Liberty Corner to Plainfield, where he is engaged in the building business.

—The Harrison Construction Company, of Newark, which has had the contract for laying the big gas main being run from this city to Camden, has about completed the pipe line as far as Metuchen.

—Contractor Charles E. Kelly, of New Market, who built the West End avenue bridge, will commence the work this week of completing the storm sewer on the city side of the avenue. The sewer will extend from the bridge toward Front street a distance of over fifty feet.

—When the Common Council holds its December meeting on Monday night, December 4, it will adopt on final passage the ordinance providing for the construction of the southside sanitary sewer. This will complete all preliminary work, preparatory to starting operations.

—The first reception and prize waltz for the benefit of the All American Athletic Association will be held Thursday night, December 6, in Central Hall, Park and North avenues. The Plainfield Band orchestra will furnish music. Samuel M. Thornton is the president of the association and chairman of the committee of arrangements.

Starts Angora Goat Farm.

Middletown, N. Y., Nov. 23—Nearly 1,400 acres of land at Debruce, Sullivan county, have been purchased by Charles P. Ward, of Newark, N. J., upon which to raise Angora goats by the thousand. Several years ago Ward imported several Angora goats and experimented, demonstrateing that the animals can be successfully raised in this country.

HEARING FOR CONSTITUENTS.

The Newark Evening News said editorially last night:

"State Senator Ackerman and Messrs. Perkins, Tillman and Moxon, the representatives of Union County in the next Legislature, are being given an idea of the sentiment of their constituents on the United States Senatorship by direct communications from hosts of voters. It had been stated by the Union men that they desired to represent the wishes of their constituents on this important matter, and their public declarations to that effect were followed by the suggestion, in the Plainfield Press, that 'the Republican voters in Plainfield and throughout the county generally give expression to their opinions regarding the present situation by writing personally to Senator Ackerman and Assemblymen Perkins, Tillman and Moxon. A word of encouragement or of criticism of the position taken by Union's legislators, who, with the exception of Moxon, favor candidates other than John F. Dryden, will be welcomed by them. Messrs. Ackerman, Tillman and Perinks are in favor of the election of Governor E. C. Stokes, and they believe that their choice reflects the best sentiment of Union. Whether it does or not, is up to the voters to say.'

"The response to this suggestion has been generous, and it is said that letters are pouring in upon all four of the lawmakers. Some of these communications are in the form of petitions circulated in Plainfield and other parts of the county urging that Mr. Dryden be not re-elected. Some of these petitions are being circulated by 'new idea' adherents, but it is claimed that many 'regulars' have attached their names. The tenor of the personal letters sent in response to the suggestion has not been made public, but it is probable that these expressions of opinion will be given full consideration by the recipients. There is plenty of time to thoroughly digest their contents and to ascertain fully just how much weight should be given to them. In the mean time; the conditions in Union county are still 'unsettled' from a Dryden standpoint, and there is little danger of an early caucus being held."

Mr. Howells and the Poet.

A person called upon a certain editor of the Atlantic Monthly of the note of William Howells and, producing a poem and courteous note of declination, indignantly demanded an explanation.

"Do you mean to intimate that this is not a good poem?" he challenged.

"By no means," hastily remonstrated Mr. Howells; "I think it is very good indeed."

"Then why"—in a somewhat mollified tone—"do you decline it? I consider it the best I have ever written."

"Ah, well," said Mr. Howells, "after all, we have very few differences of opinion. Do you know," he added in his gentlies voice, "I have long regarded it as the best that Tennyson has has ever written."—George Harvey in North American Review.

The average amounts of precipitation for January, April, May, November and December, ranging from 3.54 inches to 3.95 inches, are remarkably uniform. November, with an average precipitation of 3.54 inches, is known as the driest month of the year, although January, April, May and December, have averages that are only slightly greater than the November average. July, with an average rainfall of 6.09 inches, is unquestionably the wettest month of the year.

The actual annual precipitation has ranged from a minimum amount of 39.45 inches (1895) to a maximum amount of 82.31 inches (1889).

The three consecutive driest years were 1894, 1895 and 1896, with total amounts of precipitation of 50.59, 39.45 and 47.91 inches, respectively. The three consecutive wettest years were 1902, 1903 and 1904, with amounts of 57.14, 57.80 and 54.78 inches, respectively.

The greatest monthly amounts of precipitation (10 inches or more) have occurred in June, July, August, September and November, and the least monthly amounts (less than 1 inch) in February, May and September.

The greatest amount of rain that has occurred in a single storm is 6.70 inches (September 14-15, 1904; duration 17 hours, 40 minutes). On July 30-31, 1889, 6.61 inches fell in 24 consecutive hours, and 6.32 inches on October 8-9, 1903.

As a rule the heaviest snowstorms occur in January and February, although in November, 1898, the snowfall was 17 inches, in December, 1904, 24 inches, and in March, 1896, 23 inches. The maximum monthly amount is 33 inches, for February, 1899. In a period of 14 years no appreciable amount of snow has fallen in October, and for April the greatest amount on record is 3.5 inches. Heavy falls in November have been infrequent, but for December and March amounts ranging from 12 to 24 inches are not exceptional. In March of the current year the snowfall was 15 inches, or about 6 inches more than the total fall for December, 1905, and January and February, 1906. The maximum winter snowfall is 50.4 inches (winter of 1904-5).

The average annual number of clear days at Plainfield is 106; partly cloudy, 94. The prevailing wind direction is southwest.

Jews in Palestine.

One of the arresting features of the heavy exodus from Russia is the large number of those who are making for Palestine. According to reports from Odessa, every ship bound for Turkey carries a hundred Jewish families from different parts of the empire to Palestine. There can now in spite of the oxedus of those who failed be little short of 100,000 Jews in the Holy Land.—Jewish Chronicle.

Former Gov. Voorhees, who was interviewed at his home in Elizabeth last night as to his position on the question of who shall succeed Dryden in the Senate, and more particularly as to whether he himself was a candidate for the honor, declined to commit himself. He intimated that certain developments now pending would prove deciding factors in the fight now going on in the party over the Senatorship, but that before they materalized he could give no definite statement as to attitude.

"Do you think, Governor, that the next Senator must come from South Jersey?"

"By no means," Mr. Voorhees answered somewhat emphatically.

Somerville-Raritan Consolidate?

The consolidation of Somerville and Raritan into one corporative municipality, is a question much agitated these days in both places. There are some citizens in both towns who object to it for clannish reasons, and some who see political dangers in a municipality of that character. The weight of opinion, however, seems to be that the advantages in favor of such a union far exceed the disadvantages.

FOR THE GENTLER SEX

HAND-MADE BABY DRESSES.

The little hand-made dress admits of a quantity of beautiful handwork, and if one has plenty of time to give to it, a charming dress can be made with very little expense.

Hand-make tucks, hemstitching and featherstitching can be used with fine effect upon dainty material, and only a little lace will be needed for the neck and sleeves.

The dress can be made in a variety of ways from a simple garment with tucks and featherstitching, to a very elaborate one of lace and hand embroidery.

Whichever way it is made, extreme care and daintiness should be used.

The yokes of these dresses can be fashioned in several different shapes, round, square and pointed; often the dress is made without any yoke, fine tucks being used to make the necessary fullness.

Sometimes they are made of deep embroidered flouncing, which can be purchased with the scalloped, embroidered edge, or with a hemstitched hem, and the embroidery above.

When the flouncing is deep enough to allow it, three or four small hand-run tucks will be very dainty upon it.

The materials used for a baby dress are lawn, nainsook, batiste and linen lawn.

The sleeves can be set in with fine beading, the shoulders and all parts of the yoke can be joined with the same. It is used on all French dresses, and it very dainty and effective.

Narrow lace insertion is used in combination with the small tucks on the yoke. These tucks are made generally in clusters of three or four to the depth of the yoke, with insertion between.

Six or seven clusters of these tucks will give about the necessary width, and a pattern should be used to cut this yoke by. When the yoke for the back is made sufficient material should be allowed for the overlap placket closing.

On this the buttonholes can either be made to show, or they can be made on a piece, which will be covered by this overlap.

FOR THE TOILET.

It is next to impossible to make the hands slender. You can make them graceful by indulging in certain Delsarte exercises, stretching the fingers to the utmost and closing the hand slowly and gracefully. You can also keep your hands soft and white by using a pure soap and cosmetic jelly. If, in addition, the nails are beautifully manicured, the extra plumpness will not matter so very much. The main thing is to have the hands white and soft, the nails polished and clean, and to move the hands gracefully. All these delightful conditions can be cultivated.

A really poor figure can be made graceful; the secret is in a splendid, soldierly carriage. Large hips are not desirable. If you will learn to hold the head erect in a stright line with the spine, if you will keep the chest uplifted, the hips back, the abdomen held in, you will be surprised to find how very much your figure will change for the better. A good corset, made especially to fit you, will be a tremendous aid. A corset should fit snugly about the hips, with lines that hold the abdomen in place and send the hips back. The waist must be large and ample, and the corset must fit tightly only about the hips. The well-fittinfi corset is the cause of most good figures. Walking will enlarge the hips.

HOUSEHOLD HELPS.

Beautiful and inexpensive hall curtains can be made of bobbinet with inch and a half hems all around. Down one side and across the bottom is a design four inches wide in the old-fashioned darning pattern. The work is very pseedy, and the cost was only for the bobbinet and mercerized floss for the darning.

Have the soles of new shoes varnished before they are worn. Select shoes that have not had the soles blackened before they leave the factory. The varnish makes a smooth, glossy surface that is impervious to water, and so toughens the leather that it wears much longer. Stout leather boots of the mannish last, varnished, can be worn with much comfort, the feet feeling warm and dry, even on a wet pavement.

To increase the capacity of clothes presses, cut sticks from old brooms and place them across the clothes press, letting the ends rest on the boards that hold the hooks. This enables many coat hangers to be used, and if in a gentleman's clothes press, trtousers can be folded and placed over the rods so that the creases will remain in place.

MODES OF THE MOMENT.

Stamped and stripped velvets are to be much worn both for coats and for entire suits.

Many of the pale shades in cloth formerly seen only in warm weather will be worn throughout the winter.

Skirts fit snugly over the hips, even though laid in tucks and plaits, but they flare much over the feet.

Leather belts will appear in great variety and in fanciful designs. A novel idea is a belt of patent leather with Scotch plaid design in the regular clan colors.

Dark blue broadcloth suits will be furnished with pacqueminot red vests, and vests more or less fancy are found in all of the smartest dress costume coats of whatever style.

In negligees an idea for a wrapper is to have collar and cuffs or a front of washable material. Embroidery or white woolen stuff that will respond readily to the cleaner's touch is attractive and gives a look of daintiness that is desirable in a heavy gown.

HOME NOTES.

A very strong solution of water and alum thrown on a burning object will speedily extinguish the flames.

Weak soapsuds or aqua ammonia will clean bronze statuary or bronze ornaments in the fine lines where dust has collected.

When the nickel on your steel range becomes dull and discolered take a cloth saturated with carbon oil, and the spots will disappear as if by magic.

The woven wire mattresses used in bedsteads are apt to wear the material of the hair mattress above into holes. To prevent this spread sheets of strong brown paper between the two, pinning or tying at the corners so that it may not wriggle out of place.

MAN AND HIS TAILOR.

It should not be overlooked that the shirt affects both the fit of the waist-coat and of the coat and that, therefore, it should be very carefully cut. Of the merits of the many devices intended to prevent the shirt bosom from bulging the wearer must judge for himself.

The correct white evening tie measures from one and one-half to two and one-fourth inches, and is graduated in form. While both linen and silk are proper materials, cotton is softer, more pliant and yields a firmer, fuller knot, besides being lighter and cooler. If a silk tie be worn, it should harmonize in shade and pattern with the waistcoat. Cords, tiny detached figures and embroidered ends—all are correct and a matter of individual preference. Lawn ties have been discarded, as the fabric is too flimsy for graceful knotting. In choosing the evening tie, the shape of the collar worn must be considered. If it be a poke or a lap-front, the tie should be broad and adjusted straight across rather than pinched in the center. Contrariwise, if it be a wing—and the wing continues to be favored by many men who cannot wear the other forms with comfort—the tie should be modified "batwing," snug of center and spreading of end.

In hats there are no radical changes, the silk hat being made on almost exactly the same block as the one of last autumn, and the derby also is practically unchanged, the New York hatters showing the style with the chown five and a half inches deep and a two-inch brim. For those who prefer a soft hat there is the perennial Alpine or "Fedora," and for the younger men the "telescope hat" in pearl gray or fawn color. This hat will be more popular this season than ever before and many men will wear it who do not care for the stiff derby.

For the ordinary business sack suits, single breasted, there are three styles to choose from. Instead of the extreme length of the summer coat the autumn and winter style will be medium and the corners slightly cut away or square at the bottom, or almost square with rounded corners.

This coat is shaped as was the fashion in the summer styles, and has three buttons. There is a tendency to cut the coat without a vent in the back.

In the double-breasted suit the length will also be reduced to the medium and in all other respects will remain the usual three-button garment in vogue during the summer. In the single-breasted suit there are two side pockets, a change pocket with flaps and an upper pocket without, while in the double-breasted coat the change pocket is not shown. With the possible exception of a two-button coat, which will not be worn to any extent, there are no extreme styles this season in the ordinary business suits.

BRIEFLY TOLD.

New York city has one captain or sergeant for every twenty members of the police force.

New York city has seventy-one women on the police force. They are known as "police matrons."

A seawall and breakwater is being built at Manzanillo, Mexico, to cost, when completed, $11,000,000 silver.

The Canary Islands sold $46,613 worth of onion seed to the United States in 1905, an increase of nearly 300 per cent. over 1904.

An alloy of 60 parts copper, one part tin and 39 parts of zinc is found to offer great resistence to the action of sea water, and has been largely used in naval construction.

In the six months ended June 30, 2,297.20 miles of new railway tracks was laid in this country, a greater amount of new construction than in any corresponding six months in the last 15 years, except in 1902, when new construction aggregated 2,314 miles.

It is a peculiarity of Russian railways that their stations are generally two miles distant from the smaller towns and villages which they serve. This is said to be on account of the danger of fire, the houses in small places generally being thatched with straw.

Genesis of "Aye."

The parliamentary cry of "Aye!"—which has been brought into special prominence by Wednesday's amusing division incident—is the only surviving use, apart from sailors' language and some dialects, of this old equivalent of "Yes." But after all, it not so very old, says the London Chronicle. Dr. Murray's Dictionary sets forth that "aye" appears suddenly about 1575, and by 1600 is exceedingly common. Where it came from, nobody really knows, opinions differing as to whether it is a varian of "yea" or from "ay," meaning ever, always. The fact that the original spelling of "aye" was "I" makes it rather difficult to accept either of these explanations. "I, so do I," writes Ben Jonson; Drayton has, "Nothing but I and no, and no and I;" and in old editions of Shapespeare it is always "I."

FORMS OF INSANITY.

Premonitory Symptoms by Which They May Be Detected.

There are certain premonitory symptoms of the more prevalent forms of insanity that can be counted on, as a general thing, as infallible.

In paresis, which is claiming its victims in tremendous numbers, there are many physcial signs that are almost incontrovertible.

The exaggerated twitching of the facial muscles in conversation, the occasional tendency of the eye to turn outwrd, the weakness of the legs, the flabbiness of all muscles, are preliminary symptoms that give warning that a man is about to break down.

With the victim of mania—the maniac—the symptoms are often similar to those found in melancholia, though generally the disease gives the victim an appearance of great elation. The eyes are abnormally bright, the features are alert and tense and an air of tremendous excitement is apparent. This is from a constant fear that something is about to happen.

Another form of insanity is prevalent among younger persons. Excessive strain, continual worry or trouble, allied to a weakened physical system, are the causes. It manifests itself through the gradual loss of some faculty that has been all right till now.

The loss of memory for details is an alarming symptom and one that should be given careful and immediate attention. The patient, if taken at the right time, may be cured, but not after the disease has got a firm hold on him.

Paranoia, which is a very prevalent type of insanity, is almost invariably indicated by a peculiarly self satisfied, conceited expression of countenance.

The patient poses, sneers contemptuously and in every way shows his tremendously "stage struck" condition. He is absolutely controlled by the "ego." Everything to him is "I, I, I." He is a monomaniac with one set idea, a single purpose.—Dr. Graeme M. Hammond in New York World.

Don't forget the up-to-date millinery department.

Red in the French Uniform.

Once more there is a demand in France for the invention of some more martial uniform than the baggy red pantaloons of teh infantry soldier. In his autobiography Sir Henry Roscoe mentions the fact that the red color of these breeches was the result of an official desire articially to foster the cultivation of the madder plant in France. But madder has been superseded by coal-tar dyes, the madder industry is in a very bad way, and the pantaloons are colored with artificial dyes from Germany. Another memorial of the ruinous displacements wrought by coal-tar dyes is the cactus that was so freely planted in the Canary Islands to support the cochineal insects. The insect is out of date, but the cactus remains, in place of more profitable crops.

The English Language.

The English language is not merely a method of communication, like a semaphore; it is a great and complex organism that has grown with the growth of the people that employ it; it is a splendid and flexible instrument of thought, speech and writing, in instrument that in the hands of those that have studied it and know its worth is one of the most potent and beautiful of all possessions.—Sheffield Daily Independent.

BOWLING.

The Red Feather bowlers, of this city, and the Raritan ..ve, played a three-game match on McLaughlin's alleys, last night, resulting in two out of three for the visitors. The local bowlers started off in good shape and captured the first try by a total of 795 to 753. In the second the Raritans braced up and won out by a lead of 150. They also took the last game but only by twenty-six pins. High score for the evening was taken by J. Sharp, of the Raritans, who handed in 217 in his last game. The scores:

Manager McLaughlin is arranging for a two-man tournament to be open to all bowlers in Plainfield and its suburbs. The entries will close on December 3. From present indications there will be at least fifteen teams in the contest as the prizes will be well worth competing for.

"Bill" Warnock, who poses as an amateur, caught the sharks napping Wednesday. He was looked upon as a 115 class man and was inveigled into a game with some fast company. Without taking the trouble to remove his coat he hit the pins for 210 and it was almost necessary to send out for smelling salts to revive the wise ones who thought they had him. Since then "Bill" hasn't been broached by anyone whose average is below 180.

The Suburbans, of Fanwood, defeated Westfield on the alleys of the former, last night, in all three games, taking the first game by a score of 838 to 819, the second by a score of 974 to 859 and the third by a score of 837 to 819. The Fanwood bowlers were much stronger on the average as their individual scores show. John Albert was high man with a score of 234 in the second game, while Joe Albert was a close second with a score of 201 in the first game. A. Sheelen was third highest man for Fanwood with a score of 193.

Meyer was high man for Westfield with 197 in the first game, while the other scores were a little below the average for good bowling. The scores:

CHAPTER XXXIV.
"BLACK MATT'S" TRIUMPH.

My enemies caused it to be widely believed that "Wild Week" was my deliberate contrivance for the sole purpose of enriching myself. Thus they got me a reputation for almost superhuman daring, for satanic astuteness at cold-blooded calculation. I do not deserve the admiration and respect that my success-worshiping fellow countrymen lay at my feet. True, I did greatly enrich myself; but not until the Monday after Wild Week.

Not until I had pondered on men and events with the assistance of the newspapers my detective protectors and jailers permitted to be brought aboard—not until the last hope of turning Wild Week to the immediate public advantage had sputtered out like a lost man's last match, did I think of benefiting myself, of seizing the opportunity to strengthen myself for the future. On Monday morning I said to Sergt. Mulholland: "I want to go ashore at once and send some telegrams."

The sergeant is one of the detective bureau's "dress-suit men." He is by nature phlegmatic and cynical. His experience has put over that a veneer of weary politeness. We had become great friends during our enforced inseparable companionship. For Joe, who looked on me somewhat as a mother looks on a brilliant but erratic son, had, as I soon discovered, elaborated a wonderful programme for me. It included a watch on me day and night, lest, through rage or despondency, I should try to do violence to myself. A fine character, that Joe! But, to return, Mulholland answered my request for shore-leave with a soothing smile. "Can't do it, Mr. Blacklock," he said. "Our orders are positive. But when we put in at New London and send ashore for further instructions, and for the papers, you can send in your messages."

"As you please," said I. And I gave him a cipher telegram to Joe—an order to invest my store of cash, which meant practically my whole fortune, in the gilt-edged securities that were to be had for cash at a small fraction of their value.

This on the Monday after Wild Week, please note. I would have helped the people to deliver themselves from the bondage of the bandits. They would not have it. I would even have sacrificed my all in trying to save them in spite of themselves. But what is one sane man against a stampeded multitude of maniacs? For confirmation of my disinterestedness, I point to all those weeks and months during which I waged costly warfare on "The Seven," who would gladly have given me more than I now have, could I have been bribed to desist. But, when I was compelled to admit that I had overestimated my fellow men, that the people wear the yoke because they have not yet become intelligent and competent enough to be free, then and not until then did I abandon the hopeless struggle.

And I did not go over to the bandits; I simply resumed my own neglected personal affairs and made Wild Week at least a personal triumph.

There is nothing of the spectacular in my make-up. I have no belief in the value of martyrs and martyrdom. Causes are not won—and in my humble opinion never have been won—in the graveyards. Alive and afoot and armed, and true to my cause, I am the dreaded menace to systematic and respectable robbery. What possible good could have come of mobs killing me and the bandits dividing my estate?

But why should I seek to justify myself? I care not a rap for the opinion of my fellow men. They sought my life when they should have been hailing me as a deliverer; now, they look up to me because they falsely believe me guilty of an infamy.

My guards expected to be recalled on Tuesday. But Melville heard what Crawford had done about me, and straightway used his influence to have me detained until the new grip of the old gang was secure. Saturday afternoon we put in at Newport for the daily comunication with the shore. When the launch returned, Mulholland brought the papers to me, lounging aft in a mass of cushions under the awning. "We are going ashore," said he. "The order has come."

I had a sudden sense of loneliness. "I'll take you down to New York," said I. "I prefer to land my guests where I shipped them."

As we steamed slowly westward I read the papers. The country was rapidly readjusting itself, was returning to the conditions before the upheaval. The "financiers"—the same old gang, except for a few of the weaker brethren ruined and a few strong outsiders, who had slipped in during the confusion—were employing all the old, familiar devices for deceiving and robbing the people. The upset milking-stool was righted, and the milker was seated again nd busy, the good old cow standing without so much as shake of horn or switch of tail. "Mulholland," said I, "what do you think of this business of living?"

"I'll tell you, Mr. Blacklock," said he. "I used to fuss and fret a good deal about it. But I don't any more. I've got a house up in the Bronx, and a bit of land round it. And there's Mrs. Mulholland and four little Mulhollands and me—that's my country and my party and my religion. The rest is off my beat, and I don't give a damn for it. I don't care which fakir gets to be president, or which swindler gets to be rich. Everything works out somehow, and the best any man cn do is to mind his own business."

"Mulholland—Mrs. Mulholland—four little Mulhollands," said I, reflectively. "That's about as much as one man could attend to properly. And—you are 'on the level,' aren't you?"

"Some say honesty's the best policy," replied he. "Some say it isn't. I don't know, and I don't care, whether it is or it isn't. It's my policy. And we six seem to have got along on it so far."

I sent my "guests" ashore the next morning.

"No, I'll stay aboard," said I to Mulholland, as he stood aside for me to precede him down the gangway from the launch. I went into the watch-pocket of my trousers and drew out the folded two $1,000-bills I always carried—it was a habit formed in my youthful, gambling days. I handed him one of the bills. He hesitated.

"For the four little Mulhollands," I urged.

He put it in his pocket. I watched him and his men depart with a heavy heart. I felt alone, horribly alone, without a tie or an interest. Some of the morning papers spoke respectfully of me as one of the strong men who had ridden the flood and had been landed by it on the heights of wealth and power. Admiration and envy lurked even in sneers at my "unscrupulous plotting." Since I had wealth, plenty of wealth, I did not need character. Of what use was character in such a world except as a commodity to exchange for wealth?

"Any orders, sir?" interrupted my captain.

I looked round that vast and vivid scene of sea and land activities. I looked along the city's titanic sky-line—the mighty fortresses of trade and commerce piercing the heavens and flinging to the wind their black banners of defiance. I felt that I was under the walls of hell itself.

"To get away from this," replied I to the waiting captain. "Go back down the Sound—to Dawn Hill."

Yes, I would go to the peaceful, soothing country, to my dogs and horses and those faithful servants bound to me by our common love for the same animals. "Men to cross swords with, to amuse oneself with," I mused; "but dogs and horses to live with." I pictured myself at the kennels—the joyful uproar the instant instinct warned the dogs of my coming; how they would leap and bark and tremble in a very ecstasy of delight as I stood among them; how jealous all the others would be, as I selected one to caress.

"Send her ahead as fast as she'll go," I called to the captain.

As the Albatross steamed into the little harbor, I saw Mowbray Langdon's Indolence at anchor. I glanced toward Steuben Point—where his cousins, the Vivians, lived—and thought I recognized his launch at their pier. We saluted the Indolence; the Indolence saluted us. My launch was piped away and took me ashore. I strolled along the path that wound round the base of the hill toward the kennels. At the crossing of the path down from the house, I paused and lingered on the glimpse of one of the corner towers of the great showy palace. I was muttering something—I listened to myself. It was: "Mulholland, Mrs. Mulholland and the four little Mulhollands." And I felt like laughing aloud, such a joke was it that I should be envying a policeman his potato patch and his fat wife and his four brats, and that he should be in a position to pity me.

You may be imagining that, through all, Anita had been dominating my mind. That is the way it is in the romances; but not in life. No doubt there are men who brood upon the impossible, and moon and maunder away their lives over the grave of a dead love; no doubt there are people who will say that, because I did not shoot Langdon or her, or myself, or fly to a desert or pose in the crowded places of the world as the last scene of a tragedy, I therefore cared little about her. I offer them this suggestion: A man strong enough to give a love worth a woman's while is strong enough to live on without her when he finds he may not live with her.

As I stood there that summer day, looking toward the crest of the hill, at the mocking mausoleum of my dead dream, I realized what the incessant battle of the street had meant to me. "There is peace for me only in the storm," said I. "But, thank God, there is peace for me somewhere."

Through the foliage I had glimpses of some one coming slowly down the zigzag path. Presently, at one of the turnings half-way up the hill, appeared Mowbray Langdon. "What is he doing here," thought I, scarcely able to believe my eyes. "Here of all places!" And then I forgot the strangeness of his being at Dawn Hill in the strangeness of his expression. For it was apparent, even at the distance which separated us, that he was suffering from some great and recent blow. He looked old and haggard; he walked like a man who neither knows nor cares where he is going.

He had not seen me, and my impulse was to avoid him by continuing on toward the kennels. I had no especial feeling against him; I had not lost Anita because she cared for him or he for her, but because she did not care for me—simply that to meet would be awkward, disagreeable for us both. At the slight noise of my movement to go on, he halted, glanced round eagerly, as if he hoped the sound had been made by some one he wished to see. His glance fell on me. He stopped short, was for an instant disconcerted; then his face lighted up with devilish joy. "You!" he cried. "Just the man!" And he descended more rapidly.

At first I could make nothing of this remark. But as he drew nearer and nearer, and his ugly mood became more apparent, I felt that he was looking forward to provoking me into giving him a distraction from whatever was tormenting him. I waited. A few minutes and we were face to face, I outwardly calm, but my anger slowly lighting up as he deliberately applied to it the torch of his insolent eyes. He was wearing his old familiar air of cynical assurance. Evidently, with his recovered fortune, he had recovered his conviction of his great superiority to the rest of the human race—the child had climbed back on the chair that made it tall and had forgotten its tumble. And I was wondering again that I, so short a time before, had been crude enough to be fascinated and fooled by those tawdry posings and pretenses. For the man, as I now saw him, was obviously shallow and vain, a slave to those poor "man-of-the-world" passions—ostentation and cynicism and skill at vices old as mankind and tedious as a treadmill, the commonplace routine of the idle and foolish and purposeless. A clever, handsome fellow, but the more pitiful that he was by nature above the uses to which he prostituted himself.

He fought hard to keep his eyes steadfly on mine; but they would waver and shift. Not, however, before I had found deep down in them the beginnings of fear. "You see, you were mistaken," said I. "You have nothing to say to me—or I to you."

He knew I had looked straight to the bottom of his real self, and had seen the coward that is in every man who has been bred to appearances only. Up rose his vanity, the coward's substitute for courage.

"You think I am afraid of you?" he sneered, bluffing and blustering like the school bully.

"I don't in the least care whether you are or not," replied I. "What are you doing here, anyhow?"

It was as if I had thrown off the cover of a furnace. "I came to get the woman I love," he cried. "You store her from me! You tricked me! But, by God, Blacklock, I'll never pause until I get her back and punish you!" He was brave enough now, drunk with the fumes from his brave words. "All my life," he raged arrogantly on, "I've had whatever I wanted. I've let nothing interfere—nothing and nobody. I've been too forbearing with you—first, because I knew she could never care for you, and, then, because I rather admired your pluck and impudence. I like to see fellows kick their way up among us from the common people."

I put my hand on his shoulder. No doubt the fiend that rose within me, as from the dead, looked at him from my eyes. He has great physical strength, but he winced under that weight and grip, and across his face flitted the terror that must come to any man at first sense of being in the angry clutch of one stronger than he. I slowly released him—I had tested and realized my physical superiority; to use it would be cheap and cowardly.

"You can't provoke me to descend to your level," said I, with the easy philosophy of him who clearly has the better of the argument.

He was shaking from head to foot, not with terror, but with impotent rage. How much we owe to accident! The mere accident of my physical superiority had put him at hopeless disadvantage; had made him feel inferior to me as no victory of mental or moral superiority could possibly have done. And I myself felt a greater contempt for him than the discovery of his treachery and his shallowness had together inspired.

"I shan't indulge in flapdoodle," I went on. "I'll be frank. A year ago, if any man had faced me with a claim upon a woman who was married to me, I'd probably have dealt with him as your vanity and what you call 'honor' would force you to try to deal with a similar situation. But I live to learn, and I'm fortunately, not afraid to follow a new light. There is the vanity of so-called honor; there is also the demand of justice—of fair play. As I have told her, so I now tell you—she is free to go. But I shall say one thing to you that I did not say to her. If you do not deal fairly with her, I shall see to to it that there are ten thorns to every rose in that bed of roses on which you lie. You are contemptible in many ways—perhaps that's why women like you. But there must be some good in you, or possibilities of good, or you could not have won and kept her love."

He was staring at me with a dazed expression. I rather expected him to show some of that amused contempt with which men of his sort always receive a new idea that is beyond the range of their narrow, conventional minds. For I did not expect him to understand why I was not only willing, but even eager, to relinquish a woman whom I could hold only by asserting a property right in her.

NEW JERSEY'S EDITORS DENOUNCE R. R. COMMISSION.

Association Scores Ruling Prohibiting Exchange of Advertising for Transportation.

The New Jersey State Editorial Association at a meeting this week at the rooms of the New York Press Club in New York to discuss the recent ruling of the Interstate Commerce Commission prohibiting exchange of advertising for railway transportation, and adopted these resolutions:

"Resolved, That the New Jersey State Editorial Association, in executive session, enters its united and emphatic protest against the recent ruling of the Interstate Commerce Commission to the effect that railroad transportation cannot under the provisions of the law be exchanged with newspapers and publications under contract for advertising space, as also the construction placed upon the law by the commission that transportation received and paid for in this connection is a political and not a contract right.

"That we look upon the ruling referred to as an unjust, far-fetched and uncalled-for discrimination against the press of the country, the recognized greatest educational factor of American civilization, as the ruling, if enforced, will in the very nature of its provisions materially lessen the facilities heretofore used by newspaper publishers in gathering practical and valuable information disseminated to the public at large advancing its intelligence and consequent welfare.

"That we fail to discern where or in what manner the legitimate exchange of commodities between the railroads and the newspapers has in the past, or can in the future, have the slightest bearing or effect on discrimination in railroad rates, to prevent which the law was enacted; which law newspaper publishers, in common with all good citizens of the republic, deisre to see enforced.

"That a copy of this resolution be transmitted by the secretary to President Roosevelt and Chairman Martin A. Knapp, of the commission, as also to the United States Senators and Congressmen from this State."

WOOD MAY BE CHAIRMAN OF BIG COMMITTEE.

Indications that New Jersey Representative Will Head Committee on Coinage and Weights.

Washington, Nov. 23.—Since the press gave a statement of the probable committee places that would fall to the New Jersey members of the House of Representatives in the next Congress, later returns from the various Congressinol districts changed the earlier predictions, so far as Congressman Wood, of New Jersey, is concerned. It was then stated that because of the failure of members who are above him on the Committee on Coinage, Weights and Measures to receive renominations, or to secure a majority of the votes in their districts at the recent election, Mr. Wood would, should the Speaker follow the usual plan in making up the new committees, be advanced two or three places nearer to the chairmanship of the committee.

The corrected returns show that a clean sweep has been made of all the members on the committee down to Mr. Wood, Chairman Southard and Messrs. Bowersock, Hedge and Dresser having failed to be renominated, while Mr. Cromer failed of re-election. Mr. Wood is likely, therefore, to land the chairmanship ofthe committee, one of the most pleasant and desirable of all the House committees. The committee consists of seven-teen members, and occupies two of the finest and largest rooms in the Capitol, located on the second floor and on the west side of the building. The chairman has the selection of a $2,000 committee clerk, a position that will no doubt go to Mr. Maxwell, Mr. Woods' present secretary.

THE ELIZABETH AND STATEN ISLAND BRIDGE.

Senator Minturn Says Commission is Arranging for Hearings for the Communities Interested.

Senator James F. Minturn was asked yesterday about the bridge connecting Elizabeth with Staten Island. He said that the New York and New Jersey Bridge Commissioners would shortly arrange hearings for the several communities interested, and that the committees from Elizabeth's City Council, Merchants' Association, Board of Trade and Downtown Republican Club would be given every opportunity to be heard.

Senator Minturn said it was the intention to try and have the North River bridge built by the two States, and the other bridges, which would open up things all over the State, would, he hoped, follow.

In further talk about bridges Senator Minturn said: "We are hampered by a constitutional prohibition against spending more than a certain amount in each year which might make it necessary to go to the people."

Financial Melon $150,000,000.

New York, Nov. 23.—Great Northern stockholders will have as a Christmas box one of the largest financial "melons" ever cut in Wall street. James J. Hill announced officially last night that a distribution of approximately $150,000,000 gratis in securities will occur on December 8. Each shareholder of his property will get a slice of the melon, which many experts believe will be worth at least $100. There are 1,500,000 shares outstanding of Great Northern. Each Great Northern stockholder will get share for share in a trusteeship created to manage and divide the profits of the famous ore transaction made with the United States Steel Corporation.

Turkeys Will Be Dear.

New York, Nov. 23.—As the time before Thanksgiving Day becomes less and less, the price of turkeys is becoming higher and higher, yesterday reaching the twenty-one cent wholesale mark, which is unusual for this early time. Dealers agree that turkeys will be mare expensive this Thanksgiving than in previous years, and it is estimated that housewives will have to pay as high as thirty-five cents a pound for the fowl at holiday time. The wholesale price was boosted two cents yesterday over that asked on Saturday morning. The retail price was increased even more. Turkeys could be purchased two days ago at eighteen cents wholesale.

Roosevelt and Kaiser Close.

London, Nov. 23.—The Westminster Gazette in a leading article today urges the government to select a man of supreme ability for the post of British Ambassador at Washington. The paper declares that Great Britaoin's former influence and prestige at Washington have been usurped by the German Embassy, adding that the relations between the President and the German Ambassador are of the most intimate character and that Mr. Roosevelt is in more close and more confidential communication with Emperor William than any other ruler or statesman in Europe.

Negro Troops Must Go.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 23.—Secretary of War Taft yesterday carried out the President's order discharging the negro soldiers of the Twenty-fifth Infantry. He notified the commandant at Fort Reno to allow the discharge without honor to proceed at once. A few hours after Mr. Taft announced that he had taken his hands off the whole affair a telegram was received from the President positively refusing to reopen the case or to interfere unless new evidence had been discovered.

GOTHAM'S AMUSEMENTS

May Irwin is now in the third week of her stay at the Bijou theatre, where large audiences continue to be the rule, and there is evidence that the comedienne's engagement at her old home will be one of the best of her career. Constant changes are being made in Miss Irwin's repertoire of songs and a new one is occasionally introduced. The latest is "Honora Doolin," which was written for her by the Bowman Brothers and Ted Snyder, the latter being also the composer of "Moses Andrew Jackson Good-Bye." While it is of a different nature from those which Miss Irwin usually has to offer, being sung in Irish dialect, its air is injectious and never fails to set the audience to whistling the refarin. All the other songs are well received especially "Dan," "Matrimony" and "Moonshine." "Mrs. Wilson-Andrews" is now the permanent title of the play, and there is little question but that George V. Hobart has fitted her most capitally with a vehicle for the display of her fun-making abilities. Miss Irwin's supporting company is an excellent one, there being in addition to several competent comedians a number of handsome young women who have pretty gowns to wear and who have evidently been selected for their ability to wear them becomingly. The cast includes Adolph Jackson, John E. Hazard, C. Russell Sage, Victor Cassmore, Ben Roth, Mary K. Taylor, Lillian Lix, Madelon Temple, Kate Gotthold, Dorothy Baines, Tilley Monroe and Virginia Richmond.

Next Wednesday evening, November 28, the New York Hippodrome will present for the first time on any stage the most stupendous offering ever attempted in that mammoth playhouse, and one which, it is predicted will be the most puzzling spectacle ever shown an audience anywhere. This will be a double bill, "Neptune's Daughter" and "Pioneer Days," with circus features introduced between the two big productions. "Neptune's Daughter" is a brilliant spectacle which has been in active preparation for some months. Messrs. Shubert & Anderson announce that this will be the most gorgeous pageant Hippodrome audiences have ever seen. It is romantic, operatic extravaganza. "Neptune's Daughter" will be preceded bp "Pioneer Days," a colossal melodrama of early western life, in three scenes, written by Carrol Fleming. It will utilize the service of 100 Indians, 75 cowboys, and 200 horses, with fully 600 people on the stage at once. There is a distinct plot running through "Pioneer Days," which concerns the attempt of outlaws and Indians to hold up a stage coach containing the pay money for the troops.

Mistakes will happen, even in the best critic's stories. Another well-known authority on opera charges Giacomo Puccini with "cribbing" from Sir Arthur Sullivan's "Mikado." Music lovers who have enjoyed the fascinating music of the composer's "Madam Butterfly"—"music that exhales the very odor of flowers," as that splendid authority E. H. Krehbiel writes—have noticed that Puccini has knitted into his beautiful score many picturesque bits of real Japanese melodies. Among these the one most easily detected is that characteristic excerpt from the Japanese Jon-Kino, which Sullivan used in the "Mikado." The Jon-Kino is known by every globe trotter hat has been to Japan. The geishas dance to it. When Sullivan was putting the finishing touches to the "Mikado," he asked a friend at a certain London club if he knew where a selection of real Japanese music might be found. Another friend overheard and jokingly "butted in" with the remark that the "Japanese National Anthem," the Jon-Kino, was easy to be obtained. The story goes that Sullivan secured the music and introduced it in the "Mikado" without knowing he was using a song as popular in Japan as "Tara-boom-de-ay" later was in English music halls. Anyway, it proved the best bit of color in his comic opera. In Japan it is as well known as is "The Star Spangled Banner" in this country, which Puccini has also drawn on for a motive in "Madam Butterfly." In view of these facts, it sounds strange to hear Puccini charged with copying Sullivan.

PLAINFIELD LIBRARY NOTES

Recent Light Reading Added to the Public Library.

Churchill, Winston.—Coniston.

"Labor and industry have heretofore inspired literature because of the tragic elements involved in labor, which is a life and death struggle for the million. But so far as we are aware the Brampton Woolen Company is the first one to be inspired by a novel." New York Times, ed. Aug. 10, '06.

Connolly, James B.—Deep Sea's Toll.

"Admirably drawn pictrues of the hardest life a man can choose." Nature.

Crawford, F. M.—Salve Venetia. Gleanings from Venetian history. 2v.

"These volumns are neither history nor romance, but a blend of both. If we judge them as history their value is small; as romance they are entertaining."

Deland, Mrs. M.—Awakening of Helena Richie.

Reviewed at length in New York Times, Saturday Supplement July 14, 1906, by Mr. Gordon Pyor Rice.

Harris, Joel C.—Told By Uncle Remus: New Stories of the Old Plantation.

The little boy to whom Uncle Remus told all his stories having grown up and married, Uncle Remus has for a new audience the little boy's little boy. So to him he here recounts Why Mr. Cricket has elbows on his legs; How Wiley Wolf rode in the bag; why the turkey-buzzard is baldheaded and a lot of new tales about Brer Rabbit.

Lucas, E. V.—Wanderer in Holland.

To accompany him on his wanderings is like spending a few hours in the society of a well read friend fresh from Holland who knows his subject and likes to talk about it. Ath. Oct. 28, '05.

McCutchen, G. Barr.—Nedra.

"He has given us the kind of story American like, incredible, daring, delifhtgul and a little absurd.

MacLeod, Fione, pseud of William Sharp.—Dominion of Dreams.

"This remarkable book ..... breathes throughout the Celtic spirit in its moods of mournfulness, of half superstitious awe, of impassioned and stately utterance. .... The style is everywhere distinguished." Ath. June 17, '99.

MacLeod, Fione.—From the Hills of Dream-Poems.

MacLeod, Fione.—The Winged Destiny: Studies in the Spiritual History of the Gael.

"There are one or two in a section by themselves,—'Children of water.' Perhaps these ar the best of all and so good are they all, and so thoroughly artistic in their setting that it is impossible to quote from them without doing them wrong."

Richardson, Dorothy.—Long Day, the Story of a New York Working Girl, As Told By Herself.

A young girl from Pennsylvania came to New York city to earn her living. Gives a truthful intimate picture of the unfortunate, underpaid working girl. She worked in a box factory, she lined jewel cases, she sewed, she folded clothes in a laundry. She met every type of working girl. The author points out that the working girl is largely responsible for what she suffers at the hands of her employers. Few girls have any definite training and they go from one kind of work to another in an irresponsible way and are often scarcely worth the pittance they earn.

Sinclair, Upton.—Jungle, the

"It is impossible to withhold admiration of Mr. Sinclair's enthusiasm; and yet many socialists will regret his mistaken advocacy of their cause.

Smith, F. H.—Wood Fire in No. 3.

"The book as a whole does not reach the high level of Mr. Smith's more serious fiction." Outlook, Nov. 25, '05.

Tarkington, N. B.—Conquest of Canaan, The.

"Admirable chapters of life in a small gossipy, spiteful town, and the characters, all of them, including the dog, are alive and interesting, but it is clumsily put together and weakly conventional in the concluding portion." Ind., Nov. 26, '05.

Thurston, K. C.—Gambler, The.

"It greatly surpasses its predecessor in the vitality of its characters, the cohesion of its plot, its fidelity of both to possibility and its literary art.

Vackell, H. A.—Hill, The.

"Interesting and well told." Ath. 1906.

Ward, Mrs., T. H.—Fenwick's Career.

"It is only in construction that 'Fenwick's Career' seems to us better than the preceding novel."

HOW TO USE A PUBLIC LIBRARY.

By Herbert Putnam, Librarian of the Library of Congress.

(Condensed from the Congregationalist.)

A person coming to a library is either in search of information or in search merely of "something to read." He is equally entitled to a welcome in either case. But his method of procedure should be very different when on the latter quest than when on the former. If he wishes merely an engaging book that will rest him or distract him or amuse him, his first enquiry should be for the "open shelves," for open shelves, containing at least a section of books suited to just such needs as his are becoming almost a conventional department in public libraries. They rarely, to be sure, comprise much beyond fiction (and the belles-lettres generally), biography and travels, with perhaps the lightest of light science. But it is just these books representing the personal in emotion or experience, that such a reader will find to his purpose. If there are no open shelves he may have recourse to the attendants. If he happen on even a customary average of the obliging, and is candid as to his own tastes, he will be likely to get a suggestion that may save him much poring of catalogues.

But if he comes in search of information he is not merely "after a book;" he is, at it were, proposing to play upon an instrument. There is a technique to be acquired, and the sooner he acquires it the less will he be afflicted with discord—to wit: delay and wasted effort. To put it a little differently, there are tools, a certain familiarity with which is indispensable to the proper use of the library. This does not involve technical knowledge of "library science;" it necessitates merely a few inquiries of the attendants and an endeavor to ascertain what "library science" has done to provide for the unscientific an explanation of the contents of the library. That so many people are content to blunder along ineptly, wastefully and at hazard, merely through contempt of such preliminaries or in indifference to them, is to the librarian matter of incessant wonder.

Now the questions are these (seizing upon the first available attendant):

1. What portions of your collections may I consult directly on the shelves?

2. How are these classified?

3. Where are the reference books proper: indexes, dictionaries, cyclopedias, atlases, manuals?

4. Have you a single catalogue of the entire collection? Is this on cords or in book form? Is it in a single alphabet? How shall I find in it a particular book, knowing only its title? How a book whose author I know, but of whose precise title I am uncertain? How all the books by a particular author? How all the books on a particular subject?

5. I may wish to look up a subject that has not been treated in a book form or to follow down to date a subject on which nothing in book form has recently appeared. How can I find quickly what has appeared in the magazines? in the newspapers?

These are a minimum of the questions that a person intending to use the library for information should ask of the administration. He may save hours in the end by devoting a half-hour to them at the outset. And they are questions which he has a right to ask and with which he has the best right to occupy the time of the attendants, and which the attendants with cheerful (perhaps surprised) alacrity will delightedly answer.

The classification of the books will not practically concern you unless you are to have access to the shelves. But if you are to have such access—even if but to a section of the collection, as the reference books—by all means ask to see the "scheme of classification," consider for yourself how it deals with subjects you are, or may be, interested in, and if permitted, compare with it the books as they stand on the shelves.

There are very few mental exercises so serviceable as the study of a system of classification, and if the system be both comprehensive and scientific you will, by even a slight study, become illumined as to the range of literature and as to the relations of the various departments of literature and of knowledge in a way that may be interesting in itself entirely independent of young practical application of it in the use of the library. Systems of classification have too much been assumed to the amusement and complacency of the librarian and too little understood to be a direct aid to the reader. They are not necessarily either technical or devious. Try for yourself. Insist upon an explanation in terms that you can understand, and see if it be not both intelligible, diverting and helpful.

Innumerable topics upon which nothing can be furnished in book form will be found treated in the magazines. Do not overlook, therefore, Poole's Index (with its supplements), which catalogues under subject titles the general body of such periodical literature in English. For the recent periodicals the Cumulative Index, beginning each year with the January number and incorporating the contents of succeeding numbers as they appear, rolls up a cumulative exhibit of the most recent statement and discussion. Do not overlook the indexes.

Simple Charity.

"You must admit," remarked the pessimist, "that old Richley never gave a cent's worth to help the poor."

"But I don't admit it," said the other, "didn't he give his $2,000,000 daughter to a French Count the other day?"

The Truth of It.

THE PACK IN THE FIELD.

CHARLES D. FREEMAN PRESIDENT AND MASTER-OF-THE-HUNT.

THE CLUB HOUSE.

A FLIGHT OF RAILS ON THE HUNTERS' COURSE.

THE "BUNGALOW" THE HUNTS FORMER RENDEZVOUS.

WATCHUNG HUNT CLUB HAS FINE NEW HOME

Something About the Organization, Its Headquarters And Its Brief But Eventful History.

Someone has said that the northern section of Middlesex county is the "undiscovered country" of New Jersey. This holds true no longer. The Watchung Hunt has located its headquarters there and henceforth at frequent intervals woodland and thicket will echo with the musical cry of the hounds, the commands of the master and the laughter and jest of the riders in pursuit of an elusive quarry.

The new headquarters of the hunt are ideal. The clubhouse is but one mile from the Colonia station of the Pennsylvania Railroad. Excepting the macadamizing of its roads this section has been almost totally ignored. There are no signs there that the onward march of progress has laid a ruthless hand on Nature's wild, beautiful and picturesque handiwork. Rolling fields and dense woodland, with acres of wild tangled thicket provide a natural covert for the fox. The fine fields permit of a long uninterrupted gallop. In some respects the country reminds one of "The Midlands," and the various rendezvous of the hounds are fraught with the poetry of the sport, Oak Tree, New Market, Ash Brook, Willow Grove, Dog Tavern, Washington Valley, Scotch Plains and Baltusrol—all suggest the cry of the hound, the good fleet horse and the health-fortifying open air.

Three years ago Dr. Middleton O'Malley Knott, of Plainfield, conceived the idea of establishing a pack of drag hounds. He had only few supporters at first, but the following year interest become more general. The result was the holding of a show in Plainfield, which was a success. Hunting and all other high-class horses came into immediate favor and many people were brought together who, before that time, hardly realized that they were horse lovers. It was but a short time after this that the Watchung Hunt was incorporated. Its membership has steadily grown until it is now an organization of over 100 members.

The clubhouse is a remodeled farmhouse, and was formerly the homestead of the Websters, a Quaker family well known and honored in this section years ago. In changing the house to meet its new requirements great care has been taken to retain its original charm. With the exception of the old well sweep near the road, everything was studiously replaced. Time and neglect had almost obliterated the quaint air of comfort about the place. The interior shows more radical changes. However, simplicity, comfort and convenience are the dominant characteristics of it all. The furnishings are plain, but substantial. On the walls hang old English prints, all suggestive of the chase. In the rooms on the ground floor blazing logs crackle merrily on open hearths. Good cheer and comfort are everywhere suggested. One can easily imagine the members of the hunt seated before the ruddy flames on a wild night in winter telling tales of the chase ever old but always new.

If some of the old Websters could return they would be just as greatly astonished at the changes as was Rip Van Winkle when he came back to the home over which Dame Winkle reigned. Instead of the old "tallow dips" the brilliancy of electricity would increase when they found the old well had been abandoned and in its place a complete system of running water installed. The electricity is furnished by wire from Metuchen, and the water is supplied by a very thorough system of artesian wells. The cuisine is not elaborate, and purposely so, but it is bountiful and inviting.

In the rear of the house are the stables and kennels. The articles of incorporation of the hunt state that the purposes designed are "To develop cross-country riding and to improve the breeding of hounds and horses." These objects are sustained by a pack of Irish Kerry hounds of lengthy lineage celebrated for keen scent and music. The pack was bred by Mr. Aubrey Wallis, of Mill street, Cork, Ireland. The ancestry of the stud hound, "Warrior," dates back to 1732. English fox hounds usually run mute in America, but in riding with the Watchung Hunt one may never lose the pack if he but listens for their cry. In its efforts to improve the breed of horses in Middlesex county the hunt maintains the celebrated stallion, "Nitrate," son of Imp. Rayon d'Or and Tea Tray, and on his dam's side from St. Blaise. He is a handsome beast. He has won twenty-seven races on the flat, over the hurdles, and across country and is noted for his wonderful constitution, speed and stamina and bone of unusual quality. The stables and kennels are as yet incomplete.

Further in the rear is the hunters' steeplechase course. The usual steeplechase, as conducted on tracks in the vicinity of New York, is mainly for development of speed. The steeplechase of the Watchung Hunt radically differs. Over this course horses compete and the same surroundings as they would in following the hounds. In covering this course horse is not distracted by artificial wings, but charges a flight of rails or a ditch and other natural obstacles, showing his best form and effort. The course is one and one-fourth miles long. On a plateau overlooking the course the club will erect a stand from which every incident in the competitions may be viewed. Accommodations for competing horses will be provided for beneath the stand. When completed the course will be the only one of the kind in America.

Hunting there is quite unlike that in any other country in the immediate vicinity of New York, and the best account of it is that given by a gentleman who has hunted with many of the packs in England and in this country.

"I was surprised to find the Watchung hounds hunting a dragline, as though the fox were running. I expected that the drag would be more in the form of a point to point, but instead, the hounds drew first one covert and then another, and it was a beautiful sight to see them work without a challenge until they had found the line, and, when they broke cover and circled in the open, I realized that I could hunt my own line and see the fun. There were sixteen men and one woman in the field, all well mounted. In front of us was a post and rail fence, the sight of which would moke most Englishmen funk, but as the hounds drew away the field charged this fence with perfect confidence, and as I myself approached it, I gained courage because every one about me had cleared it. We swept across the country for half a mile with nothing to jump except a brook. Meanwhile the hounds gave music all the way, and one could have thrown the proverbial blanket over them.

"Suddenly they were lost to view, but it was easy to determine their line as they spoke to it, and those of use who were lagging soon overtook them, and the joy at being with hounds that we thought were lost was equal to being with them at the death.

"We later came to a check, and every hound of the ten couples that were out, zealously worked to recover it, and before I realized it we were off again over the country five miles, congratulating ourselves on the 'breather,' because of the stiff country over which we had ridden.

The members of the Watchung Hunt are very widely disturbed; many come from Newark, Morristown, Short Hills, New York and Brooklyn, as well as Plainfield.

The club is managed by a board of stewards, the members of which are Harry A. Bourne, Charles W. Fisk, Charles D. Freeman, Dr. Middleton O'M. Knott, W. de La R. Anderson, Eads E. Schmidt, Lewis G. Treadwell, Lewis E. Waring, C. E. S. Bellows, Chauncey D. Sayre, S. A. Crulkshank.

Charles D. Freeman is president and master of hounds; L. E. Waring, vice-president, and W. de La R. Anderson, secretary and treasurer. The house committee is composed of the following gentlemen: L. G. Treadwell, chairman; Henry A. Barclay and Edward S. Savage. The steeplechase committee is composed of the following gentlemen: H. A. Bourne, chairman; Dr. M. O'M. Knott and G. F. Alpers. The hounds are hunted by Charles D. Freeman, master, and Middleton O'M. Knott as honorary huntsman, with two professional whippers-in.

Republican Paper's Regrets.

It is a matter for sincere regret on the part of those who deserve to see this district properly represented in Congress, that Mr. Martine was defeated at the recent election. Mr. Martine would have earned the salary by performing the duties which the office entails, and have done something for the material interests of the district, a matter entirely neglected by Mr. Fowler during his term of service. Mr. Martine may indeed feel proud of the result of his canvass which he conducted alone and at his own expense. Had he been favored with the "barl" which his opponent was able to tap he could today be packing his grip for Washington.—Elizabeth Leader, Republican.

Unkindest Cut of All.

"Farmer" Martine has stabbed the voting machine. When one considers that that implement of torture certified his election as Congressman from the Fifth district, though overruled by the county board, it might be said of his act as Mark Anthony said of Brutus', "That was the most unkindest cut of all."—Trenton True American, Democratic.

Restraining Colored Elks.

In Macon, Ga., Judge Miller has rendered a final decree in injunction proceedings of the Macon Lodge of Elks against a number of negroes, restraining them from using the name, title and insignia, "Improved Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks of the World," or any similar name in any negro order in Bibb county or within the State of Georgia. The negroes will appeal and make their final fight in the State Supreme Court.

We believe that the negroes are entirely wrong when they attempt to use the title Elk for their order. The constitution of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks bars negroes from membership. In doing this the members of the order are clearly within their rights no matted what our opinions on the race question may be. The negroes also have the right to form a norder limiting the membership to members of their race, and while some people may argue that it is their privilege to select any name they may desire, they should be possessed of enough self-respect and independence not to choose a name and insignia which, it is only too apparent, have been chosen to deceive people and to give the impression that they are affiliated with the white organization. If the title Elk were the only eligible one in the English language there might be less objection to its use by the colored brother, but there is so extensive a list to select from that the members of the Elks of the World have laid themselves open to the charge of deception and appear to give strength to the argument advanced by many that the negro is only imitative and not original.

Steps similar to the one taken in Georgia are contemplated in other States, and the outcome is being watched with intense interest.—Elizabeth Daily Journal.

"Whip" Ackerman?

There have been many surprises in reference to the attitude of the Republican members of the Legislature towards the re-election of U. S. Senator Dryden. Senator Ackerman, and Assemblymen Perkins and Tillman of this county, have signified their opposition to him, as well as several others, but those higher up indicate that Mr. Dryden will have a majority in caucus, and as good Republicans the stragglers will be whipped in when the time comes.—Rahway Democrat.

Warren Co. to Blame.

Mr. Fowler did not get a majority of more than five thousand as he did two years ago, when President Roosevelt pulled him through. Neither did he get one thousand, as was estimated last week. As a matter of fact, late returns show that he has barely pulled through. James E. Martine put up the stiffest kind of a battle and the changing of a couple of hundred votes would have sent the Democratic candidate to Washington. Just a little more effort on the part of the Democracy in this district would have done the trick. Democracy lost a great chance to elect a Congressman in a field which was considered hopelessly Republican.—Washington (Warren C.) Star.

Martine Never Downed.

James E. Martine, of Union, did not win in his contest against Fowler in the race for Congress, but the plurality of Mr. Fowler is so small that it must make him feel rather creepy over the narrow escape he had. Martine has always been defeated but never been downed.—The New Jersey Farmer.

The State's Costly "Junk."

Frederick W. Kelsey has always been a vigorous opponent of the voting machine. He studied its practical workings in different election districts and soon became convinced that the device was a hindrance to intelligent voting, that it was a discrimination against the many who cannot readily comprehend a piece of mechanism, and a stumbling block for the independent voter. For these and other good reasons the Advertiser has earnestly opposed the voting machine and demanded that the paper ballot of our fathers be restored in the voting machine districts. There is now a consensus of opinion throughout the State that the voting machine should go. It has been tried and found wanting. It represents a costly job-lot and should not be permitted to take another dollar out of the State treasury. The State will have sunk nearly a quarter of a million in the purchase of the machines, for they can be disposed of only as "junk," but better pocket that heavy loss than to quadruple it and have a million dollars' worth of machines to finally throw away.—Newark Advertiser.

LITERARY NOTES.

The Christmas number of Scribner's Magazine is sumptuous in its illustrations, both in colors and black and white; and in its stories and articles it is remarkable for the variety and entertainment offered by the authors. The most effective color printing probably that has appeared in this magazine is the reproduction of Henry McCarter's series of "Scenes From the Early History of Ireland." These have the decorative quality of really great painters and in addition show a careful interpretation of old Irish traditions. Dr. Douglas Hyde has explained them in a few pertinent notes. The other color printing includes the elaborate cover by Ivanowski, the frontispiece from a painting of Sidney S. Gorham, and an illustration by Walter Appleton Clark.

The December number of The Metropolitan Magazine is a Christmas number of great merit. It is seldom that a magazine is put together so artistically and entertainingly and as wholesome as this. A few of the Christmas features are "The Glow," by J. V. A. MacMurray, "The Christmas 'Possum," by Frank H. Sweet, and "Kyrie Eleison," by Elsie Casseigne King. The opening story, "Fanch," by Henry Cottrell Rowland, is the best work this author has done. It is strikingly illustrated in full color by Emil Hering. Five pictures by Walter Tittle illustrating the five most dramatic scenes in the novels of Robert Louis Stevenson are splendid examples of realistic drawing. They are reproduced in sepia.

The Christmas Everybody's is full to overflowing with the holiday spirit, as indicated by the character of fiction, essay, and verse, but at the same time the serious undertakings of a purposeful magazine are not neglected. There are ten well-known writers of fiction represented in the number, and five important special articles. A notable contribution is the first instalment of Thomas W. Lawson's story, "Friday, the 13th," a dramatically interesting romance of Wall street and its ramifications. It has been the general expectation that Mr. Lawson could tell an intensely interesting story, but few have guessed his command of a vivid and finished narrative style as applied to the purposes of fiction.

CHANGES IN TIMETABLE

Jersey Central and Reading Have New Schedule in Effect Tomorrow.

PLAINFIELD SERVICE

Some New Trains Added and Some Old Ones Taken Off—Commuters Favored.

The new timetable which goes into effect on the New Jersey Central tomorrow has a great many changes, and a number of them will effect Plainfield. Several new Philadelphia trains have been added both east and west. Some of these will make regular and flag stops here, while in other cases the stops have been taken off to provide for the two hour schedule for the hourly trains between New York and Philadelphia.

One of the most important changes in the morning is that of putting on a new express to New York which leaves here at 7:45. This is known as the Flemington express. It will cut out the Dunellen stop, where it formerly picked up extra coaches, and instead will stop at Plainfield only.

The 7:55 from here will leave Dunellen, stopping at Clinton Avenue, Grant Avenue, Plainfield and Netherwood stations and then run to Jersey City without stop. The 7:45 is added to relieve the 7:55, which has been carrying too many passengers.

In response to requests from business men here there have been added express trains to and from New York during the forenoon and early afternoon, the service being greatly improved in this respect.

Still another very important change is that which makes the 12:15 midnight train from New York a Philadelphia express only, instead of a Washington train. It will be faster than formerly, stopping at Elizabeth and Plainfield as usual. Another new train has been added leaving New York at 1:30 o'clock in the morning, to be known as the Washington express. This will neither stop at Elizabeth or Plainfield. There will be no change in the 12 o'clock midnight or 1 o'clock morning train out of New York.

The changes in the morning trains going east are as follows: There will be the new express leaving Plainfield at 7:45, due in New York at 8:32, and the 7:55 train will run as usual with the club cars attached. There will be a new express from Philadelphia stopping here on flag to let off passengers at 8:09, and another similar train which will stop here on flag to let off passengers at 10:09.

The New York local train leaving here at 12:03 in the afternoon will leave at 12 o'clock noon, and the express from Philadelphia which is now due at 12:39 and stops on signal, will leave at 12:19 and Plainfield will be a regular stop. There will be a local train at 12:42, instead of the 12:44 as formerly. There will also be a new express from Philadelphia which will make Plainfield a regular stop at 1:09 in the afternoon. The local due at 1:18 will leave at 1:27 and another new express train from Philadelphia will make Plaineld a regular stop at 3.09. The local train now due at 3.44 will leave here at 3.42 and will be a semi-express to New York, cutting out a lot of flag stops. There will be an additional local train to New York leaving here at 3:50 and due to arrive in New York at 4:52.

The express train from Philadelphia which has been due to arrive and stop here on signal at 4:29 will not stop in the future, and the local New York train due here at 4:13 will leave at 4:07 due to arrive in New York at 5:07. The 4:45 local will leave at 4:47. Another new express from Philadelphia will stop here regular at 7:09 and the Philadelphia train which is due here at 7:32 will not stop. The local train due at 6:43 will leave at 6:48, arriving in New York at 8 o'clock, and the local train now due at 7:08 will leave at 7:37. The Scranton train which is due at 9:40 will leave at 9:31 and there will be a Sunday night train to New York at 10:41.

Going west there will be a new Philadelphia train leaving here at 7:13 in the morning and the Baltimore and Ohio train now due at 8:47 will leave here at 8:45. There will be a new Philadelphia express leaving here at 9:13 and the Philadelphia train now due at 9:39 will not stop here. There will be a new express from New York due here at 12:13 in the afternoon, which will meet the demands of the business men, who asked for the noon train. The Philadelphia express due to arrive here at 12:42 will not stop in the future, but there will be a new express from New York which will make Plainfield a regular stop at 2:13. The 3 o'clock Philadelphia express from New York due here at 3.42 will not stop, but another fast train will leave New York at the same hour, stopping at Elizabeth and

DEAD AT 103 YEARS; SHE HAD ODD VISION

"AUNT ANNA" BETTS, REMARKABLE WOMAN PASSES AWAY.

"Aunt Ann" Betts, one of the oldest women in the State, died from peritonitis yesterday at the home of her granddaughter, Mrs. Chauncey Thornton, at No. 10 Church place, East Orange. She was 103 years old on October 6 last. Mrs. Betts fell ill a day or two before her birthday, and when she was unable to take part in the festivities she became despondent and said she wanted to die. She failed steadily from that time. Mrs. Betts was born at Gravesend, Long Island, on October 6, 1803, and was a daughter of Abram von Emburgh, who was a commissioned officer in the Continental army during the Revolutionary War. She married Joseph Betts, who was a musician in the American army during the War of 1812.

Blindness was the only defect of her faculties which Mrs. Betts suffered up to her last illness. She was one of the few surviving pensioners of the War of 1812. Two sons—George Betts, who is an inmate of the soldiers' home at Kearny, and Joseph Betts, who lives on Long Island—survive her. There are five grandchildren and ten great-grandchildren.

A few days ago Mrs. Betts told her family she had beheld an odd vision. She declared that in her sleep she had been two large floral pieces which represented her two surviving sons and five smaller pieces which were symbolical of the grandchildren. Arranged about these were clusters of cut flowers representing the great-grandchildren. Mrs. Betts interpreted this as a premonition of her impending dissolution.

CALL ON BARROWS.

Metuchen Improvement Association Get Him To Organize Club.

Haydn W. Barrows, boys' secretary of the Y. M. C. A., will go to Metuchen this evening to organize a boys' club. The organization is to be effected under the auspices of the Borough Improvement Company.

The club will be social and gymnastic, in effect a detached boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. Mr. Barrows is peculiarly fitted to start such an organization off, and if his advice and suggestions are followed the new club is quite certain to be a success.

VIVO TRIO CONCERT.

Well Chosen Programme Pleases a Good-Sized Audience.

The Vivo Instrumental Trio held its concert last night. There was a good-sized attendance, and the programme were well received.

The v ocal soloist was Mrs. L. R. Howard. She was in excellent voice and sang very sweetly.

The numbers were well chosen; not frivolous, but not too heavy for easy assimilation. Mr. Korff and his associates are to be congratulated upon the character which their playing is assuming.

Chin-Whiskered Committee.

Plans have been completed for the Pad and Pencil Club country dance, which is to be held Thanksgiving Eve, at I. C. T. Hall. The ball will present a truly rural appearance and the costumes, as usual, will be in keeping. The committeemen will be easily recognized by tufts on the point of their chins, which are being carefully cultivated along the lines laid down in the best country fashions as to facial adornment.

Mrs. Mary Kane.

Mrs. Mary Kane, wife of Patrick Kane, of Cottage place, died in Muhlenberg hospital, this morning, following an illness from emphysema, which produced heart failure. She was forty-five years old and leaves three small daughters, Florence, Margaret and Cathrine. The funeral arrangements have not been completed.

Miss Rogers Entertains.

Miss Rosamond Rogers, of West Fifth street, entertained twenty of her young friends with a taffy pull at her home last night. In addition, games were played and several of the guests contributed vocal and instrumental solos. The affair terminated shortly before midnight with the serving of refreshments.

Dr. Chivers to Speak.

Rev. Dr. Chivers, of New York, field secretary of the Baptist Home Missionary Society, will speak at the First Baptist church, tomorrow morning. The annual offering for the home mission work will be received.

Illustrated Song Service.

There will be an illustrated song service at the Christian Church, tonight, beginning at 7:45. Mrs. John Manley will sing "Lead, Kindly Light," with stereopticon views.

AMATEUR BASEBALL LEAGUE SCHEDULE

ADOPTED TENTATIVELY AT A MEETING LAST NIGHT; PENDING REVISION.

With the calm uncheckable steadiness of the rising tide or a Class A organization, the amateur baseball league is getting everything in readiness for the opening of the season. Another important step in advance was taken last night, when the league "magnates" met at the Y. M. C. A.

A tentative schedule was made out, and the biggest bit of work on the league's hands was practically cleaned up. The members spent two and one-half hours on the schedule. It will not be made public until early next month, because three or four minor changes will have to be made in it. The list will be definitely fixed on Tuesday, December 4, when the next meeting will be held.

No changes in the league make-up will be made, unless one of the teams should drop out. The organization is closed now, and the doors will not be opened to admit any more clubs. The clubs on the roll are well balanced, and a close race, of the American League kind, is expected.

TO TAKE UP FIGHT ON STANDARD OIL.

Issue On Which Both Republican and Democratic Legislators Are Likely to Agree.

The Standard Oil Company will have to fight for its life in the Legislature of New Jersey this winter if the Democratic minority which controls the House of Assembly has anything to say on the subject.

That it is the intention of the Democratic leaders to make a determined attack on the oil trust is assured, and the attack is to be made early in the season, as soon as possible after the reorganization of the Legislature and the ascending into power of the Democratic Assemblymen. A bill will be introduced to cancel the Jersey charter of the Standard Oil, and as it is under this charter that most of the corporations' business is done it will be readily seen that the trust will be placed in a bad position, particularly in view of the fact that the Republicans of the Senate are not especially favorable to the trusts since the last election, when the reform element came prominently to the front.

MAN IS LEGALLY DEAD.

Under Law of 1797 Woman Files the Will of Husband.

Chancellor Magie filed an opinion at Trenton yesterday admitting to probate the will of Edward Sterakopf, a former resident of Newark. Sterakopf left his home in Newark about eight years ago, and since that time nothing has been heard of him except when he sent to his wife a cigar box containing $500 in cash, a silver watch and a note saying, "I will not need any more money. I expect to get work."

Under an act of 1797 a man can be legally rated as dead after an absence of seven years. This law was invoked in the case of Sterakopf, his wife desiring to settle up his estate. Sterakopf made a will a short time before leaving home.

Denies Dropping Match.

William S. Nelson, who is employed by Baker John Wirth, wishes to contradict the statement in last night's Daily Press that he dropped a match in the barn partially burned Thursday night. He declares that he had no matches with him at the time.

Organ Recital Numbers.

William E. MacClymont, organist and choirmaster, will render the following numbers at the organ recital at Grace church tomorrow afternoon at 4:15: Allegro, G minor; Harris; Toccata, Dubois; Spring Song, Hollins.

Mrs. Uhdal's Funeral.

The funeral of Mrs. Michael Uhdal was held at her late home on South avenue, this afternoon, the service being private. It was conducted by Rev. Dr. E. M. Rodman, rector emeritus of Grace church.

OVER HALF MILLION FOR LOST FAIR HEIR.

Reported That Long Missing Brother of Mrs. Fair Gets $600,000.

After a litigation which involved many legal intricacies, the final chapter in the settlement of the estate of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Fair, who met a tragic death while automobiling in France nearly four years ago, has been closed by the alleged payment of $600,000 to Frank Smith, of Topeka, Kan., a brother of Mrs. Fair, who until yesterday had not received his share.

Smith receives nearly twenty-five times as much as the other six heirs, who were "Mayor Bill" Smith, formerly of New Market, now of Caldwell; Mrs. J. H. Bonnell, also of Caldwell; Abraham Neilson, of New Market; the late Mrs. A. Neilson, of New Market, mother of Mrs. Fair; the estate of Mrs. Loffler, of Union, and Charles Smith, of Denver, Col.

Although the amounts the other heirs received were exaggerated, the exact sum each received was $24,000, $10,000 on the first settlement and $14,000 in the final.

CONJUNCTION JONES BUMPS THE LAW AGAIN.

Discovers That Yelling Through a Megaphone On The Street Is Illegal.

Whatever the line he follows, the Nemesis of law follows "Conjunction" Jones. "Conjunction" quit farming in the chickeny wilds of Piscataway to enter commercial life, and the move landed him in the arms of the police as certainly as ever a man's destiny worked out.

"Conjunction's" mission in commercial life was to array himself in purple and fine linen, which is to say, a frock coat and a flossy silk hat with not more than seven dents, and varol through a huge megaphone, up and down the main streets, of the opening of a Front street store tonight. Megaphonic announcements on the street are against the law and Sleuth McCarthy gently but firmly plugged up "Conjunction's" noise machine. To make things very regular and legal, he ordered "Conjunction" to appeare before Judge Runyon. "Conjunction" will be arraigned Monday.

APPROACHING WEDDING.

Miss Elsie N. Stewart to Become the Wife of Dr. Cortright.

Invitations have been issued to the wedding of Miss Elsie N. Stewart, of Madison avenue, and Dr. Charles Bartles Cortright, son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Cortright, of Newark. The event will be celebrated Saturday afternoon, December 1, at 5:30 o'clock in Trinity Reformed church, and the ceremony will be performed by an uncle of the groom.

Miss Stewart is a trained nurse, being a graduate of the Muhlenberg Hospital Training School. At one time she was matron at the hospital. She has a large circle of friends in this city, where she has lived for a number of years. Dr. Cortright, who is a nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd T. Woodhull, of West Front street, is a practicing physician in Brooklyn. He is a graduate of Columbia College and the College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York. A reception will follow the ceremony at the home of Miss Stewart, 311 Madison avenue.

Patrolman's Hands Badly Burned.

Patrolman William Messler, who made a heroic effort to rescue John Wirth's horses from the barn fire in Exchange alley, Thursday night, has two severely burned hands as a result. Despite the intense heat, he made his way into the structure and his perseverance saved one of the animals. After leaving the scene it was necessary for him to have his burns dressed by Dr. Lufburrow. Ephraim Compton, a call man in the fire department, who did good work in trying to get the horses out, was also severely burned about the hands.

Is Now a Counsellor.

William Riker, Jr., clerk of the Supreme Court, today notified Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., that he had passed his recent bar examination, admitting him to practice as a counsellor and also appointing him a master in chancery. The young lawyer was admitted to the New Jersey bar in November, 1900, and is looked upon as one of the most popular and progressive of the city's legal lights. He is also serving his first term as a member of the Union County Board of Registry and Elections.

B. Howe is acting as coach for the minstrels.

J. HERVEY DOANE'S BILL HELD UP BY THE BOARD

WANTED PAY FOR SERVICES OF A MAN NOT SWORN IN FOR DUTY.

In looking over the claims of the election officers throughout Union county, the Board of Freeholders, at its special meeting on Thursday, discovered that many of the officials had under a misapprehension of the law, added an extra charge of three dollars to their bills. There were other cases in which charges had been made for extra services. All irregular claims, to the number of fifty, were thrown out before the bills were taken up for endoresement.

As the bills were read, there was but one objection offered and that was in the case of J. Hervey Doane, of the Second Ward, who was a candidate for freeholder at the last election. He put in a bill for $30 as a member of the Board of Elections in the first district of the Second ward. It was urged that he could not legally be paid for such service because he was a candidate. Then it was explained that he had resigned and intended to pay the money over to his brother, John H. Doane, who had served in his stead. John H. Doane had not put in a bill because he had not been sworn in was the explanation of the presentation of the bill by Mr. Doane.

Just before the board adjourned, Director King appointed Freeholder S. P. T. Wilbur a committee to confer with the county attorney with a view of securing the passage of an act at the next session of the Legislature, regulating the payment of the election expenses of city clerks and other officials employed in special work at elections.

The order of the forty-hour devotion, as arranged by Bishop O'Connor for the Catholic churches throughout the Newark diocese, is as follows:

"By a rescript dated February 28, 1851, Pope Pius IX. graciously extended to the faithful of the diocese of Newark all the indulgences and other spiritual favors attached to this devotion in the city of Rome. These indulgences are the following: 'A plenary indulgence is granted to those who, having made a good confession and communion, visit the church where the devotion of the forty hours is celebrated and spend some time in prayer during the exposition of the blessed sacrament. A partial indulgence of ten years and ten quarantines is granted to those who during the exposition visit the church, renewing at each visit their intention of going to confession.'"

Election Cost $17,569.

The total expenses of the November election in Union county were $17,569.02, and it is considered by the Board of Freeholders that the sum is sufficiently high without adding any other unnecessary expense. There were about fourteen constables who helped to bring the election returns from outlying places in the county after the election officers had failed to turn up with them on time and they are much disturbed because the Board of Freeholders has held up their bills.

Opera Singer Guilty.

New York, Nov. 24.—Enrico Caruso was found guilty of disorderly conduct in connection with the charge of molesting women in the monkey house of the Central Park Zoo in Yorkville Police Court yesterday afternoon and fined $10. Magistrate Baker's verdict appeared to come as a surprise to the singer, his counsel, Heinrich Conried, director of the Metropolitan Opera House, and his friends. When they recovered composure, after characterizing the decree as contrary to the evidence in the case, announcement was made that an appeal will be taken at once to the Court of General Sessions.

Hughes Independent.

New York, Nov. 24.—In a speech ringing with aggressiveness and independence Governor-elect Charles E. Hughes last night, in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, threw down the gauntlet to the Republican organization, declaring he would dominate the administration instead of permitting the party organization to dominate him. In every act, he asserted, he would be guided by the interests of the people and in every appointment he would require assurance of complete devotion to the public interest.

—There will be the usual festivities at the Park Club tonight, including bowling, pool, billiards and dancing.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

Otis B. Thayer, who will be seen at the New Plainfield theatre this afternoon and tonight in the biggest success of his career, "A Square Deal," was last seen here in "Sweet Clover" and left a most favorable impression. After a five years' tour in that play, his manager has provided him with a new vehicle by Edward E. Rose, the well known playwright, which was pronounced by the New York critics to be the best play in which he has appeared.

Otis B. Thayer, in "A Square Deal," at New Plainfield Theatre, This Afternoon and Evening.

The famous Brothers Byrne, the recognized leaders of pantomimic comedy in this country will give their successful play, the new "Eight Bells," at the New Plainfield theatre next Tuesday night. This production is entirely original and in a class that stands alone. There are no similar performances in this country. The piece throughout savors with new things that have never before been presented to the public. The Byrnes Brothers are artists of a high standard, excelling as pantomimists and as acrobats are unexcelled. Nothing in the acrobatic line is too difficult for them, and the ease with which they accomplish the most difficult feats is marvellous to behold. They have an inexhaustible fund of novelties in the way of stage paraphernalia in the new "Eight Bells," and there is no limit to trick scenery, marvellous mechanical effects and new pantomimic tricks, which keep the audience's attention riveted to the stage at all times. The carriage ride and it's imshaps, the funny revolving ship, the animated statues, and the John Byrne troupe of acrobats in new and novel feats are all great laugh producers and ideas that originated from the brain of this clever quartette of pantomimists.

"Montana," a new western play, will be seen in this city for the first time on Thanksgiving afternoon and night. "Montana" is a new and original story of life on the plains, dealing with the wholesale cattle stealing which is known to be a most troublesome question. Blended in with this there is an excellent love story and a most humorous scene of comedy ever introduced in any play. The company is a large one numbering twenty people. Two car-loads of scenery are required to stage this production besides four thoroughbred horses which are especially carried for this play.

Prior to his engagement with Henry W. Savage in "The Student King," Gustav von Seyffertiz was one of the favorite comedians of the Irving Place theatre in New York. Among the roles in which he has won especial success might be mentioned the Col. Allendorff in "The Beggar Student," the big herder in "The Gypsy Baron," the jester in "King Lear," Shylock in "The Merchant of Venice," the jailer in "The Fleidermaus" and Ambrosia in "Much Ado About Nothing." He has lived in America since 1896 and speaks English as well as he does his native tongue, German. "The Student King" will be at the New Plainfield theatre next Saturday afternoon and night.

BE ATTRACTIVE.

Pretty hair is a necessary aid to attractiveness, and every woman can have pretty hair if she will make an intelligent endeavor in that direction.

Neglect of the hair is the greatest enemy of hair beauty, and those who continue to practice neglect seldom fail to lose attractiveness.

Just as soon as the natural glossiness of the hair begins to fade, it shows that there is trouble in the scalp and that dullness, brittleness and lusterlessness of the hair will come and be followed by dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair.

An invisible vegetable growth (the dandruff germ) in the scalp causes dandruff, and the disease is both contagious and progressive. It requires prompt and continued attention to overcome it and keep it out of the scalp. Newbro's Herpicide will accomplish all this when it is used intelligently. Herpicide will not perform miracles; it will not force you to abandon whatever unsanitary habits are responsible for your scalp trouble, but by its effectiveness, it will aid you to have the beautiful hair that Herpicide users are noted for. It stops itching of the scalp almost instantly.

MORE MEN AND WOMEN HAVE GOTTEN POSITIVE RESULTS FROM THE USE OF NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE THAN FROM ALL OTHER REMEDIES COMBINED.

At Drug Stores—Send 10 Cents in stamps to The Herpicide Company, Department L, Detroit, Mich., for a sample.

At leading Drug Stores or sent prepaid from Detroit, Mich., upon receipt of $1.00.

A WOMAN'S BACK.

The Aches and Pains Will Disappear if the Advice of This Plainfield Citizen Is Followed.

A woman's back has many aches and pains.

Most times 'tis the kidneys' fault.

Backache is really kidney ache;

That's why Doan's Kidney Pills cure it.

Many Plainfield women know this.

Read what one has to say about it:

Mrs. K. C. Philpott, of 126 Plainfield avenue, Plainfield, N. J., says: "Two years ago I suffered with rheumatism and also a severe backache or pain in the loins. I suppose it was all caused by an excess of uric acid in the blood, but at any rate, the medicines I was taking did not stop the pains. I therefore resorted to Doan's Kidney Pills, and I must say, in gratitude, that they gave me complete relief from my rheumatism and backache. I had no occasion to use any medicine for my kidneys since that time, until July, 1905, when I had not been feeling just right, and had been suffering sharp twinges of pain in my back. My daughter got me a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at Randolph's pharmacy, and on using them they relieved me as before. I have often recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to people suffering from backache and rheumatism, and I shall continue to do so."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

FOOTBALL.

The N. P. H. S. football eleven has scheduled a game for Monday afternoon with the Rahway H. S. eleven at Rahway. The borough boys will take the 2 o'clock car from the Watchung avenue station and the game will be called about 3:30.

Evidently there is a wrong impression in certain quarters in the West regarding the plays used by Pennsylvania against Michigan, which Coach Yost contends were not permissible under the rules. We are told that "The Quakers were determined to use their guards and tackles for carrying the ball, although in direct defiance of the rules," and that "two of Pennsylvania's best ground gainers were Draper, playing left tackle, and Ziegler, the big right guard. These men were drawn back of the line, which is in violation of the rules this season, but Pennsylvania had to win that game, and to do it needed the services of these men, both in the line on defence and back of it on offence, so they twisted the rules to suit themselves, whether fair to Michigan or not." Yost went to Nashville Thursday from New York, where he put in most of his time since the Pennsylvania-Michigan game. As has been told, the points he raised had to do solely with line men running from their positions in the line. They had nothing to do with line men dropping back. Pennsylvania would not have been foolish enough to try to get by with any such play as running a line man from back of the line, except from five yards, as allowed. Yost doubtless is sincere in contending that he cannot, as the rules are worded, and whether or not the phraseology of the code upholds him it is safe to say that such a construction never entered the heads of a majority of football followers. Coach Torrey, of Pennsylvania, says he never heard of the play being questioned before. The play is neither a guards' back nor a tackles' back," says Torrey; "because the linemen remain in their position until the ball is put in play. After the ball is snapped a man may play where he pleases and not be offside. Every man is in his place when the ball is snapped back, and as long as a man merely runs from his position, as in the old days, the play is perfectly legal. This is a play that has been used by every college in the East this season and was used by Yost himself until a few weeks ago. Yost was here and saw the identical play used in both the Lafayette and Swarthmore games. During his visits we talked over various matters that needed settlement before the game and we came to an agreement on all of them, but nothing ever was said about this point until just before the game began, when Mr. Yost wanted the play ruled out. As the play is considered perfectly legal all through the East we naturally refused to listen to Yost's proposal."

GOLF.

There will be final play for the November Handicap cup at the Plainfield Country Club today, when the winner will be announced.

Other events at the Plainfield Country Club today will be the final play for the consolation and inconsolables' cup, postponed from last week.

With the cross country tournament on Thanksgiving Day the season will end at the Plainfield Country Club and the clubhouse will also be closed until next spring.

In the competition at Fox Hills for the Charles S. Mackenzie cup in the semi-final, a competition of extraordinary length took place between Dr. Allen T. Haight and G. E. Armstrong. At the end of the eighteen holes the scores stood all even. As Dr. Haight had to give Armstrong a handicap of six, instead of playing an extra eighteen it was mutually agreed that Dr. Haight should give Armstrong one bisque and play the first three holes in lieu of a stroke on the first and second, which Armstrong would have been entitled to by his handicap.

After playing these three holes the match stood all even. It was then decided to play eighteen holes more on a subsequent date. At the end of that match, matters still stood even, and it was only after playing sixteen additional holes that Armstrong won out by 4 up and 2 to go. Fifty-five holes were played in all. In the final, which was played between Armstrong and Meecham, the former won the cup by 7 up and 6 to go in a thirty-six hole competition.

STOKES COULD BE SEATED.

That Governor Stokes is fully aware that there is no legal obstacle to his election to the United States Senate is shown in a bit of correspondence with a Jersey City lawyer. The lawyer in question obtained from William G. Whipple, of Little Rock, Arkansas, an opinion on the Governor's eligibility. Mr. Whipple, a former United States District Attorney, who is regarded an authority on Constitutional law, wrote:

"The rule seems to be that the State cannot add to the qualifications of a United States Senator anything additional to those prescribed in the Federal Constitution, which are that the candidate shall be a male, twenty-five years old(seven years a citizen of the United States and a resident of the State in which he is chosen."

In a postscript, Mr. Whipple wrote: "Governor Clayton was chosen Senator and took his seat before his term as Governor expired. O. A. Hadley, president of the Senate, became Governor for the balance of the term."

Peshall enclosed the Whiple letter to Governor Stokes and received the following acknowledgement:

"I have your kind favor of the nineteenth, for which I thank you. I return herewith the letter from Mr. Whipple. This matter has been decided again and again in the United States Senate, notably in the case of Judge Trumbull, of Illinois, who was elected Senator despite the provisions in their Constitution to the contrary and with the additional declaration that the votes cast for such a candidate should be null and void. Notwithstanding these facts the Senate held to the statement set forth in your communication."

By Tom Muir.

A party of Plainfielders journeyed to Philadelphia, Thursday night, and witnessed Henry W. Savage's production of "The Student King," which is to be at the local playhouse next Saturday afternoon and night. They were unanimous in their approval of the piece and declare the company to be the greatest singing organization the manager has ever assembled. It numbers exactly eighty-five people and everyone of them will be seen at the New Plainfield theatre appearance. The cast is headed by Lina Abarbanell, one of Broadway's best known prima donnas.

"His Honor, the Mayor," played a return engagement at the Nesbitt theatre, Wilkes-Barre, Pa., the other night and in the rush to get inside there was a scramble outside the playhouse that compelled the management to call the police reserves. Fully 3,000 men, women and children clamored for admittance but they were turned away as even standing room was at a premium. Judging from the impression made by "His Honor" when he was here a couple of weeks ago half the city will be on hand when he returns on December 15.

The executors of the estate of the late Augustin Daly, theatrical manager and playwright, today applied to Justice O'Gorman, in Special Term, Part I, of the Supreme Court, for the issuance of an injunction restraining Gus Hill, theatrical manager, from using the name "Around the Clock" or any similar title or name in connection with a theatrical play. In their complaint in a suit against Hill the plaintiffs set forth that they have already been damaged $10,000 by the alleged wrongful use of the title "Around the Clock." The piece was seen in this city early in the season.

Harry D. Carey, the author of "Montana," the play to be seen at the New Plainfield theatre on Thanksgiving afternoon and night, is a former member of the New York University, where for two years he was the captain of the foot-ball and piloted the team to several victories. He was also captain of the baseball team. He is the holder of the college record of putting the 16 pound shot, a member of the Delta Upsilon Fraternity and an expert boxer and all around athlete. He is the son of former Judge Henry D. Carey, of New York. At the end of his college days, Mr. Carey took up the theatrical profession and his rise has been a record to be proud of. His first engagement was with the Yorkville Stock Company, where he remained for a season, since then he has successfully filled the roles of importance with E. H. Sothern, James K. Hackett, and several other well known stars. His play of "Montana" is based on actual experiences that he had while living on a ranch in Montana, whither he had gone to recuperate.

ACCUSED OF COAL FRAUD.

Elizabeth Dealers Plead Not Guilty to Indictment in School Case.

Elizabeth, Nov. 24.—In the Union county court here yesterday Barnett Jacobson and his son Jacob, coal dealers, were arraigned to answer an indictment charging them with defrauding the Battin High School in supplying coal. It is alleged that the firm collected from the city $254 for coal which was never delivered. The prisoners pleaded not guilty and were held in $1,000 bail each to appear for trial on November 30.

The indictment was the result of a vigorous charge to the grand jury by Justice Swayze, of the Supreme Court, calling attention to the reports current as to fraud in furnishing the public schools with coal. Justice Swayze directed the jury to find an indictment if the evidence submitted to it sustained the rumors in circulation.

SUES NEW BRUNSWICK FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY.

George M. Bowlby Asks $50,000 Damages After Resigning Various Offices.

New Brunswick, Nov. 24.—George M. Bowlby, of Somerville, former director, vice-president and treasurer of the New Brunswick Fire Insurance Company, has brought suit against the company for $50,000 damages. Mr. Bowlby opposed a recent increase of the capital stock. He tried to secure enough proxies to prevent the increase being voted at a special meeting of the stockholders held on Tuesday, but a $100,000 increase was voted.

Originally a company doing a purely local business, a controlling majority of the stock was secured some years ago by George A. Viehmann, who is now president of the company, and general business has been sought. The capital stock has been increased from time to time as the necessities of increasing business demanded. There has been some friction, due to protests of more conservative stockholders, but Viehmann's following has backed up every enlargement. The company had just increased its capital stock by $100,000 when the San Francisco fire entailed a loss of 134,000.

Mr. Bowlby, in his suit, declares that he was induced to subscribe $14,000 when the stock was increased last spring on the ground that the office would be removed from New Brunswick to New York, where he could exercise direct supervision over the company's affairs. When the directors refused to remove the office he demanded the return of his subscription, but this was refused. Thereupon he resigned as treasurer, vice-president and director. He opposed the new increase of capital stock, and the papers in his suit for damages were filed after the meeting. His claim for damages includes the amount of his subscription, and also the difference in the value of the stock last spring and now.

Mr. Bowlby states that when he resigned as treasurer and the demand for the return of his subscription was refused he gave notice that he would offer part of his holdings at public auction on the Stock Exchange, New York, on the company's account. The sale took place Wednesday and 327 shares of Bowlby's stock sold for $10.50 a share. Mr. Bowlby claims he paid about $45 for the stock.

Short Romance Ends in Divorce.

Jersey City, Nov. 24.—Vice Chancellor Garrison here Wednesday recommended a decree of divorce for Robert Booth, recently of 321 St. Paul's avenue, this city, from Marvilena Booth. Booth is an Erie Railroad accountant. He met his wife while visiting his sister in Dover a year ago. She was eighteen years old. They were married in Newark, November 15, 1905. Shortly after the wedding Mrs. Booth went to Dover to get some of her clothing. Her alleged conduct on the visit caused a separation and divorce. She did not oppose it.

—Miss Adele Ohl, who recently met with an accident, which detained her at home, is out again, and will attend the horse show in New York tonight.

—Surveyors have been engaged during the past few days taking the measurements for the new building to be erected by Hersh & Bro., on Park avenue, adjoining the railroad.

PLAN A HOME FOR ITS AGED MEMBERS.

Odd Fellows, in Session at Trenton, Adopt Report Favoring the Project.

Trenton, Nov. 24.—Considerable business was crowded into yesterday afternoon's session of the Grand Lodge, Independent Order of Odd Fellows. One important matter was the report regarding the formation of the aged Odd Fellows' fund. The report was adopted and the fund authorized. It provides that Odd Fellows of twenty-five years' continuous membership who are over fifty years old and on the rolls of defunct lodges shall be permitted to join lodges and shall pay to such lodge, for direct transmission to the grand lodge, the sum of twenty cents per week. When such a member is taken ill he shall be reported to the grand lodge, which body agrees to pay to him, through his lodge, the following benefits: First week, nothing; succeeding thirteen weeks, $4 a week, and $2 each week thereafter during illness. To establish the fund the sum of two cents will be added to the per capita tax to be levied this year.

To the surprise of many the salary of the grand secretary was raised to $1,500. The proposition to favor reducing the minimum age limit for admission from twenty-one to eighteen was not considered.

Somerville Citizens' B. and L.

Somerville, Nov. 24.—The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Citizens' Building and Loan Association of Somerville was held this week, at the office of A. P. Sutphen, when a new series was authorized. The following officers were elected: President, L. M. Coddington; vice-president, James Q. Ten Eyck; secretary, Arthur P. Sutphen; treasurer, William R. Sutphen; directors, John F. Reger, Matthew P. Lane and Wm. H. H. Wyckoff; auditor, for three years, Charles L. Voorhees. The treasurer's report showed loans to be in excellent condition.

Mill Strike Off.

Fall River, Mass., Nov. 24.—Fall River cotton mill employes won a battle for an increase in wages yesterday, and on Monday next thirty thousand operators will come under a scale giving them ten per cent. more than the present rate. The granting of the advance by manufacturers prevented a strike, the workmen having voted at meetings Thursday night to stop work in all mills next Monday if the new schedule was not accepted.

Murder and Suicide.

Chicago, Nov. 24.—James H. Delaney, vice president of the American Shipping Company, of No. 216 Clark street, and his wife were found dead yesterday with bullet wounds in their bodies in their rooms in a boarding house at No. 492 Lasalle avenue. The police are baffled in their search for the motive for the shooting. From the position of the body of the woman and of the revolver with which the shots were fired the police believe Mrs. Delaney fired the shots.

Hissed Roosevelt, Mobbed.

New York, Nov. 24.—Joseph R. Renzetti, an Italian, of No. 1,410 Bergen street, was roughly handled in Keeney's theatre, Brooklyn, last night, for hissing President Roosevelt. The affair caused a panic and broke up the performance. Renzetti was rescued from the crowd by the police and taken to the Myrtle avenue station, where he will have a hearing this morning.

Kills Rare Fox.

Middletown, N. Y., Nov. 24.—A silver gray fox, one of the rarest species of the fox family and most valuable for its fur, was shot by Walter T. Hawkins, of this city, while hunting near Yankee Pond, Sullivan county. Hawkins will not part with the hide. It is the only gray fox killed in this section of the State in a generation.

KEITH & PROCTOR'S.

There will be no better show anywhere in Greater New York than will be offered Thanksgiving week at Keith & Proctor's Fifth Avenue theatre. With the advantage of buying reserved seats in advance it is possible for holiday patrons to reserve choice locations now. The big bill is headed by Charles E. Evans, late star of "A Parlor Match," in his new farce, "It's Up to You William;" The Sensational Globe of Death; Bailey & Austin, "The Two American Beauties;" James Harrigan, tramp juggler, late star of "Pan Handle Pete;" Olivotti Troubadours, one of whom is Michael Banner, the eminent violin virtuoso; W. A. Inman & Co.; Julia Redmond & Co.; John D. Gilbert and others.

One of the most attractive features of the new uptown "Home of Continuous" vaudeville at Keith & Proctor's Harlem Opera House is the reserving of the 50, 25 and 15 cent seats at the evening performance and the 25 and 15 cent seats in the afternoon. The management has been particularly liberal in the matter of providing splendid seating accommodations for the extremely low prices of 50 cents for the orchestra, 25 cents for the balcony and 15 cents for the gallery at the night performances. This new policy has met with the heartiest response and the result is the Harlem Opera House is smashing all records for attendances. Thanksgiving week's bill is as follows: The Phays in "Flamaturgy," a demonstration of how the Fays work in thaumaturgy; The Electric Crickets; Charley Case; Fred Ray & Co., Merkel Sisters; Catherine Hayes and Sabel Johnson; Alline, and "Peter the Great," Carson & Willard, Cavana; Charlotte Ravenscroft.

LITERARY.

The December number of The Century will be published today. Editors are requested not to print extracts from this sheet until about that date. The favor of copies of papers containing such extracts is requested. A Book Beautiful is the Christmas Century, the publishers feel, a number to set a new standard of artistic beauty and literary richness in the magazine world; without, a Della Robbia group in blue, gold and black; within, four pages in color and several in photogravure and tint, and many sorts of seasonable articles. The frontispiece is a reproduction of Sigismond de Ivanowski's portrait of Maude Adams as Peter Pan, which has caught the charm and joyousness of the character. Other pages in color show Horatio Walker's "Ave Maria," Anna Whelan Betts' "The Belle of the Christmas Ball," and J. S. Leyendecker's interpretation of William Vaughn Moody's imaginative poem, "The Death of Eve."

Woman Shoots Three Men.

New York, Nov. 24.—In a spirit of revenge for fancied wrongs, Miss Otalie Schneider, of No. 2,186 Anthony avenue, the Bronx, formerly a German Sister of Charity, fired five shots from a revolver at Dr. Frederick Bierhoff yesterday afternoon, at Fifty-ninth street and Madison avenue. Two of the bullets hit the physician, another struck O. Droege, a lawyer, of No. 228 East Sixty-ninth street, and a fourth wounded Paul Sheehan, a student in Columbia University, living in Hartley Hall, at the university. Dr. Bierhoff and Mr. Droege are only slightly injured. Sheehan was struck in the back and his condition is serious. In the East Fifty-first street police station Miss Schneider said Dr. Bierhoff had performed fourteen operations upon her and had destroyed her health.

Fiction appropriately flavored with the Christmas spirit, is the predominating feature of the Woman's Home Companion for December. Mary E. Wilkins contributes in "The Gift of Love" a typically Wilkins picture of New England as we have learned to see itthrough her delightfully netertaing stories. Temple Bailey also writes with a holiday flavo in "The Christmas Storm." Other fiction in this number is contributed by Juliet Wilbor Tohmpkins, Jean Webster, Alice Brown, Julia Truitt Bishop and Grace S. Richmond. An importatn feature of the magazine is a hitherto unpublished poem by the late Eugene Field entitled "The Old Bear and the Rabbit." Its writing is described by Frederick S. Field, a son of 'Gene Field, who was the "rabbit" of his distinguished father's poem.

Rosenthal Recital In Newark.

Moriz Rosenthal, the great Austrian pianist, who has been treating patrons of Carnegie Hall, New York city, recently with the grandest music heard in years, will give a recital in the Krueger Auditorium, Newark, Tuesday evening, November 27. Seats for the recital are on sale at the Lauter Co.'s piano warerooms, 657 Broad street, Newark. Rosenthal's display of wonderful technical powers have marked him as a wizard of the piano. His brilliant playing has scored success for him everywhere. Opportunity to hear such an artist does not present itself every day, as this is Mr. Rosenthal's first visit to this country in eight years, during which time, he has spent in study and concert abroad. A large audience will greet Mr. Rosenthal upon his appearance in Newark.

Floyd D. Woodhull, of West Front street, has been detained at home by illness for a short time.

Narrow Escapes for Candidates.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 24.—Had President Roosevelt caused the publication of his executive order discharging without honor three companies of the Twenty-fifth Infantry six hours before he did, it would have caused the Republican majority in the House of Representatives to drop from 58 to 14. This is the authoritative statement of leaders of the Republican party, who predict that the matter is not at an end, but that it will come up in Congress this winter and be provocative of bitter and continued discussion which the Republicans are illy prepared to meet. The statements made also that had not the publication of the order been delayed until after the closing of the polls the President's son-in-law would have been ignominiously defeated by the negro vote in his district. It is estimated by veterans in the Republican ranks that there are at least twenty-two Congressional districts in which the negro vote is great enough to reverse the result.

Damages for Bear's Bite.

New York, Nov. 24.—Walter R. Molloy, twelve years old, in the Supreme Court, before Judge Dugro, yesterday, obtained a verdict for $5,000 damages against John H. Starin. Several years ago some bears were temporarily left on the pier of Mr. Starin, in New Haven for transportation. They were confined in cages. Molloy was attracted by them and while looking at one of them another bear seized him by the foot and munched it so that it had to be amputated. His father sued for $50,000 damages. On a former trial a verdict for $10,000 was rendered, but this was set aside and a new trial ordered.

Operatives Ready for Strike.

Fall River, Mass., Nov. 24.—At meetings of cotton mill operatives held here last night a vote of 976 to 71 was taken in favor of striking next Monday morning to enforce the demands made for a ten per cent. advance in wages. There were five separate meetings, each of the textile unions meeting individually. All voted unanimously to reject the offer made by the Cotton Manufacturers' Association this week to advance wages five per cent. This vote will affect about twenty-five thousand operatives and thirty corporations, operating seventy-five cloth mills.

Salt Water Hydrants.

New York, Nov. 24.—At the fourth and final salt water hydrant test at Coney Island, conducted by Deputy Fire Commissioner Charles A. Wise and Commissioner of Water Supplies John H. O'Brien, yesterday, conditions for fighting fire were pronounced perfect. With the combined working force of three heavy engines operated at the West Sixteenth street pumping station and two fire engines, an average pressure of 145 pounds was attained. Twelve three-length lines throwing a stream three hundred feet along Surf avenue were operated satisfactorily.

Huge Railroad Earnings.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 24.—Almost fabulous in their extent are the figures made public today by the Inter-State Commerce Commission of the earnings of the American railways for the year ended June 30, 1906. This was in the nature of a preliminary report on the income account of the railways of the county, and it covers returns for railway companies operating 220,028.44 miles of lines. The total gross earnings of the roads as shown in the report under consideration were $2,319,760,030, being equivalent to $10,543 per mile.

Work of Pyromaniac.

New York, Nov. 24.—Five fires were started in tenement houses between Seventeenth and Twenty-third streets and Eighth and Ninth avenues within a few hours early yesterday morning, three of them in one block. Another was set in Eighteenth street, just east of Eighth avenue. Many rescues were made by firemen, and in all seven hundred lives were in danger. The police and firemen suspect the fires were lighted by an unidentified man who recently did similar work in the upper west side. They think he is a pyromaniac.

A Remarkable Charity.

The famous Bowery Mission Bread Line, now in its fourth year, at which every morning, at one o'clock, during the winter months, one thousand homeless and destitue men and boys are provided with a breakfast of hot coffee and rolls, will resume operations at Thanksgiving, midnight, and continue to Easter morning, 1907. Last year 144,000 were thus assisted, and altogether over half a million have had a weary night's tramp agreeably interrupted by this inexpensive, yet very welcome refreshment.

One of the "Signers" Honored.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 24.—With impressive ceremonies the body of James Wilson, of Pennsylvania, a signer of the Declaration of Independence, a leader in the convention which framed the fedaral constitution and one of the original Justices of the Supreme Court of the United States, which for one hundred and eight years had lain in a North Carolina grave, was placed today beside that of his wife in a tomb in the graveyard of historic Christ church.

By Graham Phillips, author of "The Cost," etc.

And I do not think he did understand me, though his manner changed to a sort of grudging respect. He was, I believe, about to make some impulsive, generous speech, when we heard the quick strokes of iron-shod hoofs on the path from the kennels and the stables—is there any sound more arresting? Past us at a gallop swept a horse, on his back—Anita. She was not in riding-habit; the wind fluttered the sleeves of her blouse, blew her uncovered hair this way and that about her beautiful face. She sped on toward the landing, though I fancied she had seen us.

Anita at Dawn Hill—Langdon, in a furious temper, descending from the house toward the landing—Anita presently, riding like mad—"to overtake him," thought I. And I read confirmation in his triumphant eyes. In another mood, I suppose my fury would have been beyond my power to restrain it. Just then—the day grew dark for me, and I wanted to hide away somewhere. Heart-sick, I was ashamed for her, hated myself for having blundered into surprising her.

"HOW THAT HORRIBLE FEAR CHANGED MY WHOLE WAY OF LOOKING AT HER, AT HIM, AT EVERYTHING!"

She reappeared at the turn round which she had vanished. I now noted that she was riding without saddle or bridle, with only a halter round the horse's neck—then she had seen us, had stopped and come back as soon as she could. She dropped from the horse, looked swiftly at me, at him, at me again, with intense anxiety.

"I saw your yacht in the harbor only a moment ago," she said to me. She was almost panting. "I feared you might meet him. So I came."

"As you see, he is quite—intact," said I. "I must ask that you and he leave the place at once." And I went rapidly along the path toward the kennels.

An exclamation from Langdon forced me to turn in spite of myself. He was half-kneeling, was holding her in his arms. At that sight, the savage in me shook himself free. I dashed toward them with I knew not what curses bursting from me. Langdon, intent upon her, did not realize until I sent him reeling backward to the earth and snatched her up. Her white face, her closed eyes, her limp form made my fury instantly collapse. In my confusion I thought that she was dead. I laid her gently on the grass and supported her head, so small, so gloriously crowned, the face so still and sweet and white, like the stainless entrance to a stainless shrine. How that horrible fear changed my whole way of looking at her, at him, at her and him, at everything!

Her eyelids were quivering—her eyes were opening—her bosom was rising and falling slowly as she drew long, uncertain breaths. She shuddered, sat up, started up. "Go! go!" she cried. "Bring him back! Bring him back! Bring him—"

There she recognized me. "Oh," she said, and gave a great sigh of relief. She leaned against a tree and looked at Langdon. "You are still here? Then tell him."

Langdon gazed sullenly at the ground. "I can't," he answered. "I don't believe it. Besides—he has given you to me. Let us go. Let me take you to the Vivians." He threw out his arms in a wild, passionate gesture; he was utterly unlike himself. His emotion burst through and shattered pose and cynicism and hard crust of selfishness like the exploding powder bursting the shell. "I can't give you up, Anita!" he exclaimed in a tone of utter desperation. "I can't! I can't!"

But her gaze was all this time steadily on me, as if she feared I would go, should she look away. "I will tell you myself," she said, rapidly, to me. "We—Uncle Howard and I—read in the papers how they had all turned against you, and he brought me over here. He has been telegraphing for you. This morning he went to town to search for you. About an hour ago Langdon came. I refused to see him, as I have ever since the time I told you about at Alva's. He persisted, until at last I had the servant request him to leave the house."

"But now there's no longer any reason for your staying, Anita," he pleaded. "He has said you are free. Why stay when you would really no more be here than if you were to go, leaving one of your empty dresses?"

She had not for an instant taken her gaze from me; and so strange were her eyes, so compelling, that I seemed unable to move or speak. But now she released me to blaze upon him—and never shall I forget any detail of her face or voice as she said to him: "That is false, Mowbray Langdon. I told you the truth when I told you I loved him!"

So violent was her emotion that she had to pause for self-control. And I? I was overwhelmed, dazed, stunned. When she went on, she was looking at neither of us. "Yes, I loved him, almost from the first—from the day he came to the box at the races. I was ashamed, poor creature that my parents had made me! I was ashamed of it. And I tried to hate him, and thought I did. And when he showed me that he no longer cared, my pride goaded me into the folly of trying to listen to you. But I loved him more than ever. And as you and he stand here, I am ashamed again—ashamed that I was ever so blind and ignorant and prejudiced as to compare him with"—she looked at Langdon—"with you. Do you believe me now—now that I humble myself before him here in your presence?"

"I should have had no heart at all if I had not felt pity for him. His face was gray, and on it were those signs of age that strong emotion brings to the surface after 40. "You could have convinced me in no other way," he replied, after a silence, and in a voice I should not have recognized.

Silence again. Presently he raised his head, and with something of his old cynicism bowed to her.

"You have avenged much and many," said he. "I have often had a presentiment that my day of wrath would come."

He lifted his hat, bowed at me without looking at me, and, drawing the tatters of his pose still further over his wounds, moved away toward the landing.

I, still in a stupor, watched him until he had disappeared. When I turned to her, she dropped her eyes. "Uncle Howard will be back this afternoon," said she. "If I may, I'll stay at the house until he comes to take me."

A weary, half-suppressed sigh escaped from her. I knew how she must be reading my silence, but I was still unable to speak. She went to the horse, browsing near by; she stroked his muzzle. Lingeringly she twined her fingers in his mane, as if about to spring to his back! That reminded me of a thousand and one changes in her—little changes, each a trifle in itself, yet, taken all together, making a complete transformation.

"Let me help you," I managed to say. And I bent, and made a step of my hand.

She touched her fingers to my shoulder, set her narrow, graceful foot upon my palm. But she did not rise. I glanced up, she was gazing wistfully down at me.

"Women have to learn by experience just as do men," said she, forlornly. "Yet men will not tolerate it."

I suppose I must suddenly have looked what I was unable to put into words—for her eyes grew very wide, and, with a cry that was a sigh and a sob, and a laugh and a caress all in one, she slid into my arms and her face was burning against mine.

"Do you remember the night at the theater," she murmured, "when your lips almost touched my neck?—I loved you then—Black Matt—Black Matt!"

And I found voice; and the horse wandered away.

VOCABULARY OF THE LOGGER.

Common Terms That Are Unintelligible to the Uninitiated.

The language of woodsmen, often more forcible than elegant, is as picturesque as are their surroundings, writes Thomas R. Shipp, in the Reader. Most of us know what a "sapling" is, but what is a "road monkey" or a "bull donkey?" A "road monkey" keeps a logging road in condition, a "bull donkey" is simply a big donkey engine. Yet these are some of this woodsman's common terms. For instance, a "briar" is a cross-cut saw, a "bully" is a foreman of a logging camp, a "choker" is a noose of wire rope. "Of course," you say. But what is a "goose pen?" Why, a big hole burned in the standing tree. Easy? Well, then, here's another. What is a "widowmaker?" Answer, a loose, hanging, broken limb, which is supposed always to mean danger to the man who gets under it.

And so it goes. A "dead man," for instance, is a fallen tree, but a "dead head" is a sunken log. A "dozy" log is one that is decayed. A single sled is a "dray," but it likewise may be a "bob," a "crotch," a "go-devil," a "lizard," a scoot" or a "sloop," but never a "sled." With fine insight into human nature the woodsman knows the subforeman as the "head push." Mr. Pinchot's Forest Service has compiled a "loggers' dictionary," which contains all these and many more words just as picturesque.

Off Color.

"Would you rather I were a blonde or a brunette?" she asked him.

"Well," he said, "I would; to be quite candid, Ethelwyne, I would rather you were one or the other.

Slew Father to Rob.

New Iberia, La., Nov. 24.—With the arrest here yesterday of Duke Jackson, a fourteen-year-old boy, who admits that he murdered his father, Togar Jackson, there develops a strange case of juvenile depravity. The boy confesses that he plotted the death of the elder Jackson in order to rob his parent, waylaying him at a lonely spot in the suburbs and firing twice from ambush with a shotgun. Togar Jackson had been on a trip into the country collecting rents from land interests and was believed to have had a bag of money in his vehicle. The youth had recently been arrested for robbing several stores.

Catholics Fight Troops.

Paris, Nov. 24.—Two thousand Catholic peasants gathered around the church at Ploughuerneau, in the Department of Finistere, today and fought off the troops sent to protect the officials engaged in taking the inventory under the Church and State separation law. The soldiers, including horse and foot, charged several times, but finally were compelled to retire, whereupon the authorities postponed their attempt to take the inventory and awaited reinforcements. In the afternoon the entire population of Ploughuerneau was massed before the church.

"Poor Man" Bank Director.

New Bedford, Mass., Nov. 24.—The death of a man who was known to the few patrons of his old book shop as William J. Smith, miserly in appearance and apparently friendless, revealed the fact that he bore one of the proudest names in New England and at the time of his death was a director in banking institutions in New York and Baltimore. Mr. Smith's correct name was George Yeaton Sawyer, Jr. He was born in Nashua, N. H., sixty-eight years ago, a son of Judge Sawyer, of the Supreme Court of that State from 1855 to 1859.

Roosevelt Like Kaiser.

New York, Nov. 24.—At the 138th annual banquet of the Chamber of Commerce of the State of New York, in the grand ballroom of the Waldorf last night, representatives of several European nations expressed warmest friendship for the United States, and voiced the belief that this mutual friendship would be enduring and grow stronger as civilization advances. The speech of Baron von Sternburg, the German Ambassador, attracted especial attention in this respect. He said Roosevelt and Kaiser Wilhelm had similar characters.

Stumped for Her Father.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 24.—Because she went on the stump in behalf of her trade unionist father, William B. Wilson, who was a successful candidate for Congress from a Pennsylvania district, Miss Agnes Wilson was called before the Convention of the American Federation of Labor yesterday and rewarded for her "brave and courageous efforts" with a diamond studded watch and a huge bouquet of chrysanthemums. Frank K. Foster, of Boston, made the presentation.

Boy's Cruel Plight.

New York, Nov. 24.—Warned not to come home until he had found a bulldog which he had allowed to escape, James Kiely, eleven years old, has been sleeping on the meadows in the suburbs of Long Island City several nights. The boy's plight was discovered by neighbors, who provided him with food and shelter and notified the authorities. The boy is a nephew of Patrick Kiely, of No. 15 Fifth street, Woodside. Kiely and his wife were arraigned in police court yesterday to explain why they neglected the boy.

Steamship Rammed.

New York, Nov. 24.—Coming into port yesterday the North German Lloyd steamship Main was rammed by the four-masted schooner May C. Neville and a hole nearly twenty feet wide torn in her superstructure. Snapping and crunching in the heavy beams threw the crowded steerage of the liner into a noisy panic, but only one person was hurt.

Policy Called For $190; Prudential Paid $246.48.

N.K. (Camden, N.J.), a boy of twelve, died recently. He was insured under a policy for $190, taken out several years ago. Since then, however, The Prudential has increased its benefits, and its custom being to give policyholders of long standing the benefit of all such changes, a sum of $50 was added to the claim, which, with a mortuary dividend of $6.48, made up the above total.

Dog Dies Heartbroken.

Football and General Sports

FOOTBALL.

Alis and Dunellen will meet this afternoon on Alis Common and a lively gridiron contest is expected by the followers of both teams. Both elevens have played two games this season and failed to score and an effort will be made to break the spell today.

Next to the Harvard-Yale battle today the most important will be between Brown and Dartmouth at Springfield. The officials for the former game will be Hackett, West Point, referee; Edwards, Princeton, and Hall, Dartmouth, umpires, and Ayerault, Groton, linesman. For the Brown-Dartmouth game Corbin, Yale, will be the referee; Wrightington, Harvard, and Burleigh, Exeter, umpires, and Whiting, Cornell, linesman. Coach Robinson, of Brown, says Dartmouth is superior to his team in punting and place kicking, that Brown is better in open play, and that in line bucking the teams are equally matched. Coach Folsom, of Dartmouth, says he would rather predict a victory for Brown than for Dartmouth, but Capt. Glaze, of Dartmouth, is confident Dartmouth will win. Capt. Schwartz, of Brown, expects the hardest sort of a game, but says Brown men feel that they have the team to beat Dartmouth.

The Amherst-Swarthmore game today is another of no small importance. Swarthmore, notwithstanding the drubbing by Cornell and crippled stars, is hopeful. The team is capable of better football than it played against Cornell. The Amherst players left for Swarthmore Thursday and put in the night in New York. Lehigh meets Lafayette today, and Bucknell meets Gettysburg. In both of these games there is sharp rivalry. Lehigh has not a great deal of hope of beating Lafayette after the latter's fine record this season, but expects to hold the Eastonians to a much smaller score than last year. Dickson and Bull, old Pennsylvania players, are the respective coaches of Lehigh and Lafayette. The Army is likely to get some good practice today in the game with Syracuse. The Syracusans, since their triumph over Lafayette, will go against the soldiers with renewed zeal. It will be the last skirmish for the Army prior to the Navy engagement.

Ralph Bloomer, the Yale coach, who predicted a 0 to 0 game between Yale and Princeton, looks for another tie game in New Haven today. "Harvard has a stiffer attack than Yale," he remarks, "and is a trifle better in punting. Yale's defensive game is stronger than Harvard's. It should be a harder game for Yale than the Princeton game was, but the Yale team should be able to play a better game than it put up at Princeton." Rockwell also looks for a harder game today than Yale had last Saturday. "Harvard has a more consistent team defence," he declares, "and it will have to be met by more energetic team play."

BOWLING.

A bunch of regulars kept No. 1 alley at McLaughlin's red hot last night. Martin Hinkle and Lou Skelly both smashed the sticks for a 222 and Skelly swung around later with a 204. There were several others who went over the 200 mark and a score below 190 was as rare as the proverbial hen's teeth. Skelly is rapidly developing into one of the fastest of the local pin knights thought he always has had a good average.

The alleys at Saengerbund Hall have just been put in splendid shape and some high scores may be expected from the local Canada very shortly. Charles Meyer, Jr., and Rudie Spiegel are looked upon to uphold the reputation of the Turn Verein in the event of challenges.

Johnny Voorheis, the national champion, who topped off 277 on McLaughlin's alleys a couple of weeks ago, did some wonderful bowling for the Brooklyn team in the Eastern League series at Baltimore, Thursday night. Stepping on the alleys for the first time, he registered double century counts in thirteen out of his fourteen game for a mark of 225.4. His low score was 179, the first game he rolled, while his high tally was 277, the same as he made here. He gave the Orioles a taste of sensational shooting throughout and he upheld the reputation he has of being the greatest bowler in the country.

"Fozzy" Firstbrook, who has proved to be the mainstay for the Newark News team on several occasions, is a somewhat better bowler than he is a baseball player, though he knows the latter game from A to Z. He can smash out a 175 without any great effort and several times in the past week went over the 200 dead line. More power to you "Fozzy."

"Bobby" Leach abandoned his wagon, last night, just long enough to run into McLaughlin's and try a crack at the timber. It was his first offense and for the opening frames his instructors couldn't disabuse his mind of the belief that he was playing cricket and that he was entitled to as many balls as he wanted to knock 'em down. For all that he got a couple of strikes and ended up as an octagenarian.

Head Pin or No Count.

Another wrinkle has been introduced in the bowling game at McLaughlin's alleys. As usual Chief Expert McNulty is the "innovator." The wrinkle is to roll one ball a frame, at the ten pins, only head-pin hits to count. Twelve balls are used, a total of 120 being possible. There is no count if the ball misses the head pin.

BASKETBALL.

The members of the North Plainfield High School Athletic Association are preparing to form a basketball team to compete in the Inter-City Basketball League series. Some excellent material has developed lately.

The P. H. S. basketball team will play a game with the team from the Stuyvesant High School, of New York, on the P. H. S. court Saturday afternoon, December 1, at 3 o'clock.

UNIONS TO AMALGAMATE

Branches of Iron Workers Likely to be Merged Into One Strong Body.

AN A. F. OF L. IDEA

Machinists, Blacksmiths, Iron-Workers and Moulders Included in the Proposed Union—Its Aims.

Local union labor men, particularly those who are identified with iron working unions, are interested in a project to affiliate the machinists, blacksmiths and moulders together in one body, with the idea of concentrating their strength in matters that are constantly cropping up in the iron industry. The idea was advocated at the last annual meeting of the American Federation of Labor, and it is said that steps are about to be taken in this city to form one; a local branch of this national organization.

The prime cause of forming such an organization here, it is said, is directly due to the strike of the union moulders, which is now on at the Scott Printing Press Works. The moulders went out on strike in this shop nearly two months ago, but this department is being kept running by non-union workmen.

If the proposed union is organized the machinists, blacksmits and other iron-workers in the shop will be asked to join. With these different unions welded together it will be the purpose of the members not to turn out any material which will supply a non-union shop. It is the plan of the union men to organize, and unless union moulders are put at work, they will refuse to work on jobs which is designated to go through channels where non-union labor is employed.

WESTFIELD COMMUTER WANTS A NEW STATION.

New York Broker Gets 600 Signatures to His Peition to Jersey City.

M. Allan Hoppock, a broker, of 35 Nassau street, New York, whose home is at 36 Clark street, in Westfield, has worked single-handed upon a petition which he will have handed to the officials of the Central Railroad Company, requesting that the company build a new and adequate eastbound station at Westfield to take the place of the present dirty wooden building, which is not capable of affording proper accommodations for commuters or the traveling public. Mr. Hoppock has obtained nearly six hundred signatures to his petition. The petition will be bound in heavy cardboard, with a cover of morocco and gilt letters, and will be presented to the railroad officals by Mr. Hoppock and a committee comprising officials of the town and citizens.

At the meeting of the Town Council held last week a resolution was passed recommending a new station, and that the Mayor and a representation from the Council and Board of Health accompany Mr. Hoppock to the railroad officials with the petition.

The Young Men's Hebrew Association was organized last night, the objects being social, athletics and literary. The meeting was held in the basement of the synagogue in New street and was largely attended by young men of the faith. AUTO TRACK MAY BE BUILT NEAR RAHWAY

TO TAKE PLACE OF LONG ISLAND COURSE—HUNT CLUB DISTURBED.

Options on a number of pieces of property are reported to have been already secured by an agent, near Colonia and Iselin, two nearby places, romantically situated, to be transformed into an immense and thoroughly equipped automobile track, 200 feet wide and eight miles in length. The rumor is disquieting to the Watchung Hunt Club, which has its headquarters and kennels at Iselin.

An affair of this kind has been under advisement for some time throughout the State, and at the last big auto meet and races on Long Island the fact that some other place must be secured became so patent that it was talked over freely.

The natural location and topography if the country south of Rahway offers just the advantages needed. It was said at the Long Island meet that .907 would show some of the biggest races ever dreamed of, and on a new track in an unexpected location. Aa soon as the needed ground has been secured large forces of men will be put to work at once, as all the time remaining will be needed.

FATHER FREDERICI HONORED BY BISHOP.

Assistant to Father Bogan Placed in Charge of His Italian Parish.

Father Frederici, who, for the past five years has been one of the assistant priests at St. Mary's church, having charge of the work among the Italians of the parish, has just been elevated by Rt. Rev. Bishop O'Connor, of the Newark diocese, to a responsible place in the church. He has been appointed pastor of the Church of the Holy Rosary, on Sixth street, Jersey City. This church, a new one, has just been completed and it has a membership of nearly 12,000 Italians. Father Frederici will have an assistant.

Father Frederici conducted his last mass at St. Mary's church, yesterday, and will take charge of his new work this week. The new place is one of great responsibility for him as he is a young man, but it is believed that he will be successful in his new field. Father Frederici was educated and ordained in Naples and came to St. Mary's church directly after his ordination. His work here among the Italians has progressed favorably. His successor has not yet been selected.

MUSICAL SERVICE.

Organist Skiff Sings Two Solos at First M. E. Church.

There was a special musical programme at the First M. E. church last night, and a large congregation enjoyed it. The music was heavy, but the choir rendered it with marked success.

The soloists were Miss Bertha Van Nuis Willis, soprano, and J. Edmund Skiff, the organist. Mr. Skiff sang two tenor solos. Both soloists were in excellent voice. W. E. MacClymont, organist of Grace P. E. church, played the accompaniment for Mr. Skiff.

SUNDAY SELLING BY LARRY KERWIN ALLEGED

CITY COURT PRISONER TESTIFIES TO ILLEGAL TRAFFIC THERE.

If the statements made by Abram Wilde, fifty-five years old, a molder, in the city court this morning, are true, the passage of the Bishops' law hasn't made much difference in the Sunday activity at Larry Kerwin's hotel on Rock avenue. According to Wilde's testimony, Kerwin did a rushing business over the bar yesterday. The hotel is in Piscataway township.

Wilde was arrested yesterday afternoon for drunkenness on Rock avenue. When he was arraigned this morning, Judge Runyon asked him where he got his drink yesterday.

"At Kerwin's hotel," was the reply.

Wilde said there was no trouble about getting into the place. The rear door was opened readily in response to his knock, he alleged. Business was so brisk, he continued in response to the court's questions, that Kerwin had his wife and daughter assist him at the bar.

Wilde was released under suspended sentence. After the hearing, Judge Runyon declared that it was time somehting was done with Kerwin's place. The attention of the Middlesex county authorities will probably be called to it.

DIAMOND JIM'S AUTO SMASHES A WAGON.

Driver Hurt But Rich Man Will Make Good For Damages.

"Diamond Jim" Brady figured in another automobile crash Saturday night at Somerville and his machine seriously injured Abram Tunison, a driver for J. B. Losey. "Diamond Jim" was not in the car, but was on his way to his home on the Dural farm, which he recently purchased for $25,000. Brady's chauffeur was en route to Bound Brook in his big Mathewson Flyer and passed through town about 7:30 o'clock. In front of the County Hotel, in that place, Tunison, who was driving the grocery wagon, came out of the lane into the main street. The big machine crashed into the grocery wagon, turning it upside down and dumping Tunison and the groceries into the street. A crowd quickly gathered and friends of Tunison picked him up in an unconscious condition.

Upon examination it was found that his right leg was badly injured and he also sustained a severe scalp wound, besides a number of minor bruises. The crowd were indignant and demanded the chauffeur's arrest. Chief of Police Brown hurried to the scene and after earnest pleadings on the part of the chauffeur he was allowed to go to Bound Brook after Mr. Brady and bring him back to police headquarters, where he met Mr. Brown. When Brady learned the circumstances of the accident he at once telephoned to Mr. Losey and told him to send the bill of damages to the wagon and groceries to him. Brady also promised to recompense Mr. Tunison for his lost time and with this arrangement Brady and the chauffeur were allowed to go without arrest pending the condition of the injured man.

William C. Marchant.

Following an illness of practically one week, William C. Marchant, died early yesterday morning at the home of his son, M. Howard Marchant, of East Fifth street. He was born at Edgartown, Mass., seventy-four years ago and had lived in Plainfield since 1898. He was a compositor by trade and for many years had held responsible positions with the Journal of Commerce and The Maritime Exchange. He leaves a family of four: M. Howard and William B. Marchant, of this city; Mrs. O. F. Smith, of Norwalk, Conn., and Mrs. Horsley Barker, of Brooklyn, formerly of this city. The funeral service will be held at his son's home tonight at 8 o'clock and interment will be made at Norwalk, Conn., tomorrow afternoon.

Mistake In New Time-Table.

In the printing of the public timetables for the changes on the New Jersey Central, which went into effect yesterday, one mistake was made in connection with the east bound train which stops here at 12:19 noon. It is stated that it is for "Sunday only," when it really is to run every day except Sunday. A large number of people were at the North Avenue station to board it yesterday and they were very much surprised when it failed to appear. The time-tables are being corrected.

UNION CO. NEGROES CRITICISE PRESIDENT

PASS RESOLUTION DENOUNCING ORDER DISMISSING COLORED TROOPS.

The Colored Republican County Committee has expressed its disapproval of President Roosevelt's order for the wholesale discharge of negro soldiers. Chairman C. R. H. Hawkins offered the following resolutions at a meeting held in Elizabeth on Saturday. They were unanimously adopted:

"Whereas, President Theodore Roosevelt, having seen fit to dishonorably discharge a battalion of colored soldiers from the 25th United States Infantry; and

"Whereas, We, the Union County Colored Republican Committee believe the action of the President uncalled for, unwarranted and without precedent in any civilized country, his action having been taken on what we believe to be a biased and prejudiced report of Inspector-General Garlington and his subordinates; and,

"Whereas, We believe that President Roosevelt either consciously or unconsciously is doing just what the negro-hating South, as represented by Tillman and Vardman, would have him do; and,

Whereas, We believe that the report recently sent out by the War Department giving the alleged facts of the riot in Brownsville, Texas, for which these soldiers were discharged, was wilfully distorted and exaggerated, and were so given out to justify the President before the county in the action he has taken; be it

"Resolved, That we, the Union County Colored Republican Committee call upon Congress at its opening session to demand a full and impartial investigation of the matter so that all the facts may be brought to light; and further, be it

"Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to Charles N. Fowler, our representative in Congress, with the request that he use all his power and influence to bring about such an investigation."

SOCIETY FOLK ATTEND A CHARMING "AT HOME."

Mrs. G. H. Goddard and the Misses Goddard Entertain at Reception Supper Party.

The second and last "at home" given Saturday afternoon by Mrs. George H. Goddard and the Misses Goddard at their home on East Ninth street, was a charming affair, and was as lragely attended as the first one given the week previous. Fully 300 society people from this city and out-of-town were present during the hours of the reception.

Assisting Mrs. Goddard and the Misses Goddard in receiving were Miss Marjorie Fleming, Miss Abi Sykes, Miss Helen Browne, of this city; Miss Katherine North, of Philadelphia, and Miss Helen Lee, of New York. Those who poured in the dining room were Mrs. Howard Fleming, Miss Emily Tracy, Mrs. John Doul Miller, Mrs. John M. Whiton and Mrs. Eugene Hatch.

The home was beautifully decorated throughout with flowers, and especially attractive was the dining room, where red roses and red chrysanthemums were used effectively.

Following the reception, a supper party was given in the evening especially for the young people. Covers were laid for sixteen. Afterwards dancing was enjoyed.

HOME MISSION WORK.

Dr. Chivers, Field Secretary, Tells of Progress Made.

Rev. Dr. Chivers, field secretary for the Baptist Home Missionary Society, occupied the pulpit at the First Baptist church yesterday morning. He gave a comprehensive idea of the vast amount of work being done by the home missionary society throughout this country, especially in the west. He said that never before in the history of the society were there so many glorious opportunities as at present to extend the gospel, and the need is greater than ever.

Dr. Chivers related many interesting incidents in connection with trips taken by him in the west, where in isolated villages and towns Baptist churches have been built and the work is progressing so favorably. The society wants $750,000 this year for the work and Dr. Chivers is visiting the Baptist churches in the hope of stirring up an interest and inducing Baptists to give more liberally toward this work.

AUTO HITS WAGON, AND TWO ARE HURT.

One Man Badly Bruised and Cut; Others Slightly So.

A grocery wagon belonging to the Metropolitan Grocery Company, of the West End, in charge of Benjamin Dyett, driver, and Thomas Bridges, both colored, collided with an automobile on South avenue, Saturday afternoon, while on its way to Westfield. The auto was coming toward Plainfield. Both Bridges and Dyett were thrown out, the former receiving cuts about the head and bruises on the body. Dyett escaped with a few bruises. The wagon was wrecked, but the horse escaped injury.

The accident happened between Fanwood and Westfield. Four autos following each other were coming to Plainfield. Two of them has passed the grocery rig all right, but the third one, said to have been owned by William Bouldin, Jr., of East Orange, it is said, frightened the horse driven by Dyett and he jumped in front of the machine. The collision cut the horse loose from the wagon, wrecked the vehicle and threw the occupants into the road. The only damage to the machine was the breaking of the head lamps. The fourth auto folliwng contained a party of friends of those in what was said to be Mr. Bouldin's machine, and it brought Bridges and Dyett home. It is reported that the owner of the automobile will settle for the damages.

"Conjunction" Jones, summoned for creating a nuisance with a megaphonic advertisement of a Front street store, was released under suspended sentence by Judge Runyon this morning. STOPPED ALL WHEELS OF HOME INDUSTRY

Orren P. Baker, who has been arrested for raising drunken rows about his home before, was arraigned before Judge Runyon in the city court this morning, for trying to turn the house upside down Saturday in a tantrum. The charge was made by his wife.

Baker raised a sinful fuss when he came home. He ordered all household industry to suspend, and to enforce the shutdown he threw the crayons and ink with which his daughter was drawing a school map, around, put out the kitchen fire with a pail of water, turned out the lights and chased the family into the street. Mrs. Baker came back two or three times to start the wheels of industry again, but Baker wouldn't quiet down and she had to call in Patrolman Overbaugh.

Baker told Judge Runyon he had had only two drinks, and he was surprised to hear of such goings-on. He had no recollection of them. He was sure he was not a bad man when he drank, and he asked that his brother be called to testify as to his peacefulness.

His brother corroborated Mrs. Baker's testimony as to Orren's tantrum tendencies with a completeness that took the prisoner's breath away. He shook his head feebly when Judge Runyon asked him ironically if he had any more witnesses he wanted to call.

"Baker, I would like to go at you good and hard," said the magistrate. "I would like to send you down the line, but I am prevented from doing that by the fact that if I did the support of your household would be removed. I will hang a fine of $20 over your head, and create what is, in effect, a peace bond. If you come before me again on any such charge, I will drop the $20 on you and a fine for the new offense in addition."

YOUNG WIDOW'S EARNINGS ARE TAKEN BY A THIEF.

Burglar Gets $200 at Westfield—Mayor Offers a Reward.

Mrs. William H. Woodhead, a young widow, who succeeded her husband as agent for the Union News Company's stand at Garwood, was robbed of $200 Saturday night at 8 o'clock. Mrs. Woodhead boards at the home of George Colwell, in Westfield avenue, Westfield, and the thief gained an entrance to the house, and, taking the money, made good his escape.

Neighbors noticed a man running toward the deserted plant of the American Coffee Extraction Company, a half mile distant from the scene of the robbery. The police of the surrounding towns are searching for the thief, who is described as a young man about five feet tall, wearing a black slouch hat and light overcoat. The description of the man answers that of the assailant of George Colwell of last Thursday night, when he was knocked down outside the home which was robbed Saturday night. Colwell was knocked insensible and the thief got away with $60. A reward of $100 is offered by Mayor Winslow for the capture of the chief.

Fell Down Stairway.

In walking through the hallway at her home on West Front street, early yesterday morning, Miss Mary Muldoon tripped and fell down the stairway to a landing a few steps from the lower floor. She was rendered unconscious and remained where she had fallen for half an hour, the other members of the family being asleep. When she regained her senses she managed to make her way to her room but every step caused her excruciating pain. Although not seriously hurt, she is confined to the house today.

Fell From Coach Seat.

FOUR COUNCILS PRESENT

Minister Spoke on the Three Principles of the Order—Patriotic Selections Sung.

"The Training of American Citizens" was the subject of a stirring address delivered at the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, last night, by the pastor before the Jr. O. U. A. M., of the city. Over 200 members of Franklin, Somerset, Benevolent and Plainfield Councils, Jr. O. U. A. M., attended the service in a body, and the crowd was so great that it was impossible to seat them all.

Mr. Roberson, who is a member of the order and councilor of Branchburg Council, of North Branch, addressed 1,200 Juniors of Essex county in Wallace Hall, Newark, in the afternoon, returning in time to speak at last night's service.

The pastor took for his text the three principles of the order, virtue, liberty and patriotism. He declared that the members are particularly fitted to train American citizens. The public school system of America came in for his warmest praise, and he spoke heartily in favor of the reading of the Bible in the public schools, not for sectarian purposes, he said, but for the moral influence, which he said would be felt for all time. In conclusion he spoke of patriotism and of the strong love of the flag as evidenced by the members of the order who aim to have one floated from the top of every school house.

During the service the church choir rendered an anthem and also sang patriotic songs. The church was appropriately decorated for the occasion with American flags, arranged about the pulpit and platform.

This is the first game played by P. H. S. with an out-of-town team and the victory has encouraged the local team very much. The local line-up:

The Story of a Pig.

Last Saturday a woman, charged with stealing a pig, was tried in the Somerset County Court at Somerville. Her name was Mary Regner and she came from Franklin Park. Her neighbor, Fred. Rule, had a pig, which she said trespassed on her premises and rooted about so much that she was obliged to lock it up to preserve her property. Rule claimed she shut the pig up with a view of appropriating the porker to her own use, but the jury thought otherwise and acquitted her.

NEWS IN THE SUBURBS.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY

The recount of the collectorship vote will take place at New Brunswick tomorrow. I. J. Stites called on John Moynihan last week, and assured him that the move had been made wholly as a matter of principle. Mr. Stites said he fully realized that the recount might destroy every shadow of claim he had to the office, but it was certain, at least, that after the count election officers in the borough would know more surely in future years what were and what were not marked ballots. If Mr. Moynihan won, Mr. Stites assured the Democratic candidate, he was to consider that Mr. Stites had come to him and congratulated him first, which is what he, Mr. Stites, would desire to do.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD

Thanksgiving exercises will be held at the school Wednesday. Principal D. T. Hendrickson has arranged a programme for the day which will be an innovation for the local school. In the morning the scholars will gather in the assembly room and enjoy a programme of song, the President's Thanksgiving proclamation will be read and the scholars will be told why the head of the nation appoints one day in the year when the whole country unite in giving thanks for the blessings of the year. Each scholar will bring something in the way of a Thanksgiving offering either fruit of the harvest, groceries, or something that will make some one's life a little brighter, as the donations will later be distributed among the poor. The parents and friends of the school are invited to the school in the afternoon to see the scholars in their work and the results being obtained from the methods used. The regular session will be held the same as on any regular school day. Principal Hendrickson believes that in getting the parents to attend a school session and see the scholars at their work will bring the teacher closer to the scholar through the parents and even better work will be accomplished. Every one who is interested in the school and can possibly attend the afternoon session should do so.

The greater part of the work is being done by volunteer labor, the members turning out evenings, and each one is having some part in the work.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

GOLF.

Dave Shay, who has been the successful manager at the Plainfield Country Club, this season, will leave next month for Georgia, where on January 1 he will assume the management of the Jekyl Island Club, one of the largest and most popular winter resorts in the south. Mr. Shay has made many friends since coming to Plainfield and in the management of the affairs at the Plainfield Country Club he has given general satisfaction, the season being the best financially in its history. Mr. Shay will remain at the Jekyl Island Club until April 1, when he expects to return to the Plainfield Country Club.

There was something new in the tournament line Thursday at the Englewood Golf Club. This was a competition arranged by the associate members that they called a "monkey tournament." The conditions brought out as much fun as a whole shipload of monkeys—hence the title. It was between teams of five, each team to use but one ball. The respective captains drove off with brasseys. The second players used midirons, the third mashies, the fourth, no matter what the lie was, had to use niblicks, while the fifth players used putters. Then they started the sequence over again and kept it up throughout, on a couple of tees the luck forcing the players to drive off with niblicks while some of the putting was with brasseys. Mrs. L. A. Callan's team won. There was a luncheon afterward in the clubhouse which was as jolly as the tournament. Besides Mrs. Callan, the players included Mrs. E. F. Sanford, Mrs. Cunningham, Mrs. Brooks, Mrs. Bradley, Mrs. S. F. Lefferts, Miss Cunningham, Miss Galloway and Miss M. Barber.

The Eastern Professional Golfers' Association will give a dinner on Monday evening, December 31, to usher in the New Year. The committee in charge consists of George Low, Baltusrol Golf Club; Stewart Gardner, Garden City Golf Club, and George Strath, Crescent A. C.

The board of governors of the American Golf Association of Advertising Interests has decided not to hold a tournament at Pinehurst this winter. As a substitute the board has suggested the formation of a committee of Eastern advertisers and advertising men to arrange for a tournament at Pinehurst on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, January 14, 15 and 16. This would immediately precede the third annual midwinter tournament to be held at Pinehurst on January 17, 18 and 19, and incidentally give the advertisers an opportunity to put in an entire week of golf. There were seventy-eight players entered in last year's tournament at Pinehurst.

The time honored intercity match between Montreal and Quebec was played recently in the former's links. Montreal won by a score of 22 to 2.

John Baker has retained his title as champion of the Arsdale Golf Club. He defeated D. C. Nale by 10 up and 9 to play in the thirty-six-hole final round.

Alec Cunningham, the professional of the Glen Ridge Golf Club, sailed for Scotland yesterday. He will return to Glen Ridge in the spring. George Low, the Baltusrol "pro," is going abroad shortly.

On Thursday, Thanksgiving Day, the season will close at the Plainfield Country Club with a cross country golf tournament. This will be the final event in the season's schedule and the clubhouse will close after the day's play.

The season's schedule at the Plainfield Country Club was one of the best ever arranged. It provided generously for every class and there was more than the usual interest in every event. Valuable prizes were offered, making it an incentive for the members to do their best in playing the game.

Many new cups will have to be offered by the Plainfield Country Club next season, as a majority of those put up last season and this have become the permanent property of successful players.

The idea of arranging more team matches next season is generally approved by local golf players, who believe that they will lend interest and rivalry to the game not secured in any other way.

Considerable interest is being shown in the annual meeting of the Metropolitan Golf Association to be held soon. Leighton Calkins, of this city, who is secretary of the association, will undoubtedly be re-elected.

At the annual meeting of the Plainfield Country Club to be held in February, besides electing officers, considerable time will be devoted to discussing plans for next season. It is understood that the club has extensive plans under consideration which will add still further to the enjoyment and convenience of the members. One important matter to be decided will be that in reference to installing an independent lighting plant in the clubhouse.

The members of the Eastern Professional Golfers' Association are perfecting details for a banquet to be held soon in New York, when there will be considered matters looking to the interests of the association.

FOOTBALL.

Three captains for next season already have been elected. Two of them are line men and one a back. Wesleyan's new leader is Taylor, the big guard. Exeter has chosen White, the tackle, and Andover's new captain is Merritt, the quarterback.

Princeton's losses by graduation affect the centre of the line mostly. Cooney and Herring, the tackles, and Capt. Dillon, guard, have finished their football and college course. Of the substitutes, Rheinstein, guard; Martin, guard; Larson, guard, and Daub, guard, tackle and halfback, will be graduated next June; Stanard, guard, and Phillips, centre, are left over. Better work may be expected of both next season, Phillips being particularly promising as a centre. Whaley and Waller are good substitutes who are left, and McFayden, of the freshman team, will make a strong bid for a line position. McFayden was a star prep school player. One of the ends, Hoagland, will be graduated next summer, but Princeton has excellent end material left in Wister, Warden and O'Brien. The regular back field, E. Dillon, Rulon-Miller, Harlan and McCormick, goes over intact. Tenney, the sub quarterback, leaves, but Down, the second sub quarter, remains. There is a lot of other good back field material, including Tibbot, Coxe, Little, Cass, Pfeiffer and Stoever.

Charles Daly, the former Harvard and West Point quarterback and a member of the rules committee, has undergone a change of heart. "I opposed more changes in the football rules than any member of the committee," he says, "but I am now satisfied that the game is much improved. It certainly is better sport, and injuries have been cut down tremendously."

For the first time in many years neither the President nor the head of the War or Navy Department will attend the West Point-Annapolis football game at Franklin Field, Philadelphia, on December 1. Pressure of official business will prevent them going. Assistant Secretaries Oliver and Newberry will represent the army and navy respectively in their official capacities at the game.

This afternoon the N. P. H. S. eleven will try conclusions with the Rahway High School eleven at Rahway. A large crowd of rooters will accompany the local team.

W. N. Elder, of Brooklyn, has been elected captain of Williams College football team for next year. Elder was an end on this year's eleven.

Mountford and R. D. Johnston are fighting it out hard for quarterback position at West Point. Both men were tried out in the scrimmage with the scrubs Friday, but neither showed the form desired by the coaches.

The Reliance football eleven of Mahanoy City and the Emerald team of Shenandoah have been matched to play a game at Hazleton, Saturday, December 8, for $500. Lafayette and Pennsylvania universities have been asked to furnish officials for the game.

For the first time in a number of years the annual gridiron battle between the army and navy teams will not be attended by the President. President Roosevelt will be unable to attend the function this year, but will be represented by the Secretary of War and the Secretary of the Navy.

Trainer Jack McMasters, of Annapolis, is confident that the navy eleven is on edge for West Point, and from now on until the game only light work will be indulged in.

Cornell is putting in hard work in its preparatory work for the battle with Pennsylvania on Thanksgiving Day. Cosgrave, Earle and Gibson are rehearsing a running play, which it is expected will dazzle the ends of Pennsylvania. The play is another invention of Coach Warner, and has not been tried so far this season.

Regarding the controversy on whether a line man may run with the ball from his position in the line, Prof. Dennis, chairman of the rules committee, says positively that in his opinion "a guard or tackle may run with the ball from his position in the line." Prof. Dennis' view is the sensible view. There is no reason why such a good play should be prohibited, though technically the rules may read otherwise. But so far as the use of the play by Pennsylvania against Michigan had any bearing on Pennsylvania's victory a mountain is being made of a molehill. The play was merely incidental to, not necessary to, Pennsylvania's success.

Newark's Greatest Holiday Store

IS READY FOR HIM!

FOR weeks boxes and bales and casks of Holiday Goods have been pouring into our receiving room, and as rapidly as they could be checkt, markt and placed they have been brought forward. Day by day the displays in every department in which gift things are sold have been growing into the fulness of holiday bloom and the store has for some time lookt very much as you expect it to look in the midst of the holiday season. Now we are ready to announce that everything is in readiness.

The store never held such gigantic stocks, never displayed such a multitude of gift things, never showed such a variety, never had such splendid facilities for transacting the enoromus business sure to come to us this season.

A vast army of employees—force augmented by more than our regular extra helpers, are eager for the a thousand ahead. We never had a more busy times in- telligent lot of salespeople, and we hope to serve you better than we ever have. Several hundred people will be employed in the delivery department alone and probably 150 wagons will be utilized to deliver goods to their destination.

The great store with its wide aisles, easy stairways, safe and rapid elevators, many entrances and exits, equipt with every appliance to prevent and make impossible a fire, is by odds the safest, as well as the most comfortable of holiday stores. There is no store in Newark to compare with it.

The illuminations will, as always, be beautiful and the great Giant Santa Claus will greet the children in the Grand Aisle.

The real Santa Claus will be here from December 3 till Christmas, when the little children may visit him and send in their requests for the things they would like to find about the tree or in their stockings on Christmas morning. Santa Claus will also give every little visitor a free gift.

Plainfield, N. J., November 26, 1906.

FRUITS OF VOORHEES ACT.

More than half a million dollars will be received this year by the various taxing districts of the State from public utility corporations under the Voorhees tax act of 1900. Of this aggregate, $36,280.41 comes to Union county; $4,684.08 to Somerset, and $15,821.43 to Middlesex. The city of Plainfield will receive considerably more than the entire county of Somerset, for this municipality is entitled to $4,844.31. The gross receipts of all corporations in the class for 1905 was $26,030,069.61, which makes the total tax levy just $529,601.44.

This big sum represents two per cent. on the gross earnings of the corporations to which the Voorhees act applies. It is inoperative in all cases where a higher tax is exacted by local authorities. The corporations assessed in such manner include those handling such utilities as street railways, water, gas and electric light, telegraph, telephone, sewer, oil and pipe lines. The amount which they must pay this year shows an increase in gross earnings over the preceding year of $2,085,459.76, and an increase in the tax of $41,709.17.

Beginning January 1 next all this class of corporations will be taxed under the act of 1906 at 2½ per cent. of their earnings, the tax being increased thereafter at the rate of one-half of one per cent. a year until it reaches five per cent., which is the maximum rate provided in the act.

This is one of the times when Hon. Charles Reed, of Somerset, will not be consulted concerning the United States Senatorship.—Trenton True American.

Are you qute sure about that, brother?

A New Brunswick man has made good his promise to buy an ambulance for a hospital in that place. That reminds us; did not some one promise a library to Elizabeth once upon a time?

Plainfield will receive $4,844.31 this year from corporations using its streets for tracks, conduits, wires and the like. That's just $1,472.39 more than New Brunswick will get.

Seven years absence without being heard from is presumptive evidence of death in this State. This does not apply to political life.

Caruso has learned that the ideas of morality in this country are quite different from what they are in Europe.

Haven't heard of our Senator being "whipped into line" yet, have you?

Gold Vein Ten Miles Long.

North Battleford, Sask, Canada, Nov. 26.—Gold, in what appears to be immense quantities, has been discovered at Birling, forty-two miles west of here. The discovery was made by an old prospector of the name of Hughes, who sent samples taken at random over a square mile of territory, to the assaying office at Ottawa. The report came back that his dirt had assayed $55 to a ton—a vein of immense richness. According to Hughes the vein extends for ten miles and is over a mile wide. So thick is the metal that flakes sprinkled through the rock can be seen with the naked eye. Hughes says the find is so rich that he expects to see twenty thousand prospectors in the valley within the next twelve months.

Bear Killed Hunter.

Dubois, Pa., Nov. 26.—A party of hunters arriving here yesterday from the mountains of Elk county bring an account of the killing of John Dielt, aged eighteen years, by a bear on Saturday. Dielt had shot the bear and went up to bleed the animal, thinking it dead. The bear arose, tore off one of the hunter's legs, one of his arms and then killed him.

By Tom Muir.

The comic supplement musical comedy "Panhandle Pete," which had its premiere in this city, has disbanded permanently. James Harrigan, the tramp juggler who played the title role, has returned to vaudeville and is at Keith & Proctor's Fifth Avenue theatre this week.

When Dan Sully comes to Plainfield a week from Saturday in his new play, "The Matchmaker," the production will be under the auspices of Watchung Council, Knights of Columbus. The lodge was highly successful in its presentation of Andrew Mack and secured Mr. Sully at the request of scores of his admirers who remember his work in "The Parish Priest" and other dramas.

It was an accident in the East river last summer, when a laborer in the Pennsylvania Railroad tunnel was blasted up through mud and water from the tunnel to the surface, that furnished the idea for the central feature of "Neptune's Daughter," to be produced at the Hippodrome for the first time Wednesday night. Every one remembers the story of the marvellous escape of this laborer, who, while working in an air chamber at the end of the Pennsylvania tunnel, near Long Island City, was caught in an immense air bubble that made its escape through the mud and water to the surface, fifty feet above. He was projected by the air and literally forced to the surface. The laborer who went through this remarkable experience declared that he would not do it for thousands of dollars, but much the same thing will be done at the Hippodrome twice daily when King Neptune and twenty-four mermaids come up through the bottom of the tank of the Hippodrome ten feet of water. If the Hippodrome management could find the particular Italian laborer who went through this remarkable experience in the East river they would be glad to send him up through the Hippodrome tank to show him how easily it can be done when managed in a scientifis way. H. L. Bowdoin, a civil engineer, who was connected with the building of the Pennsylvania Railroad tunnel in the East river and who is well known to Plainfielders, is the inventor of the device to be used at the Hippodrome Wednesday night for the first time.

Musically "The Student King," which will be at the New Plainfield theatre next Saturday afternoon and night, is possibly the biggest thing in the way of an opera score Reginald De Koven has ever done. It is technically "comic opera" because the dialogue is spoken, but Mr. De Koven's own classification of "light opera" fits it most correctly. He has striven for and obtained a good grade of music and employed with good judgment the nice discrimination certain distinctively national dance forms and songs, and it is safe to assert that here as in other places the most pronounced successes will be numbers of the better class which have the national or student colors. The beautiful costumes, novel scenic effects and a large chorus form a picturesque setting for this tuneful musical romance. The cast includes Lins Abarbanell, the former grand opera prima donno, Henry Coote, the sweet voiced tenor, Flavia Arcaro, Gustav von Seyffertitz, Alexander Clark, the well-known comedian, Ditmar Poppin, Thomas Leary, Eva Fallon and others.

New York Gamblers Scared.

New York, Nov. 26.—Sorry times have come for the poolroom men, for in the last ten days it has developed that District Attorney Jerome's threat that he would break the neck of gambling in this city or it would break his neck is certain to have a favorable outcome for him, with little likelihood of the alternative coming to pass. Nor are the poolroom men the only violators of the law who scent trouble ahead. The gamblers themselves will have their day of woe soon, more particularly those who promised Mr. Jerome a year ago that they would close their dens after he had seized their paraphernalia and had sent it up in smoke. Between the grindstones of the Dowling act and the recent law as to perjury passed at the instance of the Armstrong Investigating Committee the District Attorney has the poolroom men and the gamblers caught so that there is small chance of their squirming to safety.

Centennarian Makes Speech.

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 26.—Mrs. Susan Askey celebrated yesterday her one hundred and first birthday, and her sixty-seventh anniversary as member of the Methodist Episcopal church, by going to the North Avenue church in Dr. George Young's automobile and making an address to the congregation. The Rev. William Osborne, pastor emeritus, and an octogenarian, paid a graceful tribute to the aged woman and her religious life.

Hindoos Perish From Cold.

Spokane, Wash., Nov. 26.—Word came yesterday from British Columbia that the Hindoos imported to work on railroad construction are suffering intensely from not being provided with clothing suited to this climate. It is said several of the men have perished and that low temperatures and thin garments are the cause.

Will Sell White Man.

He was tried last week and convicted, being found by the verdict "strong, able bodied, with no visible means of support and too lazy to work."

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

Miss Florence Gale, the talented and beautiful young actress in Shakespeare's love tragedy, "Romeo and Juliet," will be the attraction at the New Plainfield theatre this afternoon and tonight.

The Brothers Byrne, those ever popular and well known pantomimists, will appear in their great success, the new "Eight Bells," at the New Plainfield theatre tomorrow night. In presenting "Eight Bells" to our theatre patrons this season, the Brothers Byrne have expended over $20,000 in new scenery, mechanical effects and stage paraphernalia. They intend giving one of the best and most complete pantomimic comedies on the stage. The reputation they have gained for themselves has been done through hard and faithful work, and for this reason they have been able to keep the confidence of the people. "Eight Bells" is a startling revelation in stage craft. John F. Byrne has invented a number of new and surprising tricks which mystify the audience. The scenery is surprisingly beautiful and the mechanical effects wonderful. Don't miss seeing the Brothers Byrne in the new "Eight Bells."

Few people in the East can appreciate what life is on the plains, especially regarding the districts where cattle raising is the chief industry. It is a notorious fact that ranch owners are continually having trouble with the wholesale cattle stealing by outlaw ranch workers, who after robbing their owners of the stock sell them to the beef trust at a price below that which the owners themselves can sell, the results from this have been to the effect that the Trust now has set a price to the ranch owners far below the cost of raising. All these incidents and others of trying character are shown in the play of "Montana" which is to be seen at the New Plainfield theatre on Thanksgiving afternoon and night. Two car-loads of scenery, four horses and twenty people are required in this production.

An event of more than usual musical importance will be the presentation at the New Plainfield theatre next Saturday afternoon and evening of the new opera, "The Student King," by Reginald De Koven, Frederick Rankin and Stanislaus Stange. Henry W. Savage, the well-known impressario, presented this opera for the first time in Chicago last spring, where it met with an instantaneous and overwhelming success and ran until the first of July at the Studebaker theatre, after which the Boston theatregoers were most enthusiastic in its reception in its late run there. Mr. Savage has supreme confidence in "The Student King' and has given it a production sumptuous in every detail. The scenery, painted by Walter Burridge, is rarely beautiful, while the costumes from designs by Conelli, of London, are exquisite in coloring and absolutely correct as regards the period.

William Harris, of Philadelphia, has returned home after spending several days with relatives in this city.

Mrs. Walter C. Dobbins, of West End avenue, has returned from a visit with her father and sister at East Millstone.

Thomas A. Chuck, Sr., who is steward of the port at Newport News, Va., visited his family in this city, yesterday, preparatory to their removal to Newport News.

Mrs. Inez Lord, department president of the Women's Relief Corps, who has been visiting Mrs. William C. Smith, of Grandview avenue, has returned to her home in Paterson.

Open Evenings from Monday, Dec. 17th, to Monday, Dec. 24th, inclusive. Closed Wednesday 6 p. m. as usual, and all day Thursday (Thanksgiving).

A FACT PROVEN.

Could Convince Even the Most Skeptical of Its Truth.

If there is the slightest doubt in the minds of any that Dandruff germs do not exist, their belief is compelled by the fact that a rabbit innoculated with the germs became bald in six weeks' time. It must be apparent to any person therefore that the only prevention of baldness is the destruction of the germ—which act is successfully accomplished in one hundred per cent. of cases by the application of Newbro's Herpicide.

Dandruff is caused by the same germ which causes baldness and can be prevented with the same remedy—Newbro's Herpicide.

Accept no substitute. "Destroy the cause you remove the effect."

These papers were mounted between glass and hang in the Reading Room.

Football and General Sports

FOOTBALL.

A close student of football and its developments makes the observation that much as the game has improved under the new rules too much stress still is put on weight. Yet he calls attention to the fact that little men have been more prominent on the gridiron than big men this season, which is one indication that the new rules are a step in the right direction. Players below the average football weight who have shone this season are Knox, of Yale; Starr, of Harvard; E. Dillon, of Princeton; Eckersall, of Chicago; Mayhew, of Brown; Bishop, of Michigan, and Lawrence, of Pennsylvania; and there are a dozen or more players just a shade above these in weight who have had more chance to show their worth with the changed order of things.

Changes suggested for next year are of two kinds. One would mean a partial return to the old game, a partial restoration of the massing, slamming formations of last year. The other is an amplification of the more open game of this year. To restore the five yard rule when the teams are inside the 25 to 15 yarl lines would bring about the first named condition, and a good many persons whose interest in the sport has been revived would look on it as a step backward—not a move along the lines of progress. Any proposed change needs a stronger argument than that it would increase scoring to support it, especially in view of the great decrease in the number of serious accidents which the ten yard rule and other reforms have accomplished.

ALIS LOST A HARD GAME TO DUNELLEN

CRIPPLED BY PHILLIPS' ABSENCE AND HER DEFENCE TOPPLED IN 2ND HALF.

Broken by the loss of their snappy quarterback in the second half, Alis fell before Dunellen Saturday afternoon, and the tie left by the game of the Saturday before was ended by an inglorious victory. Phillips, the quarter, was knocked out of the game and there was no one to put in his place in the second half. The weakness that resulted gave Dunellen her chance, and she scored two goals. The score was 12 to 0.

Alis played the better game, team for team, and she deserved better luck. This is said, without taking any of the well-deserved credit due the winners from strong, steady playing.

Maltby made both goals. He was forced over the line for the first touchdown, and made the second on a fifteen-yard run.

The line-up:

DUNELLEN.		AVIS.
Smalley, Lake	ueft end.	Manning
Loughlin	left quarter.	Joseph
Peters	Centre.	McLoughlin

$30,000 FIRE IN NEWARK.

Japanning Department of Leather Company's Works Destroyed.

A loss of $30,000 was sustained by the Radel & Mentz Leather Company, of Newark, by a fire early yesterday that destroyed the japanning department of the company's plant, together with all its contents.

The works of the concern are located in Avenue L, in the eastern end of the city, on the border of the Elizabeth meadows. The plant is comparatively new and the buildings all of frame. The japanning department structure that stood apart from the rest of the buildings, and to this fact was due the saving of the plant from complete destruction.

No Scores Posted Saturday.

No scores were posted for the November handicap cup at the Plainfield Country Club on Saturday, neither were the final matches played for the consolation and inconsolables' cups. It was decided to extend the play until Thanksgiving Day for the handicap cup and the final for the other cups will be played that day in conjunction with the cross country tournament, which will wind up the active season. There was a large field on the court Saturday taking part in general play, but no scores were returned for the day.

Newarkers Fail to Appear.

The association football game scheduled for Saturday on the Clinton avenue grounds between the Plainfield eleven and the Crescent Field Club, of Newark, was not played, the Newarkers failing to appear. No reason is given as to the failure of the opposing eleven to come to this city. Next Saturday afternoon the Plainfield team will play the eleven from the Steamship Oceanic, and a fine contest is anticipated. After the game the visitors will be entertained by Manager Fred Wharton.

Jersey Central's Freight Pier.

The general contract for the erection of a new freight pier for the Central Railroad of New Jersey at the Communipaw terminal was awarded Thursday by Chief Engineer Joseph O. Osgood, of this city, to W. H. Jenks, of 129 Pearl street, New York. The pier will be of all-steel construction and will be absolutely fireproof. It will be 900 feet long and 58 feet wide, with a bulkhead of 2,000 feet and will cost about $200,000. This contract is but part of a gigantic plan of the Central's to establish a new yard by the reclamation of a portion of meadow land in the Greenville section, a new passenger yard at Communipaw and a new round house. Contractors are now at work filling in New York bay on the Communipaw shore in order to secure more land to carry out the plans mapped out.

Bound Brook's National Bank.

Another National bank is to be organized at Bound Brook Thursday evening. The capital stock has been placed at $50,000 and up to today over $30,000 worth had been subscribed for. The new bank will be officered entirely by the business men of Bound Brook, who are pushing the scheme, on the ground that the present National bank does not afford sufficient accommodation and is too independent. It is said that one-third of the banking business of the place is now done at Somerville and Plainfield and most of this will be given to the new bank, thus insuring its success at the outset.

Smashes Auto For Dog.

Ossining, N. Y., Nov. 26.—A New York chauffeur yesterday afternoon, while passing through this village, had to choose between running his automobile into an obstruction or killing a dog, and he saved the dog. Several persons were in the machine, which was going south. In the village the dog ran out and tried to snap at one of the front tires. To avoid killing the animal the driver swung his machine into a lamppost. The car was so badly smashed it had to be left at a garage here for repairs. No one was hurt.

Patrick's Fate In Doubt.

New York, Nov. 26.—Persistent reports that Governor Higgins will, before he leaves office, commute to life imprisonment the sentence of Albert T. Patrick, convicted of the murder of William Marsh Rice, could not be verified yesterday through either the Governor himself or Mrs. Patrick, who is now in this city. When seen at his home in Olean, N. Y., Governor Higgins said the story that he would take any action in the case lacked authority.

Horses Escape Incineration.

New York, Nov. 26.—Twenty-one horses were saved from a fire, to the amazement of their owners and the firemen, at a blaze early yesterday morning in Nos. 426 and 426 East Seventy-fifth street, which threatened the lives of 200 persons in an adjoining tenement house. When the flames were under control, all the horses were found in the basement, belly deep in water, and on the back of one of them sat the stable cat.

Mrs. Higham's Funeral.

The funeral of Mrs. Richard Higham, mother of former Councilman J. Stephen Higham, was held at her late home on West Fourth street, Saturday afternoon. Rev. E. E. Roberson, pastor of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, officiate in the presence of a large gathering of relatives and friends. Interment was made in Hillside cemetery.

In Somerset Court.

The September term of the Somerset County Courts is about completed. The petit jurors have been discharged. On Friday a batch of convicted prisoners will be sentenced.

—There will be a rehearsal of the Plainfield Philharmonic Orchestra in G. A. R. Hall tonight at 8 o'clock. New members of fair musical ability are invited to join.

"MRS. ANN" BETTS, AGED 103, BURIED

FUNERAL OF AUNT OF G.L.VANEMBURGH YESTERDAY.

Funeral services of the late Mrs. Ann Betts, well-known as "Aunt Ann," who died at her home in East Orange, Friday, at the age of 103 years, were held from the home yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock, and were largely attended. Mrs. Betts was an aunt of George L. VanEmburgh, of East Second street, being his father's sister. She was born at Gravesend, L. I.; spent her early days there, moved to New York, where she lived for many years and then settled at East Orange.

The services were conducted by Rev. Dr. Meeker, pastor of the Methodist church, of East Orange. Dr. Meeker referred to a long talk he had with Mrs. Betts a short time before her death, when she expressed her interest in the work of the Master. Just before her death she requested Dr. Meeker to ask the Heavenly Father if He would not call her His own.

Mrs. Betts was a twin, her sister, Rachel Betts, dying about twenty-five years ago. She was related to Alfred Speer, of Passaic. Mr. VanEmburgh was among those who attended the services yesterday.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. William Demarest, of Somerset street, is very ill.

Mrs. P. A. McVoy, of West Fourth street, is detained at home by illness.

Rev. and Mrs. J. O. McKelvey will attend the annual reunion of the McKelvey family at the home of his father, Rev. Alexander McKelvey, in Boonton, on Thanksgiving Day.

To Tell Next Year's Weather.

To predict weather a year in advance is teh latest feat that scientists are trying to accomplish according to John Elfreth Watkins. The Technical World Magazine for November contains an article by this writer in which he tells of the latest advances in weather forecasting and of the new U. S. Astdophysical Laboratory in Washington. Variations of the heat radiation of the sun are the basis for the new science of long-distance weather predicting; and special instruments have been devised to meet the requirements of this special work. One of the most interesting of these instruments is the bolometer, which will detect variations in temperature of the millionth part of a degree. Through the work of this branch of the Weather Bureau, the Government hopes to be able to tell the farmer whether or not he will have a wet, dry, warm, or cold season, so that he may regulate his crops accordingly. The aims and methods of this new science are given a very popular and interesting presentation and the article is well illustrated.

PERKINS GIVES WARNING

Legislature Should Behoove Voice of People Against John F. Dryden.

UNION IS UNANIMOUS

Legislators Are Responsible to the People—Mr. Perkins Feels Pulse of People.

Following up his announcement of last week, that he knew of fourteen legislators who are opposed to the re-election of John F. Dryden to the United States Senate, Assemblyman Randolph Perkins, of Union county, yesterday gave out a statement in which he outlined his reasons for opposing the return of Senator Dryden to the upper house of Congress. Last year he was the Republican leader in the House.

Perkins had this to say yesterday concerning the United States Senatorship:

"The opposition to John F. Dryden among the members of the Legislature is in no sense personal. It is political, and is based on an overwhelming public sentiment against his re-election to the United States Senate. This sentiment is as strong in Union county as to be almost unanimous.

"Since my attitude on the subject has been mentioned in the newspapers I have received many letters and have been spoken to by hundreds of persons on the subject, and excepting some of the so-called party leaders, there is not one person among those who have communicated with me who favor the re-election of Mr. Dryden.

"The voice of the people in this matter is so strong that it behooves the members of the Legislature to harken to it.

"In electing a United States Senator they must remember that they are exercising a function delegated to them by the people, and that they are responsible directly to the people for the manner in which they discharge their obligations. We are to elect a Senator to represent not the New Jersey Legislature but to represent the people of the State of New Jersey.

"If in spite of the demand for the election of a man truly representative, the Republican caucus forces the return of Mr. Dryden to the Senate, it will, in the judgment of many, lend plausibility to the charges made against the party, that it is controlled in favor of corporate and special interests, and has ceased to become the party of the people."

Assemblyman Peter Tillman was seen yesterday, and he gave his views on the Senatorial situation. He said:

"My position has not changed. I am for Governor Stokes for Senator. It is all in the hands of South Jersey, and South Jersey has the opportunity of sending one of its men to the Capitol. Though Governor Stokes has not come out as a candidate, I believe he would find a way of accepting the Senatorship."

Mr. Tillman said that whatever campaign was being conducted for Dryden was being carried on silently. He said that he himself had not been asked either before or since the election for his vote for a Senatorial candidate.

WILL DISCUSS SEWERS.

Street Committee Planning Improvements in West End.

The Councilmanic street committee, composed of William L. Gloak, chairman; Leslie M. Daniel, Daniel F. Ginna and Charles C. Randolph, will meet this week to take up several matters including the repair of West End avenue, on the city side. The street at present is below the proper grade and it is impossible for the several houses there to be connected with the sanitary sewer.

If possible the street committee would prefer to lay a sewer in the avenue and bring it up to the grade of the new bridge recently completed. On the borough side Mayor Smalley is having the avenue filled in on a level of the bridge and the work of macadamizing was started this week.

District Court.

There was only ten minutes to the District Court session this morning. Nelson Runyon was granted possession in his landlord and tenant case against Theodore Wilson, J. P. Emmons, agent, discontinued his action against Mary Sprague, Charles J. McNabb reported a settlement of his cantract case against Edward Reusch, and the rest of the calendar was laid over.

Birthday Surprise.

Miss Fannie Moldesky, of Liberty street, arranged a surprise party Sunday night in honor of her brother, Meyer Moldesky, who was twenty years old. There were about forty young people present. The evening was spent in dancing and at a late hour refreshments were served.

SCHOOL-DAYS ROMANCE TERMINATES IN MARRIAGE

JAMES BEISEL TAKES MISS CATHERINE ANTHONY FOR HIS BRIDE.

Announcement is made of the marriage of James Beisel, formerly of North Plainfield, and Miss Catherine Anthony, of Lehighton, Pa., which took place at the home of the bride on Monday, November 5. The ceremony was attended by a large company of relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Beisel are residing in Elizabeth for the present, but early in January they expect to return to Leighton, where Mr. Beisel will take a position in the Lehighton Bank where his father is cashier.

The bride was formerly a public school teacher at Lehighton, and the groom resided there before coming to Plainfield. He is well-known as a baseball player, having pitched for the Hobokens, Red Banks, Elizabeth and many Union county teams. He holds a position at present with the Equitable Life Assurance Company, of New York. Prior to his marriage he resided in the borough.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Beisel spent their school days at Lehighton, and when Mr. Beisel left home to work in New York they kept up a correspondence. Last summer Miss Anthony spent two or three weeks in Plainfield visiting Mr. Beisel and his friends. At that time the date for the wedding was determined upon.

NEW JERSEY'S BIGGEST PORKER IN NEW MARKET.

Weighs Nearly 1,000 Pounds; They Are Calling It Caruso Now.

Persons interested in the cultivation of porcine embonpoint, known in rural circles as fattenin' hogs, would get a bit of pleasureable excitement out of a visit to C. T. Rogers' barn in New Market. Mr. Rogers has a hog in one of the stalls that is the sort the visitors at a country fair talk about for months after the event.

It is the biggest hog in this section of the State, and Mr. Rogers does not believe there is anything in the pork line to match it in all New Jersey. The hog weighs nearly 1,000 pounds and will dress between 700 and 800 pounds. It will be slaughtered in January or February.

Mr. Rogers got the hog a year ago, when it was only about half its present size. The porcine patriarch—it is a boar—eats eighteen quarts of corn a day, and each rising of the sun finds it four pounds heavier. A week ago it took four men—strong men—to throw it. The New York papers reach New Market, and the Rogers family has taken to calling the hog Caruso.

Mr. Rogers is an expert hog raiser and chicken fancier. He is famed as a hog butcher in two States, having wielded the knife in his old home in Pennsylvania with marked success.

BOB ACRES.

One of Mr. Jefferson's Favorite Characters.

A unique field is reserved in Mr. Kierman, who recites "The Rivals," in the Casino early in December. That the great actor poses so completely even from the generation that knew him is a source of most keen regret. Countless thousands had no opportunity to see or listen to Booth. Pictures of his fine, strong face are scattered broadcast, anecdotes about him are gathered and preserved, and the imagination would gladly supply the art that created Booth's characters.

But it is here that misconception prevails. The complexity of Irving's processes will never be imagined correctly by the person who never heard him.

It seems hardly possible that Mr. Kierman can so hold Jefferson's Bob Acres before his imagination as to suggest it to us, yet it is said he does this. It is really a delightful idea which he does not frustrate by extraordinary assumption.

There is increasing interest in these recitals. They are to be given in the Casino December 11 and 18.

New School Accepted.

The Piscataway Board of Education accepted the new $20,000 schoolhouse at New Market yesterday afternoon, after a formal inspection. It is hoped to open the school next week. Appropriate exercises will mark the opening.

TURKEYS NOT SO HIGH

National Bird Brings From 25 to 30 Cents a Pound in Plainfield Today.

THANKSGIVING PRICES

Chickens from 18 to 25; Fowl 18 to 20; Ducks 20 to 25; Geese 18 to 20; Rabbits Scarce.

For no annual holiday feast is there available a more tempting array of eatables than confronts the housewife who sets about making a menu for the Thanksgiving dinner. At the head of the list, of course, stands the all important turkey. No other class of domestic poultry has come into such general use throughout the entire world as the chief feature of the repasts on the traditional feast days of the autumn and winter, and the demand for the fowl that temporarily displaces the eagle as our national bird is, if anything, even greater at Thanksgiving than at Christmas.

Thanksgiving turkeys are selling at twenty-five, twenty-six, twenty-eight, and thirty cents a pound in this city. The prices of chickens range from eighteen to twenty-two, and some dealers ask as high as twenty-five. The prevailing price of fowl is eighteen and twenty.

Some dealers are asking twenty-five cents for ducks; others twenty-four and twenty-two, and some even go as low as twenty. Geese are selling everywhere for eighteen and twenty. Rabbits seem to be a scarce article; with some dealers they bring seventy cents a pair, while others even ask a dollar twenty-five.

The turkey is a delicacy that the civilized world owes to America. However, it did not require any great length of time after the first explorers had returned home for the people of Europe to awake to the toothsome qualities of the bird and give it a place on their dinner tables. The first turkeys were transferred from Mexico to Europe in 1520, and by 1541 it had taken its place among the dainties in England, where as 30 years later it was the customary fare of the farmer. All present-day turkeys are the descendants of one of three main families. The North American wild turkey, the original Mexican turkey and the Honduras turkey, which was originally a native of Central America.

The general tendency during recent years has been toward higher prices for turkeys, and these advances have been the more readily obtainable since of late the supply of market turkeys has been much less in proportion to the demand than it was a few years ago. The average wholesale price of turkeys as recorded in New York for the past dozen years has ranged from 8 to 20 cents per pound, whereas Boston dealers have in some instances had to pay even higher prices, and in Chicago the prices have fluctuated from 6 to 18 cents.

That turkey-raising is not so universally followed in all rural communities as the average city dweller supposes it to be is well attested by the fact that, whereas there are more than five million farms in the United States, the annual crop of turkeys is not much over 6,500,000, or little more than one turkey to each farm.

BOROUGH SCHOOL MEETING.

Board Transacts Little More Than Routine Business at Session.

The Borough Board of Education held its regular monthly meeting, last night, but transacted little more than ordinary business. It was decided to erect two flag poles in front of the Somerset school for the flying of "Old Glory," and the clerk reported receiving $1,950 from the State for manual training work. Five hundred dollars was ordered borrowed to meet some current expenses.

The board has been hampered greatly in the past by derelict creditors who hold their bills until just before the meetings and a resolution was passed that hereafter all bills must be in the hands of the clerk at least a week before the regular sessions if they are to be paid that month.

Cut Boy With Stone.

Willie Pichter, a small boy who lives at 822 East Second street, was arraigned in the City Court this morning, charged with throwing a stone at Miss Mary Saull's young son, Harry, on Sunday. The Saull boy's face was half-hidden behind bandages alleged to be necessary for the mending of the cut and bruises inflicted by Willie's stone. The case was laid over pending a doctor's report as to the extent of Harry's injuries and the bill.

Thanksgiving for Poor.

A Thanksgiving dinner for twenty-five children will be served at 1 o'clock on Thursday afternoon at the Children's Home.

BUCKSHOT WAS PLENTIFUL

Two Boys With a Rifle Sent It Broadcast in the Borough.

NOW THEY'RE IN CELLS

Chief Weiss Captured Them After They Had Run Over the Brook on Madison Avenue.

Richard Sutton, of Chatham street, and George Minard, of North Front street, both twelve years old, got hold of an air rifle early this morning and started on a Wild West trip through the borough. Imagining that they were on the boundless prairie and that everything that came in sight was their's for the shooting, they sent buckshot in all directions. Several windows were peppered, a half dozen dogs that were unfortunate enough to drop around were sent away howling and one or two old men who couldn't run were stung in the nether extremities.

A grocery wagon came down Somerset street just about the time that the youngsters were feeling especially good and they took a shy at the horse. He pranced so airly when a couple of lead pellets nipped his flank that they were encouraged to go further and tried a few at the driver, a small boy. Their aim was poor, however, and they failed to hit him but determined that he should not get away without a souvenir of some sort from "Hank and Ike, the Boy Terrors of the Plains," they jumped in the back of the wagon. Then, when only a few feet from him, they struck him in the back of the head several times and keeled him over, the pain causing him to scream lustily. The horse took fright and ran up on the sidewalk, narrowly missing several people.

This episode attracted the attention of several men and Chief Weiss was notified but the shootists had anticipated some such move and they adjourned to the city side of the brook. After remaining over a half hour or so they returned and going down Somerset place, again began sending buckshot against front doors. The chief was on the lookout and by executing a flank move came up behind them but he was sighted just in time to give them a running start. They leaped over a couple of fences and got into Duer street, thence sped for the county line to get back to Plainfield again. Weiss was right behind them but they reached the Madison avenue bridge and crossed over before he could effect a capture.

They expected he would stop but greatly to their surprise the chief kept on and as a last heaven of refuge, Sutton ran into a hallway of the New Madison. When the officer followed and pounced upon him, he yelled:

"Don't you touch me, you can't arrest me over here."

Technically he was right but morally he was wrong and the strong arm of the law clutched his coat collar. Minard kept on up Madison avenue but his knees began to weaken just as Special Officer Richard MacDonald hove in sight and at Weiss' command made him a prisoner.

Both boys were escorted back into Somerset county thereby shattering their opinion of the city and borough dead line and its protection to lawbreakers. They were locked up in the borough jail and will be given a hearing tonight. The grocer's boy who suffered the most from their recklessness got away in the excitement but he will be notified in time for court tonight.

P. H. S. SECONDS DEFEATED.

Hope Chapel Boys Win by Score of 47 to 16.

The Plainfield High School seconds were defeated in basketball last night in the Hope chapel court by the team of the Hope Chapel Boys' Club, the final score being 47 to 16. Hunter, Mortimer and Synder, of the boys' club, played a fast game, the goals resulting from their clever pass-work. Briggs, Brakeley and Loizeaux, of P. H. S., also played well, making the greater number of goals for their team. The line-up:

P. H. S.—Briggs and Loizeaux, forwards; Bond, Osgood, Kyte, Titsworth and Parsons, guards; Brakeley, center.

Hope chapel—Hunter and Mortimer, forwards; Rimmer and Kenney, guards; Snyder, center.

Referee, Doane; umpire, Hunter; timer, Bogardus. Twenty and fifteen minute halves were played.

A Thoughtful Citizen.

William Wright, of West Front street, has ordered of Roth & Co., the butchers, 100 pounds of chickens to be sent to the Plainfield Relief Association to be distributed among the poor on Thanksgiving. This is Mr. Wright's donation to the association.

J. KIRTLAND MYERS DEAD

Vice-President of American Bank Note Company Succumbs Suddenly.

FORMER COUNCILMAN

Director of City National Bank and a Mason—Funeral Services Tomorrow Afternoon.

Following an illness of little more than a week with rheumatic trouble, Jared Kirtland Myers died suddenly at his home on East Seventh street at 6 o'clock last night. He had been improving during the day and was in unusually excellent spirits when a blood clot formed at the base of the brain and death followed within a very short time. Mrs. Myers was at his bedside when the end came. Apoplexy is defined as the cause as it came primarily.

Mr. Myers was vice president and one of the trustees of the American Bank Note Company, of New York, and was born in Plattsburg, N. Y., in 1843. The VonMoyers, his great-grandparents, came from the Hague, Holland, in Colonial times, and, landing at Perth Amboy, located in Herkimer, N. Y. The Kirtlands, the mother's family, came to America from England in Colonial times and settled near Saybrook, Conn. Their descendants were patriots in the Revolutionary struggle.

Lawrence Myers, the father of J. Kirtland Myers, was a merchant for half a century in Plattsburg, where he resided until his death in 1871. The mother died in 1864. William W. Myers, of Watchung avenue, is the only surviving brother.

J. Kirtland Myers received his education in the public schools of his native city, and subsequently spent several years in his father's store and office in Plattsburg. In 1864 he went to New York city and entered the office of I. B. Kirtland, banker, on Pine street, where he remained until 1869, when he commenced the bank note business. He removed to this city in 1867 and at the outset manifested an interest in all its affairs. He was recognized as a prominent and useful citizen and at all times was ready to bear his share of official duties. He served as a member of the Common Council and antagonized a certain element by doing all in his power to make Plainfield a no-license city. In 1871 he married Miss Mary A. Stillman, daughter of the late Dr. Charles H. Stillman, who was looked upon as one of Plainfield's foremost citizens and the man who perfected its school system. He leaves no family.

Mr. Myers was a member of the Sons of the Revolution, the Masonic order, and when it was in existence, was a member and enthusiastic supporter of the Union County Country Club. He was a member of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church and was a trustee for many years.

He was, for years, a member of the board of directors of the Public Library, retiring in the late eighties. He was a member of Alert Hose Company, at the time it went out of existence. He was a direction of the City National Bank.

The funeral will be held at his late home on East Seventh street tomorrow afternoon at 2:30.

BISHOP TO BE HONORED.

Knights of Columbus to Tender Reception and Banquet.

A reception and banquet is to be tendered to Bishop McFaul, of the Catholic Diocese of Trenton, on December 12, by the Knights of Columbus. Governor Stokes has accepted an invitation to attend and Governor-elect Higgins, of Rhode Island, who is a member of the order, has been invited to make an address. Edward Hearn, of Connecticut, the head of the order, will also speak.

Other speakers will be James Smith, Jr., of Newark, former United States Senator; James A. Hamill, Congressman-elect of the Tenth District; Senator Thomas J. Hillery, of Morris; Charles J. Barrett, State deputy of the Knights of Columbus, and Joseph Riordan, Assemblyman-elect of Hudson county. Representative Hamill, Senator Hillery and Assemblyman Riordan are all members of the order.

Dr. Lindsay Will Speak.

The annual meeting of the Organized Aid Association will be held at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, tonight. An important item of business will be the consideration of the question of consolidating with the Plainfield Relief Association. The meeting will also be addressed on the subject of "Child Labor," by Samuel McCune Lindsay, secretary of the National Child Labor Committee. Dr. Lindsay is professor of Political History in the University of Pennsylvania and is a very interesting speaker.

CHUCK BOYS LOOKING FOR THEIR PARENTS

MYSTERIOUS-SEEMING TELEGRAM SEPARATES FAMILY ON VERGE OF JOURNEY

Under orders from the commissary department of the United States Army, in which he serves, to act as port steward of Newport News, Va., Thomas A. Chuck, Sr., made arrangements yesterday to move his family from their home on West End avenue to the southern port.

Mr. and Mrs. Chuck left Plainfield yesterday morning, taking their youngest son, George, with them. The other two boys were given instructions to go to New York in the afternoon and meet their parents at the Jersey City terminal, from where they were to go to the Old Dominion Line pier.

While at the terminal in Jersey City, Charles says a man came out of the telegraph office and asked him his name. Upon giving it, he says, the man told him he had a telegram from his father, telling the boys to return to Plainfield, where their parents would meet them, it having been decided to sail today. Young Chuck says that the man failed to give him the telegram and he does not know where it came from.

John and Charles returned to Plainfield last night, to find no trace or word of their parents. Mr. and Mrs. Herbert M. Douglass, of West Front street, neighbors of the Chucks, finally took them in for the night. John went to New York this morning to look for his parents.

The family lived in Plainfield but a few months. Mr. Chuck, who has been in the U. S. Army for thirty years, was appointed steward of the port of New York several weeks ago.

A CHARITY PERFORMANCE AT PLAINFIELD THEATRE.

King's Daughters Arranging for Production of "Piff-Paff-Pouf," With Sixty People.

The Loyal Daughters' Circle, King's Daughters, has completed arrangements for the production of the big musical comedy, "Piff-Paff-Pouf," at the New Plainfield theatre on Thursday night, December 6, for the benefit of the city nurse, Cihldren's Home and Day Nursery.

This will afford the friends of the King's Daughters to witness a fine performance with a cast of sixty People, and thus help a good cause along. The committee will have the seats on sale at J. W. Gavett's store on West Front street, Thursday morning, December 6, from 9 to 12 o'clock noon.

CHARMING LUNCHEON.

Mrs. John Gray Foster Entertains at Plainfield Country Club.

Mrs. John Gray Foster gave a charming luncheon at the Plainfield Country Club, yesterday, in honor of Plainfield's first debutante of the season, Miss Margaret Mead, daughter of Mrs. Frederick Goodhue Mead. Miss Mead's coming out was a brilliant social event, being attended by over 400 society people from this city and out of town.

The luncheon yesterday was for twenty-eight young friends of Miss Mead, there being guests from New York, Elizabeth and this city. The dining room was made resplendent with a profusion of chrysanthemums, the table being especially attractive. It is expected that other luncheons and dinners will be given for Miss Mead within the coming week.

CHARITY BALL, DEC. 31

Preceeding the Affair at Casino "The Genius" Will Be Presented at Theatre.

PLANS ARE ELABORATE

Proceeds of the Undertaking Will Be Distributed Among the Local Charitable Institutions.

The annual charity ball will be held at the Casino on New Year's Eve, according to the plans of the promoters who held a meeting last night at Dr. F. C. Ard's home in Park avenue. It will be bigger and grander than ever, elaborate arrangements being now in the course of preparation. Preceding the ball, a performance will be given at the New Plainfield theatre. The tickets will admit to both the theatre and the Casino.

According to the plan mapped out, Nat Goodwin will appear in "The Genius," at the theatre, under the auspices of the charity ball committee. There will be a list of patronesses for this part of the programme as well as for the ball which will follow. The committees will be announced, it is said, in the course of a few days.

As usual the proceeds of the annual charity affair will be distributed among various local institutions, including the Children's Home, Muhlenberg Hospital, the Plainfield Relief Association and the Organized Aid Association. About $1,000 was cleared last year.

RUNAWAY RIG WRECKS THREE OTHER VEHICLES.

The Mix-Up Gives the Borough Some Real Excitement.

A horse belonging to J. W. Mundy, the carpenter, which has a penchant for running away, became frightened at something on upper Somerset street at 10:15 this morning and with a heavy wagon behind it started on a tear down the borough's Broadway. In the space of a few minutes it had wrecked several other vehicles and caused over $100 worth of damage.

Between Manning avenue and Pearl street, a half dozen drivers barely saved their rigs by crowding onto the sidewalk but after that affairs were not so fortunate. A two-wheeled cart belonging to William Jeffrey in which he commutes between here and New Providence, was standing in front of J. P. Homan's store. The runaway hit the rig squarely and dumped the whole thing in a heap. Jeffery's horse was turned completely around and breaking loose from the cart, ran up Somerset street with a pair of shafts dangling at its heels.

Mundy's animal continued on and bowled over a business wagon that stood in front of Homan's blacksmith shop. Neither collision interrupted its progress and after threading its way in and out among a string of other vehicles, it reached Front street and turned west. Just around the corner it struck a runabout belonging to C. A. Vincent, of Fanwood, which was near the curb, the driver having just stepped out of it. The Vincent rig was so badly damaged it had to be taken to a repair shop. Soon after that, Mundy's horse was captured and strangely enough it was practically unhurt.

After the Jeffery horse got started, it ran at a furious pace as far as Park place, where, in attempting to turn the corner, it got tangled in the shafts and was thrown over. Before it could get up John Deady, a trolley conductor, jumped from his car and caught it.

Jeffery's rig was practically demolished and the Vincent rig is in bad shape. The Homan wagon is the least damaged of the three.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

GOLF.

The Plainfield Country Club will finish up its season on Thanksgiving Day with a cross country tournament, final play for the November handicap cup, and the finals for the consolation and inconsolables' cups. It was decided to continue the play for the handicap cup until Thursday as no scores were posted on Saturday.

The Park Golf Club will hold its annual meeting early next year to elect officers and plan for the coming year. The club has had a successful season, financially and otherwise.

"Dave" Shay, the "pro" at the Westfield Golf Club, having resigned his place to accept one with a bigger club, it will be up to the club to secure another man. Several names have been considered, but decision not reached yet.

Practically all of the golf clubs in the metropolitan district have plans underway for extensive improvements before next season opens. This is evidence that the game is here to stay, else there would not be such a big outlay of money.

Somehting new in the way of golf competitions is to be tried at the Dyker Meadow Golf Club on Thanksgiving Day. F. J. Phillips, who for the last two years has been associated with Leighton Calkins on the Metropolitan Golf Association handicap committee, is a believer in the innovation, which is called a "three ball match play competition." Phillips is opposed to such novelties as the "kicker's" handicap, which tends to remove the first principles of good play—steady, persistent effort toward low scoring. The new event has been tried in England, and is a handicap affair where all the contestants play eighteen holes in three ball matches. The scoring is by points instead of holes. Six points are apportioned among the players of each match at each hole. The three players forming a match play upon their respective match play handicaps. By winning a hole a player receives four points, two points going to the second man and nothing to the third. If one wins and the other two halve the hole, the winner gets four points and the others one point each. If the two best at a hole halve they get three points each and the loser gets nothing, and if all halve the hole each receives two points. At the end of the round the player having the largest number of points wins the competition. It can be seen at a glance that it would be possible for a member of any team, provided he won every hole, to run up a total of 72 points. A large total in points might also be made by a man even though he went round at, say, a 90 gait, provided his two team mates happened to be off their game. On the other hand, the scratch man of the club, playing in some other set, might be going around in record figures, yet be so handicapped by clever team work on the part of his associates as only to succeed in returning an indifferent total. The system, however, has its good points. It is conducive to sociability, which so many of the tournament committees have been striving for of late. The four ball match is often found too slow and incidentally a source of constant annoyance to those who prefer to play round in twosomes.

BOWLING.

The Park Club bowling team will roll a return game on their alleys tonight with the Summit team.

The bowling committee of the Park Club is completing arrangements for ten-pin and cocked-hat bowling tournaments which will start the first of December. They will be conducted similar to handicap golf play, prizes being offered for the best medal and match play scores.

The Plainfield Bowling Academy team will bowl the Raritans on the latter's alleys tonight. Friday night the P. B. A.'s will take a try at Westfield.

Walter Vail made a new record for Klondyke at McLaughlin's Saturday night. In a game with Harry Radin he did some clever shooting and turned in a score of 46. By frames it ran as follows: 3-5-12-17-20-23-30-38-44-46.

The two-man tourney, which is to start at McLaughlin's in a short time, is attracting the local pin smashers and a number of good entries have already been made. Some of the teams that will compete for the prizes are Harry Radin and Harry Ackor, Francis J. Blatz and Harry VanEmburg, Vincent W. Nash, Jr., and Louis Skelly, George Koons and William Skinner, Frank Willett and Edward Britton, Charles F. Meyer, Jr., and Dan Mack. The tourney is limited to bowlers in Plainfield and its suburbs and "the more the merrier."

Since bowling has become a popular local sport once more, the game is attracting the attention of the fair sex. Heretofore the only team of women bowlers has been fostered by the Gesang and Turn Verein, but two other clubs have already made overtures for the use of McLaughlin's alleys once or twice a week. Before the winter is over it is possible a number of them will be in full swing.

Harry DeMeza was a happy man yesterday. For the first time in his life he made 225 and it came on him so suddenly he almost fainted. He thought he was quite some pumpkins as a smasher and has been afraid to try a game since for fear it might lower his average.

FOOTBALL.

Lovers of association football will have an exceptional opportunity on Saturday to see a fine game between the Plainfield eleven and the one from the Steamship Oceanic. The local team is putting up a very fast game now, and the strength of the steamship boys is well-known. The game will be played on the Clinton avenue grounds at the regular hour.

It can now be definitely stated that all athletic relations between Pennsylvania and Harvard are broken. The Quakers have become tired of the constant squibbling on the part of Harvard in ever athletic meet and it is officially announced that the relationship is at an end for good. Last week Harvard tried to make trouble with Yale in selecting referees for the Saturay's game, but the boys from New Haven promptly asserted themselves and further trouble was averted.

A big game is scheduled for Thursday in New York, when Fordham and Holy Cross will meet on the gridiron. This will give people in the metropolitan district a chance to see a fine contest.

The Alis eleven of this season will meet a team composed of old Alis players on Alis Common, Thursday.

(Other sporting news on page eight).

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

A Thanksgiving service will be held at the Park Avenue Baptist church tomorrow night. Rev. A. E. Finn will be in charge.

"The Best Lot the Common Lot," will be the subject of the prayer-meeting at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church tomorrow night.

The Women's Home Missionary Society of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, will meet in the chapel Friday afternoon from 2 to 5 o'clock.

The Men's Club, of the First Presbyterian church, will meet Wednesday night to make further plans for the dinner to be given early in December.

The primary department of the First Baptist church Sunday-school is planning for its annual Christmas festivities under the direction of Mrs. J. A. Powlison, superintendent.

Miss Louise Harral will lead the Christian Endeavor Society meeting at the Park Avenue Baptist church Friday night. The subject will be "Courage or Cowardice—Which?"

The Christmas committee of the Park Avenue Baptist church is preparing two programmes, one for Sunday afternoon, December 23, and the other to be given Thursday night, December 27.

Rev. Dr. Samuel McLanahan, chairman of the Synodical Committee of Home Missions in the Presbyterian church, and author of "Our Peoples of Foreign Speech," will speak before the Young People's Association of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, Friday night, on the subject of "The Immigrant in New Jersey."

Rev. A. C. McCrea, pastor of the First M. E. church, expects to have Bishop Thomas B. Neely, of Buenos Ayres, South America, speak at the morning service in his church next Sunday. The bishop possesses much information concerning the work in South America. He may remain for the evening service to address the Brotherhood.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the Park Avenue Baptist church is planning to send a Thanksgiving box to Mrs. A. Dassori, who is laboring among the Italian poor of Newark. Articles of provisions, of any kind, will be received, and should be sent to Mrs. Charles Dayton, chairman of the missionary commitee, or to Jos. M. Hawkins, president of the society.

Plainfield, N. J., November 27, 1906.

THE PEOPLE SAY STOKES.

A local Republican voter who sometimes poses in Trenton, it is said, as a Plainfield political leader, calmly announced at the State House not long since that there was no opposition to Mr. Dryden in this place. The discovery proved to be a source of amusement for the Union men who heard of it, but as it was known to be absolutely incorrect no attempt was made to disabuse the minds of the legislators of its absurdity.

The true state of affairs was told by Assemblyman Randolph Perkins yesterday when he said that Union county is almost unanimous against Mr. Dryden. Of course, Mr. Perkins did not mean to reflect the sentiment of the bosses. The recent primaries taught him that there are other men than leaders to reckon him and his interview conclusively proves that he is aware of the fact. The Westfielder has evidently been listening to the people of late or else he would not go out of his way to reiterate that he favors Governor Stokes for the Senatorial office because the people of Union county want him. Stokes is the choice of the people and if any legislator about the State doesn't believe it, we invite him to pay a visit here.

In the brief period of a quarter of a century, the Roman Catholic diocese of Trenton, to which St. Joseph's parish belongs, has made marvellous strides. When it was set apart in 1881, the new diocese contained sixty-nine churches, fifty-one priests and one hundred and four sisters. Today it has one hundred and forty churches, one hundred and fifty-four priests and three hundred and fifteen sisters. Well may the bishop, priests and laymen be proud of the great work that has been accomplished in spreading the faith.

A Cincinnati church has voted a salary for its pastor's wife. That's a sensible idea. In many cases the wife works as hard, and not infrequently harder, for the church's welfare than does the dominie himself. There are congregations in this vicinity that might do well by following the example of the Ohio flock.

The opening of the Metropolitan opera season last night was a big success judging from the space devoted in the New York papers to the gowns and diamonds. As an incident, mention was made of the opera itself.

PROPOSES UNIQUE EXHIBIT FOR JERSEY

FRANCIS B. LEE PLANS STRIKING CONTRASTS FOR JAMESTOWN EXPOSITION

If a plan suggested by Francis B. Lee, of Trenton, is adopted New Jersey's exhibit at the Tercentenary Exposition at Jamestown, Va., next year will not only be unique, but of great value. Mr. Lee, who is a student and writer on historical subjects, was asked by the State Exposition Commission to draft plans for New Jersey's exhibit, and he proposes to make the State's display one of object lessons presented by striking contrasts in the progress of the commonwealth.

Wallace M. Scudder, vice-president of the commission, has expressed himself as well pleased with the plan. He will submit it to the other members of the commission next week.

Mr. Lee proposes to line the walls of the State building with a series of ten maps, showing New Jersey's development from the days of its first settlement until the present day. Other maps will illustrate the historical events of great importance which have occurred in the State, including sketches of the routes followed by the American and British armies during the New Jersey campaign in the Revolutionary War.

"To emphasize more strongly the educational idea and to reduce to a minimum the morgue like character of historical museums, where objects are usually 'laid out' in cases, a series of 'contrast pictures' is suggested." Mr. Lee says in his report: "These could either be originals or reproductions. The plan would be to arrange these in series beneath the maps, giving the earliest and most recent views."

Among the subjects which Mr. Lee proposes to treat by the pictorial exhibit include the more important phases of the industrial life of the State, its traffic conditions, its shipping, its educational and governmental features and a number of events of historical interest. Mr. Lee suggests also that models be exhibited of the various Revolutionary monuments, such as Trenton, Monmouth, Red Bank, Paulus Hook and smaller shafts, as well as various soldiers and sailors' civil war monuments.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

Henry Osgotod, one of the leaders of the Bowery Mission, New York, will speak at the Grove Street Rescue Mission tonight. Everybody welcome.

The Brotherhood of the First M. E. church will hold its annual meeting Friday night and elect officers. Plans for the season will be discussed.

Thanksgiving services will be held at the Church of the Holy Cross as usual on Thursday. Early celebration will be at 7:30; morning prayer and sermon at 10:30. The choir will be present at the latter service.

A joint committee composed of representatives from Plainfield, Franklin, Somerset and Benevolent Councils, Jr. O. U. A. M., is beginning to plan for the annual Junior banquet to be held early in the new year.

Rev. E. E. Roberson, pastor of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, will deliver a Thanksgiving address before the Jr. O. U. A. M., at High Bridge, tonight, and on Sunday, December 9, he will address his Branchburg Council, of which he is a member, at North Branch.

The special committee appointed by the Men's Club of the Seventh-Day Baptist church for the purpose, met Sunday afternoon at the church and drafted a constitution to be presented at a meeting of the club next Sunday afternoon, when the organization will be completed.

The Christian Endeavor Union of Plainfield has undertaken the work of holding cottage prayer-meetings in the West End, with the ultimate hope of establishing a mission or church in that section. The meetings were started several weeks ago and the interest has grown steadily. The officers of the Union say they have been impressed with the number of children in the west end who neither attend Sunday-school or church. Recently one of the officers visited that section of the city on a Sunday afternoon and he says he was surprised to see so many children running around the street and the fact impressed him to such an extent that he at once thought it would be an excellent place to establish a mission.

The matter has been discussed among the officers of the Union and at the next public meeting to be held within a few weeks will present the needs of such a mission. There is a section of the West End it is said, that is neither reached by the Church of the Heavenly Rest, Monroe Avenue M. E. church or Hope chapel and it is believed that the Endeavorers could be induced to lend their financial support and interest in a mission enterprise.

NEWS IN THE SUBURBS

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

Would it not be a good idea for the pupils in our local school to get up an entertainment and donate the proceeds towards a new flag for the building, where now floats a few tattered shreds? The young people can do a great deal, when they made up their minds, and an entertainment for this purpose would be a success.

Those who attend the High School from here will enjoy a social time Thangskiving Eve, as the freshmen, sophomores, juniors and seniors are each to give a distinct entertainment, jointly, and much fun is anticipated. Mr. Howe has coached the minstrels.

Prayer service will be held in the lecture room of the Baptist church at 7:45 this evening. The subject will be the sixteenth Psalm.

Mr. Valentine and family will shortly remove to Plainfield.

Mrs. Carman is entertaining friends over Thanksgiving.

(Additional suburban news on page 2).

Decides Against Mrs. Duke.

Mrs. Lillian N. Duke, in the Court of Errors and Appeals at Trenton yesterday, lost her appeal from the divorce granted by the Court of Chancery to her husband, James B. Duke, the tobacco king. Her contention was that she and Mr. Duke were both residents of New York, and therefore not within the jurisdiction of the courts of New Jersey. In the opinion of the court, Mr. Duke is, as he asserts, a legal resident of Somerville, this State, where he has a magnificent estate. This gives the Court of Chancery jurisdiction in the case.

Stock Over-Subscribed.

The citizens of Bound Brook who are interested in the organization of a bank at that place, held a large and enthusiastic meeting last night. It was reported that the stock had been over-subscribed and that application had been made at Washington for a charter. It is expected that a meeting will be held either on Monday or Wednesday night of next week to elect directors.

Christmas' True Idea.

Instead of receiving presents at annual Christmas festival, as has been the custom in previous years, the children of the Holy Cross Sunday-school will be expected to bring gifts. The idea has been to further implant the spirit of Christmas that it is "better to give than to receive." The presents brought by the scholars will be distributed among the poor of the city.

THANKSGIVING EXERCISES AT PLAINFIELD HIGH SCHOOL

Rev. A. E. Finn to Make Address; Anthems and Recitations Other Features.

The Plainfield High School will observe Thanksgiving Day by appropriate exercises to be held at 12:15 o'clock tomorrow noon. The programme of music is attractive. Five harvest anthems will be sung by the school chorus, with accompaniment by the school orchestra. The recitations and declamations will have special interest because they will present prose and poetry that is the original work of the students. There will be an address by the Rev. A. E. Finn.

The exercises will be as follows: Processional, the school orchestra; anthem, "Praise the Lord, O My Soul," M. Watson; the President's Proclamation; chorus, "Lovely Appear," from Gounod's Redemption; recitations, "Thanksgiving in Other Lands and Among Other Peoples," Harold W. Schenck; "Thanksgiving Day," Matilda Srager; "Why I Don't Like Thanksgiving," by Ouida E. L. Hetfield, recited by James O. Murray; "Being Thankful to Order," Harriet Moodey; anthem, "Ye Shall Dwell in the Land," J. Stainer; recitation, "The Pumpkin Pie," Roy C. Whitall, recited by Hugh F. McElroy; "Uncle Sambo's Thanksgiving," Esther B. Crampton; "One Cause for Thankfulness," Wallace J. Pearce; "Thanksgiving," William H. Osgood; anthem, "While the Earth Remaineth," B. Tours; address, the Rev. A. E. Finn; chorus, "To Thee, O Lord, Our Hearts We Raise," H. F. Brackett; recessional, the School Orchestra.

Indicted Persons Plead.

In the Union County Court at Elizabeth yesterday several persons, against whom indictments were found by the late jury, were arraigned before Judge Atwater. John James, charged with selling liquor in Springfield, without a license, plea not guilty, trial December 4, bail $150; Barney and Paul Smolski, assault and battery, plea guilty, bail $600, sentence November 28; Ladislaw Grodszike, atrocious assault, two indictments, plea not guilty, trial December 3, bail $300; Henry Kachelries, illegal selling of liquor in Cranford, plea not guilty, bail $300, trial December 3; Charles Fromkorth, of Garwood, wife desertion, plea not guilty, bail $500, trial December 3.

Mrs. Mary Bergen.

Mrs. Mary Bergen, who was killed on the railroad a short time ago, died at her home on South Second street, yesterday. She had lived in this city for many years and leaves one son, Edward Bergen, and three daughters. The funeral will be held at St. Mary's church Thursday morning and interment will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

The new "Eight Bells" will be at the New Plainfield theatre tonight.

At New Plainfield Theatre Tonight.

No doctor, no matter how clever, could prescribe for a case of the blues better than recommending a patient to go and see the Brothers Byrne in this clever comedy.

The company playing "Montana," which is to be seen at the New Plainfield theatre Thanksgiving afternoon and night, contains among its members some of the best known people in the theatrical world. Mr. Carey, the author of the play, has long been known as one of the best leading men in the country, having supported some of the best of stars, such as Mrs. Fiske and E. H. Sothern. The other members all have been specially selected for their respective parts. The scenic effects are many and beautiful. Two horses are required in the play, and both are thoroughbreds, having been brought from Montana by Mr. Carey himself.

Miss Florence Davis in "The Player Maid" will be an attraction of unusual interest and importance at the New Plainfield theatre next Friday night, when the gifted young actress will make her appearance in this city. "The Player Maid" is a romantic comedy by Louise Malloy, a well known Baltimore newspaper woman. Miss Davis, who comes from a distinguished Southern family, is a young woman of exceedingly attractive personality, and has attained her present position of importance in the theatrical profession through earnest endeavor and hard work, combined with fine artistic temperament and natural histrionic gifts of a most distinctive character. Miss Davis began at the lowest rung of the theatre ladder and studied diligently while she played her first small parts in various companies under the direction of Charles Frohman and other important managers. It is due to their earnest preparation that she has gained the distinction now attained.

Reginald De Koven has written some delightful music, Frederic Rankin and Stanislaus Stange have contributed some exquisite words and lyrics; Walter Burridge has painted some beautiful scenery; George Marion has trained the choruses, composed some new stage pictures, and Henry W. Savage, with his usual generosity, will offer the successful result, "The Student King," the latest romantic opera, at the New Plainfield theatre Saturday afternoon and night. The opera is said to be the best light musical offering since "Robin Hood." It has a good plot, and its situations are as probable as they are necessary. The comedy is delightful and the music is entrancing.

H. C. Van Emburgh, of East Second street, who has been suffering with an attack of bronchitis during the past week, is improving.

THERE'S GREATER ECONOMY IN

Wolff's Furniture.

Because of the Lower Prices and Because of the Lower Terms

Why lower prices? Because we can buy much lower than smaller stores.

Why longer terms? Because the furniture is solid, substantial, built TO LAST and to give satisfaction—BECAUSE WE'RE NOT AFRAID OF ITS PROVING UNWORTHY BEFORE IT IS PAID FOR!

No words of ours can convince you so fully as an inspection of the furniture—and a comparison of prices and terms with other credit houses. So come see it—come see if we do not speak truly. There's no obligation to buy. And—THERE'S MONEY TO BE SAVED—THERE'S GREATER CONVENIENCE TO BE GAINED!

WHY HE CAME.

In one of the most artistocratic suburbs of Philadelphia there is a woman who is becoming famous for the lavishness of her afternoon entertainments to her friends, but the tremendous amount of ceremony attaching to each function renders it so slow that few would accept the invitations if they could refuse without giving offence to the wealthy and influential hostess. At a recent gathering of this nature a young business man came in late, and making his way to his hostess, greeted her and apologized for his lateness. "I'm delighted to see you," was the cordial reply; "it's so good of you to come. But where is your brother?" "Oh, he asked me to tell you how sorry he was that he could not come. You see, we are so busy now it's impossible for us to get away together, so we tossed up to see which of us should come." "How nice! What a capital idea! And you won?" "No," said the young man absently; "I lost."—Philadelphia Record.

Foreigners in China.

The foreign population of China in 1906 is estimated by Consul-General Thomas Sammons, of Newchwang, at 46,000. This includes 6,454 at Hongkong (British territory), 1,432 at Tsingtau or Kiachow (German), and 7,698 at Newchwang, but does not include the balance of Manchuria nor Mongolia. By figuring 20,000 to 30,000 Japanese, aside from railway guards, in southern Manchuria, and as many Russians in the north and Mongolia, the grand total would be over 10,000 foreigners. It is estimated that less than 8,000,000 Chinese are living outside of their native land, 75 per cent. of whom are accounted for in Formosa, Siam, and the Malay Peninsula.—U. S. Consular Reports.

PLAINFIELD LIBRARY NOTES

List of Books for the Beginner on the Study of Shakespeare.

The following was made an annotated for the Plainfield Public Library by the President of the New York Shakespeare Society:

Boas, Mrs. Frederick.—In Shakespeare's England.

"For Juvenile reading there is nothing printed to compare with" this work.

Brandes, George.—William Shakespeare, a critical study.

"No English commentator has so far produced anything nearly as satisfactory as this by the Danish scholar. Possibly the English sense of proprietorship in Shakespeare leads to a sort of not arrogant, nor still less, dishonest, but inability to report all the un-English features of the plays. But whatever reason, Mr. Brandes' work is the most catholic and comprehensive so far."

Elton, Charles Isaac. — William Shakespeare, his family and friends.

"For Genealogy of Shakespeare, if one cares to go into the minutest particulars, this is one of the latest authorities."

Goadby, Edwin, — England of Shakespeare.

"For a complete survey of the Elizabethan civilization, its domestic habits, its food and drink, its costumes, social amenities, etc., this is incomparably the best .... it gives a mass of information that is collected, certainly condensed, nowhere else."

Holmes, Nathaniel. — Authorship of Shakespeare. 2v.

"If it is desired to get the facts upon which the so-called Baconian Theory, which is now being candidly examined, is based there are more than forty works to choose from. On the Theory itself Judge Holmes' work is the heaviest and most exhaustive; there is no discussion of any other side in that work."

Morgan, Dr. Appleton. — The Shakespearean myth; or, Shakespeare and circumstantial evidence.

"The only work (in the Baconian Theory) which is objective, that is which gives both sides alternately."

Rolfe, William J.—Life of William Shakespeare.

"All lives of Shakespearse are more or less conjectural, but the New York Shakespeare Society recommends Dr. Rolfe's as eclectic of these conjectures and as possessing the one great merit of deciing to lose himself in theories about the Sonnets, which can answer no purpose whatever."

Seccombe, Thomas, and Allen, J. W.—Age of Shakespeare. 2v.

"The latest and best on dramatic literature at the time Shakespeare began his work."

Stopes, Mrs. Charlotte Carmichael. —Shakespeare's family: being a record of the ancestors and descendants of William Shakespeare, with some account of the Ardens.

"For Genealogy of Shakespeare Mrs. Stopes' work supersedes all others."

All the above are in the Public Library.

—There will be an informal dance at the Park Club Saturday night.

The Advantage of Dealing With The Prudential.

A Newark widow of a Prudential policyholder, some months ago, while making out claim papers for an Industrial Policy on her husband, incidentally mentioned the fact that there had also been an Ordinary Policy on his life, but it was lapsed. "Let me see the policy," said the Agent. The policy was brought out and on examination it was found that it was still in force, having been kept alive by the Company's liberal Extended Insurance Clause. The widow was gratified to receive a check for $1,000 which she had never expected.

Y.M.C.A. STARTS LEAGUE RACE WITH CLEAN SHEET

WINS FIRST GAME HANDILY; SO DOES THE SECOND TEAM.

Defeating the Rahway five handily, the Y. M. C. A. basketball team started on its league race last night with 1,000 per cent. Rahway was beaten by a score of 37 to 14. The contest was witnessed by a crowd that taxed the gymnasium gallery, and overflowed to the floor back of the rails.

The second team duplicated the "big league" performance, winning from the Rahway seconds by 37 to 28.

The first team showed a decided improvement over their play of a week before. With a full complement of regular players, the team played together as one man, and although the visitors were strong, and played well, they had no opening for victory. It was a lively game, and not an easy one to win. The general excellent of the local five renders it impossible to make distinctive reference.

The line-up and summary:

RAHWAY.	PLAINFIELD.
Russo	Smith
Orr	Thompson forwards
Tremly	Scull centre
Miller	Jacot, Schoonmaker
Gibbons	Leary
guards

Gibbons, 6; Orr, 2; Miller, 6; Thompson, 6; Scull, 14; Jacot, 2; Leary, 7; Schoonmaker, 8.

The second team played the visitors to a standstill. In the first half, to be sure, the Rahwegian seconds were 13 to 8, but in the second period the home five bubbled over and swept the visitors from their feet.

Line-up and summary:

PLAINFIELD.	RAHWAY.
Collier	Ayers
Gilmore	Boyne

Aalholm	Steven

Ramsey	Rubin
Hoagland	Clarke
guards

Referee, C. B. Morse; umpire, Hess; timer, J. H. Doane.

Collier, 14; Gilmore, 9; Aalholm, 12; Ramsey, 2; Ayers, 6; Boyne, 12; Steven, 2; Rubin, 6; Clarke, 2.

The league standing is as follows:

Plainfield	1	0	1,000
Montclair	1	0	1,000
Hudson City	1	0	1,000

FURTHER STEPS TOWARD SUNDAY-SCHOOL A.A.

SEVEN CHURCHES WILL PROBABLY GO INTO THE ORGANIZATION.

Representatives from six Sunday-schools attended the adjourned meeting of the organizers of the proposed athletic league, at the Y. M. C. A. last night. Increased enthusiasm developed, and further steps for the permanent organization of the league were taken.

The churches represented, and their delegates, were as follows: Trinity Reformed, F. E. Smith, Edgar F. Sheppard; Park Avenue Baptist, Rev. A. E. Finn, Harry F. Cuming; First Baptist, G. H. Batchelor, Frank W. Jones, Mr. Sewell, Mr. Church, F. S. Thompson; Hope chapter, Rev. L. R. Howard, H. C. Munger; Congregational, J. L. McClymont, Mr. Rice; First M. E., H. W. Barrows. Warren chapel sent word that it was heartily in favor of the project, and would take part in it.

After Physical Director Listman had outlined the general plan and scope of the proposed league, a motion was passed to proceed with its organization. Mr. McClymont, Mr. Rice and Mr. Listman were made a committee to secure data on similar organizations and copies of constitutions and by-laws. The committee will report at a meeting to be held December 4, when the permanent officers will be elected, and a constitution drawn up.

Before that meeting every church in the city will be formally urged to send two delegates, with power, to act at the meeting. It is believed that seven Sunday-schools, at least, will be in the league.

H. C. Munger was chairman of last night's meeting, and F. S. Thompson secretary.

FORFEITED GAME.

North Plainfield High School Profits By Rahway's Kick.

North Plainfield High School won the football game with Rahway High School yesterday afternoon on a kick. A kick by Rahway. A kick at a play, not the ball.

The game was forfeited to the borough lads, 6 to 0. The break-up came when there was only two minutes to play. Rahway was full of complaints, but they didn't base their objections on the rules. Finally they plumped against the rule book good and hard and kicked themselves out of the game.

It was a pity, because the teams were well-matched and it might have been a pretty game. The elevens are not likely to meet again.

MUSIC LOVERS CHARMED

First Concert of Operatic Association Enjoyed by Enthusiastic Audience.

SPLENDID PROGRAMME

William Holmes, Miss Beatrice Miner and William N. Runyon Come In for Share of Praise—At Casino.

The first concert under the auspices of the Plainfield Operatic Association was enjoyed by an appreciative, although not a large audience at the Casino, last night. The fine programme, the well-trained chorus of sixty voices and the assisting artists, the Philharmonic String Quartette, all deserved more liberal patronage by music-lovers, but those present enjoyed the singing and the selections by the string quartette to the fullest extent and nothing but words of praise were expressed. The director, William Holmes, and the accompanist, Miss Beatrice Miner, both came in for a share of commendation.

Perhaps the stella number on the programme was the Serenade, by Meyer-Helmund, which gave the chorus ample opportunity to display its strength and sweetness. The selection was rendered in a delightful manner and won a deserved encore. The preceding number, Moonlight and Music, by Pinsuti was also well received. Other selections of special merit included Over the Hills, Geibel; Welcome Pretty Primrose, Pinsuti-Benbow; Love and Summer. West; Eldorado, Pinsuti and Daybreak, Gaul. Seldom has a chorus of such size been heard to better advantage and with a little more training it will attain a standard desired by Mr. Holmes.

In the selection "The Cat with the Baritone Voice," men's chorus, in which William N. Runyon took the solo part, an encore was given. Mr. Runyon was in good voice and sang in a manner that brought forth much applause. Too much cannot be said in praise of the work of the string quartette. It interspersed the numbers by the chorus with selections from well-known composers, and the rendition was delightful. The quartette was obliged to respond to encores, showing the true appreciation of this class of music. Altogether the concert was a most satisfactory one and much encouragement was given by friends of the organization, who are anxious that it shall continue and attain a high standard of excellence. The painstaking work of Mr. Holmes, as director, was shown in the results, and plans for further proficiency will be made.

The members of the chorus follow:

The Misses Mary A. Baldwin, Mabel Cole, Margaret Cramer, Ida M. Dealaman, Josephine M. Dealaman, Lelia Druse, Irene B. Dunham, Eva C. Dunavan, Helen Farland, Sue Farland, Mary E. Lannon, Elizabeth C. MISS CAHOONE BRIDE OF EPISCOPAL MINISTER

CEREMONY AT THE CAHOONE HOME AT 5 O'CLOCK YESTERDAY.

Miss Elizabeth Mott Cahoone, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Cahoone, of Watchung avenue, and Rev. Charles Davis Burrows, rector of St. Matthew's Episcopal church, Jamestown, R. I., were married yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock, at the home of the bride. Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie, pastor of the Crescent Avenue church, officiated.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Helen M. Cahoone, as maid-of-honor, and was given in marriage by her brother, Royal Hill Cahoone. The best man was Albert Chevalier, of Philadelphia.

The bride was gowned in white crepe de chine, trimmed with lace, and she carried a shower bouquet of bride roses. The maid-of-honor's gown was white organdie over white silk and she carried pink roses. Owing to the fact that the family is in mourning the number of invited guests was limited to relatives and intimate friends.

The wedding marches were played by an orchestra, harp, violin and 'cello. After the ceremony a reception was held at the home. Later in the evening the couple departed on a wedding journey. They will reside at Jamestown, R. I., where the Cahoone family have had a summer home for many years.

The groom is a graduate of Brown University and the Divinity School at Cambridge, Mass. He is a member of the Delta Phi fraternity and has been rector of the Episcopal church at Jamestown for several years.

CRUELLY NEGLECTED BY INDIFFERENT HUSBAND

MRS. MATILDA ORLEMANN BUCHER GETS LEGAL SUCCOR.

Mrs. Charles Buchler, of Montclair, who is a daughter of the late George Orlemann, of Mountain avenue, had her husband, a prosperous Montclair butcher, arraigned in Recorder Yost's court, in the Newark suburb, yesterday, for non-support. The story told by Mrs. Buchler is pathetic.

Mrs. Buchler, whose maiden name was Matilda Orlemann, married Buchler about fifteen years ago, when she was but seventeen years old.

The first few years of her married life were pleasant, she told the recorder yesterday, but later she noticed a coldness in her husband's manner toward her. She added that the change in Buchler's attitude began with the employment of a female bookkeeper.

In May, 1905, Mrs. Buchler testified, she was taken sick and left home to visit a friend. Her condition was such that she could not return, but when she did finally come back, she declared, that her husband had her committed to the asylum. It developed that Buchler based a desertion change on this absence of his wife.

Mrs. Buchler, who was discharged from the institution several months ago, claimed that she went to her husband, who would not admit her to his home. She asserted that she wrote letter after letter to him, but that he refused to assist her in any way and that finally in desperation she appealed to the Montclair poormaster for aid.

Buchler's defense was based on the alleged desertion and a promise he had made to give his wife $5 a week.

He was put under bonds to pay his wife $7 a week.

Mrs. Buchler is temporarily residing at 46 Portland place, Montclair. The couple have two children, aged ten and thirteen years. Mrs. Buchler's father was employed by Fred Endress.

Did Not Settle With Smith.

Abram G. Nelson, of New Market, declares that Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt and Mrs. Herman Oelrichs, sisters of the late Charles L. Fair, have made no settlement with Frank Nelson, of Topeka, Kan., a brother of Mrs. Fair. It was stated that he had received $600,000 to end his suit against the Fair estate. Mr. Nelson is also one of the Fair heirs.

Celebrated Wedding Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward B. Ryder, of Central avenue, celebrated the eighteenth anniversary of their wedding, yesterday, and last night they gave an informal dinner to a few relatives.

Social and Service.

There will be a praise service, followed by a sociable at the Grove Street Rescue Mission tomorrow night. Refreshments will be served.

THANKSGIVING SERVICES

Protestant Churches to Unite in Thanksgiving With Rev. Dr. Black as Preacher.

CRESCENT AVE. CHURCH

Roman Catholics and Episcopalians to Hold Separate Services As Usual in Their Own Edifices.

Thanksgiving Day, tomorrow, will be observed in the usual quiet manner in this city. The customary church services will occupy the attention of many people in the morning. There will be the Union service at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, in which practically all of the churches, except the Episcopal and Catholic churches, will unite. The latter churches will hold services of their own. More than ordinary interest attaches to the service in the Crescent Avenue church, where Rev. Hugh Black, formerly of Edinburgh, Scotland, will deliver the sermon. He is now a professor at Union Theological Seminary, and he has a world-wide reputation as a man of letters. This service will be held at the usual hour, 10:30 o'clock.

Rev. B. M. Bogan, of St. Mary's church, has arranged for two masses in the morning, the first one at 6:30 and the other at 9 o'clock. Father Bogan will have charge of one mass and Father Delehanty the other. At St. Joseph's church there will be one mass at 8 o'clock in charge of Father Miller.

Rev. George A. Warner, rector of the Church of the Holy Cross, has arranged for an early celebration at 7:30 o'clock in the morning, and at 10:30 o'clock there will be matins, prayer and sermon. There will also be special music by the regular choir.

Rev. A. S. Peck, rector of St. Stephen's church, announces special services in the morning with anthems and other special music by the choir. There will be low celebration at 7:30 o'clock, plain matins at 10:30 o'clock and high celebration at 11 o'clock.

Rev. L. R. Howard, pastor of Hope chapel, has arranged for a Thanksgiving service to be held at the chapel at 9 o'clock in the morning, and similar services will be held at the Swedish Pilgrim and German Lutheran churches.

The services at Grace church tomorrow morning will be held at 7 and 10 o'clock, Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson being in charge. At 10 o'clock there will be the morning prayer and special Thanksgiving service prepared by the church.

WOODSHED INTERVIEWS TO FOLLOW COURT SESSION.

Fathers of Boys Who Used Air Rifles Recklessly Will Discuss the Matter With Timber Accompaniment.

George Minard and Richard Sutton, the two boys who ran amuck with a air rifle on Somerset street, yesterday morning, were awfully glad when the borough court session was over last night. They appeared before Mayor Smalley and received from him a kind of lecture that makes boys wish they had never been born. In addition, Minard was fined $3 and Sutton $2, the same being paid.

After the money had been handed up, the mayor informed the parents that he would refund it if they would invite the boys to the woodshed and give them allopathic doses of slapperitus.

"Lay it on good and plenty," said His Honor, "and prove to me that it was done in the old-fashioned way and yet get your money back."

Minard's father promptly stood up and with a look in his eye that boded no good for one of the prisoners, declared that he had a good strong arm and could use it when the occasion demanded. Sutton, Sr., said nothing at the time but informed a friend later that he needed the money.

Attained His Majority.

In honor of the celebration of the anniversary of his twenty-first birthday, a surprise party was tendered to Lawrence Fahn, of 81 Somerset street, Monday night. The affair was arranged by Miss Bertha Frazee, Lawrence McCann and John La Maire. During the evening there was dancing and games were played. There were also piano selections by Harrison Fahn, vocal solos by Clarence Bechtel and recitations by Miss Viola Leivers. Refreshments were served. Mr. Fahn received numerous gifts.

Hurt By Fall From Trolley.

Robert Love, of Duer street, fell from a trolley car on West Front street, near Clinton avenue, last night, and was quite badly hurt. He was removed to his home.

Mrs. Hall Read Paper.

Mrs. Florence Howe Hall read a paper yesterday at the annual meeting of the New Jersey Women's Suffrage Association at Orange.

ESTATE GOES TO WIDOW

Mayor Olin L. Jenkins Made Minor Bequests to Brother and Nieces.

Exact Amount of Estate Not Known—Owned Real Estate and Mining Stock—Held Life Insurance.

Excepting some minor bequests which he made, Dr. Olin L. Jenkins left his entire estate to his widow, Mrs. Rhoda Jenkins. The will has been placed on file in the surrogate's office in Elizabeth. The widow is named as executrix. What amount of property was left by the doctor is not definitely known but friends say that the estate is worth about $125,000.

It is known that the doctor carried a large amount of insurance on his life and that he possessed considerable valuable stock in mining properties in the West. He was also an owner of extensive real estate in this city.

The doctor left his farm at Elmhurst, Pa., to his brother, W. F. Jenkins. He also remembered two nieces. To one, Louise Nolan, he bequeathed $500 in cash, and to another, Louisa Jenkins, he devised a big stone quarry in Pike county, Pennsylvania. William F. Jenkins, the brother, lives at Elmhurst, which is near Scranton, Pa.

Dr. Jenkins died suddenly on Tuesday, November 13, at his home in East Front street. Heart trouble was the cause of his end. He was one of the most prominent men in the city, having served in the Common Council and as Mayor. He had also been chairman of the city Republican committee and was its vice chairman at the time of his death.

DR. MOLDENKE IN A BIG SMELTING CO.

WITH TWO OTHERS HE ORGANIZES A $250,000 MINING CONCERN.

Dr. Richard Moldenke, of Watchung, is one of the chief incorporators of a new mining company, which starts with a capital of $250,000.

The company, known as the Interstate Smelting Company, will deal in mill and smelt ores, minerals, etc. Dr. Moldenke, who is one of the best known foundrymen and metallurgists in the United States, will be the chief figure in the company. He is perhaps the most scientific and best trained of the old practical founders and iron masters in the country.

The capital of the company is all paid in. The other incorporators are Lawrence E. Bower, of Boonton, and F. C. Bonny, of Ormond place, Brooklyn.

COLLECTORSHIP GOING OVER TOWARD STITES.

Face of Recount Favors Him—Judge Swayze to Decide.

On the face of the recount, Isaac J. Stites, the Republican candidate, has defeated John Moynihan, his Democratic opponent, in the appeal from the supposed tie vote for the collectorship of Dunellen. The Middlesex County Board of Elections went over the ballots yesterday at New Brunswick, and threw out enough votes to give Stites an apparent majority of three. The majority is only apparent as yet, however, because the uncounted ballots are to be inspected by Judge Swayze, and his decision regarding them will decide the contest.

The Dunellen election board reported a tie with 184 votes for each candidate. The county board refused to count 31, for alleged marking, and laid aside three as invalid. Justice Swayze will pass on all of the doutbful votes at the opening of the December term of court.

Mr. Stites' interests before the board were looked after by Judge E. W. Kicks, and State Senator-elect George S. Silzer represented Mr. Moynihan.

In Honor of Miss Howard.

In honor of Miss Marguerite Howard, of Washington, who is her guest, Miss Pauline Denton, of Washington avenue, entertained a company of twenty young people at her home, last night. The evening was spent in playing games of all kinds. Miss Howard won first prize and Miss Agnes Brown received second prize. Refreshments were served during the evening.

—For the benefit of patrons, Neuman Brothers' store will remain open later this evening. Closed all day tomorrow.

LEADERS NOT IN FIGHT

Smith Says He Has Not Discussed Senatorial Contest With Perkins.

ASSEMBLYMAN'S TALK

Westfielder Intimated Yesterday that Leaders Hal Urged Him to Vote For Dryden.

In a statement given out yesterday Assemblyman Randolph Perkins, of Westfield, intimated that "some of the so-called party leaders" had approached him to vote for John F. Dryden for re-election to the United States Senate. His startling declaration prompted a reporter for The Daily Press to ascertain who these "leaders" were that spoke to the former leader of the Republicans in the lower branch of the Legislature. The first man he ran across who is recognized as a leader was County Chairman Frank H. Smith and the first thing the county chairman did was to enter a denial so far as he is concerned.

"I don't know to whom Mr. Perkins refers," said Mr. Smith. "If you consider me a 'leader' you can say for me as plainly as words will put it that I have not seen Mr. Perkins on such a matter and have never asked him how he intended to vote. That is his own business. He is a representative of Union county at Trenton and it is up to him and the other legislators from Union to obey the will of the people.

"You know as well as I do that Mr. Perkins should do what the voters want him to do. If he gets the consensus of opinion, and it is up to him to do so, he should follow it. My position in the party is that of county chairman and it is not for me to meddle in this Senatorial fight.

"I decline to give any expression to my views on the Senatorial contest. I have not done so in the past and furthermore I do not intend to now or at any future time."

City Chairman Charles J. Fisk was absent from town today and therefore it could not be learned whether he was meant. Close friends of his, however, stated that Mr. Fisk had not seen Mr. Perkins and was not interesting himself in the Senatorial fight.

Mr. Perkins said yesterday:

"Since my attitude on the subject has been mentioned in the newspapers I have received many letters and have been spoken to by hundreds of persons on the subject, and excepting some of the so-called party leaders, there is not one person among those who have communicated with me who favor the re-election of Mr. Dryden."

POPULAR SUBSCRIPTION FOR OPERATIC ASSOCIATION.

President C. J. Fisk Outlines Plan for Financial Assistance.

During the intermission at the concert at the Casino, last night, Charles J. Fisk, president of the Plainfield Operatic Association, addressed the members of the organization. After complimenting the association for its fine work, he presented a plan whereby greater financial success will attend future efforts. Heretofore the association has depended entirely on the general patronage of the public to meet expenses. This has been found insufficient and not satisfactory. It is now proposed to put all future productions on a subscription basis, thus assuring certain financial obligations.

Efforts will be made at once to secure between 200 and 300 patronesses for the opears and concerts to be given this winter. A number of persons, who are interested in the success of the association, attended the concert last night for the purpose of getting an idea of the ability of the chorus. They were well pleased and have promised their support in the future. The matter will be brought before the association at its next meeting when definite plans will be adopted.

At the annual banquet of the Canoe Brook Country Club, held Saturday night at the pretty clubhouse on Morristown road, near Summit, Macready Sykes, of New York, formerly of Fanwood, responded to the toast, "Fonetic Syke-ology by Byll Psyches." The guests made the trip to and from the clubhouse in automobiles.

RECEPTION TENDERED HOPE CHAPEL'S PASTOR

MARKS HIS FIFTH YEAR OF SERVICE WITH WEST END CONGREGATION.

In celebration of the completion of his fifth year as pastor of Hope chapel, Rev. L. R. Howard was tendered a reception by the congregation last night. It was given in the Sunday-school and was attended by a very large gathering, many outside friends of the clergyman being present.

Donald McInness acted as master of ceremonies and assumed charge of the programme. Because of the recent death of Superintendent Henry C. Squires it was not as extensive as had been planned originally but the numbers were greatly enjoyed. Features were selections by an orchestra from the Y. M. C. A. and humorous readings by Mrs. W. B. Grannatt, who was recalled several times. An address was made by Superintendent Munger of the Sunday-school, in which he extended greetings to Mr. Howard and on concluding presented him with a purse. The gift was entirely unexpected by Mr. Howard but he responded fittingly, declaring that the expression of good will from the chapel people gave him great encouragement. A further address was made by Rev. J. O. McKelvey, pastor of Warren chapel. After the programme refreshments were passed and a half hour was spent in a social way.

The affair was in charge of the Ladies' Aid Society with the following committee of arrangements: Mrs. Robert Hangliter, Mrs. M. W. Clark, Mrs. Rittenhouse, Mrs. Martin, Mrs. Cratsley and Mrs. Vogel.

CHARITY WORK UNION

Organized Aid Association To Consolidate With Relief Association.

QUIET VOTE IN FAVOR

Desirability of Step Recognized Generally at Annual Meeting—Figures In General Agent's Report.

Responding to similar action by the Relief Association, the Organized Aid Association voted in favor of consolidating the two organizations, last night, at the annual meeting. Details of the union will be arranged by committees from the two associations.

Action on the question was quickly taken, and without any discussion except as to ways and means of union. The w isdom of combining seemed to have become accepted as undeniable by all the members. Dr. W. H. Murray presented a terse report in favor of consolidation, for the subcommittee of the executive committee, which was placed in charge of the investigative steps.

The report cited the confusion over the two organizations in the public mind, and the actual overlapping of work. It was hard, the report said, for the general agent, who acts for both associations, to tell, very often, for which organization she was at work. Very effective work could be accomplished by consolidation, and the possibility of a clash between the associations would be wiped out. Two committees could act, one for constructive and the other for executive work.

On W. S. Tyler's motion, it was unanimously voted that consolidation was desirable, and the executive committee was empowered and instructed to arrange details of the proposed combination.

The rest of the meeting was devoted to the reception of Miss Margaret C. Holly's report as general agent. She outlined a number of the most interesting stories of relief, to show the scope of the association's affairs.

Husband and wife desertion, Miss Holly declared, was the most serious problem in relief work. The community was seemingly without adequate remedy. A county workhouse, from where the earnings of the husband could be sent home, Miss Holly declared, would be a great help. She also pleaded for increased public bathing facilities.

Thanks for support and assistance from the c hurches and the newspapers was expressed. The Department of Agriculture also won the gratitude of the association by helping the gardening work.

Interesting figures on the work of the year were read by Miss Holly. Statistics on applications for relief, which follow, were based on the family as a unit, where several members were assisted:

Applications for material aid, 116; investigation, 89; information, 63; advice, 28; medical service, 12; legal aid, 6; aid for neglected children, 30; admission to homes for old men and women, 7; personal influence and help, 41; outside work, 86; servants, 162; from other socities for investigation, 20; from other societies for co-operation, 11; total number of applications, 671; representing 255 different cases. New cases added to records, 61; total number of cases on record 10,048; number of calls received by agent, 980; number of calls made, 1,753.

The chief causes of need are cited as follows: Lack of thrift, industry or judgement, 25; lack of employment, 28; illness or accident, 16; mental defect, 2; physical defect, 8; death of breadwinner, 12; ignorance of language, 2; calamity, 4; desertion by husband and father, 16; wilful non-support, 19; cruelty to children, 2; dishonesty or other immorality, 3; intemperance, 24; degrading surroundrings, 10; vagrancy, 6; spirit of pauperism, 9; misdirected philanthropy, 2; unclassified, 3.

The nationality of applicants was as follows: American, 86; colored, 67; Irish, 46; Italian, 6; German, 8; Polish, 6; Swedish, 4; Danish, 5; English, 9; Scotch, 4; French Swiss, 5; German American, 4; Irish-American, 1.

The customary address was made by Prof. Samuel McCune Lindsay, professor of oscial science at the University of Pennsylvania, and secretary of the Child Labor League. He spoke on "Child Labor," in part as follows:

"I do not know how much child labor is here, but I will tell you something of child labor of the country as a whole, and reasons for thinking it is growing on us. Statistics are difficult to grasp, but there are two facts to enable us to compass the subject. Contrast the growth of the country and the demands of industry on labor of little children. The number of children from 10 to 16

WORKS WONDERS.

A Wonderful Compound — Cures Piles, Eczema, Skin Itching, Skin Eruptions, Cuts and Bruises.

Doan's Ointment is the best skin treatment, and the cheapest, because so little is required to cure. It cures piles after years of torture. It cures obstinate cases of eczema. It cures all skin itching. It cures skin eruptions. It heals cuts, bruises, scratches and abrasions without leaving a scar. It cures permanently. Plainfield testimony proves it.

Thomas Haskard, of 941 West Third street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "I was a member of Co. A, First Regt., N. J. Vols., under Col. Montgomery. I was out in 3½ years of the Civil War and was wounded once in the leg and once in the neck. During the Rebellion I contracted itching piles and they bothered me off and on ever since. No one who has not suffered from this trouble knows what the irritation is. I tried about every salve, wash and ointment known in the hope of finding a cure but nothing helped me until I got Doane's Ointment and it took just three boxes to put me in shape so I could rest nights and cure me so that I have been free ever since from any trouble arising from piles."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

FOOTBALL.

Plainfield football enthusiasts and friends of Ray Biglow, who is a member of the Yale football eleven, will be pleased to learn that he will undoubtedly be the next captain at New Haven. Ever since he secured a place on the 'varsity team he has played a brilliant game and in many instances his work has turned defeat into victory. Last Saturday in the game with Harvard he blocked a kick on Newhall and turned the tide of battle, but could not see where he came in for credit on the play. He would not hear any praise on that score, but berated himself for not gathering in the ball and running to a touchdown. "Why couldn't I pick up that ball?" was his only response when slapped on the back for his fine work of sifting through and blocking it.

Leo DeTray, who has been chosen captain of the University of Chicago team for 1907, did not play in a single game this season. DeTray is a halfback and played on the '04 and '05 teams. In the Northwestern game of last year his eye was injured seriously. He had to give up playing this season or run the risk of losing his sight. He is a fast and shifty man in the bacfield.

The indications are for just as close strife in the two big games to come—Pennsylvania vs. Cornell and Army vs. Navy—as in the tussles at Princeton and New Haven. It will be interesting to note whether Yale's long forward pass is used by any of the four. The Navy was a bit disappointed by not making a bigger score against V. P. I., but the Army is not chuckling over its showing against Syracuse. The two teams round into the final week on nearly even terms, though there is doubt about the condition of Pullen, the big Army tackle. The giant Alaskan has been regarded as one of the best tackles of the year. For a green man he has developed surprising well, which, on the other hand, is not so surprising considering that he has had Lieut. Graves for a teacher. Graves was an All America tackle in his day.

The following officials have been selected for the Army-Navy game at Franklin Field next Saturday: Referee, Matthew McClung, Lehigh; umpires, Sharpe, of Yale, and Corbin, of Yale; linesman, Torrey, of Pennsylvania.

The Cadets had a short signal practice yesterday. All the squad was out with the exception of Mountford, who is in the hospital. Last Saturday's game was discouraging to the Army adherents, but it is hard to find any one willing to bet on the Middies, and the few bets that have been made have been at even money. Pullen came out yesterday for the first time since the Princeton game. Coach Graves took the squad to the gymnasium and handed out a long line of good plain talk to them on their playing last Saturday. The final selection of the team will probably be made today. An end position and that of quarterback are still in doubt. Hanlon and Stearns seem to have first call on the ends, with Ayers and Hickam pressing them hard. It now looks like Mountford for quarterback, with Johnston, last year's quarter, as first sub. Moose and Beach are also hustling for one of the back positions.

The Navy team started yesterday its last week of practice before the final game with the Army. Douglass Howard, last season's captain, saw the Army play against Syracuse on Saturday and Coach Cates has already seen the West Point team in action, and these two drilled the Midshipmen in defensive plays to meet the Army's attack, and also worked on some formations which seemed likely to get around its ends or break its line. Jack Owsley, the Yale back of some seasons past, joined the Navy coaching squad yesterday afternoon, the finish of the season at Yale having released him from his duties there. The team will undoubtedly start in the Army game as it lined up against Virginia Polytechnic Institute on Saturday.

GOLF.

Tomorrow will witness the close of the golf season in Plainfield for 1906, and a lively one it has been, too. The events scheduled tomorrow will include the Cross country tournament, and the final play for the November Handicap cup, the consolation and inconsolables' cups. Then the season will pass into history. In the line of the sports it must be admitted that golf has been the most successful of any in this city, which is due to the careful management of the Plainfield Country Club. It has not been easy work to organize and maintain a club of its proportions successfully, but with such business men at the head it has been accomplished. No doubt the treasurer's report for this year will show a balance, while the club membership has increased until almost the limit has been reached. The belief that unless the club opened its course and clubhouse on Sunday there would be a falling off in membership and lack of interest has not been sustained, in fact the organization is stronger today than ever and just as popular. It will continue so no doubt for many years to come.

Speaking of the management of the Plainfield Country Club, the organization has been fortunate in having well-known New York business men interest themselves, men who have been eminently successful in business and whose methods are the most approved. They devote a great deal of time to the club and the results show the wisdom of such selections for officers.

The annual team match between the Forest Park Golf Club and the Brooklyn Golf Club played on Saturday and Sunday was won by the former by a score of 11 to 8.

Alec Smith, the national open champion, has gone to Atlanta for the winter. Smith injured himself while playing squash at the Nassau Country Club recently.

Archie Graham, the New Jersey State Golf Association title holder, has gone to Blooming Grove for a few days' shooting. Graham expects to play some golf in the South during the winter.

An eighteen hole all day handicap will be played at the Country Club at Lakewood on Thanksgiving Day. Prizes will be offered for the best gross and net scores. A handicap will be played over the same course on Saturday.

From now on golf will not claim the undivided attention of the members of the Apawamis Club, as plans have been made for clay pigeon shooting throughout the winter. There are a number of good shots among the members.

There is some talk of laying out an eighteen hole public links at Washington. The land for the proposed course is said to be admirably adapted for golf.

The Glen Ridge Golf Club tournament committee has announced a medal play competition for Thanksgiving Day. It has been decided to keep the course in commission throughout the winter.

Out of fifty-odd women who competed in team matches at Philadelphia during the last season, Mrs. R. H. Barlow had the best record. Mrs. Caleb F. Fox, Miss Frances C. Griscom and Miss Florence Ayres were Mrs. Barlow's closest competitors.

The annual election of the Nassau Country Club will be held at the Waldorf-Astoria on the evening of December 15. After the meeting there will be a dinner.

years of age, the school years, in the country has increased less rapidly than the population as a whole. The number of children employed has been greater than the normal increase in population warranted. These children are all at work for wages, in the position of an employe, working under an employer. There are 400,000 children engaged in extra-hazardous occupations; working in mines, workshops and transportation. Their work requires long hours, and tense nerves. Some occupations, like tobacco and silk factories, show a very great increase in demand for child labor. You will hardly credit the percentage of increase.

"The deprivation of normal child opportunities is one of the things I desire to emphasize. It is not cruel on the part of the community to leave it easy for the child to lose his chance to become fitted for the democratic plane of equality. We must acknowledge the public schools to be a failure or admit that we are cruel to permit children in large numbers to be coaxed or compelled to forego education.

"We are short of labor everywhere, and that is cited as justification of the use of child labor. The public school is criticized, too, as impractical in preparing boys for life. We have been derelict in training our school-boys for industrial life.

"Where there is a case of a family absolutely dependent on the earnings of a child under fourteen, that family is a legitimate charge on the community. There should be some provision made for such cases.

"New Jersey has a pretty good labor law, but your law only applies to workshops. It ought to be extended. It permits night work, which is most harmful. Our bill to prevent labor of boys under 16 at night was fought last year by the glass manufacturers of this State. I do not know how the prevention of boys working at night would menace the glass industray, but I do know that wherever an industry is forced to find a substitute for boys under 16 at night, that substitute will be found.

"National legislation is needed, but until it is accomplished every community must face the problem. There is no problem of greater importance before us. The sentiment of the community must be back of the law, which is useless without that sentiment."

All the old officers, with the exception of Boardman Wright, who was ineligible by reason of removal from town, were re-elected by acclamation. The officers are as follows:

President, H. M. Maxson; vice presidents, John Doull Miller, Mrs. J. Kirtland Myers, Mrs. F. G. Mead; secretary, W. S. Tyler; treasurer, W. G. Wright.

Wings and Flies

By Tom Muir.

Seats for Dan Sully's performance at the New Plainfield theatre are now being sold by members of Watchung Council, Knights of Columbus, under whose auspices it will be given. These are to be exchanged at the box office.

The Brothers Byrne and their perenial "Eight Bells" packed 'em in at the New Plainfield theatre, last night. It was one of the largest audiences of the season and it laughed just as loud and long as though the show was a brand new affair. All the old tricks, including the comical horse and the revolving ship, were shown, while specialities were given by the Byrne troupe of acrobats and other members of the company.

Florence Davis, a gifted young actress, will make her first appearance in this city Friday night in a new romantic comedy, "The Player Maid." She is a young woman of exceeding attractive personality, who has attained her present position of importance in the theatrical profession through earnest endeavor and hard work, combined with fine artistic temperament and natural histrionic gifts of a distinctive character.

Miss Blanche Walsh, who was seen here last season in Clyde Fitch, "The Woman in the Case," was married at New Orleans on November 15 to William Travers, a member of her company. When the ceremony was performed she made the request that it be kept secret and it was made public only by the filing of the certificate demanded by law. Miss Wash's father was a New York politician known as "Fatty" Walsh and at one time was warden at the Tombs.

Manager Counihan has had requests for blocks of seats for three different theatre parties that will witness "The Student King" Saturday night. The production will undoubtedly eclipse anything that has yet appeared at the local house.

E. M. SHEPARD DEALS HIS BISHOP KNOCK-OUT BLOW.

Strikes Out from the Shoulder in Condemnation of Dr. Potter's Statements.

Interest was added today to the case of the Rev. Dr. A. S. Crapsey, a Rochester minister found guilty of heresy, through the anticipation of a reply from Bishop Potter to the bitter arraignment of his action during the trial made by Edward M. Shepard, counsel for Dr. Crapsey. At the recent convention of the diocese of New York Bishop Potter made a brief address defending the creed of the Episcopal church and declaring that members of the clergy who attack the creed should be read out of the ministry. This was thought by many to be a reference to Dr. Crapsey.

When seen yesterday Bishop Potter said that he would make no reply to the attack, "except that Mr. Shepard's remarks form a gratuitous and impertinent inference, without any foundation in fact." It is expected, however, that the Bishop will make some statement later.

Mr. Shepard said in regard to Bishop Potter's attitude toward his client:

"While the cause was still under judicial consideration, and while every consideration of fairness made it proper for one of his responsible place to be silent upon it, he told his clergy in unmistakable fashion, though resorting to the device of not mentioning a name, that Dr. Crapsey's motive has been a morbid desire to hold on to the money revenues of his place.

"This false and indecent imputation comes from a bishop who has for many years been conspicuously indifferent to preaching in his own diocese more heretical than Dr. Crapsey's was deemed to be. The imputation deserves, and I believe it will receive, moral contempt from every right thinking man who knows of it.

"Dr. Crapsey has not, ever since he entered the ministry, lived with the rich; he is not served today by a butler and a 'second man' and a footman and a coachman; he is not one of the chief figures at the dinner tables of the private palaces of his city; he is neither used to nor fond of sybaritic elegance.

"But, although Dr. Crapsey is deficient in these, he has given his entire life to the work of carrying Christianity to the industrious poor of the city in which he lives. He does not hold to the rule that the minister's contract is one for a money price—'So many dollars, such and such an output of doctrine.'"

Dates can be arranged through the secretary of the club, Russell Vail, of Elmwood place.

DEMOCRAT FOR SENATOR

Hope to Control the Legislature and Capture the Big Plum.

CONFERENCE IN N. Y.

Friends of Former United States Senator James Smith, Jr., Are in the Pow-Wow of Leaders.

Plans were made at a conference of New Jersey Democrats at the Manhattan Hotel in New York yesterday for a movement that contemplates the election by the New Jersey Legislature next Winter of a Democrat to succeed United States Senator John F. Dryden.

This is to be accomplished, according the plan, by the overturning of the Republican majority on joint ballot in the coming Legislature, and replacing it with a joint meeting controlled by the Democrats.

In whose interest as a Senatorial candidate the meeting may have been called is a matter of conjecture only. It was a secret one, and held on the call of Chairman William B. Gourley of the New Jersey State Democratic Committee, and was attended by among others, "Polly" Kelley, of New Brunswick; Johnston Cornish, State Senator from Warren county, and William J. Thompson, of Gloucester City. These were all local lieutenants of ex-United States Senator James Smith, Jr., of Newark, before he "retired from politics" a few weeks ago.

Ever since election day rumor has piled on rumor of gross frauds in the count and tallying of the votes cast in the counties of Middlesex, Monmouth and Cape May.' The Republican legislative candidates, who expect to sit in the Senatorial contest, were declared elected by small majorities by the canvassing boards in each county. Democrats in all three counties have insisted that if the boxes were opened and the ballots recounted the figures will seat the Democratic candidates in all three counties.

The Democrats of Cape May have obtained from the Supreme Court an order for a recount of the votes in that county. If the new tally shows the Democrat to have been elected there, the court can issue to him a certificate of election that will supersede that given by the returning board to his Republican rival. The Democrats of the other two counties have not thus far thought it worth while, for political reasons, to ask the courts there for a recount. But they have been urging that steps be taken to have the boxes reopened by the House Committee on Credentials, which will be Democratic, when the Legislature meets.

Yesterday's conference was called to consider plans to bring about the unseating of the seven Republican Assemblymen-elect in the three counties—three each in Middlesex and Monmouth and one in Cape May. It was said that plans were perfected to set the movement to unseat them under way. The unseating of the seven would just reverse the relative strength of the two parties in the joint meeting, as made up by the returning boards. The Democrats, who now have but 37 votes on joint ballot, would have 44. The Republicans who now have 44 votes, would have but 37.

The twelve Democratic Assemblymen-elect from Hudson county, who are opposed to Senator Smith's return to Washington, say that the recount movement is in his interest and that they will not aid in the new Legislature. They declare that the method is revolutionary and that when Leon Abbott employed it to get control of the Legislature of 1887 the results to the Democratic party in the State were most disastrous.

BOLDNESS OF A TRAMP.

Helped Himself to Meal in Chatham Home After Given One.

Chatham, Nov. 28.—To add to the already tense situation here regarding the recent burglar scare, Mrs. Frank L. Mead had an experience Monday. She was summoned to the kitchen door by a persistent knocking, and on opening it found a most unkempt specimen of the "genius hobo," who asked for something to eat. Mrs. Mead complied with this request.

The man ate and went away while Mrs. Mead, dismissing the matter from her mind, returned to her household duties. About a half hour later Mrs. Mead was startled on coming downstairs to see the man she had just fed seated at the table helping himself liberally, with an appetite apparently only whetted by his previous repast. Speechless with astonishment she could only stare at him, while the man remarked that she "set a very good table."

"I'm making a very good breakfast this time," he said, "and I guess when I've had another cup of coffee I'll be through."

He then went into the kitchen and helped himself to another cup of coffee. After drinking it he proceeded to wash his hands and face. By this time Mrs. Mead had recovered her self-possession, and going out summoned her father, George Spencer. The hobo, however, made his escape.

THE PURE FOOD LAW.

Will Not Be Amended at Coming Short Session of Congress.

Washington, Nov. 28.—Manufacturers of canned and all kinds of prepared foods will be interested in a declaration made yesterday morning by Representative Mann, of Chicago, to the effect that Congress, at the coming session, will not amend the pure food law. There will be hearings, however, on two proposed amendments. One is to label the packages of foodstuffs to show the exact amount in pounds or liquid measure that they contain. The other is to stamp the date upon each package, as it is prepared for the market.

"Nothing will be done in the way of enacting amendments at this session," declared Representative Mann. "The time is too short. We shall simply gather all the information possible upon the question at issue."

Postal Fraud Order Issued.

Washington, Nov. 28.—The Fireproof Safety Wick Works, Super-Asbestos building, Brooklyn, N. Y., its officers and agents, as such, and A. J. Knight have been excluded from the use of the mails by order of Postmaster General Cortelyou. Knight was the manager of the firm named, and it was charged that his business was conducted in violation of the fraud provisions of the postal laws. He advertised in "want" columns for agents, who were guaranteed good pay if they would take up the work of selling super-asbestos wicks for lamps, giving "a light equal to electricity."

GORGEOUS GOWNS SEEN AT OPERAS OPENING

SOME OF THE COSTLY ROBES IN WHICH THE ULTRA-FASHIONABLES APPEARED

Following are some of the countless number of attractive gowns seen on the opening night at the Metropolitan Opera house:

Mrs. Henry Clews, after a summer spent in travel in Europe, was radiantly beuatiful in a gown of rose pink satin, with marvellous trimmings of silver embroidery and point lace; a touch of black velvet encrusted in gems finished the corsage and a necklace of diamond solitaires, with huge pendants of pink pearls, loaned itself to beautify one of the striking costumes of the night. Mrs. Clews wore on her coiffure a coronet of diamonds and pearls.

Mrs. Richard T. Wilson, Sr., was in a rich but simple gown of white satin appliqued in black. She also wore a coronet of diamonds and a necklace and collar and pendants of diamonds and pearls.

Lady Herbert, her daughter, was extremely attractive in a costume of black velvet, the front of the corsage ornamented with a cluster of gardenias and the head with a tall bandeau of diamonds and silver leaves. Her collar was of diamonds and pearls.

Mrs. Thomas Hitchcock, Sr.—Old fashioned gray satin, brocaded with great pink splash roses and trimmed with beautiful old lace; on the corsage was a suggestion of black jet, the long spray of the foliage entertwined in pink. Her headdress was of black velvet and silver.

Mrs. Goodhue Livingston—Gorgeous gown of palest shade of pink satin chiffon, combined with white tulle, showered with silver. She also wore a tiare of diamonds and a necklace of solitaires and pearls.

Mrs. Charles B. Alexander—Cream white satin princess gown, made with trimmings.

Mrs. Philip M. Lydig—Cream white satin princess gown, the skirt made severely plain and the bodice profusely embroidered in silver and green satin to represent foliage; head ornament of diamonds and pearls.

Mrs. William D. Sloane—Emerald green velvet with beautiful Venetian lace trimmings on the corsage; chain of diamonds and emeralds, collar of diamonds and coronet of diamonds and emeralds.

Mrs. Cortlandt Field Bishop—Electric blue satin, embroidered with silver and trimmed with silver spangled lace and tulle; necklace of diamonds and turquoise, and in the coiffure a rose of diamonds and a bandeau of diamonds and emeralds.

Mrs. Lloyd S. Bryce—Empire gown of salmon pink satin, the corsage heavily trimmed with silver passementerie; collar and necklace of diamonds and pearls and a tiara of the same gems.

Miss Angelica Gerry—Pale blue satin, the corsage strapped with bands of silver and gold embroidery, to which was attached a cluster of American Beauty roses.

Miss Mabel Gerry—Pale heliotrope satin, with silver spangled tulle and lace, and a feather aigrette of white and mauve.

Miss Janet Fish—Deep rose pink satin, with gold embroidery in the coiffure and a bandeau of gold leaves and a huge aigrette of black feathers.

Miss Maria de Acosta—Simple gown of white satin and chiffon, with white roses and foliage in the coiffure.

Mrs. Pembroke Jones—Pale blue satin and point lace, a collar and necklace of diamonds and pearls and a stomacher and taira of diamonds.

Miss Sadie Jones—Pale blue satin and chiffon, with a Grecian bandeau of gold in the coiffure.

Mrs. August Belmont, Jr.—Mole colored chiffon velvet, embroidered with silver, with touches of deep crimson satin at the corsage, a wreath of gold leaves and several strings of superb pearls.

Mrs. Craig Biddle—Pale pink satin combined with gold spangled lace and chiffon, a tiara of diamonds and a necklace of diamonds and emeralds.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

The company playing "Montana," which is to be seen at the New Plainfield theatre tomorrow afternoon and night, contains among its members some of the best known people in the theatrical world. Mr. Carey, the author of the play, has long been known as one of the best leading men in the country, having supported some of the best of stars such as Mrs. Fiske and E. H. Sothern. The other members all have been spesially selected for their respective parts. The scenic effects are many and beautiful. Two horses are required in the play, and both are thoroughbreds, having been brought from Montana by Mr. Carey himself.

Florence Davis, supported by Elliott Dexter in "The Player Maid," will be the attraction at the New Plainfield theatre next Friday night. The play is a story of life in England in the eighteenth century, in which the blending of humor and romance forms the principal feature, with a touch of the emotional to give the comedy more zest. It deals with the adventures of a young actress of London, a spoiled favorite of society, with a keen wit and high temper, who masquerades as a young English heiress under rather unusual circumstances. The plot is a complicated one and bristles with witticisms and unusually funny situations.

Henry W. Savage, who will present for the first time in Plainfield at the New Plainfield theatre Saturday afternoon and night Reginald De Koven's new opera, "The Student King," is proud of many things in connection with the new production, but, most of all, of the personnel of the company he has organized for the presentation. This he considers as phenomenal in comic opera and as a crowning achievement. He has seen so much of singers who could not act and actors who could not sing that he determined no such reproach should attach to this production. Every member of the cast must have a voice of the very highest quality and, in addition, be endowed with superior acting ability. This was a hard thing to effect, but he feels confident that he has accomplished the almost insurmountable task. Each actor or actress was carefully considered from every point of view—voice, histrionic powers, appearance and suitability and adaptability to the role to be assumed. The process of elimination naturally went on, until now, or so Mr. Savage believes, there is not a discordant note in the whole organization.

THE REAL TEST

Of Herpicide Is In Giving It a Thorough Trial.

There is only one test by which to judge of the efficiency of any article and that is by its ability to do that which it is intended to do. Many hair vigors may look nice and smell nice, but the point is—do they eradicate Dandruff and stop falling hair?

No, they do not, but Herpicide does, because it goes to the root of the evil and kills the germ that attacks the papilla from whence the hair gets its life.

Letters from prominent people everywhere are daily proving that Newbro's Herpicide stands the "test of use."

It is a delightful dressing, clear, pure and free from oil or grease.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Dept. Mich.

GEOLOGY REPORT IS REMARKABLE

WHAT LATEST OF THIS STATE HAS TO PRESENT TO JERSEYMEN.

The annual report of the State geologist, Henry B. Kummel, has just come from the public printers, and it contains an unusually interesting series of articles by specialists in the matters discussed. These reports have been of great value to the industrial and scientific interests of the State, and have come to be regarded as almost indispensable aids to even a moderate knowledge of our State's resources and adaptabilities. The present report is for the year 1905, but its printing has been relayed that it might incorporate some special reports of great importance, rather than have the information in them held back for nearly, if not quite, a half year longer. Besides the administrative report of Mr. Kummel, there is a very carefully written paper on the "Changes Along the Jersey Coast," showing the action of the sea, the character and efficiency of the reclamation works, and the need of more thorough State supervision and direction in collating data and in the work of reclamation. This as well as the other reports is well illustrated with plates and drawings.

Then there is a "Brief Sketch of Possil Plants" and "The Flora of the Cliffwood Clays," by Edward W. Berry. This account of the fossil plants and their value to the geologist is interesting as well as instructive to those who are fond of science for itself.

Mr. Kummel has written two of the remaining reports himself, one on "The Chemical Composition of the White Crystalline Limestones of Sussex and Warren Counties" and one on "The Mining Industry."

The increased use of limestone in the manufacture of Portland cement and the reduction of ores makes the first paper a valuable addition to our knowledge of the distribution and chemical character of this limestone. In connection with this report there is a very fine etached map of the limestone section, with the deposits clearly indicated on it.

Another map also accompanies a long and carefully prepared discussion of the "Peat Deposits of Northern New Jersey," by C. W. Parmlee and W. E. McCourt. Peat has something of the composition of bituminous coal and is produced in much the same way. It is used largely in Europe as a fuel, and its occurrence in many of the swamps of Northern New Jersey has led to its exploitation both as a fuel and as a litter for cattle, in which latter use it is scarcely equaled in value by any other product.

LEGAL OPINION ON THE FREEHOLDERS.

Fiscal Years of Boards Begin January 1, According to Attorney-General.

Newark, Nov. 28.—Attorney-General Robert H. McCarter has sent to E. C. Hutchinson, of Trenton, State Commissioner of Public Roads, an opinion concerning the tenure of office of the freeholders of this and other counties. Mr. McCarter declares that, according to his understanding of the law, the fiscal year of the various boards of freeholders begins January 1. A copy of the Attorney-General's opinion has been forwarded to County Counsel Joseph L. Munn.

Mr. Munn has not decided what action he will take about the opinion. Mr. Munn had already taken the position that Mr. McCarter takes now, but later, it was understood, changed his opinion and believed that December 1 was the proper date. The newly-elected Democratic members have all along taken the latter view, and had been so advised by Herbert Boggs and other lawyers.

Mr. McCarter's opinion was rendered at the request of Mr. Hutchinson, and is as follows:

"I have your favor of the 31st ult. As I understand the law the fiscal year of the Boards of Chosen Freeholders commences January 1 of each year. I am of the opinion that under the law the boards of freeholders, when organized, are entitled to make appropriations for lawful county purposes, either at their annual stated meeting or at any other meeting duly held and called for the purpose in accordance with the provisions of Section 4 of the act from which you quoted in your letter."

Walks in Front of Train.

Joseph Ellingswood, thirty-eight years old, of No. 174 Peshine avenue, Newark, was killed by a Pennsylvania Railroad train in Kearny, yesterday morning. The train was running at a rate of about forty miles an hour. Ellingswood apparently did not see it or hear the whistle, as he walked in front of it. Ellingswood was a superintendent for McMullen & McDermott, contractors, on some Pennsylvania Railroad work at the point where he was killed. He left a widow and four children.

Miss Harriet Dudley, of Troy, N. Y., has been visiting friends in town.

—Charles P. Sebring has received 2,500 white brick from Sayreville, which he will use in the construction of his building on West Front street, adjoining the Babcock building.

"Saving produces a peace of mind unknown to him who in time of misfortune must depend on the bounty of his friends. Determine to save, for will power is the prime essential. Deposit regularly. Lay aside some portion of each's week's or month's income. Deposit extra and unexpected receipts."

An Hour Before Trial Charles Eaton Marries Plainfield Girl.

Miss Martha Stevens, of this city, and Charles Eaton, of Orange, were the principals in a marriage ceremony performed in the rooms of the Board of Freeholders, Elizabeth, yesterday, by Justice Toucey, of Westfield. The marriage was the termination of what promised to be the trial of a breach of promise suit instituted by the young woman. Mr. Eaton agreed to marry Miss Stevens just before the hour set for the trial.

When the ceremony was finished Alderman John K. English, the assistant prosecutor, took up a collection among those in the court room to buy a present for the bride. The indictment against Eaton was nolle prossed. The bride has instituted an action for $10,000 damages for Mr. Eaton's failure to carry out his promise to marry her.

TO GET LODGE JEWELS.

Two Charter Members of D. of R. to Be Remembered.

Three candidates were initiated and three were elected at the meeting of Friendship Lodge, No. 4, Daughters of Rebekah, last night. The lodge appointed Joseph Sheppard and Mrs. W. J. Ford a committee to present jewels to the two charter members, Mrs. Joseph Sheppard and Mrs. Theodore Kurzhals, after a membership of fifteen years. The presentation was made with an appropriate speech, expressing the esteem of the lodge for the excellent work of the veteran members.

Refreshments were served after the meeting and Thanksgiving favors were distributed. The committee in charge consisted of Mrs. Peter Van Fleet, Mrs. J. B. Higgins and Jacob Kittenring. On Tuesday night the lodge will hold a sociable at the home of Mrs. Ludgate, 362 Evona avenue.

STRUCTURAL COMPANY.

The New Jersey Structural Company, of which O. B. Leonard, James M. Leonard and Hubert N. Holder are the incorporators, has been organized.

The capital stock is $5,000. The company is to deal in building materials, and its registered office is in this city. James M. Leonard is the agent in charge.

Discussed Street Matters.

The councilmanic street committee met last night to consider several matters needing attention at this time. The question of putting West End avenue in condition was discussed and it was decided to do everything possible to put that thoroughfare in shape. Considerable filling is necessary to bring the avenue up to grade before it can be macadamized, and the committee gave instructions to the street commissioner to do all in his power to secure dirt with which to fill in the street. Eventually, probably early in the new year, steps will be taken to install a sanitary sewer in the avenue.

New St. Stephen's Vestry.

The following vestrymen were elected at the annual meeting of St. Stephen's P. E. church last night: Dr. George Dupee, Adam C. Hill, Albert J. Beale, for three years; Robert H. McCready, Alfred Lacey, J. C. Haywood, for two years; F. L. Hebert, Clarence H. Weekes, one year. The election was held under a new rule, suggested by the rector, Rev. A. S Peck, which changed the terms of the vestrymen from one year to three years. Until this year all the vestrymen were elected together. They will now go in and out in groups of three.

Avenged Slaughter of His Pets.

Henry Rummel, of Park place, was greatly vexed one night last week when a dog entered his yard and killed five pet rabbits. He decided to keep watch to see if the canine returned and his vigil was rewarded early this morning. The animal had killed two more rabbits before Rummel got a shot gun out of the window but when he fired doggie's slaughtering days were over. The noise of the shot and the death yell of the canine aroused the whole neighborhood and brought the police but Rummel made the necessary explanations.

At a regular communication of Anchor Lodge, No. 149, F. & A. M., last night, the entered apprentice degree was conferred on H. K. Tetsuka, of Belvidere avenue. After the work a banquet was enjoyed.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

An entertainment will be given in the Salvation Army Hall by the Sunday-school, tomorrow night. Refreshments will be served.

The Women's Home Missionary Society, of Grace M. E. church, will hold a sociable at the home of E. A. Vermeule, 28 Jackson avenue, Friday night, November 30.

Discussing the subject, "The Church and the Working Man," at a dinner of the Congregational Club Tuesday evening in Pouch Gallery, Henry G. Williams, vice-president of the Federation of Labor, said that the chief difficulty with the church is its lack of interest in the laboring man. There was a large attendance of prominent members of Congregational churches at the dinner and they were deeply interested in the problem. They showed no resentment when Mr. Williams criticised them for their indifference and said that most church people did not understand conditions as they exist among the poor.

DENTIST'S OFFICE ROBBED OF $350 WORTH OF GOLD.

Discovery Made by Dr. Frank W. French When He Needed Some of It Yesterday.

Dr. Frank W. French, whose dental office is on Craig place, had occasion to use some gold for a crown yesterday, and went to a closet to get it. When he pulled a drawer open he was greatly surprised to find that his entire supply had been removed, the total value being placed at $350. It had been stolen either Monday night or yesterday noon while he was at lunch, as it was all there Monday afternoon.

Chief Marshall Weiss was notified and he made a thorough investigation. In his opinion the place was entered by some one who had a key to the office as not a window or lock had been tampered with.

Pastor Shott Surprised.

Rev. Gideon M. Shott was surprised by his church and congregation last night. The personal expressions of appreciation were many and the edible evidences of care for the table of the pastor was in evidence in the huge turkey and accompaniments. In his recent anniversary sermon he told his people that he had typewritten enough manuscript during the year to make seven octavo volumes of 350 pages each, besides being secretary of several things requiring a large amount of writing. The Lyons Farms Baptist church is among the oldest (1769) in the State, and is the mother of all the churches in the city of Newark. It is now within the city limits, and the neighborhood is rapidly building up on both sides.

TO INVESTIGATE VOTING MACHINE.

State Board of Canvassers to Look Into Discrepancy of Figures.

Before the conclusion of the meeting of the State Board of canvassers at the State House, Trenton, yesterday, which was attended by Senator E. R. Ackerman, the subject of an inaccuracy in a voting machine in Rahway township, Union county, was brought up. It was stated that the machine registered more votes than the total number of votes in the township.

The inaccuracy was in the congressional contest between Fowler and Martine. The machine tallied about ninety more votes than it should have registered. The board of canvassers decided to meet at the State House on December 11 to examine the machine and to investigate the matter fully.

PHONETIC SPELLING'S COURSE.

Opinion that President's Order May Lead to Dissension with Congress.

Washington, Nov. 28.—A clash is said to be threatened between the White House and Congress over the reformed spelling. Public Printer Charles H. Stillings sees trouble ahead.

The first draft of the executive bill to be considered by a sub-committee of the House Committee on Appropriations was received at the Capitol Monday. It contains a number of phonetically spelled words in accordance with the order issued by the President some months ago.

The President, it is said here, has authority to require the public printer to adopt reformed spelling in all documents that emanate from the White House and the executive departments, but has no control over the printing of Congress.

Public Printer Stillings has used the phonetic form in the executive bill and also in the Treasury estimates, which are about to be issued.

Still the Caruso Case.

New York, Nov. 28.—Police Commissioner Bingham yesterday in effect repudiated the declarations of his third deputy, Mr. Mathot, concerning the frequency of cases similar to that on which Enrico Caruso was convicted, and in addition is thought to have administered to his deputy a sharp reprimand for his sensational utterances. The Commissioner declared that not only was he unaware that a bishop, a priest, another clergyman and other men high in the community had been convicted and fined for the offence, but that he had not ordered and would not approve of any order to compile a list of the convictions in police courts. He added significantly that there will be no more talking in the case, and he intimated that there may be an investigation into the manner in which some policemen work in Central Park.

Belt Scalped Girl.

New York, Nov. 28.—While at work in a factory in West Thirty-ninth street last night Rose Creghino, twenty-two years old, of No. 28 West Thirty-ninth street, was scalped and her skull fractured by her hair being caught in a belt. There was a panic as the girl was whirled through the air in the presence of about two hundred of her companions. Had she not retained her presence of mind in placing her hands above her head, partly releasing her hair, she would have been instantly killed. While she was being taken to Bellevue the lat rites of the church were administered to her. She is not expected to live.

Sues Theatre for $5,000 Damages.

Paterson, Nov. 28.—Papers in the suit of John H. Mickel against the Apollo Theatre Company have been served by Sheriff Van Noort. The suit is the outcome of a misunderstanding which occurred in the Lyceum theatre on the ejectment of Mr. Mickel from the building, during which it is claimed he was severely beaten by a special officer, who was on duty at the place. Mickel asks $5,000 damages.

Presented "Old Acre Folks."

The "Willing Workers," members of Mrs. Gise's Sunday-school class of the Dunellen M. E. church presented a sketch, "Old Acre Folks," in the church, last night. The Ladies' Orchestra, of Dunellen, furnished the music for the occasion. Miss Lulu Gise and the Oreal Glee Club assisted.

UNITED IN THANKSGIVING

Protestant Ministers and Their Flocks Throng Crescent Ave. Church.

IMPRESSIVE SERVICE

Rev. Hugh Black Preaches—Catholics and Episcopalians Hold Separate Services as Customary.

According to the custom which has been observed for many years, the various congregations of the city joined in a union Thanksgiving service at the Crescent Avenue church, yesterday morning. It was attended by one of the largest gatherings that have yet been noted, practically every seat in the body of the edifice being taken.

As in previous instances, the local ministers were invited to participate in the programme and many of them responded. The speaker for the day was Rev. Hugh Black, M. A., late of Free St. George's church, Edinburgh, Scotland, who recently accepted a call to become professor of practical theology at Union Seminary, New York.

With him on the platform were Dr. J. S. Zelie, of the Crescent Avenue church; Rev. Charles L. Goodrich, of the Congregational church; Rev. C. E. Herring, of the First Presbyterian church; Dr. J. A. Chambliss, of the First Baptist church; Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck, of Trinity Reformed church; Rev. J. W. Musson, of Faith chapel; Rev. L. R. Howard, of Hope chapel, and Rev. A. E. Finn, of the Park Avenue Baptist church.

Many of the clergymen took some part in the exercises, which were as follows: Anthem, reading of sentences of scripture and the President's proclamation, Dr. Zelie; invocation and the Lord's prayer, Rev. C. L. Goodrich; reading of the Psalter, Rev. L. R. Howard; reading of the scripture lesson, Rev. C. E. Herring; prayer by Dr. Chambliss; sermon, Rev. Hugh Black; general Thanksgiving, Dr. Schenck; offertory prayer, Rev. J. W. Musson. The offering was for the Plainfield Relief Association.

Rev. Hugh Black, who gave the sermon, is a man of magnetic speaking power and he has a forceful way of presenting his ideas. He took his text yesterday from Deuteronomy xi:21: "That your days may be multiplied, and the days of your children, in the land which the Lord sware unto your fathers to give them, as the days of Heaven upon the earth."

In speaking, he dwelt particularly on the last phrase and said that throughout the Bible and the life of Christ there is always a looking forward to the days of Heaven upon the earth. The same is true of human nature as a whole, mankind always looking forward to a good time, holding the belief that the golden age is in the future and not in the past. With special reference to Thanksgiving, Mr. Black acknowledged that the last year and previous years have been prosperous ones but declared that the people must rid themselves of the idea that Heaven will come on earth from material prosperity. Heaven, he said, is in the heart and we must be actuated by it.

Mr. Black is the author of a number of well known books and ranks high as a preacher. His best known work is "Friendship" and another one recently published, "Listening to God," has gained wide prominence.

Two services were held at the Church of the Holy Cross yesterday morning, one at 7:30 and the morning prayer and sermon at 10:30 by Rev. George A. Warner, rector, with selections by the choir. The offering, which was a large one, was given to the missionary fund of the parish.

Services were held at 7 and 10 o'clock at Grace church, yesterday morning, the rector, Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, being in charge. At the 10 o'clock service, Mr. Stevenson preached the sermon and there was special music by the choir. The offering was received for the parish work.

Rev. A. S. Peck, rector, conducted special services at St. Stephen's church, yesterday morning, at 7 and 10:30, preaching a sermon at the last service. There was a special offering for the home for old and disabled clergymen, while the donations of fruits and vegetables were distributed among the poor of the parish.

There were two masses at St. Mary's church, yesterday morning, at 6:30 and 9 o'clock. Father Delehanty was in charge of the early mass and Father Bogan the one following. At St. Joseph's church, the borough, Father Schandel had charge of the mass at 7 o'clock and Father Miller the one at 8 o'clock.

P. H. S. PUPILS PRESENT WELL VARIED PROGRAM

ALL FOUR CLASSES, CONTRIBUTE TO THE ENTERTAINMENT

A reception and class entertainments given by the pupils of the Plainfield High School for the benefit of the Athletic Association were held in the High School on Thanksgiving Eve.

The freshmen presented "Madam Jarley's Wax Works." Those who took part were: Miss Arline Brown, as Madam Jarley; the Misses Eleanore DeGroff, Bessy Alpaugh, Barbara Fleming, Louise Andrews, Katherine Phillips, Ruth McNiff, Pauline Spear and Ida Tier; Howard Runyon, Harold Schenck, James Major, Douglas Davis, Jerry Welsh and Russell Miller.

The minstrel show, given by the sophomore class, made a great hit. William Briggs and Clyde Doane were typical end men, and Charles Loizeaux made a good interlocker. The company was composed of Guion Fountain, John Linderbury, "Bug" Bogardus, Henry de Brigard, William Briggs, Clyde Doane and Charles Loizeaux.

Solos were sung by, Guion Fountain and Clyde Doane, the first being "Cheer Up Mary," and the other "Bill Simons." The entire company sang "My Old Kentucky Home," "Cheyenne," and the class song, which was written by Miss Sadie Brouwer. Hits on the teachers and pupils of the school added interest to the affair.

The juniors gave a pantomime represented of "The Ballad of the Oyster Man." Those who took part in this were Miss Esther Crampton, Walter Caldwell and Arthur Titsworth. The shadow-work was cleverly arranged and the acting well done. Miss Elizabeth Pound was the reader.

Originality was the striking feature of the seniors' exhibit, which was one of freaks. Care and thoughtfulness in preparation was apparent in the make-up and execution of each part. The different curiosities, and those who represented them were these: Fat Man, Robert Kyte; Cachmere Vale Famine Victim, Bertrum Leggett; The What Is It? Joseph Osgood; Missing Link, William Douglas; Snake Charmer, Paul Brakely; Trained Monkeys, Joseph VanDeventer and Weston Gavett; Bearded Lady, Stanley Fisher; Legless Man, Fred Smith; Peter Bughans, the Giant, D. Taylor.

Miss Queenie Tillitson was the palmist and in the sound-proff, parent's consulting room on the first floor she revealed the future of many.

The candy counter was in charge of Miss Mildred Berry. Before and after the entertainments dancing was enjoyed for a short time; music was furnished by Miss Mable Maxson, piano; Arthur Mosher, violin, and Percy Mygrant, cornet.

During the last three dances refreshments were served.

The committee in charge of the entertainment was Weston Gavette, chairman, Fred Smith and Robert Kyte. A good sum was cleared.

ALL THE FOLKS HAD A REAL GOOD TIME.

At the Pad and Pencil Club's Annual Country Dance.

Chin whiskers, overalls and crinkled boots, in an atmosphere replete with segments of cornshucks and the odor of cider, were plentious in Taylor's hall, North and Park avenues, Wednesday night. The spirit behind them being right, and the fiddlers, the fellers who played the horn, and the perfessor who played the pi-anner, all being real good musicians, just like what they have down to New York, the fourth annual country dance of the Pad and Pencil Club proved to be an event long to be remembered in annals of our beautiful and thriving village.

The hall was decorated with cornshucks and pumpkins. There was a sufficiency of cornstalks, but the pumpkins bespoke a poor crop. Harry Hughes, who is the noblest farmer of them all, explained to the city folks who asked about this that most of the pumpkins planed last spring had turned into pies.

Cider was plentiful. That is, when the dance started. It wasn't so plentiful after a bit. The committee, made up of the genial Elisha Firstbrook, "Pip" Hacquer and Thomas Muir, tried a new departure and fixed up some grape-juice, but the folks didn't take to it much. Too darned highfalutin.

The dance lasted until the wee sma' hours of the morning, and everybody went home loud in their praises of the hosts. They were very complimentary over the music, which was furnished by eight pieces, well assorted, of the Plainfield Band. First Fiddler Fisher deserves great credit for the way he kept the boys playing together.

—The Physical department of the Y. M. C. A. will hold a business meeting tonight.

CHARGES AGAINST TAYLOR ACCUMULATED

ACCUSED OF CHICKEN-STEALING, THREATS AND TROUSERS' THEFT.

Mulford Cole swore out a warrant against Lucius Taylor, colored, for stealing two roosters from his barn, one day last week. The police were looking for Taylor a day or two ago when John Ford, also colored, came to headquarters, and told them where to find him. He wanted Taylor arrested on his own account, for the alleged theft of a pair of trousers—alleged value $5. Taylor was arrested, and he faced Justice Mosher this morning under the three charges.

In addition to the accusations of theft, he was charged with having made threats against Mr. Cole. The latter is an old man.

Taylor is said to have heard that Mr. Cole knew he took the roosters, and was about to have him taken into custody. The negro, it is alleged, went to Mr. Cole and told the aged man that if he had him arrested he would kill him when he came out of jail.

Taylor acknowledged breaking into the barn and taking the roosters, but denied making threats. He was held in $200 bail for the grand jury on the breaking and entering charge.

The trousers case fizzled out. Taylor said the trousers belonged to him. He left them with an uncle, he testified, and the latter gave or sold them to Ford. He learned they were in Ford's room and went there after them. He showed Detective McCarthy where the tailor had written his name on a tag under the waist edge. Ford had no proof to offer in rebuttal of that testimony and this charge was dismissed.

LARGE GATHERING AT FUNERAL OF J. K. MYERS.

Many New York Business Men and Associates Among the Mourners.

With a gathering of relatives and friends in attendance that overflowed his late home on East Seventh strett, the funeral of Jared Kirtland Myers was held Wednesday afternoon. The attendants included many business men from New York and a host of Mr. Myers' associates in the American Bank Note Company, of which he was vice president.

The service was conducted by Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie, of the Crescent Avenue church, assisted by Dr. John C. Bliss, of New York, who was Mr. Myers' first pastor in this city. Interspersing their remarks, selections were sung by the Lotus Glee Club. The floral tributes were among the handsomest ever seen at a local funeral and were numbered by scores. There were many large set pieces from the officers and employes of the bank note company and other firms in New York.

Interment was made in Hillside cemetery, the pall bearers being Charles W. McCutchen, James T. Closson, Charles J. Fisk, George Wharton Edwards, Louis Kepler Hyde, T. H. Freeland, Frederick A. C. Perrine and Charles F. Abbott.

The friends who came from New York to attend the funeral were brought out in a special car attached to the 1:20 train.

MANY ENJOY THANKSGIVING EVE DANCE AT PARK CLUB.

Annual Social Event Attracts Society People From This City and Elsewhere.

The Thanksgiving Eve dance at the Park Club proved to be a highly enjoyable affair. It was largely attended by members, including a great many out-of-town guests and a number of young men and women who are home from college for the holiday season. There was no special decorations, but the stage was made attractive by the arrangements of many palms. VonDerHeid's Orchestra, of Newark, furnished the music for the dancing and the numbers were well selected.

The patronesses for the dance included Mrs. J. H. Howell, Mrs. J. P. Northrop, Mrs. Allen B. Laing, Mrs. J. C. Peck and Mrs. G. G. Davidge. The affair was given under the direction of the entertainment committee of the club, of which Mrs. Charles A. Reed is the chairman.

Rehearsal for Opera.

The Plainfield Operatic Association will meet Monday night at the Casino, when work will be resumed on "The Chimes of Normandy," which will be given at the Casino during January. Before that time there is likely to be some c hanges in the chorus, as some of the members contemplate leaving the city. The association has a waiting list of seventeen from which to select voices. It is also likely that when the next concert is given there will be at least one or two soloists of note.

The election of vestrymen at Grace church will be held Monday night.

HUNT CLUB'S BIG DAY

Rides From New York and Elsewhere Join in Hunt and Attend Breakfast.

CROWDS SEE THE CHASE

Jumpers in Fine Trim—Special Train Brings Riders to Baltusrol.

Thanksgiving Day was a gala one for the members and friends of the Watchung Hunt Club, the delightful weather attracting about 300 people to the Baltusrol Golf Club, for the hunt breakfast which was given by Mrs. Charles D. Freeman and Louis Keller. Elaborate preparations were made for the entertainment of the club and its guests, and the clubhouse was beautifully decorated appropriate to the season.

A special train on the Lehigh Valley Railroad from New York brought a large number of prominent people from the metropolis, including Mr. and Mrs. Reeve Merritt, cousins of President Roosevelt, who joined in the hunt.

After the hunt breakfast, the hounds were brought up in front of the clubhouse, and with the riders, their horses and the guests, there was presented an attractive picture. All roads leading to Baltusrol were crowded with horses and carriages and automobiles, and when the hunt was started, many followed in carriages and autos, while others were lined up along the course selected to watch the jumpers. There were a great many spills, but no one was injured.

The course selected is a sporty one, extending from Baltusrol to Scotch Plains, about eight miles. It runs along the mountains and there are numerous fences and deep ravines to jump. The hunt ended at the home of Mrs. Warren Ackerman in Scotch Plains.

Many of the horses did not take the jumps clear and clean, in fact the only horse that had a perfect record was Beau Brummel, ridden by the new whip, William Comons, who has just come from England. Tom Vaughan, the other club whip, rode Pilot. Beau Brummel was recently brought to Plainfield from Virginia by Dr. M. O'M. Knott and considering that he is only four years old his performance is remarkable:

Among those in the party yesterday were the following:

Mr. and Mrs. Reeve Merritt, Mrs. A. C. Wilmerding, Mr. and Mrs. George R. Sheifselin, Miss Belt, Yale Smith, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Shepard, Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Johnson, Miss Grace Ruggles, Mrs. Renshtaw Jones, the Misses Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. R. Hudson, Miss DeBarry, Mrs. Townsend Ashmore, Miss Ashmore, Mr. and Mrs. Beverley Robinson, Miss Ruth Lawrence, Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Darrell, Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Farrelly, Mr. and Mrs. Courtland VanRennelaer, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Roosevelt, Miss Beatrice Bonner, Gerald Bonner, Mr. and Mrs. Ashton Harvey, Miss Harvey, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Motley, Mr. and Mrs. Squire, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Notman, Mrs. Dallas Bache Pratt, Miss Pratt, Mrs. Arthur Mason Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Lester DelGarcia, Philip Brickhead, Dr. and Mrs. Walter E. Lambert, of New York; Harold Freeman and Leon S. Freeman, of Morristown; Chauncey Sayre, Robert R. Howard, Louis Batzer, Miss Gertrude Noe, G. M. Jeffries, Robert Barclay, J. E. Barclay, C. W. Lentz, H. Duncan Bulkley, H. Bernard Smith, William Lock, of Orange; Mr. and Mrs. Augustus W. Fisk, Mr. and Mrs. Edward M. VanBuren, Mr. and Mrs. Woods, Mr. and Mrs. Davies, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Brown, N. Pendleton Rogers, Sr., Lewis E. Waring, Richard Waring, W. H. Wilde, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Bellowes, R. H. Shebbeare, W. deLa. Anderson, Rupert Anderson, Miss Chandor, Hartley Mellick, Mr. and Mrs. H. Reeve Stockton, Dr. M. O'M. Knott, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Kirkner and H. A. Bourne.

Father Frederici's Successor.

Rev. Vincent Sciolla, who has been the priest in charge of the Church of the Holy Rosary, Jersey City, has been sent to St. Mary's church to succeed Father Frederici, who in turn has been put in charge of the Church of the Holy Rosary, Jersey City. The appointment was made by Bishop O'Connor. Father Sciolla will, in addition to his other duties in the parish, will have charge of the Italian work. He is a middle aged man and has been in Jersey City for several years. He will come to Plainfield tomorrow.

Miss Reed Entertains.

Miss Madeline Reed, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Reed, of Myrtle avenue, is spending the Thanksgiving season at home and yesterday she entertained a house party, including several young women friends from Wellesley College, where she is a student.

MYSTERY UNSOLVED; NO INQUEST LIKELY

COUNSEL FOR SUSPECT HOPE TO HAVE PRISONER RELEASED.

After a conference between Prosecutor N. C. J. English and William R. Wilson, who is counsel for Theodore and Charles Uliana, of Summit, in jail at Elizabeth in connection with the supposed murder of Mrs. Uliana, it has been decided not to hold an inquest. The Prosecutor and Mr. Wilson will have another conference today. The latter is still confident that his clients will soon be discharged, and says that the State had obtained no evidence against them.

The State's detectives, who have been working on the case, seem to have made but little progress in solving the mystery. This is due principally to the fact that those who may know something about the mystery are Italians and maintain a strict silence.

Except for the finding of an axe, near where the charred body of the Uliana woman was found in the New Providence woods two weeks ago, no important clues have thus far been discovered, nor have the investigators been able to trace the movements of the woman from the time she left her home.

ENTERTAINMENT AND DANCE.

Held by Gesang and Turn Verein Thanksgiving Eve.

The Gesang and Turn Verein observed Thanksgiving eve by giving an entertainment and ball in Saengerbund Hall. A committee composed of August Wolff, Charles Meyer, Jr., Thomas Carty, Fred Schmidt, Ernest Seiler, John Retzer and Henry Rummel had arranged an excellent programme and it was enjoyed by a large gathering.

The feature of the programme was a drama entitled "Major vonKoeppnich," written by Watel Keppler, who took the title role. In the cast also were Otto Keller, Frank Bauman, Louis Koenig, M. Menzenbach and Mrs. Sutton. It was cleverly staged and was well acted. Herman Eichorn sang several selections and the Singing Section of the society contributed three numbers. The dance was given in conclusion.

During Wednesday evening and also yesterday, prize bowling matches were held on the Saengerbund alleys.

DINNER FOR YOUNG MEN.

Annual Y. M. C. A. Affair a Very Pleasant Affair.

England, Scotland and New England and the West were represented at the annual Thanksgiving dinner of the Y. M. C. A. to young men away from home. The traditional informality and bonhommie marked the affair, which was served at the Old Homestead, Washington avenue.

There were fifteen guests. One was from Newfoundland, one from Scotland, one from England, two from Illinois, four from Connecticut, four from Vermont, and one from New York State. The stories of "back home" and of the wanderings from there, which have always been the feature of the dinner, were unusually interesting. Secretary Kenneth Robbie, Physical Director Haydn W. Barrows and G. L. Listman, who represented the association at the table, did their part in the reminiscing.

Linen Shower.

The Misses Tina and Della Voehl gave a "linen shower" last night at their nome on Somerset street, in honor of their niece, Miss Adelaide Carney, of Craig place, whose marriage to Arthur Vermule Austin, is to take place on December 12. About twenty-five young people were present. The evening was spent in playing "progressive hearts.' Miss Mary G. Steiner won the prize for the women and R. E. Miller the prize for the men. The tally cards were appropriate, being in the shape of hearts, with a hand-painting of cupid with bow and arrow. Many beautiful gifts were received.

Mefford Runyon's Barn Burned.

Mefford Runyon, one of the oldest residents of Stelton, sustained a loss of between $2,000 and $3,000 Wednesday night, when fire destroyed his barn, containing between thirty and forty tons of hay and farming implements. The fire, the origin of which is unknown, was discovered at 8 o'clock in the evening and it was impossible to save anything. The barn and contents were insured.

A Family Reunion.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert M. Douglass, of West Front street, were among those who held family reunions, yesterday. They entertained sixteen at dinner and the usual festivities were enjoyed.

—Indian river oranges and grape fruit are a feature of Neuman Brothers' display of fruiits. A new lot of each just in.

FIRE DID $15,000 DAMAGE IN CRANFORD

FIRE DEPARTMENT HAD TO CALL ON DEPOSED VOLUNTEERS.

When the recently-organized paid fire department, of Cranford, was called out yesterday morning for the first time, to fight a fire at the Henry Cook livery stable, a frame structure at South avenue and High street, in that place, they were forced to ask the aid of the old volunteer department, in order to save a whole block from destruction. The firement put aside personal jealousies and worked together. They succeeded in preventing the flames from spreading to Cook's storage warehouse, a brick structure which contained $100,000 worth of furniture.

Damage to the extent of $15,000 was done. Of this Cook's loss was $10,000, with no insurance to cover it. Deitrich Krye's carpenter shop was totally destroyed, entailing a loss of $5,000. The blaze started in Krye's place, through some unknown cause. His shop was insured. The fire was the most serious which has occurred in Cranford in five years.

SENATOR ACKERMAN GIVES MUSIC BOX TO HOME.

Bountiful Turkey Dinner Served to Twenty-six Children.

One of the happy incidents at the Thanksgiving Day celebration at the Children's Home, yesterday, in addition to the bountiful dinner served to the children, was the presentation of a costly music box by Senator Ernest R. Ackerman. The gift proved a thing of delight and enjoyment to the little folks. It was immediately set going and throughout the day furnished excellent music which pleased both young and old. Senator Ackerman was cordially thanked for the acceptable gift.

There were twenty-six children at the dinner, including several who had left the Home and according to the custom, had returned for the festivities. The dinner was a turkey one, and was accompanied with all the good things that accompany it. The occasion was indeed a happy one for all and long to be remembered.

NEW MARKET ENTERTAINMENT.

Farther Lights' Society to Present an Elaborate Programme.

The Farther Lights Society of the New Market Baptist church will hold an elaborate entertainment in Friendship Hall, New Market, Tuesday night, December 4. The programme will include a farce, "A Lunch In the Suburbs," duets by Mrs. C. S. Day and Miss Edith Giles; cello solo by Otto Miller, of Dunellen; piano solo by Miss Edith Giles, of New Market; vocal solo by Miss Sanders, Dunellen; recitation by Mrs. Charles F. Day, of Plainfield, and Miss Margaret, of East Millstone.

The cast of the farce is as follows: Mrs. Jenkins, Mrs. Isaac Line; Kitty, Miss Hazel Piddington; Mrs. Brown, Miss Cora Dayton; Mrs. Martin, Mrs. C. F. Dayton; Mrs. Lawson, Miss Mattie Giles; Mrs. Page, Miss Ira Dayton; Mrs. Mountstuart, Miss Edith Garretson; Mrs. Jenkins, Sr., Mrs. Nelson B. Giles; Ellen, Miss Alice Pierce; Mary, Miss Fannie Giles.

Ice cream will be sold after the entertainment.

A Society Wedding.

A society wedding of interest to many Plainfielders took place Wednesday night in the Central M. E. church, Trenton, when Miss Norma Adele Hughes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Hughes, and Herbert P. Margerum, both of that city, were married by the pastor, Rev. S. Monroe VanSant. The maid-of-honor was Miss Aimee Emmons, of Washington avenue, and Royle Phillips, also of this city, was one of the ushers. Mr. and Mrs. John P. Emmons were also guests at the ceremony and the reception which followed at the home of the bride's parents. Mr. and Mrs. Margerum are now spending their honey moon at Palm Beach. The bride is well-known in this city, where she has been a visitor frequently at the home of Miss Emmons.

Approaching Wedding.

Mrs. Eliza J. Carney, of North Plainfield, has issued invitations to the marriage of her daughter, Miss Adelaide Carney, and Arthur Vermeule Austin, of this city. The event will be celebrated Wednesday night, December 12, at 8 o'clock at 817 West Sixth street, the new home of the bride and groom.

Thanksgiving at Cedarcroft.

The annual Thanksgiving dinner was given at the Cedarcroft School, yesterday, and in the evening there was a dance. In addition to the regular pupils at the school there were present several graduates, who make it a point to return for the celebration.

LOSS BY FIRE, $1,500

ON THANKSGIVING EVE

Impossible to Put Out Fire With Chemical Engine and Two Streams of Water Were Put On.

The home of Freeholder S. P. T. Wilbur, located at 51 Westervelt avenue, was badly damaged by fire which broke out on the third floor shortly after 10 o'clock Wednesday night. It evidently originated in the servant's room from crossed electric light wires and had gotten under great headway before it was discovered. When the firemen arrived, an attempt was made to extinguish it with the chemical stream but later two lines of hose were laid in. As a result the lower floors were flooded and a heavy loss was occasioned by water. The department worked for over an hour before the last of the blaze was killed.

Mr. Wilbur was not at home during the evening and the only occupants of the house were Mrs. Wilbur, her daughter, Miss Louise Wilbur, and a friend, Mr. Tatham, of Newark. Mrs. Wilbur was on the second floor and was started by hearing a crash coming from some part of the house and immediately afterward smelling smoke. She called downstairs to have Mr. Tatham investigate and he hurried about but found nothing suspicion. Mrs. Wilbur then opened the attic door and a volume of smoke poured out. Her cries brought Mr. Tatham upstairs and he made an effort to get to the third floor and succeeded to the extent of learning that it was ablaze from end to end. Miss Wilbur had in the meantime gone into the street and had given the alarm, box 17 being pulled by Walter McNaughton.

The firemen ran the chemical hose directly into the attic but they were soon beaten back by the thick volumes of smoke and the intense heat. Chief Doane ordered hydrant streams to be brought up. They were used with good effect and had it not been for the flooding the damage would have been comparatively small.

Mr. Wilbur was unable to estimate his loss today but Chief Doane puts it at about $1,500 complete, $500 being on personal effects. In either instance the loss is covered by insurance. The family lost nearly every bit of clothing and the servant girl suffered similarly. She had been away from the house all the evening, having gone to a ball at Saengerbund Hall.

The house will be repaired as soon as possible and in the meantime Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur and daughter will make their home with Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Howell at 53 Westervelt avenue.

THIEVES MISS $28,000 WORTH OF SECURITIES.

Burglars Did Not Know that Securities Were Negotiable—Other Houses Entered.

Elizabeth, Nov. 30.—Burglars were busy early Wednesday between Westfield and Fanwood. The residence of Enoch Miller, who runs a cider mill at Brant's Mills, was entered and a bag which contained $50 that he collected Tuesday was stolen. The thieves overlooked about $500 worth of silverware and a costly fur overcoat which were within easy reach.

The next place entered was Ferdinand Keinley's house, near by. Here they secured a new overcoat and a tin box, in which were $28,000 in negotiable securities. Not knowing the importance of the papers and failing to find money in the box, the burglars threw its contents into a field where the securities were found. The thieves also visited the residence of Clifford Woodruff, in the same neighborhood and partly ransacked the lower part of the house. So far, however, nothing has been missed.

A ROYAL COMEDY.

The officials of the privy chamber, it appears, showed plainly that it annoyed them to be obliged to eat at the same table with Moliere; so Louis, hearing of their rudeness, said to the actor during the petit lever:

"I hear you are badly entertained, M. de Moliere, and that my people don't find you good enough to eat with them. Perhaps you are hungry. Sit down here and try my en cas de nuit" (a provision made in the evening in case the royal appetite should suddenly require satisfaction during the night). Then, cutting a chicken and ordering Moliere to be seated, the King helped him to a wing, took one h imself, and gave orders that the most favorede personages of the court be admitted.

"You see, I am making Moliere eat something," said Louis, "for my valets de chambre don't find him good enough company for them."—H. Chatfield-Taylor's Moliere.

Chinese Gambler's Penance.

A Chinese cook named Chin Kan had been engaged by a wealthy Chinese in Ho In street in Canton. All the money he arned had been lost in gambling. On one occasion his master paid him some money for the provisions he supplied. The cook lost all the money at one stake. Finding that his debts were accumulating day by day, on the twenty-fourth day he went into the kitchen and chopped off the forefinger of his left hand as a self punishment and warning in order to relinquish this evil habit of gambling in the future. He became unconscious through the pain, but was brought round again in a few minutes.—Singapore Times.

Uses of Golf.

Apart from the health-giving and moral influence of golf, the game is of immense social advantage to the actor, especially the touring actor. In teh old days on tour the actor had, as a rule, only the society of his own kind, which he got very tired of after a while, or friends made in the little—so-called—political clubs, which open their doors to him and keep him up much too late at night. At the golf clubs he can now meet the best men of the town, lawyers, doctors, merchants—all classes. His ideas of life are extended; he begins to realize that all the world is not a stage; in fact, he learns to be a much nicer man, a more useful citizen, and generally a much better actor.—Fry's Magazine.

LITERARY.

The historian would probably not be justified in characterizing Dr. Penna as a brilliant man. But he is better than brilliant. He possesses in a high degree those rare qualities which inspire the confidence of men. He is honest. He can be trusted. He has always been a hard worker. From the days of his college life he has set high ideals for himself, and striven ever to do well whatever came in his hand. Modesty is characteristic of the man. The staunch qualities of his character have impressed the people, and for this reason he has been called to the high post of honor he now holds. He enters upon his duties better known by the people from north to south than any President who has preceded him. In fact, he is the only President of Brazil who has deemed it worth while to visit the different States and speak directly to the people on the issues of the day. His visits, since his election, have drawn the people together in a wonderful way. There is a feeling of common interest and unity among the States today that has probably never existed before.—From "The New President of Brazil," in the American Monthly Review of Reviews for December.

"Mr. Dooley" writes on "The Christmas Spirit" in The American Magazine for December. Following is a brief extract: "Chris'mas comes but wanst a year, an' they ain't anny other time like it. All th' rest iv th' year, fish days an' feast days, holy days an' unholy days, all th' wurruld is in a clinch. A gran' rasslin' match is goin' on in ivry corner iv th' civlyzed wurruld. We're all in a tangle, fightin', quarrelin', accordin' to our tastes. I thrust no man. No, I won't go that far. I'll say I pretind ivry man is honest, an' I believe none iv thim ar-re. In that way I keep me frinds an' save me money. Nobody thrusts me. Down th' stairs, through th' kitchen, an' into th' parlor we go, all over th' house, sthrikin' high or low, no holds barred, no blows foul. It's what Hogan call th' sthruggle f'r existence, an' it'll always go on while there's a dollar in th' wurruld, a woman, or a ribbon to wear in our coats. We've f'rgotten ivrything else but poundin' th' man undher us, or kneein' th' man on top iv us, whin suddenly we hear a voice: 'Gintlemen, gintlemen, not before th' childher.' An' we get up an' brush th' dust off our clothes an' shake hands, pretindin' it was all fun. Th' kids have come in.

"That's what Chris'mas is for, Hinnissy. But f'r that wan twinty-four hours, whin there's a white flag up, an' th' worst inimy I have, or th' worst frind, cud come within stone's throw iv me without fear, we'd die iv exhaustion."

Among the periodicals devoted more especially to short fiction The Red Book Magazine for Christmas must be given the highest place. It is quite the most noteworthy issue of this interesting publication that has thus far been brought forth. The variety of stories, the uniform excellence of the illustrations, the beauty of the women whose portraits serve to open the number, the timely fashion studies from Paris and the vivacious article on the current drama all combine to this end. The number features a charming fictional fancy by Richard Le Galliene entitled "Miranda's Love Letters," which is followed by a broadly humorous tale, "The Recoverer of Springs" by Roy Norton. Ethel K. Betts' delightfully sympathetic study of Puritan childhood, "Hannah Maria's Debut," is made doubly interesting by Maginel Wright Enright's unique illustrations.

Girl of Fifteen Kills Man.

Providence, R. I., Nov. 30.—Enos Briggs, a farm hand, was shot and killed yesterday on the top of Neutakonkanut Hill, in Johnstown, by Ethel M. Smith, the fifteen-year-old daughter of Leander Smith. The girl stood in the back hallway of her home and fired five shots from a revolver into the head and body of her victim, who died in less than five minutes. After hearing the statements of Ethel Smith and Mrs. Briggs, the Chief arrested the former and took her to the lock-up in Thornton village. The youthful prisoner declared she used the revolver in self-defence and not until after Briggs had battered down the door of the house with a piece of cordwood. She said she feared that if he had gained entrance to the house Briggs would have carried out his threats to cut both his wife and the girl to pieces. A knife which Briggs had flourished before the frightened women was found in his clothing.

The Highest Type of Ready-to-Wear.

Your Overcoat and Suit

WHERE TO GET IT.

The nearness of the holidays suggests that you must quickly decide where you're going to buy that Overcoat, Suit and Fur Garment you've been thinking about. The M. & B. Store makes it extremely easy for every man to decide.

Lots of stores satisfy the man who only wants a garment to keep him warm. But there are mighty few Manufacturing Clothiers who can or even attempt to please both the conservative man who wants exceptional quality and appearance in his clothing, and the young man who insists on ready-to-wear of pronounced individuality, as well as excellence—apparel with the ear-marks of exclusive custom tailors without the high prices.

There's no question about the popularity of the M. & B. Store with fashionable young men, nor the prestige we enjoy among conservative dressers.

Winter Suits, $10 to $30. Winter Overcoats, $12 to $48.
Fur Coats, $25 to $50. Fur Lined Coats, $80 to $225.

IF YOU DON'T KILL THE DISEASE GERMS THEY WILL KILL YOU. PEPSOIDS DRIVE THE GERMS OUT OF THE STOMACH AND REBUILDS IT. WRITE FOR A FULL SIZED BOTTLE—FREE.

A noted physician of Pittsburg, Pa., in a recent letter to Dr. Oidman says:

"In your prescription known as 'Pepsoids' you have given the medical world the greatest and most valued discovery in medicine of the present century. You have at last solved the problem that has baffled the skill of the best physicians of recent times, how to cure permanently all Acute or Chronic Stomach Diseases known as Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Catarrh of the Stomach and Digestive Weakness. I have used your prescription, 'Pepsoids,' in hundreds of cases without a single failure. I attribute the success of your treatment mainly to the fact that the disease germs of the stomach cannot resist Pepsoids. Your theory that most Stomach Diseases are brought about by multitudes of nefarious disease-breeding germs must be correct, judging from the remarkable results attained from the use of your 'Pepsoids.' I consider 'Pepsoids' the best and most valuable remedy yet discovered, for the treatment of stubborn stomach ailments."

Pepsoids cure Dyspepsia and all Stomach Diseases, in a new way, by repairing the wornout lining of the Stomach and at the same time, destroy all disease-breeding germs. Dyspepsia and the worst forms of Stomach Disorders once cured in this way never returns.

Pepsoids are sold at drug stores at 50c. a bottle on an absolute guarantee or money refunded.

If you have not used Pepsoids before, we will send you a 50-cent bottle FREE. Send us your name and address and you will receive promptly, a full sized bottle.

You do not obligate yourself to pay a cent. All we ask, after Pepsoids have cured or greatly benefitted you is, that you recommend Pepsoids to your friends. Try Pepsoids to-day—they will cure you. The Vio Chemical Co., Chicago, Ill. 9

RHODES SCHOLARSHIPS.

Of 161 Beneficiaries at Oxford, 79 Are From United States.

London, Nov. 30.—Reports on the operation of the Rhodes scholarship scheme shows that there are at present 161 beneficiaries at Oxford, of whom seventy-one are from the British colonies, seventy-nine from the United States and eleven from Germany. On the whole, so far as they have been tested, they have achieved a very high degree of academic success. Rose, of Quebec, and Bohan, of Melbourne, are among the most distinguished. Bohan won nearly £1,000 worth of scholarships in the past year.

The report shows that the colonial students are far ahead of the Americans in scholarships, probably because the prospects of coming to Oxford to study appeals less to Americans, and consequently the competition is less keen.

In athletics, however, the Americans more than hold their own. Sutton, Young, Schutt and Stevens have all won prominent events in the university sports.

Yawns First Time in 20 Years.

New Albany, Ind., Nov. 30.—Twenty years ago, when William Kepley, a local liveryman, was five years old, he was kicked in the face by a horse, and a jaw-bone was broken. When he recovered from his injuries it was found that the muscles had so contracted that he was unable to open his jaws more than half an inch, and, though he had become accustomed to it, it was always an inconvenience. For the last two months he has felt a peculiar sensation in his jaws, but gave it no particular thought, as no pain was attached to the unusual feeling. Last night while he was asleep his wife noticed him stretch his mouth into a yawn. She called his attention to it this morning, and he found he could open his jaws the same distance as other persons. He has felt no pain and cannot account for the unusual occurrence. Five years ago he appeared before a hospital clinic and was informed by specialists that he could not be cured of his affliction.

Car and Dinner Both Burn.

New York, Nov. 30.—While returning from an automobile run early yesterday afternoon, Dr. H. Sameron Easterbrock, a dentist, of Tremont and Anthony avenues, in the Bronx, was halted at 161st street and Courtlandt avenue by Policeman Wedd, of the Morrisania station. "It looks as if your machine was afire," said the policeman. The dentist and his friends jumped out and they found that the White steamer was sure enough blazing. "What kept you so late?" asked Mrs. Esterbrock, when her husband finally got home. "The automobile got burned," replied the dentist. "So did the dinner," said the wife.

Meat Riot In New York.

New York, Nov. 30.—Seeking to break up a meeting in front of his shop when a large number of women were denouncing the butchers of the district because of the high prices which they were charging for meat, Abraham Breachnor, of No. 165 Lewis street, precipitated a riot yesterday in which two women were seriously injured and others received minor hurts. The riot, which was quelled by the police, is the beginning of what promises to be an organized war waged by the women of the tenements against the meat market men for the purpose of trying to force them to lower their prices.

Kaiser's Gift to Americans.

Berlin, Nov. 30.—Emperor William, in recognition of Thanksgiving has presented a large photograph of himself to the American church here. The Rev. Dr. Dickie, pastor of the church, read a letter at the morning service yesterday from Baron von Lucanus, chief of the Emperor's Civil Cabinet, in which he said he was commanded by the Emperor to send the portrait to Dr. Dickie. The latter announced that it would be hung in the church library, by the side of the picture of President Roosevelt.

Hysteria Blinds Woman.

New York, Nov. 30.—While consulting with her attorney in the Stagg street police station, Mrs. Bertha Gray, of No. 35 Orient avenue, Williamsburg, who, with her second husband, Robert Gray, had been arrested on a charge of bigamy, suddenly became blind yesterday. The blindness, physicians say, was brought on by hysteria and is the second attack the woman has suffered. She was blind on a previous occasion for twenty-one days, when her sight was suddenly restored.

Senseless Man's Clothes Burn.

John McDonald, seventy-five years old, of No. 405 Henry street, watchman in the Star theatre, Brooklyn, was stricken with apoplexy yesterday when at work before a furnace. When he fell he fractured his skull on the stone floor and rolled into a pit in front of the furnace. Coals set fire to his clothing. The stage manager found him and sent him to the Cumberland Street Hospital.

Trust Busting in Australia.

Melbourne, Nov. 30.—It is rumored here that the federal government contemplates prosecuting the Australian representative of the American oil combination under the anti-trust act.

—Francis Bacon, of West Fifth and New streets, who was seriously ill with pneumonia, has about recovered and is able to be out again. His physician was Dr. Gaston.

PRIVATE OWNERSHIP OF P. O.

To turn over the postal service of the United States to a private corporation, under Government regulation, is the surprising proposition of a Chicago millionaire publisher. The offer as made to the Postal Commission, only a day or two ago, will naturally attract unusual public attention, though it is not likely that anything will come of it for the present at least. Agitation in favor of municipal ownership of public utilities is growing day by day and unless there is a surprising change in public sentiment it is impossible to think that the Federal government will abandon what could be made a profitable business.

What the Chicago man proposes is that the postoffice business be transferred to a $50,000,000 private corporation under Government regulation. This concern in turn will reduce by one-half all postal rates, establish rural postal express, and apply strict business methods throughout. It will pay the Government rental for postoffice quarters, and charge it regular rates for its postal business. All sinecures, politics and the deficit are to be eliminated.

The most startling part of the extraordinary offer is the promise to pay the Government all profits above seven per cent. on the capital. Such a proposition shows that business men of ability have confidence in their contention that the postoffice business of the United States can be put on a paying basis; something that Uncle Sam has not benn able to do.

It was peculiarly fitting that Ben Tillman should have selected the Windy City as the place to deliver one of his tirades against the negro.

Haven't heard Senator Kean suffering nervous prostration on account of Dryden's dying political ambitions.

Stole Thanksgiving Dinner.

Thieves visited the cellar of the Misses Gill's boarding house in Central avenue and West Fifth street on Thanksgiving Eve and carried off a quantity of vegetables and fruit. A member of the household went into the cellar at about 8:30 Wednesday night and discovered that the supply of sweet potatoes, turnips, onions, apples and grape fruit had disappeared. The family had been about the house that evening as usual, but had not heard or noticed anything out of the ordinary. Some of the cellar windows were unlocked and it is thought perhaps the burglars entered in this way.

PLAINFIELD LIBRARY NOTES

Recent Fiction Added to the Public Library.

Andrews, Mary Raymond Shipman.—Rob and the guides.

"A book of ten Canadian hunting stories with Bob, a small boy, for the hero. In each he gives in boyish fashion some camping adventure."

"Can be read aloud and out of doors, two severe tests for a book."

Bassett, Mrs. M. E. S.—Judith's garden.

Burnett, Frances Hodgson.—Dawn of a tomorrow.

"Is a simple old-fashioned miracle-play, set forth in modern London with the sure, swift touch of a practised story-teller."

Carey, R. N.—Herb of grace.

Castle, Agnes and Egerton.—If youth but knew.

"The time and rule of Jerome Bonaparte furnished the occasion and material of this romance. .... The period chosen by the authors is just anterior to the fall of Jerome, and the critical part of the narrative passes in Cassel at the King's court. The atmosphere clothes this story as a garment."

Crawford, Francis Marion.—Fair Margaret.

"If there were nothing else in this book than the portrait of the big-hearted, Junoesque, voluble French woman .... it would still be one of the books that Mr. Crawford might justly be very proud of."

Dahn, Felix.—Fecilitas.

Fogazzaro, Antonio.—The saint.

"The best read, the most discussed book in Italy in the last ten months. The work of the most eminent living Italian novelist."

Glasgow, Ellen A. G.—Wheel of life.

"There are broader contrasts of character than in 'The house of mirth,' though not quite the same sureness of touch, the same sense of intimacy with the most illusive aspects of a well-defined though loosely ordered social group."

Howells, William Dean.—Coast of Bohemia.

Long, John Luther.—Way of the gods.

"Mr. Long has succeeded in conveying in this romantic yet thoroughly modern story a fine impression of the marvelous persistence of hereditary ideals of honor and sacrifice among the Japanese."

MacCutcheon, George Barr.—Graustark.

Nicholson, Meredith.—House of a thousand candles.

"A story bristling with adventure."

"The story is told with spirit and the people in it are alive—in one case, even though dead."

Scott, Hugh. S. (Henry Seton Merriman. With edged tools.

Smith, F. Hopkinson.—Tides of Barengat.

"Strikes a deeper note and is altogether of more serious quality than most of his productions."

Stimson, Frederic Jesup.—In cure of her coul.

"Not only the finest thing he has done, but a noteworthy addition to our literature.

Sudermann, Hermann.—The undying past.

"Sudermann sees deeply; he penetrates to the vital spot. There is no surface work in his novels. He lays bare the anatomy of character. He is an unflinching realist, but his realism is of the large things of life, not of its mere circumstance. Nor is the 'Undying past' without its message—that nemesis is relentless, that sin carries down into its maelstrom innicent as well as guilty, that the only safe repentance is to repent before your wrong is done. .... It is a powerful drama of humanity."

Wister, Owen.—Lady Baltimore.

"The story is one of love, prettily conceived and executed, but it is perhaps slow of development."

"Like Mr. Wister's other fiction, this story is defective on the side of construction, but the defect is atoned for by the author's powers of characterization and narrative charm."

Dr. Atwood Weds.

Mrs. Myra Rose Lowrie-Searles, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. H. H. Lowrie, of Park avenue, and Dr. David G. Atwood, of West Seventh street, were married last night at the home of the bride's parents. Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie, pastor of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, performed the ceremony. There were no attendants. Owing to the illness of the bride's mother, only the immediate relatives were present. The couple will reside at 510 West Seventh street. The groom is a practicing dentist in this city.

Florence Davis, in "The Player Maid," at New Plainfield Theatre Tonight.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

Owing to the increased demand of late years for entertainment of the higher order, scores of stars have cast their lot with romantic comedy but few have been so successful as Miss Florence Davis in producing a play suited to their particular talents. Miss Davis is extremely fortunate in this respect for in "The Player Maid" she has a part which fits her like a glove. The character is that of Eleanor Hallam, an actress, a role in which she has an opportunity to wear some stunning gowns. She will be seen in "The Player Maid" at the New Plainfield theatre tonight.

Reginald De Koven's tuneful music numbers for the new romantic opera, "The Student King," which Henry W. Savage will produce at the New Plainfield theatre tomorrow afternoon and night, range from the lightest gypsy dance music to ambitious concerted numbers that are said to approach more nearly to grand opera than anything in any of this composer's numerous successes.

The announcing of Kathryn Purnell and her company in a scenic presentation of Daudet's famous story, "Sopho," at the New Plainfield theatre, matinee and night, Monday, December 3, has created no little amount of interest among those who have seen and who will welcome another opportunity to witness its stage presentation. The play is one that demands a competent company to properly portray the difficult characters, Miss Purnell is known as a gifted actress, being possessed of a sweet personality. Her costumes are said to be models of the dressmarker's art, and her supporting company far above the average. And while both star and play are new to the local theatre-goers, the organization comes with the highest praise from capable critics.

The plot of "Her Only Sin," Lincoln J. Carter's great emotional play, which makes its appearance at the New Plainfield theatre December 5, hinges on a point of law—the question of the guardianship of a minor. Lincoln J. Carter sprung a big surprise when he produced "Her Only Sin" at his theatre in Chicago, the Criterion, last season. The flattering press comments and the enthusiastic reception given it during its Chicago run, together with the big business it has done so far this season, leads Mr. Carter to reasonably believe that "Her Only Sin" will make its place as the legitimate successor of "Miss Moulton," "The Modern Magdalen" and "L Article 47," the great emotional plays of the past generation.

Flavia Arcaro, in "The Student King," at New Plainfield Theatre Tomorrow Afternoon and Evening.

Mrs. George Edwards, formerly of this city, but now of Cranford, is convalescing from an attack of pneumonia.

Francis K. Anderson, of East Second street, city editor of the Elizabeth Times, who has been ill at Muhlenberg Hospital with a fever, has been discharged and is able to be out again. He hopes to return to his position on Monday.

THIS STORE WILL BE OPEN EVENINGS FROM DECEMBER 17TH TO 24TH INCLUSIVE.

ART IN PAPERING.

There is just as much good style shown in papering a house as there is in costuming an individual.

There is the "correct" way to do both.

As a business suit is inappropriate for the evening, so paper designed for the hall or dining-room is decidedly out of place if used in parlor or sleeping apartment.

For hall papers a distinction is made between those suitable for the county and those adapted to city homes.

For the latter warm, rich colors are chosen, while for the country a lighter and cheerier paper is "correct."

Do not forget one or more good pictures to be hung on the wall in the best light, and a clock, if only a niche for it can be found.

Dog Did the Wrong Trick.

The Irishman wanted to sell the dog, but the prospective buyer was suspicious and finally decided not to buy. The man then told him why he was so anxious to sell. "You see," he said, "I bought the dog and trained him myself. I got him so he'd bark all the time if a person stepped inside the gate, and I thought I was safe from burglars. Then my wife wanted me to train him to carry bundles, and I did. If I put a packet in his mouth the dog would keep it there till some one took it away. Well, one night I woke up and heard some one in the next room. I got up and grabbed my gun. They were there—three of the scoundrels and the dog."

"Didn't he bark?" interrupted the man.

Sorry a bark; he was too busy."

"Busy? What doing?"

"Carrying a lantern for the burglars."—Dublin Freeman.

GOTHAM'S AMUSEMENTS

"The Hypocrites" is in its fourth crowded month at the Hudson theatre. During its entire run there has been no change in the big cast and the performances are as stirring and satisfying as they were during the first nights. The play has taken a firm hold here and there is no telling when it will reach the end of its stay at the Hudson. It is one of the biggest casts as well as most important that Mr. Froham has put forward in recent seasons. Leslie Faber, the young English actor who has the leading role, has become as established favorite here, and Richard Bennett, Doris Keane, Jessie Millward, J. E. Barnes and the others are also in high favor. For Thanksgiving week there will be matinees Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday.

John Drew will reach the 100th performance of "His House in Order" at the Empire theatre, New York, on December 3rd. He has progressed thus far in his triumph to a series of capacity audiences and has the gratification of knowing that himself and the Pinero play are still among the most popular attractions now before New York theatregoers. The performances are a constant delight to those who witness them, Mr. Drew being at his very best in the role of Hilary Jesson, and his leading lady, Margaret Illington, playing the role of the rebellious wife with all the delicacy, spirit and power that the part calls for. A special matinee will be given Thanksgiving day in addition to the regular Wednesday and Saturday performances.

—Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Bye, of Brooklyn, have taken possession of the property, 15 West End avenue, which they leased a few days ago.

—Tallamy Bros., contractors, who are erecting an apartment house on Arlington avenue, have the building inclosed and the work is progressing rapidly.

played swiftly, and the sparks flew at almost every move. The land-seamen were strong, but the home team made a combination just a bit stronger. The visitors hit up a faster pace in the second half and cut down a 12 to 4 lead.

Leary, of the Y. M. C. A., was knocked out of the game in the middle of the second half, by an injury to his dand. One of the Jersey City men stepped on his hand, and the result was rather serious. His hand pained him so that Physical Dicertor Listman summoned Dr. J. B. Probasco. There were indications that one of the small bones had broken, but the physician could not tell positively. In a recent game Leary was forced out by a sprained ankle.

PARK CLUB PROGRAMME FOR BOWLING TOURNEY.

Ten Pin Contest Begins Dec. 7, While Cocked Hat Series Start on Dec. 6.

The bowling committee of the Park Club has announced its programme for the ten pin and cocked-hat tournaments which will begin early next month. A new plan will be tried this year, which, it is hoped, will make the game more interesting to all classes of players. The tournament will be divided into weekly periods, and each player may roll any other player one match each week. The system of handicapping will be similar to that used in medal play in golf, and the handicaps will be changed each week by a rule which will equalize all players. Two prizes will be awarded, one for "medal play" and one for "match play." The ten pin tournament will begin Friday night, December 7, and will continue through the season. Four weeks' notice will be given of the date for the last contest.

The cocked hat tournament will begin Thursday night, December 6, and will continue each Thursday night thereafter. Four weeks' notice will also be given of the date for the last contest. Three games will be rolled each evening, and the player having the highest net score will be given three points, the second highest two points and the third highest one point.

The par score is fixed at 30, or 90 points for the evening. A player scoring less than 90 will be given a handicap of one-third of the difference between his net score and 90, less the number of points won that evening. A player scoring more than 90 will be penalized in the same proportion. No handicap shall exceed 20 points. A prize will be awarded to the player having the greatest number of points at the close of the season. The bowling committee consists of Frederick O. Ball, J. Brognard Betts and Walter L. Long.

TRACY AND GLENNEY WIN HOLIDAY TOURNEY.

Veteran Golfers Make Lowest Score in Cross-country Competition on Thanksgiving Day.

Despite the cold weather the Plainfield Country Club course was well filled with players all day yesterday and many took part in the events scheduled for the closing of the active season. The clubhouse is now closed, but the lockers will be accessible for some time to come for the players who desire to continue the game.

One of the chief events of the day was a cross country tournament, nine holes. This was won by the veteran members of the club, J. Evarts Tracy and W. L. C. Glenney, with a net score of 37. These scores were returned:

J. Evarts Tracy and W. L. C. Glenney, 59, 22—37; G. F. Earl and C. C. Burke, Sr., 59, 18—41; C. C. Burke, Jr., and C. W. King, 62, 18—44; E. B. Shoemaker and H. D. Hibbard, 49, 3—46; Morris J. Dumont and W. Lester Glenney, 48, 0—48; Stuart H. Patterson, 57, 9—48; Frank C. Talmadge and J. Whitney Baker, 50, 0—50; C. B. Morgan and J. A. Lane, 53, 2—51; Frank O. Reinhart and W. F. Glenney, 54, 0—54.

The November handicap cup was won by C. B. Morgan, his score of 81 being the best average one for the month. In the three competitions he returned an 81 each time. Morris J. Dumont won the inconsolables' cup by defeating E. B. Shoemaker, 2 up in the final play. The final for the consolation cup between Arthur Murphy and Howard Beebe will be played later.

Another event of interest for the day was play for the invitation cup. S. A. Cruikshank and L. A. Chase were tie in the competition with a net score of 92. These scores were returned:

S. A. Cruikshank, 110, 18—92; L. A. Chase, 101, 9—92; Hugh F. Fox, 113, 18—95; Stuart H. Patterson, 113, 9—104; Thomas M. Day, 136, 27—109.

Hank Ramsey, manager of the Paterson Hudson River League Club, together with a number of well known ball players, left this week on the Ward Line steamship Morro Castle for Havana, where they will arrange to play during the winter. It will be a fast all-American team and a series of games will be played at Havana, Matanza and perhaps Santiago.

Among the men who will make the trip are Matty McIntyre, the star outfielder of the Detroits; Barry, of Cincinnati, who will play second base; "Steamer" Flanagan, once with Newark, now with Rochester, first base; Larry Quinlan, of Lousville, shortstop; Keys, of Paterson, third base; Gilbert, of Toledo, right field; Pop Westlake, of Belleville, who catches on the Paterson team; McQuillan, of Jersey City; "Lefty" Phalon, of Paterson, and Joe Garrity, of the New York Americans, pitcher. Brown, the Newark first baseman, who has been drafted by Detroit, was also expected to make the trip, but he has written Manager Ramsey that perhaps he may not be able to get away. Outfielder Duffy, of Rochester, and Pitcher and Utility Man George Merritt, of Jersey City, may also go along. Mr. Ramsey has secured unusually liberal terms this year to make the trip, and expects that the attendance at the games in Cuba will be larger this season because of the fact of so many American soldiers bein gon the island.

FOOTBALL.

The football game between Rahway High School and North Plainfield High School, at North Plainfield Monday afternoon, came to an abrupt ending owing to a disagreement. The score was a tie. With the ball in North Plainfield's possession, about fifteen yards from Rahway's goal, on the third down, North Plainfield failed to gain the required distance. It was then Rahway's ball. Referee Hamilton, the Plainfield eleven's "coach," did not like to see his team lose such a good opportunity to score, so he attempted to move the ball the necessary five or six inches. Rahway protested against such gross violation of the rules, and the pig-headed, so-called referee, forfeited the contest to his team. Because of this incident, and also of the way in which North Plainfield has treated Rahway before, it is not likely any more contests will take place.—Rahway Advocate.

Pushed Child Into a Fire.

New York, Nov. 30.—Pushed into a bonfire yesterday by another boy, Harry Carlin, three years old, of No. 160 Moore street, is in St. Catherine's Hospital, suffering from burns that may prove fatal. Police of the Stagg street station are searching for the offender. Filled with the holiday spirit, boys and girls, arrayed in fantastic costumes, built a bonfire in Moore street and Bushwick avenue. Attracted by the flame and shouts, the Carlin boy made his way into the thick of the celebration. Little by little he got further toward the fire, and at last had a place in the front rank. It was then that a larger boy, either maliciously or because he wished to obtain a vantage point by shoving the smaller child to one side, pushed little Harry directly into the flames. Panic followed, and the police and an ambulance were soon upon the scene. In the excitement attending the removal of the injured child the other boy escaped.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Dec. 2: "Temptations and How to Meet Them."

By REV. WALTER J. YATES, D. D.

The sphere of temptation.—I John ii, 15, 16. How they work.—Jas. i, 13-15. The way to meet the tempter.—Matt. iv, 2-11. A cheering promise to the tempted.—I Cor. x, 13. How to endure to the end.—Heb. xii, 2.

It is never a pleasant experience to be under the fire of temptation, but it is not necessarily the sign of a low state of piety, as some have thought. A quiet and peaceful frame of mind is very comfortable and most people prefer it to a condition of distraction and conflict, but the very wrestling with doubts and sharp inclinations may be the means of broadening the mind, disciplining the affections and settling the will.

It is well to recognize the causes of temptation that we be not too greatly disheartened when they come upon us. It is not sinful to be tempted. It is only sinful to yield to what we know is wrong. We are spirit, housed in a body of flesh. We are surrounded by a world of material things which through our senses appeal to us and some of which are needful to maintain this same bodily life. We must eat and drink and exercise all our physical powers to keep in health. We have the example of Jesus as to the best use of these things of the earth. Control and discipline is the proper way and not extermination of appetite. Satisfaction of hunger is not only necessary to preserve health; it at the same time gratifies the feelings. It yields pleasurable sensations. Because of these agreeable feelings we may be inclined to eat when not hungry and drink when not thirsty just to have the good feeling. Here is where mischief begins. We have powers of reason and of spirit as well as those of body. The spirit is highest and should be master, and reason should hold all the appetites in firm control, otherwise the true balance is lost and disaster results.

Now, we are so made that our impulses never rise singly. If we feel the inclination to any bodily indulgence there is an opposition of some kind and in some degree sure to arise either from the reason or from the spiritual side of our nature. An impulse to do is sure to meet an impulse not to do. Then there must be a balancing of all these impulses and the selection of the worthiest. If this is done we develop strength in every part of the being and an abiding sense of well being and blessing.

Jesus has fasted long and is hungry. The impulse to eat is natural, and if food can be had it would seem right and desirable to gratify the appetite that the body faint not, but be kept fit for use. The consciousness of power to make bread from stones lying near points to a possible source of supply. But He has come to earth to put Himself under all human conditions and redeem man from his sins and bring the race back to God. The common man cannot turn stones to bread. If he could do so the baking of bread would soon go out of fashion. There is more involved in this than just the satisfaction of His appetite at this moment. The whole question of human trust of God under these earthly conditions is wrapped up in this matter. Impulse to make bread and eat is met by counter impulse to go without until He can find bread in the usual way rather than to wreck His whole mission on earth by using extraordinary power to relieve ordinary need. He may and does eat with Pharisees and sit at banquet with publicans and sinners until men call Him a wine bibber and gluttonous, because He refused to follow the false rules of a hypocritical religion. "The Son of Man came eating and drinking." But He fasted on the mountain when He could not eat without degrading His higher impulses to the lower.

Follow ever the nobler and higher impulse and you are safe. Do otherwise and you fail.

In every temptation the wide door of escape stands open. It is found in the call of duty through conscience to do your best. This is the path to freedom and happiness and heaven.

"The Far Country."

The far country is remoteness from God.

Every one who comes to himself leaves the far country.

Memories of home are the bitterest sorrows of the prodigal.

There is nothing in the far country of sin that permanently satisfies a human soul.

Famine is inevitable in the far country.

There are plenty of boon companions for the prosperous in the far country, but no real friends.

The far country is a long way from home, but there is a straight path back.

"A good time" is impossible with bad people.

At first feast with the swells; at last fast with the swine—that is the programme of the far country.—William T. Ellis.

Parable of the Ten Virgins.

Late, late, so late, and dark the night and chill!
Late, late, so late, but we can enter still.
Too late, too late! Ye cannot enter now.

No light had we; for that we do repent,
And, learning this, the Bridegroom will relent.
Too late, too late! Ye cannot enter now.

No light, so late, and dark and chill the night!
Oh, let us in that we may find the light!
Too late, too late! Ye cannot enter now.

Have we not heard the Bridegroom is so sweet!
Oh, let us in, though late, to kiss His feet!
No, no; too late! Ye cannot enter now.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic for the Week Beginning Dec. 2.

By REV. S. H. DOYLE.

Topic.—Courage or cowardice.—Luke xii, 4, 5; Gal. i, 9-11; Acts iv, 1-13. (Consecration meeting.)

There are many times in the lives of most men when they must play the hero or the coward, when they must be brave or fearful. Sometimes the test is a physical one, but more often, except in time of war, it is moral rather than physical. In our relations to God, in the performance of moral and religious duties, in meeting the temptations of life, we face situations where courage or cowardice must be displayed. As to which we should choose there is no question. Courage is admired and praised. Cowardice is despised, and the name of a coward becomes a hissing and a byword. Few men in human history have been regarded with greater contempt than Pontius Pilate, who lacked the moral courage to do justice to the innocent Christ and cowardly surrendered Him to be crucified.

But there is usually a great difference between what we should choose and what we do choose. No one will praise cowardice, yet many become its victims when put to a severe test. Moreover, there are many who possess physical courage who are moral cowards. They could face a personal adversary or a cannon's mouth on the field of battle and never flinch and yet be overwhelmed at the taunts and sneers of godless and irreligious men when matters of morality and religion are concerned. Simon Peter would no doubt have made a brave soldier, but when his relation to Christ was the subject in question he trembled at the word of a maid and basely and cowardly denied that he even knew Him.

Courage is needed in every Christian life. It often takes the very highest kind of courage to stand for our Christian principles, to do the right and to refuse to do the wrong. But we should not falter. When Jeremiah was called upon to pronounce the judgment of God upon his people he shrunk from it. But with God's assurance that He would be with him he courageously faced the issue even at the risk of his life. Paul was one of the greatest moral heroes the world has ever seen. He was persecuted without limit for his belief in Christ, yet he never hesitated to boldly affirm his faith and to defend it and his apostleship. Such examples should be an inspiration to us.

In the world's broad field of battle,
In the bivouac of life,
Be not like dumb, driven cattle;
Be heroes in the strife.

Our only fear should be fear of displeasing or disobeying God. In His hands are the destinies of our souls. Man may injure or destroy the body, but not the soul. "Be not afraid of them that kill the body and after that have no more that they can do. But I forewarn you whom ye shall fear: Fear Him which after He hath killed hath power to cast into hell; yea, I say unto you, Fear Him." These are the words of Christ, and they should most deeply impress us.

Christian Endeavor In Ceylon.

Christian Endeavor work in Ceylon was thus described by the Rev. Bruce Etherington, a Baptist missionary, while he was recently visiting his home in England, says a correspondent of the London Christian Endeavor Times:

"I am glad to say," said the missionary, "that Christian Endeavor is specially prosperous in Ceylon and has seemed from the first to be admirably suited to the native character and taste. There are some singularly interesting features connected with the Cingalese Christian Endeavor societies. One society is connected with our independent native Baptist church. This society, like the church itself, holds alternate meetings, one week in Cingalese, the other week in English. The church is under the pastorate of a native minister, Rev. D. W. Abayaratna, who is a most able man, preaching excellently both in his native tongue and in English. There is one form of missionary endeavor which deserves special mention. I refer to the Lanca Mission society. Lanca means Ceylon. This society was founded by the native churches as their own missionary agency. Our native converts are now supporting a native missionary and will soon add another.

REV. BRUCE ETHERINGTON.

"There is now a Christian Endeavor union in Ceylon, including Baptists, Presbyterians and Wesleyans. The American Christian Endeavor societies have recently joined in with the others to strengthen this union. The latter are the most powerful, for they have used Christian Endeavor with great energy. The Christian Endeavor secretary for India, Rev. H. Halliwell, has lately visited Ceylon and has given great help and encouragement. In no part of the world is Christian Endeavor more suitable to native proclivities than in Ceylon. It has in the island been immensely useful to both missionaries and pastors and has greatly aided the evangelistic efforts of the churches."

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS

The Newark Evening News said Tuesday night:

"Assemblyman Randolph Perkins, leader of the Republican majority in the House last winter, and who would probably have been the Speaker of the next Legislature had the last elections gone the usual way, has clearly outlined the reason why the Republican caucus should not force the re-election of Senator Dryden. This reason is fundamental; it is because the people of New Jersey have emphatically shown that they do not want him to represent them in the United States Senate.

"Leader Perkins has evidently taken pains to learn the sentiment of the people, particularly his Republican constituents in Union county. He has spoken to huhdreds of them, and has received many letters from others, and he declares that, 'with the exception of the so-called party leaders, there is not one person of those who have communicated with me who favors the re-election of Mr. Dryden.' So far as Union county is converned, this settles its status upon the Dryden issue. Any one who is at all familiar with the Union county sentiment knows that Mr. Perkins is correct. He has heard the voice of the people, and his only course is to obey it to the end.

"Further than this, Mr. Perkins properly interprets the opposition to Mr. Dryden, and accurately predicts what will follow if the popular will is ignored or defied. 'If in spite of the demand,' he says, 'for the election of a man truly representative, the Republican caucus forces the return of Mr. Dryden to the Senate, it will, in the judgment of many, lend plausibility to the charges made against the party, that it is controlled in favor of corporate and special interests, and has ceased to become the party of the people.' The recent election he correctly estimates, not as a Democratic victory, but as a Republican note of warning, and he takes notice of the fact that many voters will resent the re-election of Mr. Dryden by voting the Democratic ticket at the coming Gubernatorial election.

"The logic of Leader Perkins cannot be successfully assailed. It is correct in its premises and irresistible in its conclusions. The people of Union county, not alone, but of the State as a whole, are opposed to the re-election of Mr. Dryden. No other opinion can be reached upon any reasonable consideration of the returns, as a brief analysis will prove.

"Upon the average of the votes cast for Assemblymen in each county it has been carefully figued out that the total Republican plurality was 1,374, and this, the regulars have insisted, proves that the State favors Mr. Dryden's re-election, because his candidacy was the issue. But Leader Perkins' statement—and he certainly knows what he is talking about—utterly overthrows the statistical contentions of the Dryden regulars. From the Republican plurality of 1,374 must be deducted Union county's Republican majority of 1,248, because no one in Union county, except a few leaders, favors Mr. Dryden's re-election. This would leave only 126. But even this cannot be counted for Mr. Dryden. Bergen county, which gave 857 Republican majority, elected anti-Dryden Assemblymen. Somerset county, which gave 1,138 Republican plurality, elected an Assemblyman who refused to pledge himself to Mr. Dryden, and who favors either Stokes or Griggs. Even Morris county, with 1,093 Republican majority, is not distinctly in the Dryden column.

"But even without counting Morris, Republican majorities of Union, Somerset and Bergen must be counted as against Dryden, because in each of these counties anti-Dryden Assemblymen were elected. Without Morris, the State, therefore, shows 1,859 against the re-election of Mr. Dryden and with Morris, 2,952. All of this is in North Jersey, Mr. Dryden's home, and it does not take into consideration upward of 9,000 in dependent votes, cast in the county of Essex, but not counted in making up the average majorities. If these are added, then the State's emphatic protest against Mr. Dryden's re-election would be 10,859 without Morris county, or nearly 12,000 if Morris is counted in the anti-Dryden column. Leader Perkins is right. If the Republican caucus forces the return of Mr. Dryden to the Senate it will show that the Republican party has ceased to be the party of the people."

Justice Fort to Lay Corner-stone.

Jersey City, Nov. 30.—Supreme Court Justice J. Franklin Fort will, on Wednesday, December 12, formerly lay the corner-stone of Hudson county's new $2,000,000 court house. Arrangements for the event were completed at a meeting of the new county building committee yesterday afternoon, when Justice Fort's acceptance of the committee's invitation for him to officiate at the corner-stone laying was read. The other county judges, John A. Blair, of the Quarter Sessions Court; Judge Chas. W. Parker, of the Circuit Court, and Judge Vail, who is also trying cases in the Hudson Circuit, as well as the county officials and other persons of prominence will be invited to the ceremony.

YOUR HAT

May Be a Stylish One, But It Makes Trouble.

A man usually buys a hat that's "in style," but the modern hat for men has lots to answer for.

Baldheads are growing more numerous every day. Hats make excellent breeding places for the parasitic germs which sap the life from the roots of the hair.

When your hair begins to fall out and your scalp is full of Dandruff it is a sure sign that these countless germs are busily at work.

There is but one way to overcome the trouble and kill the germs—that way is to apply Newbro's Herpicide to the scalp—it will kill the germs and healthy hair is sure to result.
